Noel, Shapoorji weigh share swap for stake in Tata Sons

● Direct buyout, sale to external investor also on the table

August 28

THE TATA GROUP is in talks with its biggest minority shareholder on proposals to unlock liquidity, including a potential swap of shares of its listed entities, as the Shapoorji Pallonji Group seeks funds to repay costly debt, according to people familiar with the matter.

Representatives of Noel Tata, the Tata family patriarch, are exploring the possibility where SP Group receives shares of companies such as Tata Power in exchange for some or all of its 18.4% stake in the privately-held Tata Sons, the people said, asking not to be identified as discussions are private.

Two other options have also been presented: a direct buyout of the construction giant's stake by Tata Sons, financed by overseas banks, or a sale to an external investor, preferably a global one, the people added.

Any breakthrough on this long-running tussle between the Tatas and the SP Group will prove to be a windfall for investors in the latter's debt, which include the likes of Cerberus Capital Management LP, Davidson Kempner Capital Management and Farallon Capital Management. For the Tatas, a resolution may ease some of the intense regulatory spotlight it has come under in the past few years after the central bank's rules revived pressure on its holding company to list on the exchanges.

Representatives of Tata Sons and Shapoorji Pallonji Group did not offer any immediate comments.

ESSEL CHIEF SAYS AMBANI'S MEDIA OUTLETS MISREPORTED INSOLVENCY CASE; CHARGE BASELESS, SAYS RIL

Chandra alleges, Reliance dismisses

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 28

A NEW CORPORATE feud has broken out between Essel Group Chairman Subhash Chandra and Reliance Industries (RIL), with the former alleging that media entities linked to the Reliance Group have spread false information about his personal insolvency proceedings — a charge RIL later dismissed as "baseless".

Speaking on Zee Business, Chandra claimed that media networks associated with RIL Chairman Mukesh Ambani had pushed a misleading narrative around his case

CLASH OF CORPORATES

■ Chandra says RIL-linked media outlets pushed a misleading narrative around his insolvency case, including reports around the ₹22,000-cr claims figure

■ RIL, led by Mukesh Ambani, says its media brands have never been used to attack anyone and that it holds Chandra in high regard before the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), including reports that pegged the claims against him at about ₹22,000 crore. Further, he alleged that the coverage was part of a broader effort to weaken Zee, and pointed to what he described as earlier attempts by Reliance and Ambani's network to acquire or take control of the company.

Reliance rejected the allegations on Friday. "The Reliance Group has noted with dismay the baseless remarks by Essel Group chairman Subhash Chandra. Our media brands have never been used to attack anyone, nor will they ever be. We hold Subhash Chandra in high regard as a businessman and entrepreneur. We wish him well," a Reliance spokesperson said.

Jio Platforms gets Sebi nod for IPO

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 28

JIO PLATFORMS, THE digital services arm of Reliance Industries, has received the Securities and Exchange Board of India's (Sebi's) approval to proceed with its initial public offering (IPO), clearing a key regulatory hurdle for what could become the country's largest share sale. The company received Sebi's final observations on August 28, according to an update on the market regulator's website. Jio Platforms had filed its draft papers on June 19 for the proposed offering.

The IPO will comprise up to 270 million fresh equity shares, equivalent to about 2.9% of the company's equity base after the issue, according to its draft red herring prospectus (DRHP). The company is expected to raise around ₹37,700 crore, valuing Jio Platforms at about $137 billion, people familiar with the matters said. At that size, the issue would surpass Hyundai Motor India's $3.3-billion IPO in 2024 and become the largest IPO in India.

IIP growth eases to 6.7% in July as mining contracts

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, August 28

GROWTH IN INDIA'S industrial output, as measured by the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), slowed to 6.7% in July from a 27-month high in June, mainly because of a contraction in the mining output, data released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation on Friday showed. A slowdown in manufacturing and electricity growth also weighed on the headline print.

IIP growth last month eased from an upwardly revised 8.8% in June, which is the highest growth since March 2024. Industrial output had grown 5.4% in July 2025. Sequentially, the general index remained unchanged from June.

"Despite the moderation, it is comforting to note that industrial activity has been largely resilient in the fiscal year so far despite global uncertainties and elevated energy prices," said Rajani Sinha, chief economist at CareEdge Ratings.

Industrial growth has averaged 6.3% in the first four months of the current financial year, higher than 4.0% growth in the same period a year ago. Higher IIP growth this year has been supported by manufacturing and electricity sectors.

Budget consultations to kick-start on Oct 12

THE GOVERNMENT WILL kick-start internal consultations for the Union Budget 2027-28 on October 12 and the process will extend to mid-November, reports Prasanta Sahu. The meetings, chaired by Expenditure Secretary V Vualnam, will review expenditure requirements, receipts, scheme approvals and fiscal priorities before final allocations are determined. Inputs gathered via these interactions with ministries and departments will be critical for fixing Budget Estimates (BE) 2027-28 and Revised Estimates (RE) for 2026-27 later.

The West Asia conflict provides additional context for this year's exercise. Prolonged supply chain issues are already significantly impacting various receipts and expenditure components for the current year despite a recent let-up; these issues could potentially spill over to the next year. ■ PAGE 2

THE US IS losing some of its appeal among Indian students, with the last Fall season through July witnessing an unprecedented 30% drop in intake from a year earlier. While the drop occurred amid growing concerns over visas and post-study work, study-abroad consultants are already seeing fewer queries and lower interest in the next Fall admission cycle, which is currently underway.

A proposed $100,000 fee for Optional Practical Training (OPT) has emerged as a particular concern for students. Some consultants describe it as a "talent tariff" that could funda-

■ Visa uncertainty and proposed $100,000 OPT fee are making US degrees less attractive

■ Consultants report growing interest in alternatives such as the UK, Canada and Australia mentally change the economics of studying in the US.

To be sure, OPT allows eligible international graduates to work in the US for up to 12 months after completing their degree, with graduates in STEM fields eligible for a further 24-month extension.

"Having guided Indian families through international education decisions for over two decades, I have rarely had to explain a rule like this one. From September onwards, a graduate in the US must clear a second approval before they can legally begin work, and the grace period after graduation halves from 60 days to 30," said Karunn Kandoi, CEO at VidyaSea.

Kandoi said the proposed OPT fee was the bigger concern for families. He said students should not allow uncertainty around processing to determine a long-term career decision.

"The rising level of uncertainty over US immigration and post-study work policies might lead Indian students and their families to exercise extra caution when considering education in the US. A proposed OPT fee could be a significant limiting factor given the importance of post-study work in the overall value offer to international students," said Ritika Gupta, CEO (global education mentor) at AAera.

The impact being reported by study abroad consultants is also reflected in official data. According to US Department of Commerce data, arrivals from India on US student visas rose 10.5% to 323,652 in the August 2023-July 2024 cycle, but fell 15.5% to 273,445 in 2024-25 and another 32.8% to 183,719 in 2025-26. The latest figure is 43.2% below the August 2023-July 2024 level. This means the US has lost nearly 140,000 student arrivals from India in two years.

For US universities, the concern is not just the loss of students in a single intake but a weakening pipeline of international students, particularly at the graduate level.

Prices of sugar cool at mills, retail relief may come next fortnight

SANDIP DAS & VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
New Delhi/Mumbai, August 28

RETAIL SUGAR PRICES are expected to ease over the next fortnight as a sharp fall in factory-gate prices begins to work its way through the supply chain, offering consumers some relief ahead of the festive season. Ex-mill sugar prices in major producing states have fallen nearly 20% in a week, declining to around ₹5,000 per quintal in Uttar Pradesh and ₹5,300 a quintal in Maharashtra on Friday, from about ₹6,500 a quintal last week.

The correction follows the Centre's decision to allow duty-free imports of 1 million tonnes of raw sugar, alongside a wider crackdown on hoarding and a move to cap sugar inventories held by bulk industrial users at 15 days.

The government's measures have helped ease supply concerns and speculative buying, although food companies initially opposed the inventory cap, arguing it could disrupt production.

Budget FY28 may focus on realistic estimates, restraint

PRASANTA SAHU
New Delhi, August 28

THE GOVERNMENT WILL kick-start internal consultations for the Union Budget 2027-28 on October 12, with the exercise scheduled to continue until mid-November. The meetings, chaired by Expenditure Secretary V Vualnam, will review expenditure requirements, receipts, scheme approvals and fiscal priorities before final allocations are determined.

Inputs gathered via these interactions with ministries and departments will be critical for fixing Budget Estimates (BE) 2027-28 and Revised Estimates (RE) for 2026-27 later.

The West Asia conflict provides additional context for this year's exercise. Prolonged supply chain issues are already significantly impacting various receipts and expenditure components for the current year despite a recent let-up; these issues could potentially spill over to the next year.

Financial Advisers (FAs) have been asked to ensure that all necessary information is correctly entered in the Union Budget Information System (UBIS) by October 6, 2026, sources said.

This year's Budget exercise places particular emphasis on realistic and accurate projections. A "realistic projection for Revised Estimates (RE) 2026-27 and Budget Estimates (BE) 2027-28 is a prerequisite" for sound fiscal management, according to the Budget Circular issued by the Budget Division of the Department of Economic Affairs.

Submission of information relating to non-tax revenue, interest receipts, loan recoveries, capital receipts, interest payments and loans to employees is due by October 6, 2026, followed by estimates of tax receipts by October 15, 2026. Disclosure statements under the FRBM framework are to be submitted by November 6, 2026. Data entry in the UBIS relating to RE/BE ceilings is required within 7 days of completion of the pre-Budget meetings. The final ceilings will reflect on UBIS by the end of December 2026, with the Detailed Demand for Grants (DDG) to be finalised within one week of the final ceilings being intimated through UBIS. Notes on Demand for Expenditure are to be submitted within one day of filing the DDG (Final) in UBIS, while material for statements to be appended to the Demands for Grants and Expenditure Profile, as well as the Output-Outcome Monitoring Framework, is due within three days of filing the DDG (Final). The estimates of GDP from the CSO are expected by 7 January 2027.

Ministries and Departments have been advised to estimate expenditure carefully so as to avoid routine or frequent mid-year appropriations. "Minimal mid-year additional resource requirements/mid-year reappropriations reflect good budgeting," according to the circular. While preparing estimates, priority must first be given to committed and continuing expenditure before provisions are made for new schemes.

7.7 mn silver jewellery get hallmarking in last 1 year

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 28

OVER 7.7 MILLION silver jewellery and artefacts have been hallmarked with the HUID number since the six-digit number was introduced from September last year, with southern states leading in volumes, according to the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS).

Silver hallmarked has been voluntary since October 2005, and from September 2025 onwards, hallmarked silver articles carry a six-digit Hallmark Unique Identification (HUID) number, enabling buyers to verify purity.

"Since the launch of the Silver HUID portal on 1 September 2025, over 7.7 million silver jewellery pieces have already been hallmarked with HUID," a BIS statement said on Friday.

SHARE OF GOLD IN HOUSEHOLD ASSETS RISES

THE SHARE OF gold in India's household assets rose significantly in FY26 while the property share reduced, amid surging prices of the yellow metal, according to a Jefferies note.

Gold holdings accounted for nearly a quarter of household wealth in the year, even as these are increasingly being monetised through gold-backed loans. Gold loans now account for 7% of total bank and non-banking financial company credit. Still, they are only 5% of the value of household gold holdings. Assuming a 65% loan-to-value ratio and additional loans through the unorganised channels, only 15% of gold holdings are currently monetised, the note says.

Centre puts 4.1 mn homes on LPG-to-PNG fast track

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 28

THE GOVERNMENT HAS put more than 4.1 million households on its immediate LPG-to-PNG conversion radar, but the switch to piped gas remains slow, with only about 20% of eligible consumers applying so far despite an intensive outreach drive triggered by supply disruptions during the West Asia conflict.

Of the 2.17 million LPG consumers identified as having access to a PNG network and eligible to switch, only 440,000 have applied, while connections of 330,000 consumers, or about 15%, have been activated. These consumers are spread across more than 72,000 housing societies in 311 geographical areas where PNG networks are available through oil companies and public and private city gas distribution entities.

The wider conversion pool also includes around 2 million consumers who have already registered for PNG connections, taking the immediate target base to more than 4.1 million households. The petroleum ministry has asked city gas distribution (CGD) compa-

SLOW SHIFT

■ Only 440,000 of 2.17 million eligible consumers applied for PNG

■ Over 33,000 camps, 2.1 million WhatsApp messages and 800,000 notices have driven only 140,000 LPG surrenders in five months

■ India imported about 20 MT of LPG in 2025-26, exposing consumers to West Asia-linked supply disruptions

WhatsApp messages, around 800,000 received physical notices, and over 33,000 camps were organised to encourage the shift. Yet, in the last five months, only a little over 140,000 households surrendered their LPG connections.

The push intensified during March and April when the West Asia conflict disrupted supplies through the Strait of Hormuz and tightened LPG availability. India consumed around 33 million tonne (MT) of LPG in 2025-26, of which only about 13 MT was produced domestically, with the balance met through imports, largely from West Asia.

In March, the petroleum ministry ordered faster pipeline infrastructure creation, easier approvals and a stronger LPG-to-PNG shift to improve energy security. CGD and oil companies were also asked to contact LPG consumers with access to PNG networks and encourage them to switch within three months. According to the latest Petroleum and Natural Gas Regulatory Board data, India had achieved 17.4 million domestic PNG connections till June against a pro-rata target of 44.1 million, translating into 39% achievement.

Onion buffer stock quality 'good': Consumer affairs secy

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 28

THE QUALITY OF the Centre's onion buffer stock is "good", Consumer Affairs Secretary Nidhi Khare said on Friday, asserting that for the first time this year the Central Warehousing Corporation (CWC) was roped in for storage to ensure better shelf life of the commodity.

Khare refuted reports claiming that 30% of the 121,000 tonne onion buffer maintained by the government had rotten. "Nothing of that kind has happened. Quality is good," she said.

Unlike previous years, when the onion buffer was stored with traders, the responsibility this time was entrusted to the CWC, with a third party assessing the quality of the stock at regular intervals, the secretary said.

Explaining the science behind onion storage, Khare said the vegetable contains 90% water and retains its quality for three months post-harvest, after which it keeps shrinking every month as water vapourises. The extent of spoilage, she said, depends

Supply squeeze, exports lift sugar prices

● Govt introduces fortnightly quotas

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, August 28

TWO SUCCESSIVE YEARS of consumption exceeding production, and a delay in stopping exports despite a looming shortage have contributed to the sharp spike in sugar prices in the last one month. This forced the government to announce imports of sweetener for the first time in a decade.

