New Digital Competition Bill may limit focus to Big Tech

● Govt likely to retain ex ante framework

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, July 26

THE PROPOSED DIGITAL Competition Bill (DCB) is set for a tweak, with the government considering revising the thresholds for identifying systemically significant digital enterprises (SSDEs) while retaining its ex ante approach. The objective is to ensure the law mainly covers global technology giants such as Google, Meta, Amazon and Apple while excluding most domestic digital companies such as Zomato, Swiggy, Flipkart, Ola and Paytm from its ambit.

A market study commissioned by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) and being

■ The original draft, released in 2024, had a nationality-neutral approach and listed financial and user thresholds for identifying SSDEs

■ The draft drew opposition from large global as well as domestic technology companies

■ Firms such as Zomato, Swiggy and Oyo also argued that ex ante regulation would curb innovation and increase compliance costs

■ Experts said the thresholds were too low and over-inclusive to potentially capture even some Indian startups conducted by MDI Gurgaon has placed significant emphasis on reviewing the financial, user-based and qualitative thresholds for designating SSDEs, according to a questionnaire circulated among stakeholders. In contrast, the study devotes little attention to revisiting the ex ante obligations themselves, suggesting that the government remains inclined to retain the core regulatory framework while recalibrating its scope.

Officials said the findings of the study, which began in June and is expected to conclude by October, will shape the next version of the Bill. "The objective has always been to regulate global gatekeeper platforms that possess huge market power. The earlier thresholds were broad enough to potentially capture some Indian startups, which was not the policy intent. That's exactly what the study is examining," a senior official said.

If adopted, the proposed recalibration would mark a departure from the original draft released in 2024.

As Udaan learns its lesson, peers crack the B2B code

S SHANTHI
Bengaluru, July 26

THE FINANCIAL STRESS at Udaan, once among the best-known B2B e-commerce startups, has renewed questions over whether the country's B2B marketplace model can deliver sustainable profits. But while the SoftBank-backed company has reportedly been grappling with razor-thin wholesale margins, high cash burn and the challenges of scaling up a marketplace business, several B2B peers such as OfBusiness, Infra Market, Moglix and Zetwerk have shown that the model can work by shifting the focus from chasing gross merchandise value (GMV) to building profitable, full-stack businesses.

Industry experts say the sector has undergone a clear shift from the first generation of B2B marketplaces, which focused on digitising procurement and rapidly aggregating buyers and suppliers, often through discounts. While that strategy helped build scale, it also exposed companies to weak unit economics, high fulfilment costs and mounting working capital requirements. "B2B margins are extremely thin, so the moment you begin discounting to win volume, you're buying revenue that never converts into profit," Milan Sharma, founder and MD of 35North Ventures, told FE.

Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) and Tech Mahindra continued to refrain from offering formal revenue guidance, although both struck an optimistic tone on demand.

The disagreement reflects India's broader approach towards sovereign AI infra, where sensitive government or enterprise data is expected to stay within the country's jurisdiction.

Brands bank on AI-driven tools, smarter fulfilment strategies to curb rising costs & protect margins

UPI wins, but cash-on-delivery won't quit

S SHANTHI
Bengaluru, July 26

THE DIGITAL PAYMENT boom may have transformed the way consumers pay for everything, from groceries to utility bills, but one habit continues to frustrate online retailers: cash on delivery (CoD). Despite years of rapid UPI adoption, CoD still accounts for around 60% of e-commerce orders, rising to as much as 75% in Tier-2 and smaller markets, forcing brands to increasingly rely on AI-driven tools and smarter fulfilment strategies to curb rising costs and protect margins.

The dependence on CoD reflects a combination of trust issues, limited credit penetration and consumer preference

CASH IS KING

■ Cash-on-delivery accounts for around 60% of e-comm orders, rising to as much as 75% in Tier-2 and smaller markets

■ Dependence on CoD reflects a combination of trust issues, limited credit penetration and consumer preference for paying only after receiving a product

■ CoD accounts for less than 5% of orders in q-comm, but continues to dominate traditional e-commerce for paying only after receiving a product. According to Prosus India, these behavioural factors remain deeply entrenched despite the digital payment revolution. While CoD accounts for less than 5% of orders in the quick-commerce segment, it continues to dominate traditional e-commerce and remains significant for D2C brands.

At handbag maker Miragio, CoD contributes around 44% of orders and 42% of revenue, while feminine hygiene brand Sirona Hygiene still sees more than 20% of shipped orders through the payment mode after bringing it down sharply over the years. Industry estimates peg the share at 72-75% for Meesho, 35-40% for Amazon, and 20-50% across fashion e-commerce.

For brands, the persistence of CoD creates two structural challenges. The first is working capital. Companies incur manufacturing, packaging and shipping costs well before they know whether the customer will actually pay. Failed deliveries further extend cash conversion cycles while leaving inventory stuck in transit.

"We incur the full cost of goods, packaging and forward freight before we have any certainty that the cash will come in, so scaling CoD ties up capital in inventory that may not convert to revenue," Deep Bajaj, founder and CEO of Sirona Hygiene, said.

THE CHALLENGES POSED by the West Asia war in terms of rising freight costs and other logistics challenges have dampened the initial euphoria over the India-UK Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) that came into force on July 15.

While challenges and uncertainty loom, exporters remain optimistic about the UK market’s long-term potential, and some have started new initiatives to circumvent the difficulties. The immediate challenges remain formidable for sectors like engineering, which account for 25-30% of total exports to the UK.

On Friday, the cost of a 40-foot container from Mumbai to Felixstowe was ruling at $ 7,200, up from $1,800 before the start of hostilities in the region in March. Felixstowe is the largest and busiest container port in the UK. Apart from high rates, the challenge of obtaining containers looms as journey time increases by 14-21 days through the Cape of Good Hope with ships avoiding Red Sea routes. The engineering sector also faces quotas on products of iron and steel. While recent relaxations cover existing exports, future clarity would be needed, exporters said.

Other than challenges emanating from the West Asia conflict, some exporters have expressed concerns over the subdued consumer demand in the UK which limits the opportunity in the short term. Sales volumes

NANDAN NILEKANI, HEAD, TASK FORCE FOR EXAM REFORMS

Restoring trust in merit

NANDAN NILEKANI'S NEW ASSIGNMENT MARKS A DISTINCT SHIFT: GOVERNMENTS NOW WANT TECHNOLOGISTS TO REDESIGN INSTITUTIONS, NOT MERELY COMPUTERISE THEIR LEGACY PROCESSES

SHYAM KUNAR PRAASD

SHYAMAL MAJUMDAR

WHEN PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi appointed Nandan Nilekani to lead a high-powered task force on public examination reforms, the choice reflected more than confidence in one of India’s most accomplished technologists. It signalled the government’s belief that the country’s next wave of institutional reform may require the same systems thinking that transformed digital identity and payments over the past decade.

For much of his public life, Nilekani has been associated with infrastructure rather than applications. As co-founder of Infosys, he helped establish India’s reputation as a global technology powerhouse. As the founding chairman of the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI), he oversaw the creation of Aadhaar, now the world’s largest digital identity programme. More broadly, he has been among the principal architects of what is now recognised globally as India’s Digital Public Infrastructure (DPI) — a network of interoperable platforms that includes Aadhaar, the Unified Payments Interface (UPI), DigiLocker and the Account Aggregator framework.

The significance of these projects lies not simply in their scale, although each serves hundreds of millions of Indians. Their more enduring contribution has been institutional. Rather than building consumer-facing products, they created shared public infrastructure on which governments and private companies could innovate. This philosophy — treating digital infrastructure as a public utility rather than a proprietary asset — has become one of India’s most distinctive contributions to global technology policy.

That record explains why Nilekani’s latest assignment extends beyond digital transformation in the conventional sense.

India’s public examination system has come under sustained scrutiny following repeated paper leaks, allegations of malpractice and administrative failures affecting competitive examinations. The consequences extend beyond operational inconvenience. For millions of young Indians, these examinations determine access to universities, professional qualifications and public sector employment. Every breach, therefore, carries a broader institutional cost, eroding confidence in the fairness of one of the country’s most consequential public systems.

Restoring that confidence is unlikely to be achieved through tougher penalties alone. The government’s decision to appoint a technology architect rather than a career administrator suggests an acknowledgement that the problem is fundamentally one of system design.

The success of India’s Digital Public Infrastructure has rested on three principles: secure identity, interoperability and trust. Aadhaar established a mechanism for reliable authentication. UPI demonstrated how open standards could enable competition while maintaining common protocols. DigiLocker showed how authenticated digital records could reduce paperwork without sacrificing legitimacy. Each addressed a structural weakness by redesigning the underlying architecture rather than merely digitising existing processes.

Applying those lessons to examinations will not be straightforward. An examination ecosystem spans question paper creation, secure distribution, candidate authentication, evaluation, results management and grievance redressal across a vast administrative landscape. Weakness at any stage can compromise the integrity of the entire process.

Technology can strengthen each of these links. Digital identity verification may reduce impersonation. Encryption and secure digital workflows can limit opportunities for question paper leaks. Tamper-evident audit trails can improve accountability, while artificial intelligence may assist in detecting organised fraud. Yet technological solutions, however sophisticated, cannot substitute for effective governance.

The Aadhaar experience itself offers an important lesson. While the programme expanded access to digital services and financial inclusion, it also generated sustained debate over privacy, surveillance and data governance. Those debates helped shape India’s evolving regulatory framework and underscored a broader principle: digital infrastructure commands public confidence only when accompanied by transparency, legal safeguards and institutional accountability.

The same principle will apply to examination reform. Candidates must trust not only the technology but also the institutions operating it. Cybersecurity, independent oversight, procedural transparency and effective grievance mechanisms will matter as much as encryption or authentication protocols.

What distinguishes Nilekani from many technology leaders is his belief that digital infrastructure should function as a public good rather than a proprietary product. By championing open, interoperable systems that governments and businesses can build upon, he has helped position India as a global reference point for Digital Public Infrastructure, with several countries studying aspects of its model.

Whether India’s examination reforms become another defining chapter in its Digital Public Infrastructure story remains uncertain. Designing systems is one challenge; implementing them consistently across a country of India’s size and complexity is another. Success will depend not only on technology but also on administrative capacity, political commitment and sustained public trust.

Yet the appointment itself carries significance. It suggests that India increasingly views its most pressing governance challenges through the lens of infrastructure — digital where appropriate, institutional above all. If Aadhaar sought to establish trust in identity, and UPI in payments, the next frontier may be restoring trust in merit itself.

Govt may halt open mkt sales of pulses as shortage looms

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, July 26

Govt currently holds an estimated 4 MT of pulses as buffer stock

AMID RISING CONCERNS that an El Niño event could hurt kharif crop output, the Department of Consumer Affairs (DoCA) has asked the Department of Agriculture and Farmers’ Welfare (DAFW) to consider temporarily suspending the open market disposal of pulses from government stocks to ensure adequate availability in the coming months. The stocks have been built under the Price Support Scheme (PSS).

The DoCA has urged the agriculture department to consider relaxing the norm requiring disposal of PSS stocks within nine months of procurement, particularly for tur and chana procured from farmers during the 2025-26 season. The proposal aims to retain the stocks until there is greater clarity on the production outlook for the upcoming kharif and rabi crops.

“The disposal of pulses through the open market sale and procurement decisions under the PSS may need to be reviewed in light of the evolving situation,” the department stated. The government currently holds an estimated 4 MT of pulses as buffer stock, created largely through procurement under the PSS, along with imports under the Price Stabilisation Fund (PSF). Of this, the chana buffer is estimated at around 2 MT, while tur stocks are estimated at 0.7-0.8 MT.

Solar, wind power generation jumps over 25%

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, July 26

Power demand rose 11% y-o-y in May, when solar generation reached 60 GW

INDIA’S SOLAR AND wind electricity generation rose by more than 25% in the first half of 2026, raising their share in the country’s power mix to 16.5% from 14% a year earlier, as renewables overtook coal to become the world’s largest source of electricity generation, according to the International Energy Agency (IEA).

Solar power generation in India increased by more than 30% during January-June, while wind generation grew by just under 10%. The expansion came alongside a 3.5% increase in coal-fired generation as the country met stronger electricity demand and a record peak load of 270.8 GW in late May.

At the same time, gas-fired power generation declined by about 15% compared to H1 2025 and was more than 40% lower than H1 2024 levels.

India’s electricity consumption grew by around 6% in the first half, driven by stronger industrial and services activity and heatwaves between mid-April and early June. Power demand rose 11% year-on-year in May, when solar generation reached 60 GW, accounting for 22% of the daytime peak load.

Producer Price Index to be used for GDP deflation

Q1 data may reflect changes

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, July 26

IN A MOVE aimed at improving the compilation of India’s Gross Domestic Product (GDP), the government will use the output Producer Price Index (PPI) for deflation in both annual and quarterly GDP estimates, according to Saurabh Garg, secretary, Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI).

“The ministry is planning to incorporate the new PPI series when compiling both annual and quarterly national accounts. The updated estimates may be released along with the GDP estimates for the April-June quarter of 2026-27,” Garg told FE.

The new index will align India’s national accounts data closely with the international standards. However, economists do not expect major changes in GDP growth rates, at least in the short term.

The output PPI will replace the Wholesale Price Index (WPI) for deflation wherever feasible, a statistics ministry official said. “Broadly, the most appropriate deflator will be used, based on the sector and area. WPI in any case will get phased out,” the official said.

“The ideal measure is the PPI. In that sense it is a right measure by MoSPI to shift to

SYSTEM UPDATE

■ Output PPI will replace the Wholesale Price Index for GDP deflation wherever feasible

■ In the new series, single deflation has been completely eliminated

■ Double deflation has been adopted in sectors like manufacturing and agriculture

■ WPI inflation rose to 9.87% in June from 9.68% in May

■ Output PPI inflation rose to 9.57% last month from 9.38% in May

PPI. Growth rate may not change much. But the size of real GDP may change,” said NR Bhanumurthy, director, Madras School of Economics.

The proposed change follows the government’s revision of the GDP series earlier this year — updating the base year to 2022-23 from 2011-12 in the old series — the deflation method changed completely compared to the old series.

The government’s deflation methodology in the old series had drawn strong criticism, with the single deflation method — which does not separately adjust for changes in input costs and output prices — said to be distorting real growth estimates.

In the new series, single deflation has been completely eliminated, while double deflation has been adopted in sectors like manufacturing and agriculture. In other sectors where double deflation is not possible, single extrapolation is being used with WPI and CPI deflators used at a more detailed and granular level.

With the latest change, the WPI used in the new framework will be replaced by the output PPI, while CPI will continue to be used at the granular level for several items.

The use of PPI in GDP deflation became possible only recently, after the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade released the output, input, and services PPIs for the first time ever in June, along with a revised WPI series.

WPI and output PPI are closely related in nature and have shown similar trends in inflation so far. WPI inflation rose to 9.87% in June from 9.68% in May, while output PPI inflation rose to 9.57% last month from 9.38% in May.

The new GDP series also adopted a wider use of double deflation, which separately adjusts outputs and inputs using the relevant price indices, leading to more accurate measurement of real growth. In the old GDP Series, WPI was used for both output and input items.

Garg also said the statistics ministry plans to release the back-series data based on the new GDP series by the end of this year.

INSURERS seek first third-party premium hike in four years

GEORGE MATHEW
Mumbai, July 26

NON-LIFE INSURERS ARE pushing for a revision in motor third-party premiums, the first in four years, as losses mount in the segment. Apart from underwriting losses in the ₹1 lakh crore plus motor segment, the bottom line of insurers was also affected by a recent Supreme Court judgement on the calculation of the economic value of unpaid domestic work done by homemakers, which increased the cost of computing compensation.

The last implemented hike in third-party motor insurance premiums in India was effective from June 1, 2022.

The revised base premium rates were notified by the Ministry of Road Transport & Highways (MoRTH), based on recommendations from the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI).

Before 2022, third-party premiums had largely remained unchanged during the Covid-19 period (FY21 and FY22), with the government freezing rates to ease the burden on vehicle owners.

New India Assurance reported a higher underwriting loss of ₹1,297.17 crore in the motor segment in the first quarter of FY27, compared with a loss of ₹824.58 crore in the same period last year.

PM Surya Ghar 2.0 to link subsidies to generation

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, July 26

THE GOVERNMENT IS preparing a major redesign of the PM Surya Ghar: Muft Bijli Yojana, with the next phase likely to link public support more closely to actual electricity generation, battery storage, lifecycle maintenance and service delivery, rather than rooftop solar installation alone.