The prospects for the opening stock of sugar in the 2026-27 season (October-September) have dipped to only 3.5 million tonne (MT), the lowest in the last decade. Even a dip in the amount of sweetener diverted for ethanol production could not address the supply deficit.

Sugar production declined by 27% to around 28.1 MT in the 2025-26 season from 35.8 MT in 2021-22. Consumption increased marginally according to industry estimates to 28.7 MT from 27.3 MT in the last five seasons.

The food ministry also announced the introduction of a fortnightly sugar allocation system from September, replacing the existing monthly quota system. The mills would be required to sell at least 40% of the allocation in the first week and the remaining quantity in the succeeding week.

In the last five years, the quantity of sugar diverted towards ethanol production has seen a nearly four-fold increase from 0.8 MT in 2019-20 to around 3 MT in the 2025-26 sugar season, according to analysis by Crisil. "The resultant supply tightness, along with rising cane costs driven by higher fair and remunerative price (FRP) and state advisory price (SAP), supported a sharp increase in sugar prices," Crisil stated.

Ruling out attributing the recent increase in sugar prices to the diversion of sugar for ethanol production, a food ministry official said that the share of sugar diverted for ethanol has declined from around 12% in 2022-23 to around 9% in 2025-26. "Moreover, nearly three-fourths of the ethanol produced in the country now comes from grains, particularly maize," according to an official note.

The government attributed the sharp spike in sugar prices to factors including a fall in domestic production due to weather-related damages, a demand spike ahead of the festive season, high global prices and hoarding by some producers. The government allowed the export of sweetener after the Indian Sugar and Bio-energy Manufacturers Association (ISMA) projected a net output (including ethanol diversion) of 34.9 MT in its first preliminary estimate released in July 2025 for the 2025-26 season (October-September). However, ISMA revised the output downward to 32.4 MT in its third estimate for the current sugar season released in February 2026, citing lesser crop yield because of adverse weather conditions.

While around 0.8 MT of sugar has been exported this current sugar season, the government banned sugar exports in May 2026 to keep domestic prices stable amid expectations of lower sugar closing inventory and a possible drop in projection. "Overestimation of initial projections led to allowing exports of sweetener," a source said. The ministry stated that sugar production during the 2025-26 season is expected to be 11% less, at 30.6 million tonnes (MT), compared to the initial estimate of around 34.3 MT.

Energy storage awards plunge 65% in April-July

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 28

INDIA'S ENERGY-STORAGE PROJECT pipeline has slowed sharply in the first four months of FY27, with tendering declining 26% year-on-year to 8.4 GW during April-July from 11.4 GW, while awarded capacity plunged 65% to 2.4 GW from 6.9 GW in the year-ago period.

The slowdown in fresh awards comes even as deployment accelerates. India commissioned around 8,236 MWh of battery energy storage system (BESS) capacity during April-July, alongside 250 MW of pumped hydro storage. July alone saw approximately 710 MWh of ESS capacity commissioned.

According to a report by JMK Research & Analytics and IEEFA, standalone BESS

CAPACITY CRUNCH

■ Standalone BESS remained dominant procurement segment, accounting for 4.3 GW of total tendered capacity

■ Two-hour storage continued to dominate tenders at about 4,448 MW

■ On the manufacturing side, around 6.35 GWh of downstream capacity entered operations in July remained the dominant procurement segment, accounting for 4.3 GW, or around 51% of total tendered capacity, while firm and dispatchable renewable energy contributed another 1.9 GW. Two-hour storage continued to dominate tenders at about 4,448 MW, although four-hour systems are gaining traction as distribution companies increasingly seek storage capable of shifting daytime renewable generation over longer non-solar peak periods. July still saw significant fresh tendering activity.

Authorities issued 1,707 MW/3,933 MWh of project-development storage tenders, including six BESS, two renewable-plus-storage and one FDRE tender. Standalone BESS accounted for around 65% of the capacity.

Separately, 1,025 MW of EPC storage capacity was tendered during the month, led by PowerGrid's 750 MW/2,000 MWh standalone BESS procurement, which accounted for about 73% of the total. GAIL tendered a 600-MW solar project integrated with a 275 MW/550 MWh BESS.

India, Kuwait hold dialogue for defence cooperation

INDIA AND KUWAIT on Friday held a key dialogue during which the two sides agreed to bolster bilateral defence cooperation across a wide range of areas, including training, military exercises, industry, and research and development.

The inaugural meeting of the India-Kuwait Joint Defence Committee (JDC) was held in New Delhi.

The first meeting of the JDC marked an important step towards operationalising the objectives outlined in the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on Defence Cooperation between the two countries, signed during the visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to Kuwait in December 2024, the defence ministry said in a statement. —PTI

Govt seals deal to purchase Javelin missiles from US

AMRITA NAYAK DUTTA
New Delhi, August 28

INDIA HAS FINALISED a deal to buy the Javelin anti-tank guided missile system from the United States. The Indian Army on Friday signed a Letter of Offer and Acceptance to buy the ordnance through the US Foreign Military Sales process. Welcoming the decision, Washington said the "milestone" reflects the enduring partnership between the US and Indian armed forces, and opens the door for future collaboration between the defence industries.

"The landmark signature further strengthens the US-India Major Defence Partnership by demonstrating the depth of ongoing support to the Indian Army. It also opens discussions on mutually beneficial co-production and additional opportunities to strengthen the defence industrial bases of both countries," the US Embassy said in a statement.

"This agreement reflects a defence partnership growing deeper, more capable, and more consequential," US Ambassador Sergio Gora said in a statement, adding that it "demonstrates depth of US support and creates new opportunities for our defence industries to work together."

In a post on X earlier in the day, Gora announced that India was planning to purchase the "battle-tested Javelin anti-tank system", indicating that both countries were close to signing the deal.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman offers prayers during a visit to a temple in Ontario

India, Canada to seal trade deal by year end

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, August 28

IN A BID to deepen bilateral economic and financial cooperation, India and Canada have said they are looking to conclude negotiations on a Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement by the end of 2026 and initiate talks on a Bilateral Investment Treaty at the earliest.

At the inaugural Economic and Financial Dialogue in Toronto on Thursday, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and Minister of Finance and National Revenue, Francois-Philippe Champagne of Canada agreed to support engagement between relevant authorities and stakeholders to explore opportunities relating to cross-border remittances and merchant payments.

They welcomed opportunities to broaden the use of UPI in Canada through partnerships with payment service providers, recognising that such efforts could contribute to faster payments and support bilateral trade, tourism, education, and the growth of enterprises in both countries, as per a joint statement issued after inaugural Economic and Financial Dialogue.

The dialogue builds on the commitment made by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney during their meeting in New Delhi in March 2026 to strengthen bilateral economic and financial cooperation.

The two sides also reaffirmed their shared commitment to conclude negotiations for a Canada-India Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement by the end of 2026.

During the dialogue, the ministers exchanged views on global macroeconomic developments and domestic policy priorities and discussed ways to strengthen economic and investment ties.

Discussions are aimed at supporting financial and commercial linkages between the two countries and advancing the leaders' shared goal of expanding bilateral trade to CAD 70 billion, or around ₹4.65 lakh crore, by 2030.

India also expressed its readiness to initiate negotiations on a Bilateral Investment Treaty at the earliest, the joint statement said.

The ministers welcomed the growing investment relationship between the two countries and recognised the role of long-term institutional capital in strengthening bilateral economic ties.

REGISTRATIONS CROSS 200,000 MILESTONE FOR THE FIRST TIME

Electric car sales exceed last year's total in just 8 months

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, August 28

ELECTRIC PASSENGER VEHICLE sales in the first eight months of 2026 overtook last year's total figure, and in the process crossed the registration milestone of 200,000 in a calendar year for the first time.

According to Vahan data, registrations reached 212,191 units during January-August, 8.4% higher than the 195,802 electric passenger vehicles registered in the entire 2025.

The accelerated adoption of electric cars was driven by a wider choice of models and increasing participation from both established and new automakers, industry executives said. The increase in sales also translated into a higher share of EVs in the overall car market. EVs accounted for 6.2% of total passenger vehicle registrations between January and August, compared with 4.3% in the entire 2025. Total car registrations stood at around 3.42 million during January-August.

TATA MOTORS MAINTAINS LEAD

Industry executives said the increase in the number of models available across price segments has been an important factor behind the faster adoption of electric cars. The expansion of EV portfolios by established manufacturers such as Tata Motors and Mahindra & Mahindra, the entry of Maruti Suzuki into the segment and the arrival of new players such as VinFast have given consumers more choices, they said.

"The market is moving from an early-adopter phase towards a more mainstream phase as consumers now have more options across segments and price points," an industry executive said. The increase in fuel prices and concerns among consumers about the long-term impact of E20 petrol on internal-combustion engine vehicles have also contributed to interest in alternative powertrains, sector experts said. However, they added that purchase economics, charging infrastructure and the availability of models suited to different consumer requirements will remain key to sustaining EV adoption.

While the overall EV market is expanding rapidly, industry executives said the market remains concentrated in a handful of manufacturers and models. The next phase of growth is likely to depend on how quickly automakers introduce products in mass-market segments and whether EVs can become competitive with petrol and hybrid vehicles on upfront cost as well as total cost of ownership.

TVS Motor names Peyman Kargar as CEO from January

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, August 28

TVS MOTOR COMPANY on Friday appointed Peyman Kargar as its director and chief executive officer, with the incumbent KN Radhakrishnan set to step down on January 27, 2027.

Radhakrishnan will subsequently serve as a non-executive director until the company's annual general meeting scheduled for July 2027.

The leadership transition comes after a strong year for TVS Motor, which sold 5.9 million vehicles globally in FY26 and recorded 30% growth in revenue. Kargar, currently president of the company's international business, will take charge as TVS Motor looks to build on its growth in India and overseas markets. Kargar has more than three decades of experience in the automotive industry across Europe, Asia, Africa and West Asia, spanning product development and research & development, manufacturing, quality, sales and marketing.

His international business portfolio has become an increasingly important contributor to TVS Motor's global expansion. The business currently accounts for 29% of the company's sales volume and is growing at 33%, according to the company. As CEO, Kargar will focus on product innovation, premiumisation and expansion into developed markets, while strengthening the company's technology and artificial intelligence capabilities.

"This appointment marks an important step for TVS Motor Company as we prepare for the future," Chairman Sudarshan Venu said, adding that Kargar had "deep industry experience, strategic vision and a strong understanding of customers and markets". Kargar said he would build on the company's existing momentum while focusing on technology leadership, AI capabilities, quality and customer centricity. Radhakrishnan said he would support a smooth transition and expressed confidence in Kargar's ability to lead the company.

Meta's Sandhya Devanathan to join OpenAI

ASHUTOSH MISHRA
New Delhi, August 28

META'S VICE PRESIDENT and head for India and Southeast Asia Sandhya Devanathan is leaving the social media giant after a decade to join OpenAI as vice president for Southeast Asia and Australia, as the ChatGPT maker steps up its expansion across the Asia-Pacific region.

Devanathan will be OpenAI's most senior leader in Southeast Asia and Australia in a newly created role, with responsibility for consumer growth, enterprise adoption, partnerships, regulatory engagement and operations. Based in Singapore, she will report to Kiran Mani, OpenAI's managing director for Asia Pacific.

The appointment comes as OpenAI builds out its regional operations amid rising adoption of its AI tools among consumers, enterprises and developers. Over the past two years, the company has opened offices in Singapore, Tokyo, Seoul, Sydney and Delhi and has been expanding its regional leadership team.

OpenAI has also been sharpening its focus on India, one of its priority markets. In June, the company appointed Prabheet Singh as managing director for India, while its first New Delhi office opened in November 2025. The company has been stepping up partnerships with enterprises and developers in India while increasing engagement with policymakers.

OpenAI CEO Sam Altman has repeatedly identified India as a key market for the company, citing the country's rapid adoption of AI. Devanathan brings more than 25 years of experience across technology and financial services. She joined Meta in 2016 and went on to hold several leadership positions across the region, including leading the company's Asia Pacific gaming business and helping expand its presence in Singapore and Vietnam.

In a LinkedIn post announcing her departure, Devanathan described the decision as bittersweet and said she would take a short break before starting her next exciting chapter. OpenAI did not immediately disclose her joining date.

Gnani launches AI stack for users' own systems

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, August 28

BENGALURU-BASED STARTUP GNANI AI on Friday launched Gnani Artha, a sovereign AI stack that it says will allow Indian enterprises and government institutions to use artificial intelligence for tasks involving Indian languages and sensitive information without having to send that data outside their own systems.

Vice President of India CP Radhakrishnan unveiled the platform at an event in New Delhi, saying India's approach to AI should be open, affordable, and accessible.

Gnani Artha brings together two of the company's existing products — Evon v3.3, a 30-billion-parameter AI model trained across 11 Indian languages, and Plexus, a platform that allows AI agents to carry out tasks across business processes.

The significance of the combination is less about the size of the AI model and more about where and how it can be used. For an Indian bank, for instance, the system could process a loan application containing documents in a regional language, bank statements and other financial records, and use AI to identify inconsistencies. The same capability could be deployed within the bank's own infrastructure, rather than sending customer data to an external AI service. This is particularly relevant for banks, insurers and government agencies that deal with large volumes of sensitive information and face requirements around where such data can be stored and processed. Evon v3.3 is available as open weights and can run on a single node, allowing institutions to deploy it in their own data centres or private cloud environments, it said.

AI CORNER

Vice President CP Radhakrishnan addresses a gathering during the launch of Gnani Artha, an AI stack comprising Evon 3.3 and Plexus, in New Delhi on Friday. Ganesh Gopalani, co-founder & CEO of Gnani AI, is on the dais

The company is also positioning the model as a lower-cost option for processing Indian-language data. It has rebuilt the model's tokeniser — the system that breaks text into units that an AI model can process — specifically for Indian scripts. Gnani said this allows Evon v3.3 to use about 20% fewer tokens per Indian-language word than the tokeniser used by the GPT-5 family and less than half the tokens required by byte-level tokenisers used by DeepSeek, Llama and Qwen. That matters because AI models incur computing costs as they process more tokens. Using fewer tokens can therefore reduce the cost of running AI applications, particularly when they are processing thousands or millions of documents or conversations. Gnani said the lower token requirement also enables faster responses and more usable context for each query.