The proposed framework may also introduce generation guarantees, virtual metering, AI-based quality checks and differentiated financial assistance based on household income, location, consumer category and the services provided by rooftop solar systems to the electricity grid.

The PM Surya Ghar scheme currently provides central financial assistance for residential rooftop solar installations, with subsidies linked largely to installed capacity rather than actual electricity generation or the asset's performance over its operational life.

A consolidated policy paper is expected within 10-15 days, followed by focused consultations over the subsequent 20 days on batteries, hybrid inverters, equipment interoperability, DISCOM readiness and regulatory changes, EE has learnt. The discussions follow a meeting chaired by a joint secretary in the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE).

"The next phase should not be limited to continuation of the existing subsidy structure," a senior MNRE official said, calling for a combination of regulation, market mechanisms, technology standards and public support to deepen rooftop solar adoption while gradually creating a self-sustaining market.

A split financial-assistance structure is under consideration. One component could support upfront capital expenditure, while another may be

IN THE OFFING

■ Proposed framework may introduce generation guarantees, virtual metering, AI-based quality checks

■ Scheme currently provides central financial assistance for residential rooftop solar installations

■ Consolidated policy paper expected within 10-15 days

■ Split financial-assistance structure under consideration

■ Consumer adoption likely to remain strong with a payback period of five to six years linked to electricity generation, operations and maintenance, battery storage or service delivery over the life of the asset.

According to the officials, consumer adoption is likely to remain strong with a payback period of five to six years, but could weaken once it exceeds seven years. Higher-income households may continue adopting rooftop solar with lower levels of support, while lower-income consumers could require stronger or differently structured financial assistance.

Queries sent to ministry of new and renewable energy were remained unanswered till the press time.

States that provide free or heavily subsidised electricity may also consider converting recurring power subsidies into one-time solarisation support, potentially lowering their long-term subsidy burden.

Battery storage is expected to become central to the redesigned scheme as rising rooftop solar capacity increases daytime power exports and grid management challenges.

MNRE will evaluate household, transformer, distribution and utility-scale storage models by comparing capital costs, grid benefits, avoided infrastructure expenditure, consumer value and operational control.

"India's rooftop solar story is entering a new phase. The question is no longer how many panels we install, but how effectively we use the energy they generate. Storage is the missing link that can align consumer savings with grid requirements and make distributed solar more valuable for the entire electricity system," said Ashish K Sharma, fellow, TERI.

The scheme may be expanded to cover apartment residents and households without suitable rooftops

Inputs presented at the meeting proposed two complementary storage pathways — behind-the-meter batteries installed at consumer premises and battery systems deployed downstream in the distribution network. Such systems could absorb excess daytime power exports, provide household backup, reduce reverse power flow, support peak-demand management and improve utilisation of grid assets.

Consumer-side storage could be prioritised for high-solar or network-constrained feeders, while substation-level battery energy storage systems could be deployed where grid conditions warrant them. The proposed model aims to lower electricity bills and improve power backup for consumers while enhancing DISCOMs' hosting capacity, voltage support and utilisation of network assets.

Benefit-sharing mechanisms are also under consideration to make household batteries more affordable. Under the proposal, a portion of the savings realised by DISCOMs through power purchase optimisation and avoided network expenditure could be shared with participating consumers.

The scheme may also be expanded to cover apartment residents and households without suitable rooftops through virtual and group net metering, balcony solar, facade-mounted systems and building-integrated photovoltaics. Community solar plants of around 100 kW could also be explored for low-income consumers seeking systems of 1-2 kW.

Quality and long-term performance will receive greater attention. The chair said the programme "should shift from an installation-centric model towards an asset-performance model". Proposals include generation guarantees, mandatory service periods, insurance against equipment failure and generation shortfall, and a digital solar passport recording output, service history and warranty status.

On his first day, Joshi meets NTA chief

HARIKISHAN SHARMA
New Delhi, July 26

SOON AFTER TAKING additional charge of the Education Ministry following the resignation of Dharmendra Pradhan amid protests over the NEET-UG paper leak, Union Food Minister Pralhad Joshi held a series of review meetings Sunday with top officials in his new portfolio, including the National Testing Agency (NTA) chief.

The meetings assume significance with 41 questions listed for the Education Ministry in Parliament, which resumes Monday amid the Monsoon Session. House records show there is no direct question on the NEET-UG leak but the YSR Congress Party has raised alleged irregularities in the teacher recruitment examination in Andhra Pradesh, which includes a reference to exam paper leaks.

On Sunday, Joshi reached Kartavya Bhawan, which houses several ministries including the Education Ministry, at around 11.30 am and took charge of the new portfolio. He then held a series of meetings with officials of the Department of Higher Education and Department of School Education & Literacy.

The newly appointed School Education Secretary TK Anil Kumar briefed the minister, followed by the outgoing Higher Secretary Vineet Joshi who was replaced last week by Naresh Pal Gangwar.

Both the secretaries made separate presentations about various schemes and programmes under their charge. Joshi is learnt to have made several interventions during these meetings, including flagging the delay in availability of basic items like uniforms in schools.

Minister of State Jayant Chaudhary was present during the meetings while the other MoS Sukanta Majumdar was away.

Later, NTA Director General Abhishek Singh briefed the Minister about the functions and responsibilities of the agency.

The NTA is the nodal autonomous body that conducts entrance tests to higher educational institutions, such as NEET-UG. The Sunday Express reported that the NTA has "terminated the services" of 47 officials following the NEET-UG paper leak.

The questions awaiting the new Education Minister include three Starred and 38 Unstarred questions. For Starred questions, the Minister has to provide an oral reply to supplementary questions asked by MPs while the Unstarred questions are answered with written replies.

Joshi will be present in the House on Monday and, if the Lok Sabha functions during Question Hour, he along with his two deputies are expected to respond to the Starred questions.

Opposition prepares to train guns on Shah over protest crackdown

ASAD REHMAN &
JATIN ANAND
New Delhi, July 26

ADAY AFTER the resignation of former Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan after nationwide protests, the Opposition is now gearing up to target Union Home Minister Amit Shah as Parliament reconvenes on Monday. Sources said a host of Opposition parties are drafting adjournment motions, demanding answers from Shah for the violence and "use of lethal weapons" by the police during the protests against paper leaks in Delhi on July 20.

Opposition sources said the Congress, Trinamool Congress (TMC), CPI(M) and others will now try to shift the focus of the paper leak issue to the alleged use of excessive force against protesters.

Indications were there on Sunday that the fight against the government during the ongoing Monsoon Session will be taken to Shah as Lok Sabha Leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi wrote to the Home Minister, seeking accountability for the "barbaric assault" on student protesters.

Writing to Shah on the eve of Parliament reconvening, Gandhi said, "Our students were demanding a fair and accountable education system. Instead of being heard, security forces assaulted them with indiscriminate force, including lethal weapons and tear gas."

On Sunday, even as the Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) called off its protest, Gandhi reiterated the Opposition's two demands — an apology from Prime Minister Narendra Modi and "accountability" from Shah.

"Hundreds have suffered serious injuries. Women students have been assaulted by policemen, including by deliberately targeting their private parts. Most shocking has been the use of lethal pellet guns," wrote Gandhi in his letter to Shah on Sunday.

Citing media and social media reports, he said several people, including a journalist, suffered grave injuries. He questioned whether Shah had personally sanctioned the use of pellet guns and the alleged deployment of plainclothes personnel to assault protesters.

"I met 19-year-old student Sahil Lochab, who is now in severe pain (and) is likely to lose an eye because he was shot with pellet guns. Security forces deployed in Delhi answer ultimately to (Shah)," he said.

The Congress leader emphasised that peaceful protest is essential in any democracy, and it is the government's duty to protect protesters and address their concerns through dialogue. Sources said that some Opposition parties, including the Congress, TMC and CPI(M), have drafted adjournment motions under Rule 267, seeking a discussion on the authorisation of the use of "lethal weapons" during the crackdown against students in Delhi.

Need for balanced regulatory system to promote bio-tech in farm sector: ICAR

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, July 26

INDIAN COUNCIL OF Agricultural Research (ICAR) Director General ML Jat has stressed the need for a balanced regulatory system to facilitate the safe use of modern biotechnologies in the farm sector for achieving food and nutritional security.

According to a statement by the Agriculture Ministry on Sunday, Trust for Advancement of Agricultural Sciences (TAAS), in collaboration with ICAR, and the Federation of Seed Industry of India (FSII), organised a high-level roundtable on "Reforms in Regulations and Approval of Genetically Modified (GM) and Genome-Edited (GE) Crop Plants". More than 80 participants, including policymakers, agricultural scientists, regula-Rules, 1989, the Agriculture Ministry said in the statement.

At present, the regulatory ecosystem involves multiple competent authorities, including Institutional Biosafety Committees; the Review Committee on Genetic Manipulation under the Department of Biotechnology; the Genetic Engineering Appraisal Committee (GEAC) under the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change; the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI); ICAR and other concerned ministries and state governments. "Nonetheless, rapid advances in genome-editing technologies, including CRISPR-CAS-based systems, evolving global regulatory practices and the growing need for climate-resilient and sustainable agriculture necessitate a review and modernisation of India's regulatory framework for GM and GE crops," the statement said.

The roundtable meeting was held to develop a roadmap for efficient approvals of GM/GE crops.

In the inaugural session of the meeting, TAAS secretary Bhag Mal underscored the urgent need to modernise India's regulatory framework in view of climate change, food and nutritional security, sustainable agriculture, and rapid advances in biotechnology.

During the event, CD Mayee, President, South Asia Biotechnology Centre (SABC), talked about the imperative for regulatory reforms; Rhodora Romero-Aldemita, Executive Director, ISAAA, spoke on global developments and harmonisation of regulatory frameworks; and Graham Brookes, Agricultural Economist, PG Economics, UK, presented evidence on the economic benefits of GM and genome-edited crops worldwide.

The roundtable was co-chaired by TAAS Chairman RS Paroda and Rasi Seeds Founder Chairman M Ramasami.

India has established a comprehensive multi-tiered regulatory framework for transgenic crops under the Environment (Protection) Act, 1986 and

SBI, Central Bank back CtrlS' AI project

MANJU AB
Mumbai, July 26

CTRLS DATACENTERS HAS secured ₹5,500 crore in debt financing from State Bank of India (SBI) and Central Bank of India for its upcoming data centre campus in Hyderabad, giving a boost to one of India's major digital infrastructure projects.

SBI has sanctioned a loan of ₹4,000 crore, while Central Bank of India will provide ₹1,500 crore, bank sources said. The loan is initially structured as project finance and will later transition into a lease rental discounting (LRD) structure.

"The board of CtrlS will meet soon to decide future financing options," Sridhar Pinnareddy, founder and chief executive officer, CtrlS Datacenters, said in an email response, declining to comment on the company's specific debt financing lineups.

CtrlS is developing 3.5 GW of data centre campuses in Hyderabad. "These are the largest data centre campuses in India and

DOUBLE-DIGIT SALES GROWTH IN Q1 MASKS WIDENING GAP IN PROFITABILITY

Retail demand firm, margins slip

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, July 26

INDIA'S ORGANISED RETAILERS kicked off FY27 on a strong note, with most listed companies reporting healthy double-digit revenue growth in the June quarter. However, beneath the robust top-line performance lies a more nuanced picture, as profitability and margins diverged depending on business models, expansion strategies and investment priorities.

The first-quarter earnings of Reliance Retail, Avenue Supermarts (DMart), V-Mart Retail, Vishal Mega Mart, Shoppers Stop and Arvind Fashions point to a common trend: consumer demand remains resilient across value, premium and fashion segments, but retailers are increasingly balancing growth with profitability.

The trend mirrors findings from business surveys by the Retailers Association of India (RAI), which showed demand remained stable during the June quarter despite a cautious consumer spending environment due to the West Asia conflict.

"While the intent to spend remains intact among consumers, they are highly value-conscious. Retailers are adapting with sharp value strategies as they prepare for the upcoming festive season," said Kumar Rajagopalan, executive director and chief executive officer, RAI.

On the revenue front, nearly every retailer delivered double-digit growth during the quarter. V-Mart led the pack, with revenue rising 23% year-on-year to ₹1,089 crore, aided by strong footfalls, 9% same-store sales growth and 15 new stores.

Vishal Mega Mart followed with an 18.7% increase to ₹3,727 crore, supported by 10% same-store sales growth and 24 net store additions.

Arvind Fashions posted a 15.5% rise in revenue to ₹1,279 crore, driven by its direct-to-consumer and online businesses, which now contribute 62% of sales. Avenue Supermarts reported a 14.9% increase in revenue to ₹18,795 crore, although same-store sales growth eased to 5.5% in Q1 from 7.1% a year earlier. Shoppers Stop's revenue grew 11.2% to ₹1,291 crore as demand for beauty products and premium

Category-wise (sales growth for June 2026, in %) apparel remained healthy. Reliance Retail, the country's largest retailer, reported a revenue of ₹79,745 crore, reflecting continued momentum across categories.

The divergence became more evident at the profitability level. Value retailers continued to demonstrate operating leverage, converting higher sales into stronger earnings. V-Mart's net profit surged 40.5% to ₹47.2 crore, while Vishal Mega Mart's profit rose 25.6% to ₹259 crore. Avenue Supermarts reported an 11.3% increase in net profit to ₹861 crore, while maintaining earnings before interest, tax, depreciation, and amortisation (Ebitda) margin of 8%.

Shoppers Stop also narrowed its net loss to ₹14.3 crore, aided by premiumisation, tighter inventory management and continued expansion of its beauty business.

Reliance Retail and Arvind Fashions, however, reflected the cost of investing for future growth. Reliance Retail's net profit fell 14.1% year-on-year to ₹2,805 crore, while Ebitda declined 1.8% and Ebitda margin contracted 80 basis points to 7.4%. The company attributed the pressure to investments in quick commerce, hyperlocal delivery, omnichannel expansion and digital infrastructure, underscoring its willingness to sacrifice near-term profitability.

For Arvind Fashions, the net profit declined 23.8% to ₹10 crore, largely because of lower other income, even as Ebitda grew 20% and margin expanded 50 basis points to 12.5%. Vice-Chairman Kulin Lalbhai said the company would step up marketing investments, expand retail space and strengthen its brands while managing raw material costs. It expects Ebitda margins to improve by another 40-50 basis points in FY27 and is targeting revenue growth of about 15%.

UK FTA to raise the bar for Indian distillers: IndoBevs

THE CUT IN import duty on British alcoholic beverages under the India-UK free trade agreement (FTA) will intensify competition for Indian liquor makers but ultimately strengthen the domestic industry, according to Sameer Mahandru, founder of IndoBevs, the maker of BroCode.

With import duty on UK alcoholic beverages falling from 150% to 75% from July 15, Mahandru said domestic distillers would face stiffer competition. However, he believes the lower duties will push Indian manufacturers to improve product quality while benefiting consumers through better products and pricing. "There will be higher competition for players making malt today and for companies like us that will enter the segment in the next couple of years. But competing with the best in the world will only make the Indian industry better," he said in an interaction with FE.

Despite global headwinds, IndoBevs expects to maintain its growth trajectory. It grew around 30% in FY26 and is targeting another 30-35% growth this year. —FE BUREAU

Cactus eyes 13-15 Fund II investments

S SHANTHI
Bengaluru, July 26

VENTURE CAPITAL FIRM Cactus Partners plans to invest in 13-15 companies through its Fund II, which is targeting a corpus of about ₹1,600 crore. The firm has deployed its ₹630-crore Fund I across 13 companies including Lohum, Indigrid Technologies, Bellatrix Aerospace, Brandworks and Kapture CX.

"Our strategy is to identify high-quality businesses and make investments in those businesses at the right valuation," Amit Sharma, general partner at Cactus Partners, told FE.

Under Fund II, Cactus plans to write initial cheques of ₹60-100 crore, which Sharma said is the optimal size for its investment strategy. The firm typically backs companies raising $10-20 million in a funding round and intends to lead deals with investments of $6-10 million, syndicating the remaining capital with other investors.

The firm invests in three broad sectors—advanced manufacturing, enterprise technology and consumer technology. Within advanced manufacturing, it focuses on robotics, electronics design and manufacturing, semiconductors, defence, spacetech, critical minerals and the Internet of Things (IoT).

Sharma said India's push towards innovation, indigenisation and various production-linked incentive (PLI) schemes has created opportunities for companies building precision components, advanced materials and high-tech products that were previously imported. Investments in Lohum, Indigrid Technologies and Brandworks reflect that conviction, he added.

'Aviation is a Test match, not a T20'

As Fly91 enters its third year, the regional airline is targeting cash break-even by the end of FY27 while expanding its fleet and network despite supply-chain and financing challenges.

Manoj Chacko, managing director and CEO, speaks to Akbar Merchant about the airline's growth strategy, profitability road map, UDAN, regional expansion, and Lakshadweep's success. Excerpts:

Fly91 reported a profitable quarter in FY26. What is your outlook for FY27?

FY27 will still be a loss-making year as we're in expansion mode and carrying upfront costs for new stations, aircraft and manpower. We expect to become cash break-even by the end of FY27, with P&L break-even in the following year. If we remained a six-aircraft airline, we'd already be profitable, but our objective is to build a much larger business.

What are the biggest challenges facing Fly91 today?

The biggest challenge is the global aviation supply chain, which is controlled by a handful of players. The second challenge is access to finance in India. The banking system needs to do more to support aviation, particularly in terms of asset financing and debt. Today, financing is readily available for smaller assets such as vehicles, but airlines continue to face limited access to funding. Banks have become cautious after the losses they incurred after some airlines went defunct, so their concerns are understandable. However, there needs to be a gradual improvement in financing support for the sector.

Fly91 has doubled its fleet in two years. What is the long-term expansion plan?

We want to build Fly91 in a disciplined manner, with a target of 60 aircraft by 2033. The first two years were spent building the right foundation, including our pilot and engineering pipeline, customer base and business fundamentals. Aviation is a Test match, not a T20, and that's how we've approached growth. We remain committed to expansion, but not at any cost. We deferred an aircraft delivery due to supply chain disruptions, as delaying induction doesn't materially increase our costs given our existing crew strength. We aim to begin FY28 with at least 11 aircraft. Our strategy is to connect major regional hubs with Tier-II and Tier-III cities. We currently have two operating bases and plan to expand to six over the next five years, with new destinations such as Tirupati, Visakhapatnam and Indore strengthening our regional network. Every aircraft induction and new route must make commercial sense.

What differentiates Fly91 from other regional airlines?

We combine technology, operational discipline and a strong regional focus. Markets such as Jalgao, Pune, Sindhudurg and Lakshadweep have performed well, and we emphasise localisation through regional language announcements and community-focused service. Our objective is to build a sustainable regional airline driven by efficiency rather than scale.

How dependent is Fly91 on the UDAN scheme?

Not very. Only 14 of our 40 daily flights operate under UDAN. We've always developed routes with the intention of sustaining them after the subsidies end. The scheme helps us open new markets, but it isn't the foundation of our business model. The government's payment track record has been excellent. We submit our VGF claims by the sixth of every month. Around 80% of the payment is received within two weeks, with the balance coming by month-end. We've always followed every rule and submitted complete documentation, so we've never faced payment delays.

Lakshadweep has emerged as one of your strongest markets. What drove its success?

It's a classic example of how UDAN can help develop a market. We entered when connectivity was limited. Today, we operate daily services from Goa and double-daily flights from Kochi to Agatti, with more frequencies planned.

Why are you staying away from trunk routes such as Mumbai-Bengaluru?

Our focus is on connecting underserved Tier-II and Tier-III cities to regional hubs. Trunk routes require a very different business model. India still has hundreds of regional city pairs with little or no competition, offering significant growth opportunities.

Tech, capital hurdles for road map to 2 nm chip: Industry

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, July 26

WHILE FORESEEING A planned goal to move up the technology curve from the 28 nanometre (nm) chips currently being planned domestically to 7 nm, and eventually to 2 nm, industry executives said the leap will require solving four critical challenges — technology transfer, capital, talent and access to advanced lithography equipment.

Tata Electronics, whose upcoming Dholera fab represents a double-digit-billion-dollar investment, is currently building capacity only in the 28 nm-to-110 nm range. With Taiwan's PSMC as a technology partner, the firm is putting India's most advanced committed project well short of the nodes the government has eyed as long-term goals in India Semiconductor Mission 2.0.

Hareesh Chandrasekar, CEO and co-founder of AGNIT Semiconductors, said any realistic move to advanced nodes hinges on several factors — where the technology comes from, how much capital it requires, and whether India has the skilled manpower to execute at scale. India might want to take lead from Japan's Rapidus, which has licensed

THE BOTTLENECKS

■ India's priority should be deepening the broader chain before racing toward a specific node number, experts said

■ For this, the strategy rests on organic research rather than acquiring foreign technology outright, they said

■ Costs roughly double at each node, from 28 nm to 14 nm, to 7 nm, to 3-4 nm

■ Only three companies worldwide currently operate at the most advanced process nodes

IBM's process technology and is targeting 2 nm production directly, skipping intermediate nodes, he said.

On lithography, Chandrasekar said EUV access could prove to be the harder constraint, potentially requiring government-to-government engagement rather than a standard commercial order.

Meanwhile, Navin Bishnoi, chairperson of the India Electronics and Semiconductor Association (IESA), said only three companies worldwide currently operate at the most advanced process nodes, with Japan's Rapidus the newest entrant trying to join that group.

"The ecosystem depth matters more rather than a hurry to go to an advanced node," Bishnoi said, adding that India's priority should be deepening the broader chain — design, packaging, materials, equipment and IP — before racing toward a specific node number.

An outright technology purchase would offer little return, given India is not yet an advanced manufacturing base.

S. Krishnan, Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) secretary, said the strategy rests on organic research rather than acquiring foreign technology outright.

"Costs roughly double at each node, from 28 nm to 14 nm, to 7 nm, to 3-4 nm," he said in an interview with FE earlier.

Alongside cost and the technical sophistication involved, the reason why the country is not pursuing advanced nodes immediately is the fact that roughly 70% of global chip demand remains for legacy nodes, a segment currently led by China. While Japan, South Korea and the United States pursue 1-2 nm technology, the short-term goal, for India is to position itself as a legacy-node alternative rather than compete directly at the leading edge, Krishnan said.

New Digital Competition Bill may...

THE ORIGINAL DRAFT adopted a nationality-neutral approach and prescribed objective financial and user thresholds that could have brought large domestic digital platforms within the law's ambit if they met the criteria.

At the time, opposition to the proposed legislation was not confined to global technology companies. Several large Indian digital platforms, including Zomato, Swiggy and Oyo, also argued that ex ante regulation would curb innovation and increase compliance costs, while smaller rivals and industry bodies dealing with dominant platforms backed the proposal, underscoring that the divide was between digital gatekeepers and challengers rather than foreign and Indian firms.

The current exercise, however, is focused on where those thresholds should be drawn. Stakeholders have been asked whether the existing quantitative thresholds should be revised, propose alternative benchmark levels and recommend additional qualitative parameters for assessing market power. They have also been invited to suggest whether the existing list of nine core digital services should be expanded.

"After the consultations, it became clear that there was broad support for a digital competition law but differing views on where the thresholds should be drawn. The market study is intended to build a consensus to arrive at those numbers," the official added.

The earlier draft DCB had proposed quantitative thresholds including Indian turnover of more than ₹4,000 crore, global turnover exceeding $30 billion, global market capitalisation of at least $75 billion, gross merchandise value (GMV) in India of over ₹16,000 crore, and a threshold of at least 10 million end users or 10,000 business users in India. It had also proposed qualitative parameters such as data control, network effects, economic power, user dependence, entry barriers and an enterprise's ability to leverage its position across multiple digital markets.

Pranjal Prateek, partner at Khaitan & Co, said the study would be crucial in determining whether India's thresholds ultimately target only the largest digital platforms. "The study should serve as a guidepost for setting India's optimal threshold levels. If the evidence shows that only the absolute largest digital players should be regulated, the study should explicitly reflect that," he said.

Samir Gandhi, co-founder of Axiom5 Law Chambers, said the thresholds proposed in the earlier draft were too low and over-inclusive and required recalibration so that they captured only genuine systemic risks to competition. "The market study should allow for a more nuanced and context-specific assessment of market power under the DCB. This is especially important because broad ex ante regulations carry a significant risk of impeding innovation and constraining economic growth," Gandhi said.

Difference over local vs cloud testing delays Mythos access

OFFICIALS SAID THE preference is to deploy or evaluate frontier AI models on infrastructure located in India rather than rely on overseas cloud environments where data could potentially move outside the country's control.

However, implementing such an arrangement is not straightforward. Since Mythos is a closed proprietary model, Anthropic is unlikely to release the model weights that would allow customers to run it independently on their own servers. The alternative would require the company to deploy the model on infrastructure physically located in India while retaining operational control, a deployment model that has yet to be finalised.

The delay comes even as earlier regulatory hurdles in the US have eased.

In June, the US Department of Commerce had imposed export controls that require Anthropic to obtain government approval before granting foreign nationals access to Mythos and another frontier model, Fable. The restrictions were introduced after researchers reportedly identified a way to bypass Fable's safety guardrails.

Those export controls were lifted on June 30, allowing Anthropic to restore access to its existing Project Glasswing partners in the United States. While Fable has since become available more broadly, officials said Mythos has not yet been rolled out internationally.

India has already submitted a formal request identifying the government departments and companies it wants cleared for access under Project Glasswing, Anthropic's security initiative that uses Mythos to identify vulnerabilities in critical systems.

Officials said the company has not indicated a timeline for extending Mythos access to India, with discussions on the deployment framework still continuing.

The delay means India's participation in the programme now hinges not only on regulatory clearances but also on reaching an agreement over where and how the model will be deployed, officials said.

IPO rush builds, nine issues open this week

QUICK-COMMERCE COMPANY Zepto is expected to lead the August pipeline. Its proposed IPO includes a fresh issue of up to ₹8,010 crore and an offer for sale of as many as 113.4 million shares by existing investors. The company plans to deploy the fresh capital towards expanding its dark-store network, strengthening its technology infrastructure and supporting other growth initiatives.

Housing finance company Truhome Finance is planning a ₹3,000-crore issue, divided equally between a fresh issue and an offer for sale. Education infrastructure company Elevate Campuses proposes to raise ₹2,550 crore entirely through fresh equity. Logistics technology platform Shiprocket has lined up a ₹2,342.35-crore offer, comprising fresh capital of up to ₹1,100 crore and an offer for sale worth about ₹1,242 crore. Innovatiview India plans an offer for sale of up to ₹2,000 crore, while Milky Mist Dairy Food is looking to raise ₹1,553 crore.

Dhoot Transmission, Asset Reconstruction Company India, Ardee Industries, Gaja Alternative Asset Management, Rays of Belief, Hy-Tech Engineers, Shankesh Jewellers, and Learnfluence Education are among the other companies in the prospective IPO queue. The final launch schedules will depend on market conditions and regulatory and procedural clearances.

The expanding pipeline follows sustained activity in the primary market. Thirty-six companies have launched IPOs so far in 2026, including nine in July. Investment bankers expect issuance to remain strong but say investors are becoming increasingly selective, with reasonably priced offers more likely to perform well than issues seeking aggressive valuations. One banker estimated that Indian companies could raise about $20 billion through IPOs during the calendar year.

● V. VAIDYANATHAN, MD & CEO, IDFC FIRST BANK

'We're hoping for $1.5-2 bn of fresh FCNR (B) flows'

IDFC FIRST Bank expects to garner about $1.5-2 billion of FCNR (B) deposits under the RBI's special deposit window. The bank more than doubled its net profit in the June quarter on the back of strong growth in the net interest income and lower provisions and expects the return on assets to settle at 1% by the end of FY27. Managing Director and CEO, V.Vaidyanathan tells Kshipra Petkar a sustained loan growth of 20% should be possible in the coming quarters subject to market conditions. Excerpts:

Do you think the robust loan growth of 20% y-o-y and deposit growth of 18% y-o-y reported in Q1 can sustain?

The growth is coming from segments like mortgages, vehicle loans, corporate loans and MSME. We feel these are stable sectors, very core sectors. Around 20% growth should be achievable we feel from what we can see, but it will be subject to market conditions.

Which segments are driving the demand for corporate credit?

The demand is quite broad based. Of late, we have done proposals in metals, renewables, data centers, warehousing, lease rental discounting for commercial real estate, chemicals, logistics etc. We will go where there are quality customers and proper risk adjusted returns.

How has the FCNR (B) deposit scheme progressed?

It's early to share numbers, but we expect to garner about $1.5-2 billion of the fresh flows. The flows will come through regular FCNR deposits, GIFT City and the $BLC model. On pricing, we are comfortable with our current pricing of 6.75%.

What has prompted the bank to upgrade its net interest margin guidance for FY27 to 5.8% from earlier 5.75%.

Our NIM expanded to 5.96% in the June quarter from 5.70% in Q1 FY26. Our cost of funds has declined by 45 basis points year-on-year, which directly supports margins. As things stand today, we believe margins should be around 5.8% this year, assuming there are no major changes in policy rates.

The cost-to-income ratio has also come down significantly to 70.7% in Q1FY27?

The increase in our income has been 500 basis points more than the rise in our expenses. That's a huge differential. This is leading to operating leverage and is reducing our income cost ratio. We have made investments that are now paying off.

Which new businesses will drive growth beyond the core lending franchise?

We are building a universal bank so we are also expanding our wealth management business where our assets have grown to around ₹60,000 crore from ₹900 crore in 2018-19. We have also added about 2,300 customers in corporate cash management and 4.8 million credit card customers. This will diversify our revenue stream.

What is your view on the proposed data governance framework and ECL norms?

Stronger data governance is a good thing. Compliance will rely more on technology and governance, than on hiring, so additional costs won't be material. When the ECL kicks in, we will benefit from reduced RWA changes for operational and credit risk. Together, the impact on capital adequacy should be broadly neutral.

When do you expect to raise capital?

The approvals are enabling in nature. After that, we have a full year available.

War, Fed rate decision, oil to drive mkts, say analysts

DEVELOPMENTS AROUND THE West Asia conflict, crude oil prices and the US Fed interest rate decision would be the key drivers for market movement this week, analysts said. Besides, quarterly earnings would also drive sentiments.

"Developments surrounding the US-Iran conflict, shipping activity via Hormuz, and movements in crude oil prices will remain key drivers of global risk sentiment. In addition, investors will closely monitor the US Federal Reserve's policy meeting, where interest rate guidance and commentary on inflation will be critical for global markets," Ajit Mishra, SVP, research, Religare Broking, said. On the domestic front, June industrial production data will be tracked.

Major companies reporting earnings this week include Coal India, BEL, L&T, Hindustan Unilever, Adani Enterprises, Asian Paints, Adani Ports and Bajaj Finance.

For defending rupee, RBI leans harder on forwards

● Record short dollar book limits reserve depletion

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, July 26

THE RESERVE BANK of India's reliance on the forward market to manage the rupee has become increasingly pronounced, with its net outstanding forward dollar sales touching a record $106.6 billion at May-end. The scale of the position underscores how forwards have become central to the RBI's currency-management strategy amid sustained pressure on the rupee.

The RBI's net outstanding forward dollar sales rose to a record $106.6 billion at the end of May, having climbed steadily since September 2025 as the central bank sought to contain rupee volatility without running down its foreign exchange reserves too rapidly. Pressure from the tariff war and persistent foreign portfolio outflows was compounded by tensions in West Asia from late February. The rupee has depreciated 11.4% over the past year and closed at 96.57 against the dollar on Friday.

"The RBI's net short forward book of nearly $106 billion highlights a clear shift in its intervention strategy, with greater reliance on the forward market rather than outright spot dollar sales," said Kunal Sodhani, treasury head at Shinhan Bank. "The large position suggests the central bank has been actively supplying dollars through forwards and swaps to smooth rupee volatility while preserving foreign exchange reserves."

A short dollar forward position represents an obligation for the RBI to sell dollars and buy rupees at a future date. Its growing use therefore means the scale of the central bank's currency intervention is not fully captured by movements in headline foreign exchange reserves.

Over the years, the RBI has moved from predominantly spot-market intervention towards a combination of spot sales, forwards and swaps, with its use of the forward market increasing significantly since 2020 and intensifying between 2022 and 2025.

One reason is the impact of spot intervention on domestic liquidity. When the RBI sells dollars in the spot market and absorbs rupees, it drains liquidity from the banking system. Forward intervention allows it greater flexibility in managing the currency without an immediate liquidity impact.

"The RBI's spot-market intervention creates more liquidity challenges," said Madhanvankutty G, chief economist at Canara Bank. Comfortable system liquidity, according to the RBI, is a surplus of around 1% of net demand and time liabilities, or roughly ₹2.7 lakh crore, he said. "We are not able to maintain that kind of surplus regularly. Moreover, the widened credit-deposit gap limits the RBI's scope for spot-market intervention, making the forward market its primary tool for now."