IndiGo Ventures to invest in Sarvam AI

FE BUREAU
Bengaluru, August 28

NEWLY MINTED AI unicorn Sarvam is set to raise an undisclosed amount in its ongoing Series B funding from IndiGo Ventures, the corporate venture capital arm of IndiGo Airlines announced on Friday. Earlier this month, the full-stack sovereign AI startup had secured $75 million from AI chipmaking giant Nvidia and Glade Brook Capital, signalling growing investor interest and adoption push from across sectors.

"Aviation is a powerful setting for enterprise AI because it combines millions of customer interactions with complex, time-sensitive operations. IndiGo brings the domain depth and scale needed to identify where AI can create real value. Together, we can develop systems that are useful in production and build a stronger template for enterprise AI in India," Pratyush Kumar, co-founder of Sarvam, said in a statement.

The investment is an extension of a dynamic that already existed. IndiGo and Sarvam were working together to build AI applications to improve customer experience, streamline operational workflows and boost employee productivity levels. "The investment creates a long-term platform for accelerating AI-led innovation and operational excellence at IndiGo," the statement noted.

"Artificial intelligence is fast becoming a foundational capa-

AI FOR AVIATION

■ Earlier this month, Sarvam AI raised $75 million from Nvidia and Glade Brook Capital

■ In June, it announced a $234-million funding led by HCLTech

■ With the current Series B round, Sarvam will have raised a total of more than $350 million bility for the aviation industry, reshaping customer experience, workforce productivity and operational decision-making. Our partnership with Sarvam gives IndiGo access to cutting-edge AI capabilities, built in India, and tailored to the needs of the market," said Neetan Chopra, chief digital and information officer, IndiGo. Sarvam has unveiled plans to build a trillion-parameter AI model and is racing to fulfil that promise within the next few months.

Lightspeed: Globally competitive Indian model likely by next year

A GLOBALLY COMPETITIVE homegrown Indian AI model is set to be released by next year, according to venture capital firm Lightspeed.

India's sovereign AI platform Sarvam AI is planning a 1-trillion parameter model in the next six months. While the biggest models from the US' Anthropic and OpenAI and China's Moonshot and Alibaba Group Holding are larger, that progress shows Indian contenders' ambition. "That will be a very competitive model anywhere globally," Hemant Mohapatra, a Lightspeed partner, said. "We've got to build the best models in performance, cost and usability."

Lightspeed was an early backer of Indian unicorns like Sarvam AI and Emergent, as well as other AI startups like Portkey and Composio. About 80-90% of the VC's deals in India are now in the AI space, compared with just about 20% three to four years ago, Mohapatra said.

Mohapatra said India's unique challenges mean it needs custom, homegrown AI services that can't just be "bolted on" by software solutions built by companies abroad. "You have to build something locally to be able to serve something locally."

Language is a key challenge for AI rollout in India as the country's vast population speaks nearly two dozen official languages and more than a hundred dialects. Affordability, Mohapatra said, is another consideration. "India needs to be serviced at scale at a lower price point," he said. —BLOOMBERG

ATOMBERG TECHNOLOGIES is using the engineering capabilities developed in its ceiling fan business to expand into other consumer-durables categories, seeking to diversify faster than incumbents that have traditionally relied on acquisitions and gradual expansion.

The Mumbai-based company, which filed its draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) on August 20 to raise ₹450 crore, has earmarked none of the fresh capital for acquisitions. Instead, it plans to invest in research and development, brand building and debt repayment.

The approach is different from that followed by established consumer-durables companies. Havells entered the air conditioners segment through its acquisition of Lloyd, while Crompton expanded into kitchen appliances through its purchase of Butterfly Gandhimathi. Polycab spent more than a decade extending its business from cables into fans, lighting and switches. These companies, however, had profitable core businesses to support the cost of entering new categories. ■ Its fan business generated ₹1,152.53 crore in external revenue in FY26, accounting for 89.08% of consolidated turnover doubled to ₹135.30 crore. According to Redseer data cited in the prospectus, Atomberg has a 46.08% share of the premium fan market and 16.81% of the online fan market.

The fan category itself has considerable room for growth. Brushless DC (BLDC) motors account for only 17% of the ₹21,400-crore fan market, a share Redseer expects to reach 38-41% by FY31. Atomberg's assembly lines at Chakan, Pune, operated at 67.42% utilisation in FY26. The company, therefore, is expanding into adjacent categories even though its principal business has a significant growth opportunity.

Its strategy is to reuse the technology developed for fans across products. Atomberg invested ₹86.79 crore, or 6.71% of revenue, in R&D in FY26, compared with an industry average of less than 1%, according to estimates cited in the prospectus. Its proprietary motors, electronics and control algorithms are being adapted for mixer grinders, juicers and chimneys. Its other products draw on capabilities in filtration, connectivity and thermal engineering. There are some early signs of traction. Revenue from kitchen appliances increased 6.4 times to ₹124.04 crore in FY26, while the segment loss narrowed from 277.55% of revenue in FY24 to 34.89% in FY26. Further, 28.50% of fan buyers purchased another Atomberg product, indicating scope to sell multiple categories to the same customer.

The question for Atomberg, therefore, is whether its engineering-led model can make diversification materially faster and less capital-intensive than the acquisition-led approach of established players. Its proposed joint venture with Voltas to manufacture AC compressors as well as its expansion into components show that the strategy extends beyond a handful of adjacent consumer products.

VODAFONE ADDS 240,114 SUBSCRIBERS IN JULY

Airtel goes past Jio in mobile user addition

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, August 28

BHARTI AIRTEL TOPPED the telecom industry in mobile subscriber additions in July, adding 2.69 million users during the month, narrowly ahead of market leader Reliance Jio's 2.45 million, according to monthly subscription data released by the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) on Friday.

Vodafone Idea (Vi) added 240,114 subscribers, while state-run Bharat Sanchar Nigam (BSNL) gained 168,874. The industry's overall wireless subscriber base rose to 1.282 billion at the end of July from 1.282 billion a month earlier. Jio continued to lead in total mobile subscribers, with its base rising to 506.03 million, followed by Airtel at 489.48 million and Vi at 199.06 million.

Private operators accounted for 92.75% of the wireless market at the end of July, while BSNL and MTNL together held the remaining 7.25%. The growth also extended to broadband, with total broadband subscriptions rising to 1.09 billion from 1.08 billion in June, a monthly increase of 0.64%. Jio remained the largest broadband provider with 535.12 million subscribers, followed by Airtel at 384.23 million and Vi at 129.96 million. Both urban and rural markets recorded net additions during the month.

Fixed connectivity also continued to expand. Wired broadband subscribers rose 0.90% to 48.14 million from 47.71 million, while fixed wireless access (FWA) subscriptions, including 5G FWA and unlicensed band radio (UBR)-based connections, increased 2.60% to 18.84 million from 18.36 million.

Blackstone entities to sell up to 25% stake in Knowledge Realty Trust for ₹12,000 cr

FOUR ENTITIES BELONGING to Blackstone's sponsor group of Knowledge Realty Trust will sell up to 1.11 billion units, or 25.03%, of the real estate investment trust's unit capital, through an offer for sale (OFS).

The sellers will initially offer up to 740 million units, representing 16.69% of the unit capital, with an option to sell an additional 370 million units, or 8.34%, if there is sufficient demand. At the floor price of ₹108 a unit, the base offer is worth about ₹7,992 crore, while the full offer would be valued at nearly ₹11,988 crore. The OFS is being undertaken to help Knowledge Realty Trust meet the minimum public unitholding requirement prescribed under Sebi's REIT regulations.

The offer for non-retail investors will open on August 31 while retail investors can bid on September 1. At least 10% of the offer will be reserved for retail investors. —FE BUREAU

Mumbai, Delhi among top 10 APAC logistics markets

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, August 28

THREE INDIAN CITIES — Mumbai, Delhi-NCR and Bengaluru — ranked among the Asia-Pacific's top 10 markets for logistics rental growth in the first half of 2026, according to a report by property consultant Knight Frank.

During January-June, Mumbai Metropolitan Region (MMR) posted a strong rental growth of 5.3% year-on-year, Delhi-NCR 5.2% and Bengaluru 4.4%, it said. Prime property rents stood at ₹26 per square foot per month in MMR, ₹22.30 in Delhi-NCR, and ₹23.50 in Bengaluru. Vacancy declined to 13.5% in Mumbai, 14.7% in Delhi-NCR, and 17.6% in Bengaluru, the report stated, adding these markets remained balanced. The 12-month rental outlook pointed towards further growth in Mumbai and Delhi-NCR, and remained positive for Bengaluru.

Shishir Bajjal, international partner, chairman and managing director, Knight Frank India, said, "The healthy rental growth recorded across Mumbai, Delhi-NCR and Bengaluru reflects sustained occupier demand, even as the market becomes increasingly selective about location, connectivity and asset quality. With occupiers placing greater emphasis on operational efficiency and modern, institutional-grade facilities, we expect India's logistics real estate market to remain on a steady growth trajectory in the near to medium term."

Jio Platforms gets Sebi nod...

ISSUE MAY BE LARGEST group of global financial and strategic investors, including Silver Lake, Vista Equity Partners, General Atlantic, KKR, Mubadala, ADIA, TPG, L Catterton, PIF, Intel Capital and Qualcomm Ventures.

Reliance Industries currently holds 66.43% of the paid-up equity capital of Jio Platforms, while Meta and Google together hold 17.71%.

The IPO will mark the first public offering from the Reliance group since 2008 and the first listing of a consumer-focused company within the conglomerate. Jio Platforms owns Reliance Jio Infocomm, the country's largest wireless carrier, and has expanded beyond telecom into a broader digital services business.

Reliance Chairman and Managing Director Mukesh Ambani had first outlined plans to take Jio Platforms public in 2019.

At the group's annual general meeting last year, he said the company was targeting a listing by June 2026.

Noel, Shapoorji mull share swap...

NOEL IS THE chairman of Tata Trusts, a group of charities that own 66% in Tata Sons. N Chandrababhan's announcement this month that he'll step down as Tata Sons chairman in February has put Noel in the driver's seat to drive a settlement. Noel also has familial connections: he is married to Aloo Mistry, the sister of SP Group Chairman Shapoorji Mistry.

SP Group closed one of the largest private credit transactions in India in July, as investors are hopeful that the conglomerate can eventually monetise its stake in Tata Sons and unlock liquidity worth billions of rupees.

There's no certainty that the ongoing talks will lead to a deal and the structure of the transaction may change as negotiations proceed, the people said. The Economic Times reported last month on the share swap being a possible way for SP Group to monetise the value of its Tata Sons stake. A major hurdle will be in agreeing at a valuation for Tata Sons that controls bulk of the sprawling salt-to-software conglomerate and has many large unlisted businesses such as Air India and i-phone maker Tata Electronics under its umbrella.

Both sides are evaluating legal aspects of all options being discussed as well as potential regulatory issues around the share swap since it will involve listed Tata entities, the people said. SP Group is also periodically updating its stakeholders on the negotiations, while advisers are examining the legal implications of the various structures under consideration, the people said.

A resolution needs to come through within the next 18 months as that's the timeline when SP Group's recently closed bond issue will need to make its first payout. —BLOOMBERG

GOV'T TO BUY
BACK ₹30,000-CR
SECURITIES ON SEPTEMBER 3

 THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI) on Friday announced the buyback of government securities worth ₹30,000 crore on September 3. The government will buy back securities such as 7.33% GS 2026, 5.74% GS 2026, 8.15% GS 2026, and 8.24% GS 2027, the notification said. The central bank has not notified any amount for the individual securities within the aggregate ceiling of ₹30,000 crore. Auction for securities will be conducted using multiple price methods, the RBI said. This comes at a time when the liquidity in the banking system is in huge surplus and the RBI has been conducting variable rate reverse repo auctions to remove excess surplus liquidity.

Sharp swings in CAS keep traders on edge

● May hinder participation if trend continues

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, August 28

THE CLOSING AUCTION session (CAS), introduced to make end-of-day price discovery more robust, is turning into a source of anxiety for traders as sharp swings, thin liquidity and unpredictable movements in derivatives premiums weigh on participation.

The concerns came to the fore on Thursday, when the BSE Sensex witnessed its sharpest swing yet during the closing auction. Its indicative closing level plunged by nearly 2,200 points at one stage – from 77,200 to 74,983 – before recovering sharply. It eventually closed 249 points below its 3:15 p.m. level. The volatility coincided with the monthly expiry of derivative contracts on the index.

That was not all. The turbulence spilled over into the derivatives market with a Bankex put option with a strike price of 64,000, for instance, surged from ₹1.70 to ₹68.55 during the auction – a jump of nearly 4,000%, according to Bloomberg. A put option is a financial contract that gives the buyer the right, but not the obligation, to sell a specific asset at a set price within a specific timeframe.

The NSE had witnessed sharp swings in option premiums during its monthly expiry on Tuesday as well, though the movements were less pronounced.

Market experts warn that repeated bouts of such volatility could become a major hurdle to building participation and liquidity in the closing auction – the very ingredients needed for the mechanism to function efficiently.

Tejas Shah, head – trading at Equirus Securities, attributed Thursday's sharp movement in the cash market to high impact costs in index heavyweights amid thin liq-

TURBULENCE IN TRADING

- On Thursday, the Sensex witnessed its sharpest swing yet during CAS
- Indicative closing level plunged by nearly 2,200 points at one stage
- Turbulence spilled over into the derivatives market as well
- Repeated bouts of volatility could affect liquidity during window uidity and muted participation. The same factors, he said, contributed to the dramatic moves in BSE options.

Chandan Taparia, head – derivatives and technicals at Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said option writers, who have benefited from the expansion of the futures and options market in recent years, are particularly vulnerable because expiring contracts are not seeing the usual premium decay – the loss of value as the expiry comes closer – during the auction.

Thin volumes combined with uncertainty are also hurting the confidence of option traders, writers and algorithmic traders, he said. The impact extends to proprietary desks, institutional investors, retail and HNI traders, as well as participants relying on technical analysis and candlestick charts.

Even backtesting – a key tool used by traders to develop and validate strategies – is being disrupted by the unusual price behaviour during the closing auction, Taparia said.

The consequences are not limited to sentiment. Traders are also facing mounting financial risks, prompting many to cut positions before the auction begins at 3:15 PM. “They are losing money even if they carry small positions,” Taparia said, adding that losses arising from volatility and uncertainty during CAS are pushing a significant number of participants to unwind positions before the regular trading session ends.

The impact can be particularly severe in indices with fewer constituents, such as Bankex, and in relatively less liquid indices, where individual orders can have an outsized effect on prices. Some of the recent instances of weak Nifty openings are also being attributed to sharp movements during the previous day's closing auction.