The strategy, however, has created a sizeable future dollar obligation. Of the outstanding forward book, about $28.7 billion is due to mature within three months. This makes the recent pickup in foreign currency inflows particularly important.

Banks had mobilised $17.41 billion through foreign currency non-resident (Bank) deposits under the RBI's special swap scheme as of July 17, contributing to total inflows of $20.72 billion from measures introduced in June to strengthen the balance of payments and support the rupee.

"The RBI has likely absorbed most of the inflows from its FX measures and reduced its short forward book. This will give it more ammunition to intervene aggressively in future," said Ritesh Bhansali, deputy CEO at Mecklai Financial Services.

India's foreign exchange reserves stood at $676 billion as of July 17, down 7.2% from their February-end peak of $728.49 billion. After adjusting for the RBI's short forward position, the effective reserve cushion is considerably lower. The central bank's net spot-market dollar sales, meanwhile, stood at $6.1 billion in May, compared with nearly $10 billion in March. The large forward book could also influence the rupee's trajectory even if external pressures ease.

"The RBI needs to be even more careful in using its resources given the volatility," said Indranil Pan, chief economist at YES Bank.

MF-PMS may boost investment advisory services

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, July 26

THE PROPOSED MUTUAL fund-only PMS (MF-PMS) framework can emerge as an attractive proposition for affluent investors while accelerating the transition toward fee-based wealth management and professional advisory services, say experts.

It can also increase accountability of distributors and make the fee-based advisory model more popular, according to DP Singh, Joint CEO, SBI Mutual Fund.

Proposed by the Securities and Exchange board of India (Sebi), this framework enables investments in direct plans of mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs) and specialised investment funds (SIFs). The minimum investment threshold would be ₹25 lakh while the portfolio manager must have a minimum net worth of ₹2 crore.

Aditya Agarwal, co-founder of Wealthy.in believes the PMS (MF-PMS) will shift the focus from product distribution to customised portfolios and asset allocation giving the advisory model a boost. "Advisors can offer institutional-quality, goal-based solutions while leveraging the transparency, liquidity and diversification of mutual funds," Agarwal explained.

Sandeep Jethwani, co-founder, Dezerv feels the addressable market for mutual funds can be deepened. "Those that cannot use professional portfolio managers, because the threshold may be high, can invest ₹25-50 lakh in the PMS (MF-PMS)," he pointed out. Jethwani expects that the simplified operating requirements and a lower net worth threshold will open up the MF-PMS framework to many more registered investment advisers (RIAs).

Anup Bhaiya, founder, Money Honey Wealth Services said smaller RIAs, boutique advisors and MFDs will also benefit.

The new scheme could result in direct plans making up an even more significant portion of mutual fund inflows, Jethwani said.

Explainer

● What are plastic banknotes?

PLASTIC BANKNOTES ARE currency notes made of polymer, and not ordinary plastic. They are made from a synthetic polymer or a specially engineered polymer substrate, most commonly biaxially oriented polypropylene (BOPP). Plastic banknotes last much longer than paper currency, and therefore have a reduced environmental impact as well as cost of production and replacement.

India uses a paper currency made from a material that is a blend of 75% cotton and 25% linen. Unlike such paper currencies, which absorb moisture and dirt through exchange of hands, plastic banknotes are resistant and do not easily absorb water, sweat, or dirt. In a country like India, paper notes get soiled and damaged quickly. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) spends a sizeable amount on collecting damaged notes and destroying or recycling them, besides printing fresh notes. In the past decade, its annual printing expenditures have ranged between ₹4,000 crore and ₹5,500 crore. In 2025-26, its security printing expenses were ₹4,875 crore. Expenses shot up in 2016-17, when it had to spend ₹7,965 crore as it had to replace the demonetised ₹500 and ₹1,000 notes with new notes.

● What is the RBI planning?

THE RBI IS planning to roll out polymer banknotes. Earlier this month, its currency printing arm Bharatiya Reserve Bank Note Mudran (BRBNMPL) floated a global Expression of Interest (EoI) for the supply of polymer substrate sheets embedded with security features. The EoI suggests an initial requirement of 68,000 reams of BOPP-based polymer substrate-34,000 reams each for two denominations, ₹10 and ₹20, for which the pilot is likely to begin. Each ream will comprise 500 sheets. The advanced security features sought includes a clear window with a portrait, metallic numeral, magnetic pseudo thread, shadow image, and iridescent patterns. The material has to be compatible with the facilities run by BRBNMPL and Security Printing and Minting Corporation of India, the two entities that operate banknote printing presses.

BANKNOTES IN CIRCULATION IN WEEK ENDED JULY 17

● Has India thought of it earlier?

THE CENTRAL BANK has made similar proposals earlier. In 2009, it had proposed to introduce 100 crore pieces of ₹10 polymer notes as a pilot project, but the plan was later shelved. In 2012-13, too, the government planned to introduce field trials in five cities — Kochi, Mysore, Jaipur, Shimla, and Bhubaneswar — which represent diverse climatic conditions. However, it also faced operational problems including ATM dispensing jams and degradation of specialised ink in hot conditions. The renewed interest in plastic banknotes comes at a time when cash transactions continue despite the rise of digital payments post-demonetisation a decade earlier. Digital payments via Unified Payments Interface dominate transaction counts, with 57% users preferring it compared to 38% for cash. According to the RBI's FY26 annual report, a survey on payment behaviour among households and small retailers showed continued strong preference for cash use. The cash circulating in the economy reached ₹42,52,183 crore in the week ended July 17, 2026.

● What are the advantages of plastic notes?

PLASTIC NOTES ARE more durable because of the ability to resist moisture, and folds much better than paper notes, besides remaining cleaner throughout. The typical lifespan of a paper banknote is one to five years, depending on the denomination value and how often it changes hands. Polymer notes last twice longer and cost less in the long run than traditional notes. A 2011 life-cycle assessment of paper banknotes by the Bank of Canada showed that switching to synthetic polymer notes resulted in 32% fewer global warming emissions; the manufacturing process needed 30% less primary energy and the notes could be recycled into plastic products such as compost bins. Enhanced security is another plus, making counterfeiting much harder for plastic notes which have features such as colour-shifting elements, transparent windows, complex holographic designs and microprinting.

● Countries using plastic notes and hurdles for India

AUSTRALIA PIONEERED the plastic currency note in 1988 and switched completely to polymer banknotes in 1996. New Zealand, Romania, Canada, and the UK also have switched to plastic banknotes. At present, more than 50 countries have introduced them as commemorative currencies or for general circulation.

Since only a handful of firms make polymer substrate, India may have to rely heavily on imports and face high upfront costs of making the switch. Building such domestic manufacturing capabilities could be an arduous task. Given the ATM struggles in dispensing plastic banknotes in the past, upgrading the machines will involve a huge cost. In the UK, which has transitioned fully in 2022 since the introduction of the polymer banknote in 2016, the upgrade of ATMs cost an estimated £45 million; along with cash-counting machines the costs rose to £240 million.

Think twice before tapping your EPF to buy a house

IT CAN COST YOU FIVE TIMES OF THE INTEREST YOU WOULD PAY ON A HOME LOAN

SAIKAT NEOGI

THE RETIREMENT FUND body may have made partial withdrawals easier, but before you break your nest egg to build another asset, run the numbers. Say, you're in your mid-thirties and withdraw ₹50 lakh from your Employees' Provident Fund (EPF) to buy a property. Assuming interest of 8.25% a year, that could wipe out ₹2.44 crore from your retirement kitty over 20 years.

Compare that with the alternative. Take a 20-year bank loan of ₹50 lakh instead, and your total interest outgo works out to just ₹50.37 lakh (assuming 8% interest). In other words, dipping into your EPF corpus will cost you five times what you would have paid in loan interest.

If you're close to retirement, withdrawing from your EPF to buy a home may still make sense. But if you are in the mid-thirties, it will cost you far more in the long run.

If you withdraw from your EPF corpus and don't reinvest the cash flow freed up by lower EMIs, the long-term damage is significant—that's the power of compounding working against you.

The EPF gives you tax-free returns (8.25% for FY25), higher than the prevailing home loan rate of around 8%. Note, however, that interest earned on your contributions exceeding ₹2.5 lakh a year is taxable under 'Income from Other Sources'.

"Employees who are relatively early in their careers or whose retirement savings are primarily concentrated in EPF may benefit from preserving the corpus and allowing it to continue compounding," says Puneet Gupta, partner, People Advisory Services - Tax, EY India.

That said, a partial withdrawal can help if you face a massive down payment shortfall. "An individual who needs limited funds or who may be unable to get a home loan because of his credit rating may find it easier to withdraw from the EPF balance and avoid paperwork," says Aarti Raote, partner, Deloitte India.

So while the 2026 framework gives you greater access to your EPF savings, treat it primarily as a retirement asset and use the withdrawal provisions judiciously.

Your AIS isn't the last word on your taxable income

THE ANNUAL INFORMATION Statement (AIS) has transformed the way taxpayers prepare their income tax returns. With details of salary, bank interest, dividends, securities transactions, tax deducted at source and other financial information available at one place, filing a return has become significantly easier.

As the scope of information in the AIS continues to expand, many taxpayers have started treating it as the definitive record of their taxable income. That, however, is where the biggest misconception lies.

While the AIS enables taxpayers to verify information reported by various entities, it is an information statement, not a tax computation or a complete financial statement. Relying on it without reviewing one's own financial records can result in inaccurate reporting and potential tax consequences.

Not every source of income appears in AIS

Several categories of taxable income may not appear because no TDS is deducted or deductible.

For instance, rental income earned from a deemed let-out house property will not be reflected in the AIS. Likewise, taxable gifts received from non-relatives, or interest income earned on an NRE account may be absent. Again, freelancers and small business owners should not assume that the receipts appearing in the AIS represent their entire taxable income. Their income must be reported based on their sales books.

AIS does not compute capital gains

One of the most common mistakes taxpayers make is assuming that the figures relating to securities transactions in the AIS represent their taxable capital gains.

In reality, the AIS reflects transaction details such as date of purchase, date of sale, sale consideration and cost of acquisition. The actual capital gain or loss must be computed after considering the expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively for transfer, applicable tax rates, and carried-forward losses. Taxpayers should therefore rely on their broker statements and capital gains reports while preparing their return instead of depending solely on the AIS.

Deductions need independent verification

Whether a taxpayer is eligible to claim deductions depends on the applicable legal provisions and the supporting documentation. Housing loan interest, deductions relating to specified investments and several other claims continue to require independent verification.

Records matter

Documents such as salary certificates, bank statements, capital gains reports, rental records, housing loan certificates and details of exempt income continue to play a crucial role in ensuring accurate tax compliance. These also help in responding to any future queries from the tax authorities. Before filing the return, taxpayers should reconcile the AIS with Form 26AS, Form 16 and other financial records. The AIS feedback facility may be used to report discrepancies.

Why IIMs are expanding into metro cities, global markets

IIM KOZHIKODE OPENS IN KOCHI, IIM AHMEDABAD EXPANDS TO DUBAI, AND IIM BANGALORE HEADS TO INDONESIA

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

FROM SATELLITE URBAN learning centres in India's corporate hubs to overseas branch campuses, the Indian Institutes of Management (IIMs) are rethinking geography to capture executive education demand, launch undergraduate degrees, and build global footprints.

The IIM model was built around self-contained, fully residential campuses. Most IIMs were designed as academic sanctuaries—often situated away from bustling commercial centres—and relied on a secluded environment to foster learning. But that model is changing. Driven by demands of working professionals, the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 regulations, and the desire for global relevance, IIMs are stepping out of their walls.

Breaking the isolation

On July 18, IIM Kozhikode inaugurated its Gurukula Urban Learning Centre at Kalamassery in Kochi. While IIMK had operated out of a temporary space at Infopark Kakkanad for over a decade, the move to a purpose-built urban hub is a structural pivot.

Situated 30 minutes from Kochi International Airport and adjacent to a metro station, the campus offers a strategic connectivity advantage. "It brings the formidable advantage of superb connectivity and access," Prof Debashis Chatterjee, director of IIM Kozhikode, told FE. "Beyond the slew of innovative programmes that IIMK will be managing from this campus, the iconic campus structure and location also affords us a much higher level of visibility and prominence." IIM Kozhikode is using its Kochi footprint not just for executive education, but also as the launchpad for its four-year Bachelor of Management Studies (BMS)—a departure from the traditional postgraduate-only focus of older IIMs.

Addressing why an undergraduate programme was placed in an urban hub rather than the main campus, Prof Chatterjee said that the urban ecosystem itself acts as the infrastructure. "For BMS and the other many programmes that will be launched in Kochi, the city itself is the 'campus'. Every conceivable convenience is available and easily accessible," he said, adding that the location aids in attracting top global and Indian faculty.

The Noida precedent

IIM Kozhikode's expansion is part of a broader trajectory pioneered two decades ago. In 2005, IIM Lucknow became the first premier IIM to set up a full-fledged satellite campus in Noida to tap into the Delhi-NCR corporate belt. That blueprint proved that physical proximity to industry centres was vital for executive education, consulting, and applied research.

Since then, multiple IIMs have adopted multi-campus strategies—from IIM Indore's presence in Mumbai to satellite outposts by IIM Ranchi (in Hyderabad) and IIM Rohtak (plans in Gurgaon).

But the current wave of expansion goes well beyond domestic urban centres, and top IIMs—those that are known globally—are now tional branch campus in Dubai. Offering its flagship one-year full-time MBA, the institute has tailored its academic delivery to fit the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) and Middle Eastern corporate world.

"Building on our enduring legacy of case-based pedagogy, we also established two Centres of Excellence (CoE) at the IIMA Dubai campus, focusing on case writing and startup incubation," IIMA director Prof Bharat Bhasker told FE. "Through these, our faculty members actively engage and collaborate with regional industries and organisations in Dubai, the GCC, and Middle Eastern countries."

To reflect regional dynamics, IIMA has integrated cases focused on local sectors such as oil, finance, technology, and tourism into its Dubai curriculum.

Operating an overseas branch also requires a distinct operational model compared to domestic satellite campuses. "Since IIMA Dubai is a branch campus, it follows the same models as its mother campus in Ahmedabad," Prof Bhasker said. "We have deployed some of our faculty members at the IIMA Dubai campus for a longer time, while others keep travelling between the two campuses."

Dual campuses & ASEAN

Meanwhile, IIM Bangalore is leveraging a dual-campus model domestically to expand into undergraduate education, while simultaneously eyeing an overseas footprint in Southeast Asia.

Domestically, IIMB's new Jigani campus—about 20 km from the main Bannerghatta Road campus—allows the institute to introduce four-year undergraduate programmes in science and liberal arts without overcrowding its flagship facility. "The Jigani campus enables IIMB to execute a dual-campus growth strategy," Prof U Dinesh Kumar, director in-charge at IIMB, told FE. "It gives IIMB the flexibility to grow its academic footprint and pioneer undergraduate education without compromising the quality of its flagship MBA ecosystem. In fact, the UG programme will complement the PG programme by cross-pollinating ideas among faculty across both cohorts."

On the international front, IIM Bangalore is planning an overseas campus in Indonesia's Singhasari Special Economic Zone. The rollout will begin with short-duration executive education programmes before expanding into degree-granting courses tailored for senior leadership across ASEAN markets.

"With several global firms having their regional headquarters in the Global South region, and a significant share of their top leadership being IIM alumni, these synergies can be leveraged to attract top-tier students," added Prof Jitendra Desai, member of the Board of Governors at IIM Bangalore.

He noted that faculty deployment will initially rely on IIMB professors traveling to Indonesia, alongside plans to train local Indonesian faculty to ensure seamless academic standards.

At a time when foreign universities are coming to India, IIMs are taking the India brand global, and whether through urban satellite campuses in India's metro cities or branch locations across Dubai and Southeast Asia, the strategy is clear: geography is no longer a constraint for India's premier management institutions. By positioning themselves directly inside major economic corridors, IIMs are ensuring that their academic offerings remain intimately linked to the global business landscape.

When hopes run thin

Crisis defused, but India must repair the broken pathways from education to opportunity

DHARMENDRA PRADHAN'S RESIGNATION after the massive youth-led protest is a victory for democratic accountability. It shows that public anger, organised on the streets, and amplified through social media, can force a government to listen and accept responsibility. It has also exposed an Opposition that appeared hesitant until the crowds became too large to ignore, and then moved quickly to claim the moment. Yet the resignation should be understood as a beginning, not a resolution. The National Eligibility cum Entrance Test paper leak was grave because millions of young people stake years of work, family savings, and their futures on the integrity of competitive examinations. But the leak became explosive because it touched a deeper anxiety: that the ladders of mobility promised to young Indians are becoming narrower, more expensive, and less reliable.