Shah suggested temporarily narrowing the permissible order band from the current +/- 3% around the reference price until market participants become more familiar with the closing auction mechanism. Such a move, he said, could help contain erratic price action.

While most believe that CAS is a positive measure over the long term, but said adequate liquidity is critical for its benefits to reach investors and traders. He also favoured reviewing the current 3% order range around the reference price to curb excessive volatility.

Forex reserves hit record high

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 28

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES surged by $12.4 billion to a record $729.32 billion for the week ended August 21, supported by inflows through the special deposit window, according to RBI data released on Friday. The previous record high was $728.5 billion hit at the end of February.

Within the reserves, foreign currency assets increased by $9.4 billion to $591.3 billion, while gold reserves rose by $2.8 billion to $114.2 billion in the week ended August 21, the RBI data showed.

Inflows through FCNR(B) deposits were a key contributort to the RBI's reserve buildup, said market participants. Banks had mobilised $65.4 billion through FCNR(B) deposits as of August 21, the latest RBI data showed. Including external commercial borrowings and overseas foreign currency borrowings, total inflows stood at $72.8 billion.

FCNR(B) PUSH

Since the RBI measures came into effect on June 8, reserves have risen by $47.7 billion, while the rupee has strengthened 1.5% from its record low in May.

“The reserve accumulation materially strengthens India's external shock absorber. It gives the RBI capacity to smooth disorderly rupee depreciation, finance essential imports during oil-price or geopolitical shocks, and reassure foreign investors about external-payment resilience. However, the quality and durability of the increase matter,” said Manoranjan Sharma, chief economist, Infomeries Ratings.

Rupee logs weekly gain

● RBI intervention keeps currency in a narrow range

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, August 28

THE RUPEE CLOSED the week on a positive note, snapping a two-week losing streak, and closed at 95.38 against the US dollar on Friday, up 16 paise from the previous session.

The rupee recorded a weekly gain of 0.33%, trading within a narrow band of between 95.38 and 95.75, helped by central bank intervention, said market participants. Over the past two weeks, the daily movement averaged at 14 paise.

The absence of any sharp spike in crude oil prices has also provided support, helping to limit downside pressure on the domestic currency. Oil prices were down 0.16% to $89.56 per barrel on Friday.

“The RBI is not letting the rupee depreciate. At the same time, it is absorbing inflows and not letting the rupee appreciate. This is keeping the rupee in a range. In addition, reduction in crude prices and a weaker dollar are also supporting the currency,” said Ritesh Bhansali, deputy CEO, Meckl

IN THE GREEN

Financial Services. He expects the rupee to trade in the range of 95-96 in the near-term.

In the calendar year so far, the rupee declined 6.4% and over the past year, it fell 10.3%. The rupee was the fourth top-performing currency is Asia this week.

Inflows from foreign deposits are also bolstering the rupee as the special window approaches its closure on August 31, said market participants.

Banks have mopped up $65.4 billion via FCNR(B) deposits till August 21, according to the latest central bank data. Total inflows, including external commercial borrowing and overseas foreign currency borrowing, stood at $72.8 billion. Market participants expect inflows of around $100 billion from all the measures.

“The effect of foreign inflows on the rupee appears to be limited compared to 2013, when their impact was far more pronounced. The rupee remains range-bound because the foreign exchange inflows are being absorbed by the RBI, which is itself accumulating those reserves and paring short forward position,” said Amit Pabari, managing director at CR Forex Advisors.

IT shares rally on Nvidia's earnings outlook

KISHOR KADAM
Mumbai, August 28

GLOBAL IT SHARES rallied on Friday, buoyed by strong earnings and an upbeat outlook from Nvidia. The Nifty IT index emerged as the top-performing sectoral gauge, surging 3.51%, marking its best single-day gain in two months. The market capitalisation of the top 10 IT companies soared by ₹85,026 crore. Among major IT stocks, TCS jumped 4.16%, while Infosys gained 2.99%. HCL Tech and Wipro rose 2.66% and 2.58%, respectively.

“IT sector outperformed after Nvidia's strong results and upbeat guidance reinforced optimism around sustained AI-related investments, which could benefit firms involved in enterprise AI deployment and workflow integration,” said Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Investments.

The Sensex gained 330.92 points, or 0.43%, to close at 77,624.51, while the Nifty rose 84.80 points, or 0.35%, to 24,175.65.

● Why is the new system struggling?

INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS ARE wary of routing large orders through the 20-minute window because trading remains shallow and prices can move sharply. But their reluctance to participate also prevents the auction from developing the depth needed for more stable price discovery. Turnover in the closing auction on the National Stock Exchange has averaged about ₹1,200 crore, a fraction of the volume that typically changed hands during the final 20 minutes of continuous trading under the previous system. Market players say India has adopted a mechanism common in the developed world, without yet having some of the supporting infrastructure. One constraint is the relatively shallow securities-lending market. That makes it harder for high-frequency and arbitrage firms to short stocks and provide two-way liquidity when prices diverge during the auction. Liquidity is further fragmented because the NSE and BSE conduct separate auctions.

● Why are traders confused?

TRADERS HAVE SPENT decades using the last 30 minutes of continuous trading as the reference point for the market close. The introduction of an auction means the market can appear to finish one way at 3:15 p.m. before the official closing price is determined 20 minutes later. The significant difference in closing levels surprised many, particularly because derivatives prices weren't necessarily reflecting the move in the cash market.

NEW MARKET MECHANISM

Why traders aren't happy with the closing auction session

The closing auction session at the bourses continues to produce unexpected swings nearly a month after its launch. On Thursday, the BSE Sensex briefly plunged about 3% during the auction, renewing concerns over thin liquidity & the potential for manipulation during the window, write Samie Modak & Savio Shetty

● Why cash & derivatives trading gap matters

THE NEW TIMETABLE has created another concern for traders. While cash stocks are effectively locked into the closing-auction process after continuous trading ends at 3:15 p.m., derivatives continue to trade until 3:40 p.m. That creates a period in which investors can respond to moves in futures and options but have limited ability to immediately hedge or arbitrage those positions using the underlying shares. That mismatch can impede arbitrage – one of the mechanisms that would ordinarily help keep prices in the cash and derivatives markets aligned.

● What triggered the Sebi probe last week?

THE SESSIONS HAVE produced unexpected price swings during the auction window. While the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) initially played down concerns about manipulation, it released a 46-page order on August 19 alleging manipulative trading by JPMorgan unit, Cophall Mauritius Investment and local firm Mansi Share and Stock Broking.

According to Sebi, the firms placed outsized orders in Sensex stocks during the closing auction, accounting for more than 90% of orders in some of the securities it identified. They later cancelled large portions of those orders, influencing indicative closing prices without fully executing the trades, the regulator said. Sebi then banned them from the market.

Aspokesperson for JPMorgan declined to comment, while Mansi Share didn't respond to an email request sent by Bloomberg.

● What's causing the price swings?

FOR STARTERS, LIQUIDITY during the auctions was thin as most institutional investors opted to stay out. With relatively few orders during the closing auction, even modest buy or sell interest can shift the equilibrium price disproportionately. And since the closing price is derived from the point where maximum sell and buy orders can be executed, those with outsized price quotes gain more influence.

● Why was CAS introduced?

CLOSING PRICES ARE critical benchmarks across financial markets, underpinning everything from index and exchange-traded funds to mutual funds, derivatives settlements and portfolio valuations. The move is intended to improve price discovery by concentrating liquidity at a single point rather than allowing the closing price to evolve through hundreds of trades over the final 30 minutes. The auction also makes it more difficult to influence benchmark prices near the close, aligning India's market structure with major exchanges, including the New York Stock Exchange, Nasdaq and London Stock Exchange – all of which use CAS. Sebi first proposed the idea in 2024 after major index-tracking passive funds asked for such a mechanism to minimise tracking errors.

● What is the impact so far?

THE IMMEDIATE IMPACT is greater uncertainty around the official closing price. Benchmark indexes, arbitrage funds, derivatives settlements and portfolios that are marked using the official close have all been affected by larger-than-expected deviations from pre-auction prices. The gap between the end of continuous trading and the published close has made it more difficult to hedge positions in real time. It has also prompted a rethink of how auction dynamics should be interpreted and incorporated into trading strategies.

Gen Z's NEET factor

The labour market situation for youth in the country indeed remains dismal

HERE IS NO doubt that India faces a serious challenge of dealing with joblessness especially among the youth. They remain restive due to the limited avenues for gainful employment. The latest official current weekly status estimate of unemployment for those between 15-29 years of age is almost three times higher at 15.9% than the overall rate of 5.4% in April-June 2026. However, there are questions whether the unemployment rate captures labour market distress as job seekers may get discouraged by the dearth of gainful employment and even opt out of the labour force. A less debated but far more powerful metric of idleness or labour under-utilisation is the share of youth not in employment, education, or training (NEET). The latest current weekly status estimate of NEET youth was as high as 29.7% in January-December 2025.

Unless career pathways are established, a substantial reserve army of NEET youth portends serious strains in the country's social fabric. The official think tank, Niti Aayog, put out a number of 87 million as the NEET cohort based on the data of the National Sample Survey 78th round collected during the Covid-19 pandemic in 2020-21. More recent estimates indicate much higher numbers of 92 to 99 million. Although it is true that this metric cannot be misinterpreted as constituting the unemployed or an addition to the youth unemployment rate, the NEET youth cohort does include the unemployed as also those who are not part of the labour force. The all-India NEET youth estimate of 29.7% is 6% unemployed plus 23.7% out of the labour force. This is a comprehensive measure of youth who have chosen not to participate in the labour market.

India's NEET youth vastly exceed what is observed in developed nations like the UK where 981,000 young people, who were not found in employment, education or training, have been described as a "lost generation". There are similarities as the NEETs in both nations are educated; 15% of this cohort in the UK, for instance, has degrees. Around 57.5% of the NEET cohort of 15-29 years of age in India has higher than secondary levels of education with a 23.8% share of graduates and postgraduates at an all-India level in 2025. The share of graduates and postgraduates is as high as 49% in the southern state of Tamil Nadu. However, 69.3% of youth have not received technical or vocational training. As the NEETs include the unemployed, clearly the policy challenge is to ensure their transition back to gainful employment.

If the restive youth take to the streets again to protest for better jobs, this would be an existential challenge for the ruling dispensation. Generating more employment for the largest cohort of Gen Z in the world is indeed a systemic imperative. Of course, this entails promoting employment-intensive growth, besides labour reform and incentivising India Inc to invest more to create jobs. As the NEET youth are "constrained by the absence of income and sunk cost of prior education", Niti Aayog rightly advocates provision of subsidised training options, alongside dedicated financial support where constraints are most binding. As the government's skill development initiatives have only modestly promoted employment opportunities, these can take off only with the greater involvement of Indian industry. Unless more job opportunities are opened up, the high levels of youth unemployment and NEETs will keep unrest on the boil.

Where is your happy place? Maybe it's Slovenia

WHAT IF THE secret to happiness was...low expectations?

Most residents of rich, Western countries have relatively high earnings, but many also feel they can't afford a reasonable lifestyle. Americans, for example, are getting richer but also more unhappy. Meanwhile Eastern Europeans, not generally known for their cheery disposition, are most satisfied with their comparatively lower income.

In 2018, research psychologists at Purdue and the University of Virginia compiled data from previous surveys to estimate how much income people needed to be happy. They found that, even after adjusting for purchasing power, people needed more money in richer countries. Recently the same data was adjusted for inflation and compared to average earnings in each country.

Residents of Eastern European countries tend to earn at least 70% of what they think they need to be happy, though it also does not take so much to feel satisfied. Slovenians are the most content with their earnings: Theirs is the only country included in the study where average annual earnings ($42,800) exceed the amount they think they need for a good life ($36,800). One of the few Western countries where people earn more than 70% of what they think they need to feel happy is Luxembourg. The countries where people are most stretched are New Zealand, the UK, and Australia, where earnings only cover about one third of what it costs to be happy.

Of course, happiness is subjective. But what comes through in this research is that the affordability crisis is not just an American phenomenon, nor can it be solved by more government spending. In Sweden, for example, affordability is at least as big an issue as it is in the US, and like in the US one of the main culprits is housing.

Many Western countries have building restrictions and rent controls that make buying housing more expensive.

The other problem, if I can call it that, may just be rising prosperity. As countries get richer, living standards increase — maybe faster than incomes do. It is worth noting that the countries that fall the most short on this "affordable happiness" scale tend to be in Latin America, which feature low levels of both desired and actual income. Again, the point is not that people in richer countries aren't happier — in general, they are — but that the gains from happiness don't keep up with rising income.

The original paper also finds diminishing happiness returns to income, and then actual negative returns: People become happier as they start to earn more, but at a certain point they start becoming less happy as their income rises. The explanation, the authors speculate, could be that once someone's basic needs are met, they become more focused on material goals and social comparisons. Even in Denmark — one of the happiest nations in the world, according to a separate (annual) survey with different methodology — average annual income covers only 66.8% of what people say they need to feel happy.

Capitalism may have made hundreds of millions of people rich and delivered more material wealth than the world has ever seen, but it also moved the goalposts. And market distortions that created shortages and increased prices over the last several years caused a cost-of-living crisis that still afflicts most rich countries.

One tempting conclusion from this research is that we'd all be happier with a simpler, less materialistic life. But this would be the wrong lesson. The desire for more also accelerates progress and contributes to rising living standards. Perhaps some Kiwis would be happier if they moved to Slovenia and experienced a lower cost-of-living on their New Zealand wages. But they might not be so happy if they suddenly got paid like Slovenians.

A better lesson is that it pays to remove the distortions to commerce and economic activity that drive up prices. Nearly all the richer countries where people aren't earning enough to be happy also face ageing populations and big debts, and growth in a lot of Europe is stagnant. That means things could soon get even more expensive — just as a lot of people are getting poorer.

POWER POINT

WITHDRAWING ADS AT THE FIRST HASHTAG HAS BECOME STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE. IT NEEDN'T BE

The business of being offended

INDIAN ADVERTISING HAS developed an annual ritual of its own, and it has nothing to do with festivals. A brand releases a campaign timed to one. Someone objects — to a hemline, a reinterpreted ritual, an interfaith reference, even a pet. The objection is amplified by a celebrity, a politician, or simply the algorithm, which figured out long ago that outrage travels faster than approval. Within a day or two the advertisement is gone, the brand has expressed regret, reaffirmed its respect for Indian culture, and hoped everyone will move on. Everyone usually does — until the next festival, when the cycle begins again with a different brand and an identical script.