At the heart of this discontent is a divided India. Absolute poverty has fallen and economic growth has created wealth, enterprise, and opportunity, but access to the foundations of advancement remains profoundly unequal. One India can work around inadequate public systems through private schools, coaching centres, expensive universities, and private hospitals. The other depends on institutions whose quality varies sharply by geography, income, and social background. Higher-education enrolment has expanded dramatically since 1991, but unemployment in some young age cohorts ranges between 25% and 40%. Families invest heavily in education as their strongest hope of upward mobility, only to find that good jobs are scarce and the gateway to them unforgiving. When even an examination appears compromised, the administrative failure becomes a moral one: it tells those without influence that effort alone may not be enough.

The answer, however, cannot be a simplistic Robin Hood politics of robbing Peter to pay Paul. India does not have to choose between wealth creation and social justice; it needs both to reinforce each other. Enterprise, investment, innovation, and success must be encouraged, because redistribution without growth merely divides scarcity. But growth that allows opportunity to be purchased rather than earned will deepen resentment and weaken social cohesion. The state's role is not to punish prosperity, but to ensure that birth, location, and income do not determine the quality of a child's education, access to healthcare, the credibility of an examination, or the possibility of dignified employment. Governments must be held responsible when institutions fail, while the Opposition must offer more than opportunistic solidarity after public anger becomes politically useful. The malaise is larger than any single minister, party, or examination board.

India's demographic dividend was always conditional, never guaranteed. A large young population becomes an asset only when people believe effort can lead to advancement and that institutions will treat them fairly. A minister can resign, an exam can be repeated, and officials can be punished, but restoring confidence requires deeper reform: secure and transparent testing, stronger public education, affordable healthcare, credible pathways from learning to employment, and enough quality jobs to match rising aspirations. It also requires institutions willing to listen before frustration becomes despair and despair reaches the streets. The recent protests offer grounds for cautious optimism: young Indians have demonstrated that democratic pressure can produce accountability. The task now is to turn that accountability into durable change. They are not asking for guaranteed success, nor for one section of society to be diminished so another can rise. They are asking for a fair chance to build their futures. India must prove to its citizens that this remains possible.

● THE HUMAN FACTOR

The town hall is not where you think it is

PICTURE THE CORPORATE town hall. The chief executive is on stage, the slides have survived six rounds of "alignment", and the questions have been collected in advance in case communication breaks out. Sixty minutes later, leadership departs satisfied that the workforce has been heard and, ideally, neutralised.

The real town hall begins five minutes later. It is on WhatsApp, Instagram, and other group chats that HR may not even know. There, screenshots are annotated, assurances compared with reality, and the answer that sounded visionary on stage is translated into plain English. The formal event supplied the material.

The Cockroach Janta Party protests offer an example of this inversion. A satirical online identity, born after a dismissive courtroom reference to critics and unemployed youngsters as "cockroaches", became a youth movement, drew crowds to Jantar Mantar, and helped force Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan's resignation over exam paper leaks. It travelled from Instagram joke to political force in weeks. Most companies take longer to decide whether employees may work from home on Fridays.

This is not to argue that every employee with a meme is leading a revolution, or that CEOs should govern by hashtag. Virality is not evidence, and outrage is not a management system. But leaders who hide behind these truths miss the larger one: hierarchy may still decide who signs the memo, but it no longer decides who controls the story.

For most of the corporate age, information moved downwards through official channels while criticism travelled upwards slowly, losing calories at every management layer until it arrived at the top as a pastel engagement-survey chart. Social media has removed the upholstery. An intern need not wait six months for a skip-level meeting; she can post before lunch. A team unhappy about something need not petition HR; it can discuss them publicly. The employee may lack positional authority but can acquire attention — and attention is a currency no org chart regulates.

The CIP's name contains another lesson. Contempt from above can become solidarity below. In the social age, an insult descends at the speed of a memo and returns at the speed of a meme. The executive who dismisses remote workers as unserious, lectures staff for asking about layoffs, or sneers at "quiet quitters" may believe he is asserting authority. He may instead be designing the opposition's slogan and recruitment campaign.

Speed makes matters worse. Companies respond to controversy with a task force, legal review, and sterilised email released after the workforce has produced three sequels and two parodies. Institutions communicate through minutes; employees communicate through memes. Leaders need not begin town halls with dance reels. But silence creates a vacuum, filled by the fastest explanation rather than the fairest one.

The sensible response is neither censorship nor surrender. Leaders should build credible internal channels, listen to unofficial conversations without turning them into surveillance, and answer the grievance rather than complain about the grammar. They should respond early with what is known, what is not, and what happens next. Above all, they should avoid the contempt that turns disagreement into identity. No communications strategy can compensate for a paper leak, a mishandled redundancy, or a pay gap explained by "market dynamics" and a PowerPoint arrow.

The organisational chart has not disappeared. Someone must still decide, allocate resources, and accept responsibility. What has disappeared is the assumption that rank guarantees deference or that information can be contained. Power now gathers wherever attention gathers, often before the boardroom finds time to meet.

So hold the town hall. Polish the slides. Collect the questions if you must. Just remember that the meeting that matters may actually convene afterwards, without you, on a channel you cannot see. What is said there will depend less on the elegance of your presentation than on whether people believe you listened before speaking — and whether, when challenged, you treated them as colleagues rather than cockroaches.

WITHOUT ENFORCEMENT, EXPORT-ONLY RELAXATION MAY EVOLVE INTO INVENTORY-BASED DOMESTIC RETAIL

serve that balance. The platform provides technology, logistics, and payment systems, while independent businesses retain ownership of goods and customer relationships. Inventory-based retail fundamentally changes these incentives. The platform becomes both a marketplace and a merchant, controlling procurement, pricing, promotions, and consumer visibility.

That difference matters because digital platforms derive enormous advantage from data, scale, and logistics. Once they become sellers themselves, they can privilege their own inventory, negotiate lower prices from suppliers, and consolidate market power in ways that are difficult for independent businesses to match.

Supporters of the proposal argue that these concerns do not arise because the new model applies only to exports. Yet such exceptions have a habit of becoming permanent precedents for much broader openings.

There is another problem. Maintaining separate inventories for export and domestic sales is straightforward in legal drafting but much harder in commercial reality. Warehousing, procurement, inventory management, and supply chains increasingly operate through integrated digital systems. Monitoring whether goods meant for export ultimately enter the domestic market, directly or indirectly, would require a level of regulatory oversight that India has historically struggled to sustain.

More importantly, once multinational platforms establish inventory operations for exports, they are likely to argue that extending the same rights to domestic commerce is merely the next logical step. They have consistently sought such access over the past decade. Having accepted the principle of inventory ownership, future governments may find it increasingly difficult to resist demands to remove the remaining restrictions.

The consequences would extend beyond foreign investment policy. Inventory ownership would significantly alter bargaining relationships across India's retail ecosystem. Small manufacturers and traders would increasingly sell to the platform rather than directly to consumers. Over time, dependence on a handful of dominant platforms could reduce suppliers' bargaining power, compress margins, and limit the commercial independence of India's MSMEs.

This is not an argument against foreign investment or exports. The real question is whether changing e-commerce investment rules is necessary to achieve those objectives.

The answer is far from obvious. Foreign companies already have multiple legal avenues to source and export Indian products. They can purchase through wholesale operations, contract manufacturers, sourcing offices, or export intermediaries. None of these channels requires a change to India's fundamental approach to foreign investment in e-commerce.

If exports can already occur under existing rules, the proposal addresses no obvious market failure. Its principal significance lies elsewhere: it creates the first formal exception to India's prohi-

India's experience with regulating large digital platforms suggests that designing guardrails is much easier than enforcing them

INDIA'S DESIRE To become Viksit Bharat by 2047 can be fulfilled only if the economy grows at 8% annually for the next 21 years. But such optimism overlooks a structural crisis. The headline GDP numbers conceal a blurred reality (notes former Chief Economic Adviser Arvind Subramanian rightly). India's actual economic growth during the last decade is closer to 4-4.5% on average than official estimates of 6%, because of measurement problems. If growth itself has been weaker, India's structural crisis is far deeper than the official statistics indicate, as discussed in our book Indian Out of Work: Rethinking the Growth Story.

A structural crisis is steadily eroding the foundations of India's growth story. Weak job creation, stagnant wages, sluggish private investment, and faltering domestic demand are no longer isolated problems. They reinforce on one another, in a feedback loop, to trap the economy in a low-growth equilibrium path.

This crisis is not new. India has faced a structural crisis before. The state-led development model eventually culminated in the 1991 balance-of-payments crisis, triggering sweeping economic reforms. Liberalisation transformed the economy, integrated India into global markets, and unleashed nearly two decades of rapid growth.

But today's challenge is entirely different. It is neither a Gulf War driven-crisis of external balances, nor macro-economic instability. It is a crisis of employment, incomes, and demand — the very engines (or cyclical flow) that sustain long-term economic growth, and helped Indian economy achieve above 7.8% GDP growth during 2004-14. The economy slowed during the last decade on every front (as all the engines of growth stopped firing effectively).

First, the India's structural slowdown is, at its core, a crisis of private consumption demand. Household consumption accounts for nearly 60% of GDP, yet the purchasing power of ordinary Indians (poor, casual labour, and informally employed) has steadily weakened. As non-farm job growth is barely half of the jobs needed with more and more educated youth joining the labour force, real wages have remained largely stagnant over the past decade, while household savings have fallen to just 18% of GDP in 2023-24, the lowest level in decades. Similarly, the net household financial savings plunged to a 47-year low of 5% of GDP in 2022-23 before recovering marginally to 5.3% in 2023-24, even as household debt climbed to around 41% of GDP. Families are increasingly relying on personal loans and gold-backed borrowing to sustain consumption rather than rising incomes. This erosion of household balance sheets has weakened demand for mass-consumption goods, prompting firms to postpone investment and hiring. The result is a vicious cycle: stagnant wages suppress consumption, and subdued investment further constrains employment and income growth. No economy can sustain rapid growth when the purchasing power of its households steadily erodes.

Secondly, private investment was one of the most important drivers of growth during 2002-2014. During this period, India's gross fixed capital formation averaged between 34 and 38% of GDP, supported by a domestic savings rate that touched 37%. This investment boom not only financed rapid infrastructure expansion and

The crisis is systemic. Manufacturing has failed to become India's employment engine, contributing 13-14% of gross value added but employing under 12% of the workforce industrial capacity creation, but created 7.5 million per annum non-farm jobs. Contrastingly, the investment rate post-2014 remained below 32% of GDP, despite favourable macroeconomic conditions. Unlike the previous decade, the government enjoyed an unprecedented windfall from lower international crude oil prices, which averaged around $70 per barrel compared to over $100 during much of 2004-14. The corporate tax rate was also slashed from 30% to 22% (15% for new manufacturing firms) in 2019, costing the exchequer nearly ₹1.45 lakh crore annually. Yet private investment failed to respond. Instead of expanding productive capacity, firms used higher profits to deleverage their balance sheets and improve profitability.

This is reflected in an employment crisis, where about 24 million became open unemployed along with 90 million NEET (neither in employment nor in education and training) population.

Third, while public investment could have been compensated for the weakened private investment, the growing fiscal constraints has severely hampered the government. But the fiscal constraints are increasingly the result of policy choices rather than fiscal inevitability. The 2019 reduction in corporate tax rate — from 30% to 22% (and 15% for new manufacturing firms) — was projected to stimulate private investment. Instead, it led to annual revenue loss of ₹1.45 lakh crore, with little evidence of a sustained investment revival. Combined with generous cash transfers/free rations, the fiscal space bition on foreign-funded inventory-based e-commerce.

If the government nevertheless decides to proceed, it should ensure that the exception remains genuinely limited. Export inventories should be physically and digitally separated from domestic operations, with independent warehouses, inventory records, and audit trails. Regulators should require real-time reporting of inventory movements and prohibit self-preferencing in search rankings, advertising, and product recommendations. Diversion of export inventory into the domestic market should attract strict penalties, and the policy should be subject to an independent review after a fixed trial period.

Yet even these safeguards raise an uncomfortable question. India's experience with regulating large digital platforms suggests that designing guardrails is much easier than enforcing them. Sophisticated corporate structures, related-party transactions, and complex logistics networks often evolve faster than regulatory oversight. Without credible enforcement, an export-only relaxation may gradually evolve into de facto inventory-based domestic retail.

The proposal should also be viewed in a broader trade policy context. In recent years, India has expanded market access for US companies through tariff cuts, regulatory changes, and investment liberalisation, covering products such as bourbon whiskey, premium motorcycles, medical devices, and alfalfa hay. The proposed e-commerce reform continues that trend.

The larger issue is strategic. Trade negotiations work best when both sides exchange concessions. If India grants market access outside formal FTA negotiations, it risks giving the US commercial gains without securing equivalent benefits for Indian exports. Such unilateral concessions also weaken India's negotiating leverage in future trade talks.

The real issue is not whether foreign platforms can export Indian products — they already can. It is whether a narrow export exception becomes the gateway to foreign-controlled inventory-based retail. Once that door is opened, closing it again may prove impossible.

shrank, resulting in fewer public resources for education, healthcare, nutrition, skill development, and employment programmes — the very investments that stimulate aggregate demand.

Fourth, the export engine that powered India's high-growth years has steadily lost momentum. Merchandise exports increased from $314 billion in 2013-14 to $437 billion in 2023-24, but this modest gain masks nearly a decade of stagnation, with exports remaining below their 2013-14 level for several years before recovering after the pandemic. India's share in global merchandise exports continues to languish at below 2%, reflecting its weak integration into global manufacturing value chains.

More importantly, the crisis is not confined to one sector. It is systemic. Manufacturing has failed to become India's employment engine, contributing 13-14% of gross value added but employing under 12% of the workforce, while becoming increasingly capital-intensive and generating largely jobless growth.

The pandemic further exposed this fragility, forcing millions of migrant workers back into agriculture whose workforce increased by an estimated 80 million as a result. Although services now account for nearly 55% of GDP, their growth is concentrated in skill-intensive activities that exclude the majority of India's workforce, over 70% of whom possess less than secondary education or limited vocational skills. Low-paying informal services are an employment of last resort. This is a structural crisis of demand: inadequate productive employment suppresses household incomes, weak incomes constrain private consumption, subdued demand discourages investment, and low investment further limits job creation.

Taking the plunge

WHILE THE OPPORTUNITY IS HUGE, ID FRESH'S FORAY INTO THE SNACKS MARKET IS FRAUGHT WITH CHALLENGES

KARTIKAY KASHYAP

BANGALORE-BASED ID FRESH has done two things in the recent past that it had been resisting. First, it has set foot in the ready-to-eat market with a range of snack foods. The range includes eatables like masala ragi chips, pudina ragi bhujia, masala oats chips, pudina oats bhujia, corn flakes mixture and butter murukku. Second, it has decided to bypass quick commerce platforms for the new range of products and focus its energy entirely on general trade.

According to Satish Meena, founder, Datum Intelligence, a market intelligence and consumer research platform, 70% of iD Fresh's revenue comes from its core categories like idli and dosa batters and the parotas. With the company looking to achieve a top line of ₹2,500 crore by FY30, expanding its portfolio and diversifying its footprint are imperative. "The company will have to expand its portfolio much wider to achieve the target and create value for investors," adds Meena.

But while the opportunity in the ₹50,000 crore packaged snack food market is immense, the challenges are much bigger.

First, entrenched domestic and multinational players such as ITC, Haldiram's, and PepsiCo control prime retail shelf space and command high consumer trust. Second, reaching millions of fragmented mom-and-pop (read kirana) stores across urban and rural India requires extensive, costly distribution channels. Third, consumers expect mass-market snacks at low price points (₹5 to ₹20 packs). But at ₹45 for a 75-gm masala (marked down from ₹60 on BigBasket) oats chips or corn flakes mixture, iD Fresh will be deemed "expensive." Being price competitive requires scale since margin in the business is thin. So what is iD Fresh's masterplan? More importantly, with input costs including that of edible oils, flour, potatoes and spices shooting up, is this the right time for a player without long-term supplier contracts in place to enter the segment?

Taste of success
In the new foray, iD Fresh has decided to be cautious to say the least.

As of now, the availability of iD Fresh's snacking range on quick commerce platforms is limited as the company is banking on general trade, its strong point from the beginning. This move allows the brand the luxury to fail. "The cost of experimentation on quick commerce is very high," says Vinay Singh, co-founder & partner, Fire-side Ventures. "Since the company has already established a distribution network on general trade, it has a ready asset that allows them to do experiments at lower cost."

According to Datum's Meena, general trade contributes about 65-70% of the iD Fresh's revenue. The brand's promise to offer healthy snacks with no palm oil or preservatives might also give it an edge as consumers are increasingly looking for healthier products for daily snacking.

The main differentiator, however, would be taste. "A brand can attract a consumer with its "healthy snacking" positioning for the first time, but for repeat consumption it has to get the taste right," adds Meena. Unorganised and regional players already cater deeply to hyper-local taste and flavour profiles, making it difficult for new national brands to win loyalty, say experts.

Above everything else, iD Fresh might face what experts call an 'identity challenge'. According to Sachin Bobde, head of research, Monarch Network Capital, brands in the snacking space mostly target kids and young adults who are prone to experimentation and rarely display strong loyalty towards any one. For its part, iD Fresh has always spoken to home makers and women — its core consumer group. "Breaking into the snacking category will be challenging for the brand," says Bobde.

Experts say, rather than venturing into unrelated categories, the brand should focus on launching products that complement its core portfolio. For instance, it can offer a side to its ready-to-eat sambhar, or even other ready to cook batters so as not to alienate its existing consumer base.

The company says it is on the right track. "We are seeing healthy demand across our core portfolio, while also witnessing encouraging consumer response to our newer offerings," says Rajat Diwakar, CEO India, iD Fresh. "The broader shift towards convenient, clean label foods, rising household penetration across geographies and expansion into newer markets have all contributed to this growth."

Parle-G: For every occasion

FOREVER BRANDS

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO

THE LITTLE GIRL on the familiar yellow-and-white wrapper has never spoken a word. Yet, for generations of Indians, the Parle-G girl has conveyed something few brands manage to achieve—warmth, familiarity and trust. That perhaps explains why the 87-year-old label, synonymous with the glucose biscuit category, remains the world's largest-selling biscuit brand, churning out nearly a billion packs every month.

Parle-G is the country's most widely distributed biscuit brand, reaching around 7.5 million retail outlets—over 80% of India's estimated nine million biscuit-selling stores. That footprint has helped Parle remain the most penetrated FMCG brand in Kantar's Consumer Reach Points rankings for 13 consecutive years. The flagship brand also contributes just under half of Parle Products' annual revenue of nearly ₹16,000 crore, underlining its significance to the company. "Parle-G has been a key contributor to Parle topping the list for all these years," says Mayank Shah, CMO, Parle Products.

A major priority for the company has been to keep the brand relevant to consumers over the decades without diluting what it stands for—kindness, goodness and sharing. "Parle-G remains an affordable nutrition option for ordinary Indians. What we ensure is that it continues to endear itself," says Shah.

That relevance is reinforced through both national campaigns and regional communication around festivals. Affordability is another pillar. While urban markets largely stock ₹5-plus packs, several rural and semi-urban markets continue to offer ₹2 packs, ensuring affordability.

Brand experts say Parle-G's appeal extends beyond snacking. More than a biscuit, it has become a habit passed down generations.

INDIA'S ICONIC GLUCOSE BISCUIT CONTINUES TO DOMINATE BY MAKING RELEVANCE—NOT NOVELTY—ITS CORE STRATEGY

FROM STRENGTH TO STRENGTH

"Parle-G is like comfort food, something you can turn to anytime," says Mumbai-based marketing expert Krishnarao Buddha. "Its ability to insert itself into almost any eating occasion is what has helped the brand stand the test of time."

The brand's origin continues to shape its positioning. Introduced in 1939 during the Swadeshi movement, Parle-G was conceived as an affordable Indian alternative to imported biscuits. Nearly nine decades later, affordability remains central to its strategy.

Biscuits remain one of the few FMCG segments where low-unit packs priced at ₹2, ₹5 and ₹10 account for 60-70% of sales. In such a market, distribution is as critical as pricing.

Despite its scale, Parle spends less than 2% of Parle-G's sales on advertising. Shah says economies of scale work in the brand's favour. Once a brand reaches critical mass, media and distribution investments become relatively fixed, allowing advertising-to-sales ratios to decline without compromising visibility.

Manufacturing has also evolved to support the brand's extensive reach. Parle Products operates around 135 manufacturing locations across India, with nearly 80-90 producing Parle-G. Only around 10 are company-owned; the rest are contract manufacturing units strategically located close to consumption centres.

For marketers, Parle-G offers a reminder that enduring brands are built not just through reinvention; they remain anchored in a clear purpose while adapting how they engage consumers.

● CAR REVIEW: HONDA ZR-V

A Jazz at the back, a beast on the track

HONDA'S FLAGSHIP HYBRID HAS A JAZZY REAR-END, EXPLOSIVE PERFORMANCE, AND CAMRY-LEVEL LUXURY

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

FLOORING THE accelerator pedal on the Buddh International Circuit (BIC)—India's only Formula 1 track—the Honda ZR-V feels deceptively fast. Its engine doesn't growl like that of a sports car, but the way it takes off from 0-100 km/h is nothing short of electrifying.

Fitted with an electric motor and a 2.0-litre petrol engine, the ZR-V is priced ₹47.99 lakh, ex-showroom—steep for a mass-market brand like Honda. Is it worthy enough to be in the consideration set of a ₹50 lakh buyer? Our day-long test on the BIC got us some answers.

The case for the ZR-V

Performance: It hits 100 km/h in 7.9 seconds, with its hybrid system developing 184 PS and 315 Nm of torque. What impressed me even more was when I let go of the pedal—the engine instantly cut out, the powertrain seamlessly transitioned into EV mode, and the cabin became eerily quiet. Fuel efficiency soared to more than 20 km/litre. On the BIC's sweeping corners, the ZR-V's suspension kept the body composed, with electric power steering delivering crisp feedback, and all-disc brakes inspiring confidence.

Design: The vertical-slat black grille, sharp full-LED headlights, and 18-inch diamond-cut alloy wheels give it a bold SUV presence. Cabin: The all-black cabin feels rich, boasting soft-touch materials, and leather upholstery. Behind the wheel, Honda nailed the posture—offering a sedan-like driving position alongside high SUV visibility. In the rear, the flat floor ensures good legroom, making the ZR-V a competitor even to the Toyota Camry. The case against the ZR-V Familiar rear styling: If you inspect the back, the smooth tailgate profile reminds you of the Honda Jazz. It looks clean and aerodynamic with an integrated spoiler, but the rear styling is noticeably softer than the aggressive front. Missing features: At ₹47.99 lakh, you might notice some things aren't up to the mark. These include a small screen (the 9-inch display works smoothly, but feels small for this segment); no sunroof (a major selling point for Indian buyers); the omission of a spare tyre (it gets a puncture repair kit); and finally, there is the price roadblock (as an imported CBU unit, its steep price remains its single biggest obstacle). It's a fine car, Honda, now please assemble locally, make it affordable.

It's the start of our product offensive in India: Behl

HONDA CARS India has positioned the ZR-V as the cornerstone of its upcoming expansion. Speaking on the company's roadmap, Kunal Behl, vice-president, Marketing & Sales, Honda Cars India, said the ZR-V marks the beginning of a broader portfolio update.

"After the ZR-V, we will get the Alpha (EV), and things are going to change as far as the product portfolio is concerned," he said, confirming plans to launch six cars in the current financial year. The ZR-V, brought in via the CBU route, has seen strong initial traction. Its first two import lots are sold out, with 50% of bookings coming from existing Honda owners and 50% from non-Honda users.

Honda will enter the sub-4-metre SUV space post-2028. Behl added that hybrid variants account for 45% of City bookings, up from 15% a few years ago.

● INTERVIEW: SANDEEP BHAMBURE, MD & VP, INDIA & SAARC, VEEAM SOFTWARE

‘No need for tech silos; combine security & resilience’

Enterprise AI is moving beyond experimentation to large-scale deployment, bringing new challenges around security, governance and operational resilience. At the same time, rising ransomware threats, tighter regulations and increasingly complex hybrid IT environment are forcing organisations to rethink how they protect, recover and govern critical data. Sandeep Bhambure, managing director & vice-president, India & SAARC, Veeam Software, speaks to Sudhir Chowdhary about the shifting priorities in enterprise data management and the reason cyber resilience is becoming a boardroom issue. Excerpts:

How are enterprises rethinking data protection today?
The conversation has shifted from whether organisations will face ransomware to when. Nearly 75% have experienced at least one attack in the past year, and paying a ransom still offers no guarantee of recovery. As AI-powered cyber threats become more sophisticated, enterprises are strengthening cyber resilience with immutable backups, clean-room recovery and the 3-2-1-1-0 strategy, which combines multiple data copies, offline or immutable storage and regular testing to ensure reliable recovery.

Which sectors are driving demand for data resilience?
BFSI and healthcare continue to lead demand because they manage highly sensitive data and operate under stringent regulatory requirements. However, interest is expanding rapidly across industries such as aviation, manufacturing and the public sector as AI adoption accelerates. Across industries, AI initiatives are only as effective as the quality and resilience of the underlying data.

What’s next for Veeam Software as enterprise needs evolve?
Veeam today protects workloads across physical, virtual, cloud, Kubernetes and SaaS environments while enabling cross-cloud recovery and workload portability. In India, we continue to follow a 100% channel-led strategy, making enterprise-grade cyber resilience more accessible through cloud-based backup and disaster recovery services. We also continue to invest in our partner ecosystem and the Bharat Cyber Suraksha initiative to address the cybersecurity skills gap.

How is AI changing enterprise data protection?
Traditional backup strategies are no longer enough. Enterprises need clean, contextual and well-governed data for AI to deliver reliable outcomes. Through the Data & AI Command Platform, Veeam helps customers improve data visibility, classification, governance and observability. Without a trusted data foundation, organisations risk AI hallucinations, data poisoning and poor business decisions.

How is the DPDP Act reshaping enterprise data strategies?

The DPDP Act is encouraging organisations to strengthen governance and privacy but many are approaching compliance in a fragmented way by deploying separate tools for consent management and privacy. Compliance should instead be viewed holistically. Organisations need a common foundation that combines governance, security, resilience and privacy rather than creating new technology silos. A trusted data foundation will support both DPDP compliance and enterprise AI.

What key trends will shape the future of data resilience?
The next phase will be driven by AI trust, cyber resilience and regulatory readiness. As organisations accelerate AI adoption, success will depend on building a trusted data foundation that delivers clean, contextual and resilient data. For Veeam, the biggest growth opportunities lie in helping enterprises strengthen cyber resilience, prepare for DPDP compliance and securely scale AI initiatives. Trusted data will become the foundation for every successful AI strategy.

THE PRIORITY IS NO LONGER PROTECTING DATA, BUT ENSURING AI RUNS ON ACCURATE & RELIABLE DATA

Microsoft shifts to smarter AI models

BIJIN JOSE

MICROSOFT IS ACCELERATING the deployment of its in-house MAI family of AI models across GitHub Copilot, Excel, Outlook and other Microsoft 365 services, signalling a shift towards specialised AI systems designed to lower computing costs while improving performance for enterprise workloads.

The strategy, outlined by Microsoft CEO Satya Nadella, focuses on optimising AI around specific business tasks rather than relying on a single frontier model for every request. Instead, Microsoft will combine its own MAI models with frontier models from partners such as OpenAI and Anthropic, assigning each task to model best suited for it. According to the company, MAI models are trained using reinforcement learning environments built around real customer workflows within products such as GitHub Copilot and Excel. Rather than learning only from benchmark datasets, the models are rewarded for completing tasks users actually perform, enabling them to deliver better results while using fewer tokens. That translates into lower inference costs for Microsoft as AI usage scales across its products. A key element of the approach is keeping capabilities such as memory, context, tools and skills outside the model itself. This allows Microsoft to swap or upgrade underlying AI models without affecting the overall product experience, reducing dependence on any single model provider. Microsoft said early deployments are already delivering promising results in GitHub Copilot, Excel and Outlook, with plans to extend the approach to Copilot Chat, PowerPoint and other services. The company also intends to bring the same framework to Microsoft Foundry, enabling enterprises to build AI agents using their own data, workflows and evaluation systems. The move reflects a broader shift in enterprise AI, where optimising entire AI systems—not just building larger models—is emerging as the next competitive advantage.

WORLD VIEW

Humanoids have bodies; they still need brains

CATHERINE THORBECKE

WHILE MOONSHOT’S KIMI K3 was blowing up online, at China’s biggest AI summit in Shanghai, hundreds of humanoid robots clanking around the exhibition hall stole the show. Crowds packed in to watch them box, make lattes and do a whole lot of laundry. Still, outside tightly timed, choreographed demos, most of the robots stood inert. And even as they sorted objects, stocked shelves or played piano, the movements were slow and jerky. China’s humanoid boom has solved the most visible part of the problem: figuring out how to hobble together a body. The harder part now is building a brain. The next AI race may be less about ever-bigger large language models (LLMs) than about “world models,” ones that can understand the physical realm and give robots something closer to common sense. LLMs have commanded much of the investment and attention. But for AI to escape the digital world, it must learn how to navigate uncertain objects and environments the way a baby does: through observation, action and feedback. The challenge came up repeatedly in Shanghai. ACE Robotics, a spinoff of Chinese multi-modal AI pioneer SenseTime, unveiled Kairos World Model 3.0, which the company said achieved state-of-the-art results across several benchmarks. Other Chinese tech giants including Alibaba and ByteDance are also speeding ahead on world models, with the latter reportedly declaring it as one of its AI priorities this year. Beijing-based GigaAI is planning an IPO this year. Shanghai made one thing clear: China is preparing for the post-ChatGPT race. The West is also pursuing this diverging field of AI. Influential voices including Meta Platforms’ former chief AI scientist, Yann LeCun, and pioneering researcher Fei-Fei Li have raised funding for startups, while Google DeepMind and Nvidia are similarly investing. In China, however, embodied intelligence is also a policy priority. In his speech, President Xi Jinping declared that AI is “moving from the digital world into the physical world.” A McKinsey report earlier this year found that China has a significant market share of robot components, in part because of an overlap with the electric vehicle supply chain. Richard Sutton, the Canadian computer scientist, argued that the challenge goes far beyond teaching machines physics. They must also grasp abstraction, rewards and experience—the countless judgements human brains make almost effortlessly. The influential researcher put the odds of a deeper breakthrough at one-in-four by 2030, and one-in-two by 2040.

Google adds video selfies for logins

GOOGLE WILL NOW let users sign in to accounts with a selfie video, providing an alternative for those who may be locked out due to a lost device or forgotten password. Users can set up their selfie video through a short online process that includes a few guided head movements, letting the device camera capture multiple angles. That saved recording will then be used to check against live video that users submit during subsequent sign-in attempts. Google has been testing different verification methods for purposes other than account sign-ins. For example, it works with a third-party company, Private ID, for selfie verification to confirm users’ age before they access age-restricted content. The new saved selfie video will only be used for sign-in purposes—unless customers opt in to let the company also use it to “improve facial recognition, age estimation and other verification methods” that rely on physical features or movement.

Tools for the creator economy

NOT TOO LONG ago, content creation was informal, experimental, and often treated as a side activity rather than a serious profession. Today, that hobby-led activity is a legitimate career option. It has developed into an organised, high-frequency, constantly active ecosystem where creators function similarly in many ways to independent media outlets, creating regularly and monetising their influence.

In previous years, the biggest stumbling block for the creator ecosystem was not the lack of creativity or talent, but accessibility to tools, gadgets, platforms and even the internet. That has changed today. Smartphones have bridged the gap between creating and publishing, allowing creators to reach the world even from a single device. According to a study, titled “The Content Rush: Inside India’s New Always-On Creator Economy,” 83% of creators rely on their smartphones as their primary device for content creation. The same report reveals that creators are often consistent, with 75% of creators publishing weekly. What’s more, ease of access has democratised content creation. Creator growth is no longer metro-city centric. Tier II and Tier III cities are major drivers of creator growth. This results in a remarkably high volume of output in vernacular languages. But this flow of content from various parts of the nation has posed a new challenge to the creator economy. As content creators generate more content than ever before, the challenge that confronts them is less of creativity, and more of infrastructure. Storage and backups have gained greater importance and can emerge as potential choke points. Additionally, creators focus on delivering high-quality content and high-resolution photos/videos. As a result, multi-gigabyte output is becoming common even amongst smaller creators. While short-form videos may be the entry point in the content ecosystem, creators are often seen building their niche with long-form content once they get comfortable with the concept. According to the same research, between 22 and 25% of creators generate 5 to 10 GB worth of data every day. To get into a workflow that is systematic and dependable, one must pay close attention to creative velocity. This can be defined as the speed at which a creator can ideate, produce and publish. Fast creative velocity depends on reliable systems which is now the hidden edge for creators. A lost file, corrupted video or snail-speed file transfer are no longer small glitches but can even damage one’s creative confidence. This is why flash storage such as high-speed and high-capacity microSD cards, pen drives, and portable SSD are emerging as lifelines for creators. Reliable tech equipment can be the edge for content creators. Fast and reliable storage solutions may be the very foundation on which the edifice of the creator economy rests. Being creative is not going to be enough; it will need to be combined with the right infrastructure, of which flash storage is a critical component.