The latest instance involves the jewellery brand GIVA and the actor Kriti Sanon. Its Raksha Bandhan film showed Sanon in an Indo-Western outfit — a bralette-style blouse, cape, and draped skirt — and, in one scene, tying a rakhi to a dog. Critics objected to both the clothes and the extension of the ritual to a pet. Kangana Ranaut called the film "intentionally creepy". GIVA withdrew it within days, explaining that it respected Indian traditions and had merely wanted to show pets as members of the family.

What stood out was that Sanon did not apologise. Her response on Instagram made the argument the brand might have been expected to make: that the substance of a festival lies in what it means to those celebrating it, not in what a woman wears; and that the scrutiny of women's clothing has gone on long enough. It was left to the hired ambassador, in other words, to defend an idea the company had commissioned, approved, and paid for. That inversion — the endorser standing firm while the principal retreats — tells us something about where conviction actually resides in the advertising business.

There is no shortage of precedent. Tanishq withdrew its "Ekatvam" film in 2020, which showed a Hindu woman's Muslim in-laws organising her baby shower, after threats to store employees; it later pulled an anti-firecracker Diwali film after another backlash. Manyavar was attacked over a campaign questioning kanyadaan, Dabur over a Karva Chauth film featuring a same-sex couple, FabIndia over an Urdu name for a Diwali collection, Sabyasachi over a mangalsutra campaign, Zomato over a reference to the Mahakal temple. In most cases the response was the same: withdraw, modify, regret.

The point is not that Indians are uniquely thin-skinned; every society has people ready to take offence at advertising. What is distinctive here is the predictability of the corporate response. Withdrawal, once an exceptional reaction to exceptional circumstances, now looks like standard operating procedure. And predictable capitulation has a way of guaranteeing repeat business: if a few thousand hashtags reliably bring a national brand to its knees within forty-eight hours, the incentive to manufacture the next round of outrage is obvious.

This should puzzle anyone who knows how advertising gets made. Campaigns of this kind pass through creative development, client approvals, legal vetting, consumer research, and expensive celebrity contracts. A jewellery brand that puts its ambassador in contemporary clothing for a festival film has not stumbled upon the styling by accident; presumably it believed the imagery would appeal to the customers it wanted to reach. Nor can it have been a surprise that someone, somewhere, would object. The puzzle is not that criticism arrived — that was entirely foreseeable. It is that the brand then behaved as though the possibility had never crossed its mind. It is worth recalling a counter-example. Ahead of Holi in 2019, Hindustan Unilever released Surf Excel's "Rang Laaye Sang", created by Lowe Lintas: a girl uses up her friends' supply of colour so that her Muslim friend can walk unstained to namaaz, promising to return and play Holi afterwards. It was a neat extension of the brand's long-running "dirt is good" positioning. The backlash was immediate — #BoycottSurfExcel trended, critics argued the film subordinated Holi to namaaz, and some called it anti-Hindu. HUL did not withdraw it, did not alter it, did not apologise. It explained the idea — Holi as togetherness, seen through children innocent of adult prejudice — and let the controversy run its course. Seven years on, the boycott calls are forgotten; the film is still cited as an example of purpose-led advertising. The episode established something useful: withdrawal and apology are not inevitable consequences of online outrage. They are corporate choices.

This doesn't mean courage always pays, or that every creative decision must

Seven streams of capital market reform

SUNIL SANGHAI

Founder & CEO, NovaaOne Capital Pvt. Ltd

AT FICCI'S CAPAM 2026 earlier this week, as policymakers, regulators, market participants, and professionals discussed the next phase of India's capital market journey, what struck me was how much the debate has changed. India is no longer discussing how to build a credible capital market. It already has one. The question now is how to make it more competitive, predictable and responsive to the needs of a rapidly changing economy.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's reference to saptadhara, or seven streams of national strength, provides an apt framework for envisioning our next phase of development. The capital market must be one of the engines that power these streams. If India wants to become a leading economy, it needs a capital market that is not just deep and well-regulated, but also among the easiest and most to raise and invest capital and restructure businesses.

Our foundations are strong: world-class market infrastructure, improved investor protection, robust disclosure standards, and serious regulatory oversight. This gives us the confidence to think about the next stage of reform.

I believe we can make a meaningful difference in seven areas.

First, the primary market should have the same spirit of flexibility that increasingly characterises the secondary market. I earlier wrote about this in the context of what was described as the world's largest IPO, the SpaceX offering. The important lesson was not simply the size of the transaction. It was the speed, flexibility, and efficiency with which an extraordinary transaction could move through the process. I am not suggesting every Indian IPO should be completed in 10 weeks. But we should ask a fundamental question: how do we ensure a good transaction takes only as long as is necessary to achieve the regulatory objective? Capital markets are dynamic. Flexibility is a component of efficiency, not a compromise. Regulation should protect investors and ensure integrity, but it shouldn't turn time into a regulatory cost.

Second, we should simplify IPO disclosure requirements. Indian firms prepare audited financial statements under a rigorous accounting and regulatory framework. In many cases, these should form the core of IPO disclosure, supplemented by targeted reconciliation and enhanced disclosure where necessary. Requiring a separate, fully restated historical financial set can lead to significant costs and delay without necessarily giving investors proportionately greater insight. The objective should be more information that matters, not more paperwork. Investors need clarity, comparability, and material information, not multiple versions of the same financial history.

Third, pre-IPO convertible securities deserve greater flexibility. For outstanding convertible instruments, conversion timing should be brought closer to the start of the book-building process, allowing investors to see price discovery before deciding whether to convert. At present, the structure can require conversion before investors have visibility on the price the market is actually willing to pay. Price discovery is at the heart of a capital market. Regulation should facilitate it rather than force investors to make decisions without the benefit of that information.

Fourth, we should rethink the trigger for open offers in creeping acquisitions. If a promoter is already in control of a listed company, does an acquisition of over 5% in a year need to trigger a full open offer process when there is no change in control? Open offers protect public shareholders when control changes hands. But where control is already established, the same process may not always be proportionate to the underlying risk. The answer is not to weaken investor protection. It is to ensure the regulatory response is aligned with the economic reality of the transaction.

Fifth, there is considerable scope to reduce duplication in corporate restructuring approvals. A listed company merger can be examined by the stock exchanges, reviewed by Sebi, considered by shareholders and creditors, and then subjected to approval before the NCLT. There is nothing wrong with rigorous scrutiny. The issue is whether different institutions are sometimes examining substantially the same questions at different stages. Where the substantive regulatory objective is already being addressed, processes should speak to one another rather than repeat. In capital markets, delay has a real economic cost. A restructuring that makes commercial sense today may lose value if market conditions change before the transaction is completed.

Sixth, India must make onboarding easier for global investors. Indian firms compete not only with other Indian companies but with those listed in Singapore, London, New York, and Dubai for global capital. An international investor is therefore asking two questions: Is India an attractive market? Is India an easy market to operate in?

That distinction matters. Greater acceptance of globally recognised digital signatures, documentation, and onboarding systems for FPIs can make a meaningful difference. This is not about lowering standards, but about removing avoidable friction while preserving compliance and investor protection.

Seventh, India has done well in creating a framework that has allowed real estate investment trusts (REITs) and infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs) to grow while maintaining regulatory discipline. The next step should be to bring newer infrastructure models within the InvIT framework wherever appropriate and consider whether REITs and InvITs should operate under a framework more closely aligned with equity markets, including the takeover framework.

These seven ideas are an argument for better regulation for a more mature market. India should continue to protect investors, and insist on market integrity, transparency, and accountability. But regulation should also give businesses and investors enough flexibility to respond to changing markets, new financial structures, and global competition.

The ambition should be clear. We should build one of the most competitive capital markets, where an Indian company can raise capital efficiently, a global investor can enter without unnecessary friction, an entrepreneur can structure a transaction intelligently, and a company can restructure without repetition.

How Germany’s big three split the entry-luxury pie

AUDI WILL SOON LAUNCH THE NEW Q3, AND A UNIQUE TREND IS EMERGING

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

WITH AUDI’S PREVIEW of the third-generation Q3 ahead of its festive season launch, the arrival of the stretched BMW X1 Long Wheel-base (LWB) this month, and Mer-

Audi Q3: Driver’s delight

WHILE ‘SHEER DRIVING Pleasure’ is BMW’s global slogan, it is Audi that appears to be focusing on this trait. The upcoming Q3, to be assembled in India, is expected to retain the proven 2.0-litre TFSI turbo-petrol engine (190 hp, 320 Nm) with minor modifications, but what makes it truly a driver’s car is the Quattro all-wheel drive, unlike the petrol variants of the GLA and X1 LWB that are front-wheel drive cars (the GLA diesel is all-wheel drive).

Having driven this powertrain, its strength lies in effortless acceleration — sprinting from 0-100 km/h in a rapid 7.3 seconds with precise steering feedback. While Audi has comprehensively changed the exterior (see photos) with a clean centre console and column-mounted gear selector, it keeps its enthusiast heart intact. Its target customer now is an affluent person who loves driving and appreciates punchy performance over rear-seat space. The current Q3 is priced ₹43.67 lakh, and the new one is expected to be equally competitive.

BMW X1 LWB: The lounge

IF INGOLSTADT IS playing the driver’s card well, Munich is correctly reading the pulse of the Indian customer. Recognising that most entry-luxury buyers loves the rear seat, BMW has stretched the X1’s wheelbase to 2,800 mm (up 108 mm), delivering rear legroom that rivals an X3.

But along with the customer, ‘Sheer Driving Pleasure’ has also taken the backseat. Its 1.5-litre petrol unit, while powerful (156 hp, and 0-100 km/h in 9.3 seconds), doesn’t have the punch of the Q3. Other driver-focused features such as paddle shifters, Sport mode, and all-wheel drive are also missing. But as an executive lounge, the X1 LWB, priced starting ₹49.9 lakh, is unmatched.

Mercedes GLA: The status

HAVING PHASED OUT the A-Class sedan and EQA, the GLA, priced ₹51.8 lakh onwards, is the gateway to Mercedes-Benz. It doesn’t have the massive rear knee stretch of the X1 LWB, but its cab-forward stance, turbine air vents, and MBUX digital screen give it undeniable cabin prestige. It is designed for style-conscious buyers who treat their car as a high-visibility urban statement.

The Motobahn verdict

The entry-luxury game is no longer about which German brand is building the ‘best’ compact SUV. BMW has a back-seat lounge, Mercedes-Benz crafted a luxury lifestyle apartment that will be upgraded soon, and Audi is keeping the driver’s car alive.

Sierra drove Tata sales, but at the cost of Curvv

ADDS 50,000 UNITS TO TATA’S VOLUMES; CURVV TANKS

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

EVEN SIX MONTHS after its launch, the novelty of the Tata Sierra hasn’t worn off. When we drove it through Delhi’s busy arterial roads recently, it turned heads, with people checking out its triple-screen dashboard and continuous rear-glass illusion.

It continues to appeal across generations — bringing back nostalgic memories for Gen X while capturing tech-focused Millennials and Gen Z with its lounge-like cabin, airy glass area, and 12-speaker JBL audio system.

But has this people-magnet also powered Tata Motors’ balance sheet?

The latest sales data shows it has, but with some cannibalisation. Between January and July 2026, Tata Motors sold 441,520 cars, a robust 42.7% growth over 309,488 cars it sold during the same seven-month period in 2025, and the Sierra was the largest contributor with 49,747 units, accounting for 37.7% of Tata’s total incremental expansion.

But a closer look reveals that this expansion wasn’t entirely additive, and that the Sierra appears to have taken a chunk of sales from the similarly-priced Curvv.

While the Punch (45,252 extra units in January-July 2026 over January-July 2025) and Nexon (35,545 extra units) continued their upward trajectory, and sales of the flagship Harrier more than doubled from 9,510 units to 21,256 units, the Curvv crashed from 20,632 units to 11,556 units. Buyers in the midsize crossover SUV segment preferred the Sierra’s spacious seating, massive 622-litre boot, and class-leading 2,730 mm wheelbase over the coupe-SUV styling of the Curvv.

Furthermore, until now, the Sierra has relied entirely on its petrol and diesel variants. On the road, the 1.5 Hyperion turbocharged petrol engine impresses with strong acceleration past 100 km/h, while the Kryojet turbo-diesel delivers solid top-end performance for long highway runs. Even then, supply-side bottlenecks kept the Sierra’s monthly dispatches capped in the 6,000-7,000 range, allowing its primary rival, the Kia Seltos, to stay ahead with steady 10,000-plus monthly dispatches.

But that dynamic can shift with the launch of the Sierra EV. Boasting a 75-kWh battery (also with a 63-kWh option), a dual-motor setup generating a monstrous 306 PS and 504 Nm of torque, and a real-world range of 450-500 km, Tata has entered a space where competitors like the Seltos have no direct electric counter.

Testing the EV on the Dwarka Expressway reveals sports-car-like acceleration — blistering through a claimed 0-100 km/h sprint in just 5.8 seconds. While its heavy battery setup shows up on speed breakers and sharp turns, and wind noise is noticeable at high speeds, its instant overtaking torque and tech-laden cabin give the Sierra serious firepower.

SALES CATALYST

- The Sierra has added 49,747 units to Tata’s sales since its launch, accounting for 37.7% of Tata’s incremental expansion in January-July 2026 over the same period a year ago
- High demand for the big and spacious Sierra directly hit dispatches of the coupe-SUV Curvv, causing a 44% sales slump of the latter
- But the Sierra faced production constraints and monthly volumes hovered at 7,000 units; the new 306 PS Sierra EV can drive growth

As supplier component bottlenecks ease ahead of the festive season and Sierra EV dispatches gather pace, the Sierra is not only expected to give Tata Motors a further sales boost, but can also close the gap on segment leaders such as the Seltos and Hyundai Creta.

(The Sierra EV is priced ₹18.79-26.48 lakh, and the Sierra ICE ₹11.49-21.29 lakh. The Curvv EV is priced ₹16.99-19.49 lakh, and the Curvv ICE ₹9.76-19.16 lakh.)

Your health plan’s co-pay kicks in if you switch to a metro hospital

INSURERS FACTOR IN THE PLACE OF RESIDENCE TO CALCULATE PREMIUMS

SAIKAT NEOGI

A HEALTH INSURANCE policy will permit treatment anywhere in the country but can have a specific co-pay if treatment is taken outside the selected zone. Therefore, before buying a policy, you should understand the geographical coverage and the circumstances under which a co-pay is triggered.

In a co-pay, the policyholder has to bear a specified percentage of the admissible claim, while the insurer covers the rest.