Designed for everyday use

THE NOISEFIT HALO 3 COMBINES HEALTH AND UTILITY

SUDHIR CHOWDHARY

SMARTWATCHES HAVE BECOME increasingly similar. Most offer health tracking, workout modes and smartphone notifications. The challenge now is to make them more useful in everyday life. With the NoiseFit Halo 3, Noise is trying to do that by adding AI-powered productivity features. The Halo 3 features a classic round-dial design with a metal body that looks more like a traditional wristwatch than a gadget. The 1.43-inch AMOLED display is one of its strengths. With a peak brightness of 1,000 nits, it remains readable outdoors, while colours are vibrant and text is sharp. The watch’s biggest differentiator is its software. Noise AI Pro brings features such as AI voice transcription and personalised morning briefs. The transcription tool lets users dictate quick notes or reminders without pulling out their phone. It is not a replacement for a note-taking app, but it is handy for capturing ideas or meeting action points. Another useful feature is Noise Vault, which stores QR codes for boarding passes, event tickets and other digital passes on the watch. It eliminates the need to search for a phone at airport gates or event entrances. Health tracking remains a core part of the package, with 24x7 heart rate monitoring, SpO2 measurement and stress tracking. As with most consumer wearables, the readings should be treated as wellness indicators rather than medical-grade measurements. Battery life is another plus. Noise claims up to seven days of typical use on a single charge, enough to last through a working week. Overall, the NoiseFit Halo 3 is less about new hardware and more about adding everyday utility. AI voice transcription and QR code storage make it more practical than many similarly priced smartwatches, making it a worthwhile option for users who want more than fitness tracking.

ESTIMATED PRICE: ₹5,499

An old favourite, now even smarter

DEVELOPED BY SAN Francisco-based Notion Labs, Notion isn’t a new app, but AI has given it a fresh reason to be on your phone or laptop. Used by more than 100 million people worldwide, it combines note-taking, task management, documents, project planning and collaboration into a single workspace. Available on both the Google Play Store and Apple’s App Store, Notion has a small install size, making it quick to download and easy to use. Basically, Notion lets you create documents, to-do lists, calendars, meeting notes and custom databases in one place. You can build personal dashboards, track goals, save web links and maintain reading lists. Its clean, block-based interface is intuitive and customisable, making it suitable for students, professionals, freelancers and small businesses alike. The app’s AI features can draft and rewrite text and summarise lengthy documents from your notes and organise information faster.

‘TRUMP STOPPED STRIKES TO GIVE DIPLOMACY MORE TIME’

Iran to halt attacks if US maintains strike pause

REUTERS
Dubai, July 26

IRAN WILL HALT its own attacks as long as the United States maintains its latest pause on air strikes, a senior Iranian official told Reuters on Sunday, after President Donald Trump abruptly called off his two-week-old bombing campaign. After 13 nights of intensifying US air strikes on Iran, the Pentagon abruptly suspended the campaign late on Friday, with no US attacks reported on either Saturday or Sunday. Iran, which had been following each night of U.S. attacks with its own strikes on neighbouring countries that host US bases has also so far held fire for two days.

The US ambassador to the United Nations, Mike Waltz, told Fox News on Sunday that Trump had decided to pause US attacks to allow more time for diplomacy.

“He’s giving talks some space, he’s giving it a little bit of room,” Waltz said, without providing further details.

The senior Iranian source, speaking on condition of anonymity, told Reuters: “Iran’s position remains ‘attack for attack’: if the attacks stop, Iran will also halt its operations. That message has already been conveyed to the United States.” The source added: “However, Iran is prepared to mount a broad response should the US launch another attack.”

Asked about the pause, a senior official in Trump’s administration said on Saturday that the president “has always been clear that his preference is diplomacy, but he has shown Iran what will happen if they fail to come to the table in a serious way.”

The senior Iranian source said Tehran did not hold much hope that Trump’s decision to pause strikes represented a major shift in the U.S. negotiating position.

“There is more scepticism than optimism about the halt in attacks. The prevailing view is that the pause is tactical rather than genuine. Iran has accumulated enough bitter experience with what it sees as US deception,” the source said.

U.S. forces had been striking Iran nightly in what Washington said was retaliation for Iranian attacks on shipping in the Strait of Hormuz. Iran says it aims to retain control of the strait, the world’s most important energy shipping route.

The two-week-long U.S. military campaign effectively torpedoed last month’s interim agreement aimed at ending the war that the United States and Israel launched in February.

The New York Times and CNN both reported that Trump had backed off plans to escalate the war with even bigger military options after concerns were raised on Friday by some of his advisers, including over whether US missile defence stocks were running low from protecting US bases in the region.

CNN and the Times both identified Pentagon Chief of Staff Dan Caine as having raised such concerns.

CNN said Vice President JD Vance also had expressed reservations.

Nepal eases curbs on Indian notes

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Kathmandu, July 26

NEPAL HAS ALLOWED Indian and Nepalese nationals to bring into or take out of the country Indian currency notes of ₹200 and ₹500 denominations, ending a nearly decade-long restriction under which only notes of up to ₹100 denomination were permitted following India’s 2016 demonetisation.

The Nepal Rastra Bank (NRB), in a notice reissued on Thursday, said Indian and Nepalese nationals may carry Indian currency notes of ₹200 and ₹500 denominations issued on or after November 9, 2016, up to a limit of ₹25,000 per person in accordance with the prevailing regulations.

Hunt on for suspect after Berlin attack

GERMANY LAUNCHED A national manhunt on Sunday for a known Islamist suspected of ploughing a minivan into a crowd near a huge LGBTQ Pride gathering in Berlin, killing one and injuring 29.

The attack happened in the Tiergarten park near the Brandenburg Gate at about 10 pm (20:00 GMT), not far from one of Europe’s biggest annual LGBTQ celebrations, Christopher Street Day.

It was the latest in a series of vehicle attacks on crowds in Germany in recent years that have intensified debate around security and immigration amid a surge in support for the far-right.

AI grows, but IT top line flat

“GROWTH WAS MUTED at the largest firms. AI revenue was not,” Sanchit Vir Gogia, chief analyst at Greyhound Research, told FE. “Infosys disclosed AI at 8.2% of quarterly revenue. LTM disclosed 12% and TCS is running at a $2.6 billion annualised rate. Four of the six majors now report AI as revenue rather than pipeline, and consolidated growth still landed between 1% and 6%.”

According to Gogia, the numbers point to a structural shift in the industry. “AI revenue is growing on top of a base that is eroding underneath it faster than the new workarives.”

“Rising AI share and flat total revenue are the same sentence read from opposite ends. The industry is reporting substitution and calling it momentum.”

The mismatch is equally visible in deal wins. TCS signed contracts worth $9.5 billion in total contract value during the quarter while its annualised AI services revenue crossed $2.6 billion, yet revenue increased just 0.4% sequentially. HCLTech reported its highest-ever first-quarter deal bookings of $2.4 billion and a 62.1% year-on-year rise in Advanced AI revenue in constant currency, but left its guidance unchanged.

Wipro’s large deal bookings rose 12.9% sequentially to $1.63 billion even as it projected a largely flat September quarter.

Infosys signed $3.6 billion worth of large deals, up from $3.2 billion in the previous quarter, with 61% classified as net new business, but still lowered its full-year revenue outlook.

Analysts say the gap reflects the changing economics of outsourcing. Enterprises are increasingly using AI-driven productivity gains to renegotiate contracts and demand lower prices, even as service providers invest heavily in AI platforms, talent and delivery capabilities.

“Most of the large deals being signed today are still traditional outsourcing agreements that incorporate AI rather than being built from the ground up around AI-native operating models,” Phil Fersht, founder and CEO of HFS Research, said.

“Enterprises are using AI-driven productivity expectations and intense competitive bidding to negotiate lower prices, while providers are carrying the cost of building new AI capabilities.”

Centre taps Nilekani..

A MULTIDISCIPLINARY GROUP of domain experts will be part of the task force on reforms to be carried out for the examinations conducted by the NTA. Besides Nilekani, other members of the task force are former chairman of Isro S Somanath, former director of Intelligence Bureau Tapan Deka, director of IIT Chennai V Kamakoti, former education secretary Anita Karwal and logistics expert Amrit Lal Meena.

Nilekani was the architect of Aadhaar, and the key person behind India’s digital public infrastructure ecosystem. The Prime Minister’s announcement comes a day after the 36-day agitation, led by the Cockroach Janta Party (CJP), ended with Pradhan’s resignation.

The Centre is scheduled to introduce a bill in the Lok Sabha on Monday to strengthen the anti-paper leak law. The Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Amendment Bill, 2026, proposes setting up fast-track courts in every state for paper leak cases and completion of investigations within two months.

It also has provisions for enhanced punishment, including imprisonment of up to 10 years and fines up to ₹50 lakh for individuals involved in paper leaks. Organised crimes related to paper leaks could attract fines of up to Rs 10 crore.

The CJP had led a sit-in at Jantar Mantar since June 20, demanding resignation of Pradhan, accountability over the NEET-UG 2026 paper leak and irregularities in the CBSE’s on-screen marking process, besides seeking wider reforms in the conduct of public examinations. The agitation got support from thousands of students across the country, along with major Opposition parties.

As Udaan learns its lesson

SHARMA ADDED THAT founders no longer lead investor conversations with GMV but with contribution margins, profitability and unit economics.

According to Sanjeev Rajput, founder and CEO of Capital Connect, Udaan’s efforts to trim operations and reduce cash burn have reinforced the importance of disciplined credit control and working capital management in a business where retailer defaults can quickly erode profitability.

The lessons have also been shaped by earlier failures. ShopX, backed by Nandan Nilekani, shut operations and filed for bankruptcy in 2022 despite raising about $60 million. Experts say such companies relied heavily on single-digit marketplace commissions while incurring high customer acquisition and fulfilment costs, leaving little room for profitability.

“One clear lesson from cases like ShopX is the need for a multi-revenue-stream model that includes higher-margin services such as lending or SaaS instead of relying on single-digit marketplace margins,” Rajput said.

That thinking has fundamentally changed how successful B2B companies operate today. Rather than remaining transaction-led marketplaces, they have built integrated businesses spanning procurement, logistics, embedded finance, technology and, in some cases, manufacturing.

They have also narrowed their focus to specific sectors where repeat demand and higher order values improve profitability. Infra Market has specialised in construction materials, OfBusiness in industrial raw materials, Moglix in industrial supplies and maintenance products, Ninjacart in agri and grocery, while Zetwerk has built a contract manufacturing platform.

“The winners chose a single category, went deep, took control of the supply chain and earned their margin through financing, private labels or the financing spread rather than a thin commission,” Sharma said. Naveen Malpani, partner and consumer and retail industry leader at Grant Thornton Bharat, said businesses that viewed themselves merely as digital marketplaces often struggled with fulfilment costs, inventory risks and working capital intensity, while those that evolved into integrated supply-chain ecosystems created multiple value pools and stronger customer stickiness.

Companies are also tightening operational discipline as funding becomes harder to access. OfBusiness has supplemented trading with credit for small and medium enterprises, opening up a higher-margin revenue stream, while Moglix has improved profitability through backward integration, AI-led automation and tighter control over its supply chain.

“Several players scaled fast by discounting heavily and expanding into categories they did not understand deeply, and when funding conditions tightened, that growth had nothing underneath it,” Rahul Garg, founder and CEO of Moglix, said.

“Revenue that looked impressive on a slide turned out to be thin margin dressed up as scale.”

According to Tracxn, India’s B2B e-commerce ecosystem comprises 363 funded companies that have collectively raised $10.4 billion, including eight unicorns.

The market is projected to grow at over 25% annually to around $12 billion by 2028.

UPI wins...

FOR FASHION BRANDS launching new collections frequently, delayed inventory can quickly become a lost sales opportunity, Mohit Jain, founder and CEO of Miraggio, said.

The second challenge is the significantly higher return-to-origin (RTO) rate associated with CoD orders, typically ranging between 20% and 30%. Besides losing the sale, brands also absorb customer acquisition costs, packaging expenses, forward and reverse freight charges and CoD handling fees, often ending up with products that cannot be resold immediately. Incorrect or premature non-delivery reports can further widen losses by pushing otherwise deliverable orders into the return cycle, according to logistics firms.

Rather than trying to eliminate CoD, companies are increasingly deploying technology to make it less costly. Logistics platform Velocity Shipping uses AI-based RTO risk scoring, address validation and multilingual voice agents to verify CoD orders, confirm delivery intent and authenticate failed delivery claims before shipments are returned. The company also encourages high-risk customers to switch to prepaid payments through incentives. According to the company, such interventions have helped brands reduce RTO rates by 5-7% while recovering orders that would otherwise have been lost.

Brands are also experimenting with new payment models that preserve customer convenience while improving payment certainty.

Partial CoD, where customers pay a small amount upfront, and Buy Now Pay Later (BNPL) options are becoming more common.

3. The present delisting offer will be carried out through domestic stock exchanges in our case being BSE Limited. Therefore, STT will be collected by BSE Limited and deducted from the amount of consideration payable to the shareholder.

6. The Acquirers will continue to acquire the Equity Shares for up to a period of 1 year from the date of delisting. Since such transaction of the Equity Shares is proposed to be done off-market, such transaction is not chargeable to STT and hence provisions of section 196 and 198 of the Income-tax Act, 2025 will not apply to the Shareholders. Post delisting, the Equity shares will be treated as unlisted shares and would be taxable at 12.50% for residents and non-residents in India. For Offer Shares held for 24 months or less, capital gain would be taxable at ordinary rate applicable for the shareholder.

The above tax rates are subject to applicable rate of surcharge, health and education cess. The tax rate and other provisions may undergo changes. Further, the Acquirers / or their agents shall withhold taxes, where required, in accordance with the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 2025.

THE BIG IDEA

PERFIOS

HOW A PRODUCT IDEA WAITED YEARS FOR THE MARKET TO FINALLY CATCH UP

V Govindarajan, co-founder, director of Perfios

SHOBHANA SUBRAMANIAN

THERE IS A FAMILIAR script in India's technology industry: engineers leave for the US, build careers in multinational companies and stay on. VR Govindarajan chose the opposite path. He gave up his job overseas and returned to India with a simple ambition — to build products instead of being part of the country's growing outsourcing industry. Three decades later, that decision has culminated in Perfios, one of the country's largest financial data intelligence companies, whose software today powers credit assessment, underwriting and financial workflows for banks, NBFCs and fintechs across markets.

Govindarajan grew up in Chennai in the home of a school teacher where discussions often revolved around philosophy and Hindu scriptures. After studying at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, he came back convinced that India could create technology products of its own. His first entrepreneurial attempt, with friends Rajesh Jain and Sanjay Jain, came in 1991 when the trio tried to build a multimedia database. The idea arrived too early. Internet speeds of just 22.4 kbps meant the product simply could not work in the environment of the day.

The next venture, Aztec Software, also began as a bootstrapped product company developing enterprise middleware similar in concept to IBM's WebSphere. But building the technology turned out to be easier than selling it. Drawing on their expertise in database systems, Aztec began building components for companies such as Microsoft, Oracle and IBM.

"Our background was hardcore database technology. We started building parts of database systems for companies like Microsoft, Oracle and IBM. That eventually became outsourced product engineering," Govindarajan says.

Aztec listed on the stock exchanges in 2000 before being acquired by Ashok Soota-led Mindtree in 2008 for about $100 million. The exit provided experience, but Govindarajan felt there was unfinished business. Along with former Aztec colleague Debashish Chakraborty, he set out to build another product company, this time around personal finance.

THE COMPANY PROCESSES AROUND 2.2 BILLION TRANSACTIONS ANNUALLY AND HAS EXPANDED ITS CAPABILITIES THROUGH A SERIES OF ACQUISITIONS

Perfios, short for Personal Finance One Stop, started in 2008 as a consumer platform that aggregated financial information scattered across bank accounts, investment statements, scanned documents and other records into a single digital view.

"The goal was to build a technology-driven, category-creating and globally relevant product company in personal finance," Govindarajan says.