If the policy is registered at your place of residence in a lower-cost zone, a zone-based co-payment will be triggered if the treatment is taken in a higher-cost or metro zone. For example, if the clause mandates a 20% zonal co-pay and the total hospital bill comes to ₹15 lakh, you would have to pay ₹3 lakh, while the insurer will pay the rest.

Cost-sharing process

This arrangement ensures fair cost-sharing between the policyholder and the insurance company. The applicability of co-pay will depend on the specific plan selected, its terms and conditions, and whether the insurer has categorised treatment costs by city tiers.

Note that location-based co-pay is distinct from a voluntarily chosen co-pay. Under a voluntary co-payment, customers agree to bear a specified percentage of a claim, usually in return for a premium reduction.

MOVING CITIES

If the insured expects to regularly access healthcare in a higher-cost city, paying the applicable premium for that zone can provide greater predictability and reduce the possibility of a substantial co-payment at the time of hospitalisation.

“Someone who primarily lives in a lower-cost city and only occasionally travels to a metro for treatment may find a zone-based option more economical,” says Siddharth Singhal, head of health, Insurance, Policybazaar. A Policybazaar study shows average hospitalisation claim in Tier-1 cities is 44% higher than Tier-3 cities, highlighting the growing cost differential across the country’s healthcare ecosystem.

Typically, a 35-year-old residing in a Tier-1 city will have to pay nearly 25% more premium than someone in a Tier-3 city.

Update change in address

During the tenure of an active policy if the insured relocates to a metro or higher-tier city, it is prudent to inform the insurer. Under a zone-rated policy, a change in residence may affect the geographical classification or premium applicable to the policy. In such cases, an additional premium buffer may be charged to align the coverage with the higher cost of treatment in the new location.

Updating the address enables the insurer to communicate any applicable change in zoning, premium or claim conditions, says Amarnath Saxena, chief technical officer, Commercial, Bajaj General Insurance. “Timely disclosure can help policyholders understand any revised premium or cost-sharing requirement before a claim arises, while insurers can continue to provide robust protection that fits the customer’s needs.”

For senior citizens, a zonal co-pay will apply on top of the standard co-pay built into it if they live in a Tier-3 town but get treated in a Tier-1 city. Sarita Joshi, head, Health and Life Insurance, Probus, says depending on the insurer’s specific rules, these will either add up linearly or apply sequentially.

● YOUR QUERIES: LOANS

Have surplus funds? Then opt for home loan overdraft facility

● Is it beneficial to opt for a home loan overdraft account?

—Lalbabu Nishad

The home loan is sanctioned as an overdraft (OD) facility. With each passing month, the overdraft limit is reduced to the extent of the principal repayment in a regular home loan (which is essentially a term loan). The home loan as an overdraft facility works best for families that may have surplus funds for some time. For example, the salary may be parked in the overdraft account as soon as it comes in. You can make your bill payments and expenses from the overdraft account itself. By the end of the month, the interest payable on the overdraft facility loan is lower than the regular home loan interest, as the extra funds sitting in the account reduce the outstanding for those days, which results in lower interest for the month. Do note that the EMI has to be paid regularly in these OD facility home loans as well.

● What valuation does a bank consider for a loan against securities? Can I sell the mortgaged securities later to repay the loan?

—Rachit Goel

For loan against financial securities, the valuation is considered as on the day of sanction. For debt instruments the margin is lower while for equity based instruments, the margin is higher, considering the volatile nature of the valuations.

● For a gold loan, can I repay the principal and the interest as EMIs?

—Gunjeet Jaju

Both options are available for a gold loan: either repay as EMI or as a lumpsum in the end.

● I am a salaried employee. Can I take a business loan of around ₹1 crore and what are the documents required?

—Ram Prakash

More than the documents, for a business loan, the business proposal has to be prepared with the three-year expected business growth scenario. The lender may require collateral to sanction the loan.

● Do I have to pay extra interest to convert the outstanding credit card dues into EMI for one year?

—Rohan Chaudhary

No, there is no extra cost for the conversion.

● My NRI son wants to invest in a property in India. Will he be eligible to take a loan from an Indian bank and can I be a co-borrower?

—Deepak Ghangas

NRIs can avail a loan in India to purchase property here. As for the joint holder, the name has to appear in the purchase documents as the joint holder in the property as well.

NORWAY'S KING HARALD V DIES AT 89 YEARS

NORWAY'S KING HARALD, a reformer who emerged from the shadow of his well-loved, extrovert father over more than three decades on the throne, died on Friday at the age of 89, the royal palace said. "King Harald passed away peacefully at Oslo University Hospital on Friday," the royal palace said. Harald, who was Europe's oldest living monarch, was taken to hospital on August 17. He was being treated for a bacterial infection in his blood. After his death was announced, hundreds of people converged on the palace in Oslo to lay flowers and government declared nationwide mourning until after his funeral. Harald's 53-year-old son will become Norway's new king, Haakon VIII, and Haakon's 22-year-old daughter Ingrid Alexandra becomes crown princess.

Amazon to buy power from four Swedish farms

AMAZON HAS SIGNED long-term accords to buy electricity from four wind farms in Sweden to help meet power demand as the company expands capacity at its data centres in the Nordic nation. The deals add almost 200 MW of electricity, and once fully operational Amazon will have nearly 1 gigawatt of supply in Sweden, it said.

FDA's approval to Lilly's Mounjaro to reduce cardio risk

ELI LILLY SAID THAT the US FDA has approved its diabetes drug Mounjaro to reduce the chances of heart attack or stroke in adults with type 2 diabetes who are at high risk of cardiovascular events. The approval was based on results from a trial that showed Mounjaro outperformed Trulicity, Lilly's older diabetes drug, in reducing the risk of heart attack and stroke in a study.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS AREN'T RESTRICTIVE SAYS FED CHAIRMAN

'Inflation isn't slowing': Warsh vows to hit Fed's 2% target

ENDA CURRAN & MARIA ELOISA CAPURRO
Jackson Hole, August 28

FEDERAL RESERVE CHAIRMAN Kevin Warsh warned inflation isn't meaningfully slowing and said policymakers must be confident that it is, otherwise the central bank has "work to do."

In a sweeping speech, his first since becoming chairman of the central bank in May, Warsh reiterated that policymakers will return inflation to their 2% goal, which he said is a firm and fixed target.

"Here is my standard: We must be confident that underlying inflation is moving to our objective, clearly and at sufficient speed. Otherwise, we have work to do. That's our job," Warsh said in remarks prepared for the Fed's annual conference in Jackson Hole, Wyoming on Friday.

Warsh added that financial conditions are not currently restrictive and interest rates are the Fed's "predominant tool" for achieving its mandate, though he stopped short of signaling he would support an interest-rate hike when Fed officials gather in September. "I stand here today committed to a discipline, not to a decision," he said.

Yields for two-year Treasuries rose five basis points to 4.28%, while 30-year rates slipped — moves that signal an expectation that the Fed may need to raise short-term rates. The implied probability of a rate hike in September rose to above 45%, up from around 36% before the speech, based on federal funds futures.

Warsh went on to say that, with inflation running above 2%, the Fed's predominant focus was now on prices. And he made clear that recent data was not entirely encouraging.

Warsh's highly anticipated remarks came amid criticism

KEVIN WARSH,
FEDERAL RESERVE CHAIRMAN

We must be confident that underlying inflation is moving to our objective, clearly and at sufficient speed. Otherwise, we have work to do. That's our job of his pared-back communications strategy that economists and market participants said lacks clarity on the near-term outlook for the economy and monetary policy. His remarks appeared to address those concerns, going further than he has before in providing his views on the economy and the Fed's policy priorities under his leadership.

"Let's be equally clear about another aspect of the objective: Price stability is not self-executing, nor is inflation necessarily mean-reverting. It is the Fed's job to deliver stable prices," he said.

Venezuela weighs OPEC exit as US eyes oil stake

BEN BARTENSTEIN, MIE DAHL, FABIOLA ZERPA & MITCHELL FERMAN
August 28

VENEZUELA IS CONSIDERING whether it should quit OPEC, according to people familiar with the matter, potentially delivering a fresh blow to the oil cartel it helped create more than six decades ago. The idea of an exit has been a topic in conversations with US officials, and no final decision has been made, said some of the people, asking not to be identified discussing private information.

A decision to pull out of the Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) would underline the sweeping political realignment in Caracas since US President Donald Trump ousted the longtime leader Nicolás Maduro and took control of the nation's oil sales.

Washington's growing influence is also reflected in US talks with Venezuelan leaders to take a large stake in the nation's oil fields — a development that would have been unthinkable just two years ago.

Negotiators from both countries are discussing that proposal, according to sources who asked not to be identified because the discussions are private. Some of them said a possible arrangement that has been discussed is a 100-year-lease on several oil fields.

A White House spokesperson had no immediate comment on the possible OPEC move. The White House also declined to comment on the oil field negotiations, which were first reported by Arios. The Venezuelan Information Ministry didn't immediately comment.

Taking a stake in Venezuela's oil reserves would mark an almost unprecedented intervention by the US in another country's economy, but it's also in keeping with Trump's so-called Donroe Doctrine of extending American influence in the Western Hemisphere.

Nvidia adds $442 billion in mkt value

NVIDIA ADDED $442 BILLION to its market value on Thursday in the second-largest one-day gain by any stock in history.

Shares of the Santa Clara, California-based company jumped 8.7%, their biggest advance since April 2025, when the company was valued at less than half what it is now. The nearly half-a-trillion dollar gain trails only Microsoft's $450 billion surge less than a month ago, which followed a blowout results. Nvidia is the largest company in the world, with a valuation around $5.5 trillion.

Nvidia said that revenue will expand about 70% next fiscal year, well above expectations for growth of around 45%, an upside surprise that recalled the early days of the AI boom that cemented the firm as the central stock of the era.

the preceding quarter.

Revenue slipped 3.2% to 194.6 billion yuan, easing from a 12% fall in the first quarter and extending a run of quarterly declines for a fourth quarter. The contrast between profit growth and declining revenue reflected an improving sales mix, led by overseas markets. BYD said its gross profit margin rose to 18.85% in the first half from 18.01% a year earlier, attributing the increase mainly to growth in its overseas vehicle business.

BYD profit rises, but misses estimates

CHINESE ELECTRIC VEHICLE maker BYD on Friday posted its first quarterly profit rise in more than a year, helped by a surge in exports that offset weak domestic sales.

Even so, the rebound was weaker than expected, lagging forecasts from Morgan Stanley, UBS, Citi, Deutsche Bank and CMBI, whose estimates implied an average 48% increase in second-quarter profit against the 30% growth delivered year-on-year.

The world's largest EV maker by shipments has been at the forefront of Chinese automakers' overseas push, gaining market share across Europe and Southeast Asia, as it looks to reduce its reliance on an increasingly crowded home market.

Net profit rose to 8.2 billion yuan ($1.22 billion) in the second quarter, ending four straight quarters of declines and reversing a 55% drop in

MILANA VINN AND MANYA SAINI

PAYPAL SHARES FELL 13% in morning trading on Friday, after reports that a consortium of buyout firm Advent International and payment processor Stripe had abandoned plans to buy the fintech pioneer.

The group is no longer pursuing a deal for PayPal, a person familiar with the matter said, requesting anonymity to discuss confidential information.

The two had made a $60.50-per-share, or about $53 billion, offer for the payments company that was once seen as the crown jewel of American financial technology, Reuters reported in July, citing sources.

The offer was a fraction of the roughly $360 billion valuation PayPal commanded at the height of the pandemic-era boom in 2021. The company's board considered the initial offer inadequate, sources have said previously.

"The consortium and PayPal ultimately did not see eye-to-eye on the value of the business. Add to that the regulatory challenges that a transaction of this size would likely face, and it appears Stripe may have decided the juice wasn't worth the squeeze," said Troy Hooper, co-head of ECM US at Merger-market.

"Ultimately, valuation and regulatory complexity appear to have been the more important factors." —REUTERS

Luxury flies off...

CHEAP MONEY IS doing its bit too. With the repo rate down 100 basis points, home loans are affordable — which explains why three-fourths of homes today are bought on credit. Bank mortgage lending has grown 11% year-on-year every month since December 2025.

With price increases likely to be measured from here on, after the double-digit hikes of recent years, the buying momentum should continue. Viswa Prathap Desu, COO-Residential, Brigade Group, says demand remains resilient, particularly in the premium and luxury segments, where buyers are confident about long-term value creation. "We expect the strong sales trend to sustain, though with some moderation in select micro-markets," he said.

That sounds plausible in a city like Bengaluru, with its large cohort of high net worth individuals and well-paying IT and start-up jobs. In Kolkata, by contrast, demand has largely stagnated in the absence of growth momentum. Sushil Mohta, chairman, Merlin Group, and president, CREDAI West Bengal, believes that until the local economy picks up, sales in Kolkata may continue to hover around 15,000 units a year, with a third in the above-₹1 crore category.

Management commentary from listed developers suggests the buoyancy should sustain. Akash Gupta, analyst at Nomura, observed that after the Q1 results, none of the players changed their pre-sales growth guidance for the year, indicating demand remains on solid ground. "Nevertheless, the negative impact on demand due to the conflict in the Middle East getting stretched remains a key monitorable," he noted.

Launches, meanwhile, could stay skewed towards premium homes, which are economically more viable for developers. CareEdge data shows the share of sales in the ₹1.5-4 crore segment has swelled from 14% in Q1 2022 to 44% in Q1 2026. If affordable housing is to revive, says Hiranandani, stamp duties and other charges need to come down.

Chandra alleges, Reliance dismisses

THE EXCHANGE FOLLOWS a statement Chandra issued on Thursday, in which he said certain "vested media houses" were circulating incorrect information about his insolvency case and urged media platforms to report what he called the facts of the NCLT order.

At the heart of the dispute is the ₹22,000-crore figure. Chandra has contested reports that framed the proceedings as involving a personal debt of that size. According to his statement, the sum does not represent money he borrowed in his personal capacity; the claims against him as a personal guarantor, he said, stand at ₹3,992 crore.

Of that amount, a ₹620-crore claim has already been settled, while borrower entities have offered to pay a further ₹1,063 crore, he said. The companies for which he stood guarantor have repaid ₹43,000 crore to date, he added.

Chandra also accused media outlets of cherry-picking and sensationalising portions of the tribunal's order.

The row is the latest chapter in an increasingly public rivalry between the Zee group and Reliance. As recently as May, Zee sued Reliance and Disney over alleged copyright infringement relating to music; Reuters reported on May 6 that Zee had alleged its music was used without permission.

This confrontation, however, moves the dispute beyond commercial and intellectual-property matters

IIP growth eases to 6.7% in July as mining

IN JULY, MINING and quarrying sector output fell 0.9% year-on-year, reverting to contraction after registering a 1.6% growth in June. "Usually, July sees some seasonal softening in industrial activity, particularly mining with the onset of the monsoon season. Moreover, mining activity this year could have also been affected by continued impact of lingering geopolitical tensions weighing on overall industrial growth," HDFC Bank economists said in a note.

Manufacturing sector, which has the highest weightage in the new IIP series at 76%, grew 7.3% in July, slower than a 9.5% rise in June. <Within manufacturing, 15 of the 23 sub-sectors saw slower growth in output in July compared to the previous month. Electrical equipment and motor vehicles saw the highest growth in July within manufacturing of 28.3% and 22.2%, respectively.

"Auto sector has continued to see sustained momentum post-GST cuts, while strong exports market and investment-related demand continue to support electrical equipment and machinery," HDFC Bank said.

The high manufacturing growth corroborates well with the financial results of companies for April-June, which would have been extended in July too, said Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Bank of Baroda.

Growth in electricity and gas supply output eased to 8.7% in July from 11.3% in June, with non-renewable sources leading the rise with a 12.5% growth. Renewable electricity saw only a 3.2% growth in July, sharply lower than 7.3% in June.

Water supply, sewerage, and waste management—the newest addition to IIP—was the only sector where growth rose into a direct allegation about the use of media influence. Chandra has explicitly tied the reporting on his insolvency case to Reliance-controlled media entities, while Reliance has categorically denied deploying its media brands against individuals.

The clash also plays out against the backdrop of a changing Indian media landscape, in which large corporate groups have steadily built or acquired substantial television, digital and news-media businesses.

Indian student arrivals in US plunge...

THE TIMING IS crucial because the Fall 2026 admission cycle has already ended, with top-tier US colleges closing their admission process around April and lower-rung colleges continuing until June.

The proposed fee for OPT could have a direct bearing on students taking expensive postgraduate courses, many of whom factor in post-study employment into their calculation of the return on a US degree. A substantial charge could materially alter that calculation, particularly for students financing their education through loans.

Additionally, from September 15, students holding F-1 visas will also move from the existing "duration of status (D/S)" system to a fixed admission period. Instead of being admitted for D/S, students will receive a specific end date, with those needing to remain beyond that period potentially required to seek an extension of stay.

This change introduces another layer of uncertainty into the period after graduation. While transition arrangements are available for eligible students, the additional immigration procedures could make the path from graduation to employment less predictable.

Though Gupta does not expect an immediate collapse in enrolment. "Although I do not expect drastic changes in enrolment figures in the near term, students will most probably start reconsidering their options in future admissions and explore alternatives like the UK, Canada, and Australia. The cumulative effect could be felt in 2027 when students start making their research and applications about a year in advance," she said.

For US universities, a prolonged fall in Indian student numbers could start hurting enrolment. It also comes as the US faces growing competition from countries where post-study work rules are seen as more predictable.

Prior to the Issue Opening Date i.e. September 02, 2026, our Company shall credit the Rights Entitlements to (i) the demat accounts of the Eligible Equity Shareholders holding the Equity Shares in dematerialised form; and (ii) a demat suspense escrow account opened by our Company, for the Eligible Equity Shareholders which would comprise Rights Entitlements relating to (a) Equity Shares held in a demat suspense account pursuant to Regulation 39 of the SEBI Listing Regulations; or (b) Equity Shares held in the account of IEPF authority; or (c) the demat accounts of the Eligible Equity Shareholder which are frozen or details of which are unavailable with our Company or with the Registrar on the Record Date August 26, 2026; or (d) Equity Shares held by Eligible Equity Shareholders holding Equity Shares in physical form as on Record Date August 26, 2026 where details of demat accounts are not provided by Eligible Equity Shareholders to our Company or Registrar; or (e) credit of the Rights Entitlements returned/ reversed/ failed; or (f) the ownership of the Equity Shares currently under dispute, including any court proceedings. Eligible Equity Shareholders are requested to provide relevant details (such as copies of self-attested PAN and client master sheet of demat account etc., details/ records confirming the legal and beneficial ownership of their respective Equity Shares) to the Company or the Registrar not later than two working days prior to the Issue Closing Date to enable the credit of their Rights Entitlements by way of transfer from the demat suspense escrow account to their demat account at least one day before the Issue Closing Date, to enable such Eligible Equity Shareholders to make an application in this Issue, and this communication shall serve as an intimation to such Eligible Equity Shareholders in this regard. Such Eligible Equity Shareholders are also requested to ensure that their demat account, details of which have been provided to the Company or the Registrar account is active to facilitate the aforementioned transfer.

PROCEDURE FOR APPLICATION - In accordance with Regulation 76 of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, SEBI Rights Issue Circulars and ASBA Circulars, all investors desiring to make an application in this issue are mandatorily required to use the ASBA process. Investors should carefully read the provisions applicable to such applications before making their application through ASBA. For details of procedure for application by the resident eligible shareholders holding equity shares in physical form as on record date.

Procedure for Application through the ASBA process: Investors desiring to make an Application in this Issue through ASBA process, may submit the Application Form to the Designated Branch of the SCSB or online/electronic Application through the website of the SCSBs (if made available by such SCSB) for authorising such SCSB to block Application Money payable on the Application in their respective ASBA Accounts. Investors should ensure that they have correctly submitted the Application Form, or have otherwise provided an authorisation to the SCSB, via the electronic mode, for blocking funds in the ASBA Account equivalent to the Application Money mentioned in the Application Form, as the case may be, at the time of submission of the Application. For the list of banks which have been notified by SEBI to act as SCSBs for the ASBA process, please refer to <https://www.sebi.gov.in/sebiweb/other/OtherAction.do?doRecognisedFpi=yes&intMid=34> For details on Designated Branches of SCSBs collecting the Application Form, please refer the above-mentioned link.

Application by eligible equity shareholders holding equity shares in physical form
Please note that in accordance with Regulation 77A of the SEBI ICDR Regulations read with the SEBI Rights Issue Circulars, the credit of Rights Entitlements and Allotment of Equity Shares shall be made in dematerialised form only. Accordingly, Eligible Equity Shareholders holding Equity Shares in physical form as on Record Date and desirous of subscribing to Equity Shares in this Issue are advised to furnish the details of their demat account to the Registrar or our Company at least two Working Days prior to the Issue Closing Date, to enable the credit of their Rights Entitlements in their respective demat accounts at least one day before the Issue Closing Date.

PLEASE NOTE THAT THE ELIGIBLE EQUITY SHAREHOLDERS WHO HOLD EQUITY SHARES IN PHYSICAL FORM AS ON RECORD DATE AND WHO HAVE NOT FURNISHED THE DETAILS OF THEIR RESPECTIVE DEMAT ACCOUNTS TO THE REGISTRAR OR OUR COMPANY PRIOR TO THE ISSUE CLOSING DATE SHALL NOT BE ELIGIBLE TO MAKE AN APPLICATION FOR RIGHTS EQUITY SHARES AGAINST THEIR RIGHTS ENTITLEMENTS WITH RESPECT TO THE EQUITY SHARES HELD IN PHYSICAL FORM.

Allotment of Rights Equity Shares in Dematerialised Form: Please note that the Rights Equity Shares applied for in this Issue can be allotted only in dematerialised form and to the same demat account in which the equity shares are held by such investors on the Record Date i.e. August 26, 2026

Dispatch of the Letter of Offer (LOF) and Application: The dispatch of the LOF and the Application Form was completed on August 28, 2026, by the Registrar for the Issue.

Credit of Rights Entitlements in Demat Accounts of Eligible Equity Shareholders:
In accordance with Regulation 77A of the SEBI ICDR Regulations read with the SEBI Rights Issue Circulars, the credit of Rights Entitlements and Allotment of Equity Shares shall be made in dematerialised form only. Prior to the Issue Opening Date, the Rights Entitlements shall be credited in (i) a demat suspense escrow account opened by our Company, for the Eligible Equity Shareholders holding the Equity Shares in dematerialised form, or (ii) a demat suspense escrow account pursuant to Regulation 40 of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, which would comprise Rights Entitlements relating to (a) Equity Shares held in demat suspense account pursuant to Regulation 39 of the SEBI ICDR Regulations; or (b) Equity Shares held in the account of any authority or (c) the demat account of the Eligible Equity Shareholder which are frozen or details of which are unavailable with our Company or with the Registrar on the Record Date, or (d) Equity Shares held by the Eligible Equity Shareholders holding Equity Shares in physical form as on the Record Date where details of demat accounts are not provided by an Eligible Equity Shareholder to our Company or Registrar; or (e) credit of the Rights Entitlements returned/refunded/lapsed, or (f) the ownership of the Equity Shares under dispute, including any legal proceedings, as applicable or of ineligible equity shareholders in the United States.

Application on Plain Paper under ASBA:
An Equity Shareholder in India who is eligible to apply under the ASBA process may make an application to subscribe to this Issue on plain paper in case of non-receipt of Application Form as detailed above. In such cases of non-receipt of the Application Form through e-mail and the Eligible Equity Shareholder not being in a position to obtain it from any other source may make an application to subscribe to this Issue on plain paper with the same details as per the Application Form that is available on the website of the Registrar to the Issue and Stock Exchanges. An Eligible Equity Shareholder shall submit the plain paper Application to the Designated Branch of the SCSB for authorizing such SCSB to block Application Money in the said bank account maintained with the same SCSB.

Applications on plain paper will not be accepted from any Eligible Equity Shareholder who has not provided an Indian address or is a U.S. Person or in the United States. Please note that the Eligible Equity Shareholders who are making the Application on plain paper shall not be entitled to renounce their Rights Entitlements and should not utilize the Application Form for any purpose including renunciation even if it received subsequently.

If I/we understand the Rights Equity Shares referred to in this application are being offered in India but not in the United States."

"If I/we understand the offering to which this application relates is not, and under no circumstances is to be construed as, an offering of any Rights Equity Shares or Rights Entitlement for sale in the United States, or as a solicitation therein of an offer to buy any of the said Rights Equity Shares or Rights Entitlement in the United States. Accordingly, If I/we understand this application should not be forwarded to or transmitted in or to the United States at any time. If I/we confirm that I/we are not in the United States and understand that neither us, nor the Registrar or any other person acting on behalf of us will accept subscriptions from any person, or the agent of any person, who appears to be, or who we, the Registrar or any other person acting on behalf of us have reason to believe is a resident of the United States "U.S. Person" (as defined in Regulation S) or is ineligible to participate in the Issue under the securities laws of their jurisdiction."

"If I/we will not offer, sell or otherwise transfer any of the Equity Shares which may be acquired by us in any jurisdiction or under any circumstances in which such offer or sale is not authorized or to any person to whom it is unlawful to make such offer, sale or invitation except under circumstances that will result in compliance with any applicable laws or regulations. We satisfy, and each account for which we are acting satisfies, all suitability standards for investors in investments of the type subscribed for herein imposed by the jurisdiction of our residence."

"I/We understand and agree that the Rights Entitlement and Rights Equity Shares may not be re-offered, re-sold, pledged or otherwise transferred except in an offshore transaction in compliance with Regulation S, or otherwise pursuant to an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the registration requirements of the US Securities Act."

"I/We (i) am/are, and the person, if any, for whose account I/we am/are acquiring such Rights Entitlement, and/or the Equity Shares, is/are outside the United States or a Qualified Institutional Buyer (as defined in the US Securities Act), and (ii) is/are acquiring the Rights Entitlement and/or the Equity Shares in an offshore transaction meeting the requirements of Regulations or in a transaction exempt from, or not subject to, the registration requirements of the US Securities Act."

"I/We acknowledge that the Company, their affiliates and others will rely upon the truth and accuracy of the foregoing representations and agreements."

In cases where Multiple Application Forms are submitted for Applications pertaining to Rights Entitlements credited to the same demat account or in demat suspense escrow account, as applicable, including cases where an Investor submits Application Forms along with a plain paper Application, such Applications shall be liable to be rejected. Investors are requested to strictly adhere to these instructions. Failure to do so could result in an application being rejected, with our Company and the Registrar not having any liability to the Investors. The plain paper Application form at will be available on the website of the Registrar to the Issue at <https://in.mpms.mufg.com>

Our Company and the Registrar to the Issue shall not be responsible if the Applications are not uploaded by the SCSB or funds are not blocked in the Shareholder's Accounts on or before the Issue Closing Date.

Last date for Application: The last date for submission of the duly filled Application Form or a plain paper Application is, September 09, 2026, i.e., Issue Closing Date. Our Board or any committee thereof reserves the right to extend the Issue period as it may determine from time to time, subject to the Issue Period not exceeding 30 days from the Issue Opening Date (inclusive of the Issue Closing Date).

If the Application Form is not submitted with a SCSB or notification of the Stock Exchange or the Application Money is not blocked with the SCSB on or before the Issue Closing Date or such date as may be determined by our board or any committee thereof, the intention to offer consideration in the form of office shall be deemed to have been denied and our Board or any committee thereof shall be at liberty to dispose of the Rights Equity Share hereby offered, as provided in the section, "Terms of the Issue," on page 120.

Procedure for Renunciation: The Eligible Equity Shareholders may renounce the Rights Entitlements, credited to their respective demat accounts, either in full or in part (a) by using the secondary market platform of the Stock Exchanges (the "On Market Renunciation"); or (b) through an off-market transfer (the "Off Market Renunciation"), during the Renunciation Period. The Shareholders should have the demat Rights Entitlements credited/ lying in his/ her own demat account prior to the renunciation. The trades through On Market Renunciation and Off Market Renunciation will be settled by transferring the Rights Entitlements through the depository mechanism. Shareholders may be subject to adverse foreign, state or local tax or legal consequences as a result of trading in the Rights Entitlements. Shareholders who intend to trade in the Rights Entitlements should consult their tax advisor or stock-broker regarding any cost, applicable taxes, charges and expenses (including brokerage) that may be levied for trading in Rights Entitlements.

Please note that the Rights Entitlements which are neither renounced nor subscribed by the Shareholders on or before the Issue Closing Date shall lapse and shall be extinguished after the Issue Closing Date.

a. On Market Renunciation
The Eligible Equity Shareholders may renounce the Rights Entitlements, credited to their respective demat accounts by trading/ selling them on the secondary market platform of the Stock Exchanges through a registered stock-broker in the same manner as the existing Equity Shares of our Company.