Early believers, including Junglee co-founder Ashish Gupta and PS Pai of the Murugappa Group, backed the venture. Over the first seven years, the company spent barely ₹15 crore, and neither Govindarajan nor Chakraborty drew a salary.

Perfios adopted a freemium approach, but only around 4% of users upgraded to paid versions. Attempts to reposition the platform for independent financial advisers, chartered accountants and wealth managers also failed to generate meaningful scale.

The turning point came when the founders stopped thinking of Perfios as a consumer finance platform and began looking at it as a financial data infrastructure company. "We realised real-time data aggregation could become a credit underwriting tool," Govindarajan says. "Different banks follow different credit assessment models and we could generate the required analysis instantly." Delivered through the cloud on a pay-per-use basis, the platform also eliminated the need for banks to invest in expensive infrastructure.

Even then, adoption was slow. In the late 2000s, most banks did not see fragmented financial data as a major operational problem. Competition was limited, customer acquisition costs were low and lenders were comfortable waiting for documents to arrive through traditional processes.

The market eventually changed in Perfios' favour. The rise of fintech companies altered banks' expectations around speed and customer experience. Digital transformation became a strategic priority across financial institutions. The rapid expansion of digital public infrastructure through Jan Dhan accounts, Aadhaar and mobile connectivity generated unprecedented volumes of digital financial data. "We were the only company with a relevant product. Suddenly all the banks were calling us," Govindarajan recalls.

Today, Perfios provides technology across the lending lifecycle, from customer onboarding and underwriting to fraud detection, compliance and analytics. It processes around 2.2 billion transactions annually and has expanded its capabilities through a series of acquisitions that filled gaps across its product portfolio.

The business has also attracted marquee investors including Warburg Pincus, Bessemer Venture Partners and Kedaara Capital. In its latest funding round, Perfios entered the unicorn club with a valuation of about $1.2 billion, underscoring the growing strategic importance of financial data infrastructure as banks and fintechs digitise their operations. For Govindarajan, the outcome is less about valuation than validation. And today, he certainly has much more time to indulge in his favourite pastime — listening to Carnatic music.

MIRABAI'S GOLDEN LIFT AT CWG 2026

Delhi teen Anahat scripts Indian squash history

Becomes first world title holder among women

SHIVANI NAIK
Mumbai, July 26

IT WAS ANAHAT Singh's fifth and, importantly, final chance to get it right at the World Juniors Championships in Canada. She had four quarterfinals, one bronze, plenty of deja vu, and even a French coach to match. Gregory Gaultier had been in her tactical corner as coach, the squash legend most famous for losing four Senior World Championship finals before winning the fifth, to teach her precisely how to handle this last week.

The 18-year-old from Delhi, whose father is a lawyer and mother an interior designer, had called the World Juniors a "curse" because she kept missing the title. When she broke the curse, she became India's first-ever world title holder among women.

On Saturday in Ontario, finally, the teen prodigy made up for all misses and ended Egypt's run of 13 straight titles, after beating three from the squash powerhouse in the quarters, semis and finals.

The attacking player with Indian flair and Gregorian gumption defeated Ruqaiyya Salem 11-3, 11-7, 11-9 to ensure a non-Egyptian won the World Juniors for the first time since 2011. India's last finalist was Joshana Chinappa in 2005.

"I still feel like I'm dreaming," Anahat told World Squash. "This tournament has been the worst tournament for me. I have been losing in the semis and quarters over the last four years. I have always said, if anyone asked,

"This tournament's a curse", and I have never been able to play well in the event. This is my last year [as a junior] and my only chance to win it. It means the world."

Anahat played badminton in her early years, picked the wristy deception from there and was star-struck by her hero P V Sindhu at the last Commonwealth Games. She is also World No 20 in seniors, and had won her first Professional Squash Association title in Washington earlier. She was preparing for her exams in May. "I'm pushing through school work for exams in May," she had said. By July, she had passed a bigger test in the glass coliseum.

Multiple title-winner and her predecessor Dipika Pallikal, just like Joshana, tried many times but always came up against the Egyptians. The powerhouse has set the benchmark in world squash for many decades, creating an incredible ecosystem — world-class coaching, fierce domestic competition and a culture where young players grow up believing they belong at the very top.

RISK TO INVESTORS

For details, refer to the "Risk Factors" section on page 25 of the RHP.

1. Reliance on certain off-takers risk:

A significant portion of our revenue from operations is derived from the sale of electricity generated at our projects and our top two off-takers collectively contributed 86.06%, 91.11% and 97.00% of our revenue from operations for Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. The loss of any such key commercial relationships could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Particulars	Fiscal
	2026		2025		2024
	Amount (₹ million)	Percentage of revenue from operations (%)	Amount (₹ million)	Percentage of revenue from operations (%)	Amount (₹ million)	Percentage of revenue from operations (%)
Revenue generated from our off-taker - GUVNL	2,865.17	39.85	2,426.91	47.71	2,009.51	51.32
Revenue generated from our off-taker – MSEDCCL	3,321.85	46.21	2,207.73	43.40	1,788.70	45.68
Total	6,187.02	86.06	4,634.64	91.11	3,798.21	97.00

2. High dependence on suppliers risk:

Our business is dependent on suppliers for the procurement of critical components, equipment, material and other goods for the operation of our projects as well as for other business operations. Our top 10 suppliers collectively contributed to 84.42%, 79.99% and 87.52% of our total purchases for Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Interruptions in the supply of our critical components and other goods could adversely affect our business operations, financial position and cash flow.

3. Encumbrance of Equity Shares risk:

Juniper Renewable Holdings Pte. Ltd. ("Juniper Renewable"), one of our Corporate Promoters, had pledged 7,194,462 Equity Shares (1.46% of total pre-Issue share capital on a fully diluted basis) in favour of IREDA as security for a loan availed by our Company. Additionally, post-listing, we are required to create a further pledge over certain Equity Shares in favour of IREDA as security in relation to one of our project financing arrangements. Any default under these pledge arrangements will entitle IREDA to enforce the pledge, which could dilute the shareholding of our Corporate Promoter and may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

4. Geographical concentration risk:

Our renewable energy projects are located in the states of Gujarat, Maharashtra, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. Our operations are susceptible to local and regional factors including adverse changes in government policies, political factors, economic conditions, weather conditions, natural disasters, the outbreak of infectious diseases and other unforeseen events and circumstances affecting these states. Any such events may disrupt our projects, adversely impact our ability to meet contractual obligations, and materially affect our operations, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

5. Land acquisition risk:

Our development of renewable energy projects may be restrained by our inability to identify or acquire suitable land sites. If we are unable to identify suitable land on commercially acceptable terms, our ability to develop new renewable energy projects on a timely basis or at all might be affected, which could result in the imposition of liquidated damages and/or reductions in tariffs which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

6. Dependence on environmental conditions risk:

Our revenue is a direct function of the electricity we generate, which is significantly influenced by environmental conditions, irradiation and wind speed. Electricity output may decrease under adverse conditions including cloudy weather, sandstorms, heavy rainfall, solar eclipses and environmental pollution. The seasonal nature of our energy production can place additional demands on our working capital reserves, particularly during periods of reduced cash flow from operations. Any adverse change in environmental conditions may materially impact our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

7. Related party transactions risk:

In the ordinary course of our business, we have in the past entered into, and may continue to enter into, related party transactions. While all such transactions have been conducted on an arm's length basis in accordance with the Companies Act, relevant Accounting Standards and applicable regulations, we cannot assure you that we might not have achieved more favourable terms had such transactions not been entered into with related parties. The arithmetic aggregated absolute total of all related party transactions (excluding capital related transactions) amounted to ₹89.26 million (1.24% of revenue from operations) for Fiscal 2026, ₹56.99 million (1.13% of revenue from operations) for Fiscal 2025 and ₹60.59 million (1.54% of revenue from operations) for Fiscal 2024. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, may not involve potential conflicts of interest which could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

8. Change of regulatory policies and economic incentives risk:

Our business depends on a supportive policy and regulatory framework, including government incentives, renewable purchase obligations and favourable auction structures. Any reduction, modification or cancellation of such incentives or policy support could adversely impact the viability and profitability of our projects. We are also required to maintain numerous approvals, licences, registrations and permits, and any failure to obtain, renew or maintain these could interrupt our operations. Non-compliance with applicable environmental, health and safety laws could result in fines, curtailment of operations or criminal sanctions, and any changes in laws or regulations may require significant additional compliance expenditure, any of which could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

9. Lease termination and non-renewal risk:

We do not own a majority of the land on which our projects are located or will be located, and our Registered Office and Corporate Office are held on lease from third parties. If these leases or sub-leases are terminated or not renewed on terms acceptable to us, it could adversely affect our business, results of operations and cash flows.

10. Utilization of a portion of Net Proceeds for repayment of loan facilities from an affiliate of a Book Running Lead Manager:

A portion of our Net Proceeds may be used to repay or pre-pay certain loan facilities availed from The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation Limited. While HSBC Securities and Capital Markets (India) Private Limited is one of our Book Running Lead Managers and The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation Limited is an affiliate of our Book Running Lead Managers, these loans were sanctioned in the ordinary course of business and are not considered a conflict under applicable SEBI Regulations. The Board has chosen the loans and facilities to be repaid/prepaid based on commercial considerations. However, the use of Net Proceeds for repayment of such loans may still be perceived as a potential conflict of interest.

11. The price to earnings ratio based on diluted EPS for Financial Year 2026 is 257.83 and 271.08 times at the lower and upper end of the Price Band respectively.
12. The weighted average return on net-worth for Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 is 1.34%.

- L. Explanation for the Issue Price/Cap Price, being 6.36 times of weighted average cost of acquisition of primary issuances/secondary transactions of Equity Shares (as disclosed above) in view of the external factors which may have influenced the pricing of the Issue.
1. India’s RE sector is set for significant expansion, supported by growing demand, favorable policies and innovative projects. According to the CRISIL Report, India’s peak power demand is expected to grow at an annual average CAGR of approximately 6.00-7.00% between Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2031, reaching 335.00-345.00 GW by Fiscal 2031. This increase is driven by persistent high temperatures, rising urbanization, economic growth and infrastructure development leading to higher power consumption.
2. To meet escalating demand, the CRISIL Report expects India’s installed power capacity to reach approximately 835.00-845.00 GW by Fiscal 2031 from its current capacity of 533.00 GW as at March 2026. This would require a new capacity addition of approximately 302.00-312.00 GW over the next five years. RE capacity (excluding large hydro) is expected to contribute approximately 260.00-275.00 GW to this net addition with RE expected to account for over 80.00% of the additional capacity between Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2031. RE capacity is thus estimated to account for about 52.00-57.00% of the installed capacity of 835.00-845.00 GW by Fiscal 2031.
3. India’s renewable energy vision also includes strengthening hybrid and firm power generation technologies. The introduction of WSH and FDRE solutions, which combine solar, wind and storage technologies, marks a turning point for grid stability and efficient resource utilization. As at March 31, 2026, WSH projects of an aggregate capacity of 18,998.86 MW are under construction in India. (Source: CRISIL Report)

2. Recommendations of the committee of independent directors of the Target Company: The recommendation of the committee of independent directors of the Target Company ("IDC") in relation to the Open Offer was approved on Wednesday, 22 July 2026 and published on Thursday, 23 July 2026 in the same newspapers where the Detailed Public Statement was published ("IDC Recommendation"). The relevant extracts of the IDC Recommendation are given below:

Members of the Committee of Independent Directors (IDC)	(1) Mr. Nandkumar Kashinath Chodankar, Chairperson (2) Ms. Shipa Vinodkumar Bhatia, Member (3) Mr. Vijayanarayanan Mahadevan, Member (4) Mr. Deepak Rameshchandra Shah, Member
Recommendation on the Open Offer, as to whether the offer is fair and reasonable	The IDC noted that, the Open Offer is being made at a price of INR 299.00 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred Ninety-Nine only) per Offer Share and the Offer Price has been determined in accordance with Regulation 8(2) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and represents the highest of the applicable pricing parameters prescribed thereunder. The IDC further noted that, as disclosed in the LOF, the volume weighted average market price of the Equity Shares of the Target Company for the 60 (sixty) trading days immediately preceding the date of the PA, as traded on NSE, being the stock exchange with the highest trading volume in the Equity Shares of the Target Company, is INR 247.55 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred Forty-Seven and Fifty-Five Paise only) per Equity Share, while the highest negotiated price per Equity Share under the Share Purchase Agreement is INR 299.00 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred Ninety-Nine only), which forms the basis of the Offer Price. Based on its review of the relevant information (as set out in the summary of reasons for recommendation below), the IDC is of the view that the Offer Price of INR 299.00 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred Ninety-Nine only) per Offer Share has been determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and appears to be fair and reasonable from the perspective of the regulatory pricing framework governing the Open Offer.
Summary of reasons for recommendation	The IDC noted that, the Open Offer has been triggered pursuant to the proposed acquisition of 4,58,03,024 (Four Crore Fifty-Eight Lakh Three Thousand Twenty-Four) Equity Shares, representing 43.11% (Forty-three point one one per cent) of the equity share capital of the Target Company as on date (i.e., 42.95% of the Expanded Voting Share Capital) and the consequent acquisition of control over the Target Company. In arriving at its recommendation, the IDC reviewed and considered, inter alia, the following documents, along with the pricing framework prescribed under the SEBI (SAST) Regulations: 1. Public Announcement made by the Acquirer dated May 23, 2026; 2. Detailed Public Statement issued by the Acquirer dated May 30, 2026, published on June 1, 2026; 3. Addendum to the PA, DPS and DLOF dated July 17, 2026; and 4. Letter of Offer dated July 18, 2026, issued by the Acquirer in which the Offer Price of INR 299.00 has been mentioned. The IDC further noted that, the Equity Shares of the Target Company are frequently traded within the meaning of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and that the Offer Price has been determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. The IDC noted that, the Open Offer is being made at a price of ₹ 299.00 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred Ninety-Nine only) per Offer Share, that the Offer Price has been arrived at in accordance with Regulation 8(2) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and that the Offer Price determined is the highest of the parameters mentioned therein. The IDC further noted that, as disclosed in the LOF, the Offer Price has been certified by M/s. Swati Kedar Kohani & Co., Chartered Accountants (Firm Registration No. 150854W) pursuant to a certificate dated May 23, 2026. The IDC further noted that, the Offer Price is not lower than the highest price payable by the Acquirer and the PAC for the acquisition of Equity Shares of the Target Company under the Share Purchase Agreement dated May 23, 2026, entered into between the Acquirer and the Sellers read with the Deed of Adherence dated July 17, 2026 executed by the PAC. Based on its review of the aforesaid documents and the information made available to it, the IDC is of the view that, the Offer Price has been determined in accordance with the applicable provisions of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and is fair and reasonable from the perspective of the regulatory pricing framework governing the Open Offer. Accordingly, the IDC recommends that, the Public Shareholders of the Target Company consider the Open Offer and take an informed decision with respect to tendering their Equity Shares in the Open Offer after independently evaluating the terms and conditions of the Open Offer, their individual investment objectives, financial and tax considerations, risk factors set out in the Letter of Offer and such other factors as they may deem relevant. The IDC also wishes to draw the attention of the Public Shareholders to the fact that the closing market price of Equity Shares of the Target Company on BSE Limited ("BSE") and National Stock Exchange of India Limited ("NSE") on Friday, July 17, 2026 (being the trading day immediately preceding the date of the Letter of Offer dated Saturday, July 18, 2026, which was a non-trading day) was INR 482.50 per Equity Share and INR 483.50 per Equity Share, respectively, which are higher than the Offer Price of INR 299.00 per Equity Share. The Public Shareholders of the Target Company are advised to independently evaluate the Open Offer, the market performance of the Equity Shares of the Target Company, and all other relevant factors before taking an informed decision. Accordingly, each Public Shareholder should make an independent assessment and decide whether or not to tender their Equity Shares in the Open Offer based on their own evaluation at the time of tendering. This Statement of Recommendation shall also be made available on the website of the Target Company at https://www.blissgvs.com
Disclosure of the voting pattern of the IDC.	The recommendation was unanimously approved by all the members of the IDC present at the meeting of the IDC held on July 22, 2026.
Details of independent advisors, if any	None
Any other matter(s) to be highlighted	The IDC would like to highlight that, the closing market price of the Equity Shares of the TC on BSE and NSE on Friday, July 17, 2026 (being the trading day immediately preceding the date of the Letter of Offer dated Saturday, July 18, 2026, which was a non-trading day) was INR 482.50 per Equity Share and INR 483.50 per Equity Share, respectively, which are higher than the Offer Price of INR 299.00 per Equity Share.