In this regard, in terms of provisions of the SEBI ICDR Regulations and the SEBI Rights Issue Circulars, the Rights Entitlements credited to the respective demat accounts of the Eligible Equity Shareholders shall be admitted for trading on the Stock Exchanges under RE-ISIN INE05CZ20011 subject to requisite approvals. Prior to the Issue Opening Date, September 02, 2026 our Company will obtain the approval from the Stock Exchanges for trading of Rights Entitlements. No assurance can be given regarding the active or sustained On Market Renunciation or the price at which the Rights Entitlements will trade. The details for trading in Rights Entitlements will be as specified by the Stock Exchanges from time to time.

The Rights Entitlements are tradable in dematerialised form only. The market lot for trading of Rights Entitlements is 1 (One) Equity Share. To clarify further, fractional entitlements are not eligible for trading.

The On Market Renunciation shall take place only during the Renunciation Period for On Market Renunciation, i.e., from September 02, 2026 to September 03, 2026 (both days inclusive).

The Shareholders holding the Rights Entitlements who desire to sell their Rights Entitlements will have to do so through their Registered Stock-Brokers by quoting the RE-ISIN INE05CZ20011 and indicating the details of the Rights Entitlements they intend to trade. The Shareholders can place order for sale of Rights Entitlements only to the extent of Rights Entitlements available in their demat account.

The On Market Renunciation shall take place electronically on secondary market platform of BSE Limited and National Stock Exchange of India Limited under automatic order matching mechanism and on T+1 rolling settlement basis, where 'T' refers to the date of trading. The transactions will be settled on trade-for-trade basis. Upon execution of the order, the stock-brokers will issue a contract note in accordance with the requirements of the Stock Exchanges and the SEBI.

b. Off Market Renunciation
The Eligible Equity Shareholders may renounce the Rights Entitlements, credited to their respective demat accounts by way of an off-market transfer through a Depository Participant. The Rights Entitlements can be transferred in dematerialised form only. Eligible Equity Shareholders are requested to ensure that renunciation through off-market transfer is completed in such a manner that the Rights Entitlements are credited to the demat account of the Renouncee(s) on or prior to the Issue Closing Date i.e. September 09, 2026 to enable Renouncee(s) to subscribe to the Equity Shares in the Issue.

The Shareholders holding the Rights Entitlements who desire to transfer their Rights Entitlements will have to do so through their Depository Participant by issuing a delivery instruction slip quoting the RE-ISIN INE05CZ20011, the details of the buyer and the details of the Rights Entitlements they intend to transfer. The buyer of the Rights Entitlements (unless already having given a standing receipt instruction) has to issue a receipt instruction slip to their depository participant. The Shareholders can transfer Rights Entitlements only to the extent of Rights Entitlements available in their demat account.

The instructions for transfer of Rights Entitlements can be issued during the working hours of the depository participants. The detailed rules for transfer of Rights Entitlements through off-market transfer shall be as specified by the NSDL and CDSL from time to time

Please note that the Rights Entitlements which are neither renounced nor subscribed by the investors on or before the Issue Closing Date shall lapse and shall be extinguished after the Issue Closing Date.

Listing and Trading of the Equity Shares to be Issued Pursuant to this Issue: Subject to receipt of the listing and trading approvals, the Equity Shares proposed to be issued on a rights basis shall be listed and admitted for trading on the Stock Exchanges. Unless otherwise permitted by the SEBI ICDR Regulations, the Equity Shares allotted pursuant to this Issue will be listed as soon as practicable and all steps for completion of necessary formalities for listing and commencement of trading in the Equity Shares will be taken within such period prescribed under the SEBI ICDR Regulations. Our Company has received in-principle approvals from BSE and NSE through letters bearing reference number LOD/RIGHT/AM/FIP/522/2026-27 and NSE/LIST/55752 respectively, vide dated July 16, 2026. Our Company will apply to the Stock Exchanges for final approval for the listing and trading of the Equity Shares subsequent to their Allotment. No assurance can be given regarding the active or sustained trading in the Equity Shares or the price at which the Equity Shares offered under this Issue will trade after the listing thereof.

The existing Equity Shares are listed and traded on BSE (Scrip Code: 543978) and NSE (Symbol: RATNAVEER) under the ISIN: INE05CZ01011. The Equity Shares shall be credited to a temporary ISIN which will be frozen until the receipt of the final listing/ trading approvals from the Stock Exchanges. Upon receipt of such listing and trading approvals, the Equity Shares shall be debited from such temporary ISIN and credited to the new ISIN for the Equity Shares and thereafter be available for trading and the temporary ISIN shall be permanently deactivated in the depository system of CDSL and NSDL.

400 INDIANS ON CHINESE SIDE SAFE, SAYS MEA SPOKESPERSON

Nepal toll climbs to 579; MEA says 320 Indians still missing

SHUBHAJIT ROY, DIVYAA & YUBARAJ GHIMIRE
New Delhi/Kathmandu, August 28

TWO DAYS AFTER the deadly flash floods that swept through several districts of Nepal, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) on Friday said at least 320 Indians — up from 290 on Thursday — and over 100 people of Indian origin remained missing.

The total toll increased to 579 on Friday, with more bodies being recovered as search and rescue operations continued with caution due to fear of fresh floods following an increase in the water level in the Bhotekoshi River area. Hundreds are still reported to be missing.

MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said about 400 Indian nationals who were stranded on the Chinese side of the Sino-Nepal border were reported to be safe. These are pilgrims for the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra. He said 96 such Indians had crossed into Nepal.

Jaiswal said India was sending a third flight with about 12-13 tonne of relief material. Since Wednesday night, India has sent a total of 47.5 tonne of emergency supplies to Nepal in two military transport aircraft.

"You are aware of the humanitarian assistance rendered by India so far to Nepal in the wake of the recent tragedy. More assistance is in the pipeline. Two aircraft with relief material have left, and a third tranche of relief material is expected to leave this evening," the MEA spokesperson said.

"As requested by Nepal, we are preparing to send a tunnel rescue team, for which a rescue team is being flown in first to assess the equipment required etc. A medical team is also being sent. In addition, we have also offered Bailey bridges along with their associated technical teams so that connectivity can be restored quickly in the affected parts of Nepal. One Bailey bridge is already in Nepal and can be deployed for relief efforts," he said.

"We have also made a specific offer to Nepal authorities to dispatch NDRF (National Disaster Response Force) teams along with their associated equipment that can help in ongoing search and rescue operations and bring relief assistance to people impacted by the tragedy. We await a response from the Government of Nepal on this front," he said. "We stand ready to offer any other assistance that the Nepal authorities might

Nation's sole billionaire puts cost of rebuilding at $5 bn

EFFORTS TO REBUILD Nepal's infrastructure after a devastating flash flood this week could cost at least $5 billion, according to the country's only billionaire. "I wouldn't be surprised" if the eventual costs climb to that level, Binod Chaudhary, chairman at Chaudhary Group, told Bloomberg. That equals around 11% of the country's economy, which measured $45.5 billion last year. "It is not only the money, but the amount of time it takes and the difficult geography," Chaudhary said.

The Chaudhary Group spans 12 business verticals, from food and telecom to infrastructure and banking.

"It is a huge issue in front of us," he said of the rehabilitation process and also getting the economy going again.

The flash flood tore through Nepal's mountainous border region with China on August 26, engulfing villages and washing away roads and bridges. Early investigations suggest melting glaciers may have triggered the disaster. "We have been seeing complete disruption," Chaudhary said, noting that power stations damaged were also damaged.

The Chaudhary Group is working with the government, local partners and the army, and has set up rehabilitation centers for displaced people within the next two days. BLOOMBERG

Country denies refusing foreign assistance

NEPAL ON FRIDAY denied refusing assistance from friendly countries and the international community, saying it wants to "prioritise" maximum deployment of its own security forces, which are familiar with local environmental conditions and rugged terrain.

Nepal is carrying out rescue and relief operations at an immense level, after a massive flash flood swept through Rasuwa and other parts of central Nepal on Wednesday, killing hundreds and causing widespread damage to settlements, roads, bridges and hydropower infrastructure. PTI

A first for India: Pragg wins Grand Chess Tour title

GRANDMASTER R PRAGGNANANDHAA became the first Indian to clinch the Grand Chess Tour title, beating Fabiano Caruana of the USA with a stunning comeback win in the grand finale in US.

Praggnanandhaa made a remarkable turnaround on Thursday after trailing Caruana by six points at the start of the day at the Saint Louis Chess Club.

The 21-year-old Chennai-lad eventually prevailed 15-13 to win his maiden GCT title and pocket $200,000 as the winning purse.

The title win also guaranteed Praggnanandhaa a spot in the next year's Grand Chess Tour along with Caruana, and another American Wesley So, who defeated Vincent Keymer of Germany 18-12 to take the third place.

"Honestly, I didn't think I had many chances today," Praggnanandhaa told Chess.com. "It's not every day that you can get one win from Fabi, but to get two, it was important in the rapid." PTI

TERO's 3x3 hoop dream: grassroots first, biz later

ANKIT PATTNAIK
New Delhi, August 28

THAILAND-BASED MEDIA AND entertainment firm TERO Entertainment is betting on the fast-paced 3x3 basketball format to tap India's youth market — and its ambition goes beyond launching yet another commercial sports league.

Endorsed by FIBA, the international basketball federation, TERO sees India as its next big growth market. The larger objective: create more opportunities for young players to compete, earn international rankings and, eventually, build a pathway to the Olympics.

"We are very ambitious. Our ambition is to make this event the road to the Olympics — to take India to the Olympics," said Founder and MD Brian L Macrar.

The company's immediate focus is grassroots development. Merely creating a domestic league, TERO argues, will not make India competitive; players need international exposure.

"If it is only Indian versus Indian, it will never be able to drive that," said Chandrakant Singh, managing director and CEO, TERO India.

"This is where TERO differs from a conventional franchise-led sports business. Our immediate focus is not on team valuations or celebrity appeal, but on developing players and building a competitive ecosystem."

IN NUMBERS

170 eligible national federations

Born of streetball, 3x3 is played on a half-court with one hoop and three players a side, each team permitted one substitution. Games last just 10 minutes or end when a team reaches 21 points, and a 10-second shot clock makes the format faster and more intense than traditional basketball. Now the world's top urban team sport, 3x3 is a full Olympic discipline.

TERO believes the combination of speed, simplicity and minimal infrastructure makes the format tailor-made for India's urban youth.

"You cannot waste time," said Macrar, pointing to the premium the game places on quick passing, decision-making, stamina and creativity. The format can also be staged outside conventional venues — in schools, streets and malls. TERO is already in talks with a Delhi school of nearly 10,000 students for a potential collaboration.

The short, sharp games are made for Instagram and YouTube, and with a maximum playing time of 10 minutes, several matches can be packed into a single event window.

The company envisages a festival-like experience around tournaments — music, DJs, food and giant screens — blending sport with entertainment. That gives sponsors a different proposition: rather than simply placing a logo on a jersey, brands can buy into an entertainment property built around a young audience.

PEYMAN KARGAR, CEO DESIGNATE, TVS MOTOR COMPANY

Ready for the next race

KARGAR WILL TAKE CHARGE AT A TIME WHEN TVS IS WORKING TO POSITION ITSELF AS A PREMIUM, TECHNOLOGY-DRIVEN GLOBAL MOBILITY BRAND

AKBAR MERCHANT

AT 59, PEYMAN KARGAR, who takes over as CEO of TVS Motor Company in January 2027, is staring at a significant opportunity. TVS Motor has scale, a growing premium portfolio, an expanding EV business and an increasingly international operation. Its progress in recent years has given Kargar, who is currently the president of International Business, a strong platform. But it has also raised expectations for the next phase.

His challenge would be to bring these different pieces together and ensure that growth across product categories translates into a stronger and more profitable global business. At the same time, he will have to protect the revenue and profitability momentum built under current CEO KN Radhakrishnan.

Kargar's more than three decades of automotive experience across some of the world's most diverse and competitive markets will come in handy. His career has spanned commercial, industrial, engineering and business development responsibilities across markets in Africa, West Asia and South America. He has previously held senior positions at Renault and Nissan, including as CEO of Datsun and Chairman of Nissan's Africa, Middle East and India region.

The leadership transition comes after a strong FY26. TVS Motor sold 5.9 million vehicles globally and reported revenue of ₹4,270 crore, up 30%. The operating profit before tax rose 40% to ₹4,975 crore, while operating Ebitda margin improved to 12.9%. The company is also steadily closing the gap with Hero MotoCorp in domestic and export volumes.

For Kargar, the immediate challenge will be to sustain this momentum while driving premiumisation, push for aspirational products, technology and stronger margins.

TVS Motor is on a strong wicket with the Apache motorcycle range and the new NTORQ 150 scooter. Apache has helped establish a strong presence in the premium motorcycle segment, while the NTORQ 150 has taken the scooter brand towards a more performance-oriented positioning.

Electric mobility will be another major priority for Kargar. The electric two-wheeler market is becoming increasingly competitive, with established manufacturers as well as new EV players competing for customers.

TVS sold 371,000 electric two-wheelers in FY26, an increase of 33%. The company has also built a network of more than 1,000 EV dealers and around 5,000 public charging points.

The iQube remains the mainstay of the electric portfolio, while the Orbiter and battery-as-a-service model are helping TVS address a wide range of customers.

A larger challenge, however, would be global expansion. The company has a significant presence across Africa, South America, Indonesia and other markets, while international operations have become an increasingly important contributor to overall volumes.

International business currently accounts for 29% of TVS Motor's total sales volume and grew 33% under Kargar. International sales reached a record 1.58 million units in FY26.

Kargar will be expected to take this to the next level. The company has already crossed one million units of cumulative production in Indonesia and has strengthened its presence in Europe, Africa, South America and other international markets. The next phase will require deeper penetration in these markets, stronger brands and greater recognition for TVS Motor as a global mobility company.

Kargar will also inherit Norton, one of the most ambitious elements of TVS Motor's premium strategy.

More than £250 million has been invested in reviving the British motorcycle marque, including spending on new products, engineering capabilities and manufacturing infrastructure in the UK. Four new Norton models are planned for international markets, with some expected to be rolled out in India as well.

For TVS, Norton represents a test of the company's ability to build a genuinely global premium motorcycle brand while retaining its British identity and heritage. It could also give TVS a premium global identity that complements its existing portfolio.

In short, Kargar has his task cut out. But he has cut his teeth in markets where growth depends on a combination of local understanding, operational excellence, brand building and the ability to juggle a portfolio across regions.

Those skills will likely be tested on a much larger canvas.
