AS SURPLUS TOPS ₹10 LAKH CR

RBI mops up ₹6L cr via VRRRs

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, September 4

THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI) sucked out ₹6.02 lakh crore from the banking system through variable-rate reverse repo (VRRR) auctions on Friday. It stepped up its liquidity absorption operations as surplus funds hit a fresh high and overnight rates remained well below the policy rate.

Banking-system liquidity stood at an all-time-high surplus of ₹10.3 lakh crore as of Thursday, setting a record for the second straight day. The surplus has averaged ₹7.05 lakh crore over the past week, nearly double the ₹3.67 lakh crore average in August and more than six times the ₹1.07 lakh crore recorded in July, RBI data showed.

Faced with the liquidity deluge, the central bank has sharply increased its absorption operations. On Friday, it conducted two three-day VRRR auctions with notified amounts of ₹7 lakh crore and ₹1.5 lakh crore, attracting bids worth ₹5.4 lakh crore and ₹60,419 crore, respectively. The auction was conducted at a cut-off rate of 5.24%.

Over the week, the RBI conducted overnight and term VRRR auctions with a combined notified amount of ₹41 lakh crore. It will conduct a 30-day VRRR of ₹7 lakh crore on Monday, the RBI said in a release on Friday.

"The liquidity surplus is likely to touch ₹12 lakh crore before easing once tax outflows kick in. The RBI will mostly manage this through VRRRs as of now. Banks typically prefer overnight auctions since they

The sheer scale of the surplus, however, is making it increasingly difficult for the RBI to keep overnight rates anchored to its policy rate.

The weighted average call rate (WACR), the RBI's operating target for monetary policy, eased to 4.94% on Friday from 4.95% in the previous session, remaining significantly below the 5.25% repo rate. Collateralised overnight rates have fallen even further, into the 4-4.5% range.

Flipkart Minutes rides on mobiles to leave Blinkit behind on order value

FE BUREAU
Bengaluru, September 4

FLIPKART'S QUICK COMMERCE arm Minutes has narrowed the gap with market leader Blinkit on order value, with its strength in mobiles and electronics pushing its overall basket above the market leader, according to latest channel checks by UBS.

Excluding mobile phones, Minutes' net order value stands at ₹500-530, marginally below Blinkit's average net order value of ₹518 in Q1FY27, the checks showed. Including mobile phones, Minutes' order value is higher than Blinkit's, reflecting Flipkart's established position in mobiles and electronics.

Swiggy's Instamart reported a net average order value of ₹508 in Q1FY27, leaving all three platforms clustered within a narrow band. Amazon's quick commerce arm Amazon Now seems to be lagging well behind, at an average order value of ₹400-450, despite growing from ₹260-300 in UBS' April 2026 checks, the report added. But UBS stated that Amazon Now's is a gross figure, and would fall further on a net basis, making the gap wider than it appears.

Minutes' category mix was more mobile-heavy in its first year but has since broadened.

Flipkart is now using the platform to draw customers into its ecosystem for fresh, beauty and personal care and other immediate-use categories, reversing a migration in which shoppers had increasingly turned to stand-alone quick commerce apps for such purchases, the report added.

In locations where Minutes is live, 40-45% of customers visiting Flipkart also visit Minutes. Metro markets contribute 60-65% of demand, with north India accounting for slightly under a third and south India scaling rapidly, it added.

NSE's decade-long wait for IPO ends

● Markets regulator Sebi gives go-ahead

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, September 4

NEARLY A DECADE after first applying for an initial public offering (IPO), the National Stock Exchange (NSE) received final regulatory approval on Friday, paving the way for what could be one of India's biggest IPOs.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) issued an observation letter on Friday, which is effectively an approval for the NSE to proceed with the issue.

The issue will be entirely an offer for sale (OFS), with 10 shareholders selling a combined 148.9 million shares, equivalent to about 6% of NSE's 2.47 billion outstanding shares.

At prevailing unlisted-market prices of around ₹1,975-2,050 per share, the

OFS could be valued at roughly ₹29,400-30,500 crore. At that size, it would surpass Hyundai Motor India's ₹27,900-crore IPO in October 2024, currently the country's largest. State Bank of India (SBI) will be the biggest seller, offloading 24.75 million shares, equivalent to 1% of NSE's equity. Mauritius-based MS Strategic, an entity linked to Morgan Stanley, and Canada Pension Plan Investment Board will be the next-largest sellers, offering 1.6 million and 1.18 million shares, respectively, representing stakes of about 0.65% and 0.48%.

Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC), NSE's largest shareholder with a 10.72% stake, will not participate in the OFS.

The IPO could translate into a substantial windfall for NSE's long-standing shareholders.

CONSUMER BRANDS GET A NEW POWER CENTRE TO NEGOTIATE WITH AS SWIGGY TURNS TO INVENTORY MODEL

Q-comm's retail reset redraws FMCG playbook

ANEES HUSSAIN & VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Bengaluru/Mumbai, September 4

QUICK COMMERCE IS shedding its middleman skin. Swiggy's decision to move Instamart to an inventory-led model will change not just how the business reports revenue but how investors read its economics — bringing it a big step closer to a conventional retailer. For FMCG companies, this confirms what their sales data has been whispering for months: the 10-minute channel is now a mainstream, profitable route to the consumer.

The path cleared on August 18, when Swiggy shareholders approved a 49.5% cap on

MARGIN PUSH

■ Experts say inventory-led operations could strengthen quick commerce's proposition for FMCG companies by giving platforms greater control over assortment, pricing and availability

■ The change is significant because a marketplace records only the commission it earns, while an inventory-led business records the full value of goods sold

■ Swiggy shareholders approved a 49.5% cap on aggregate foreign ownership last month which will allow Instamart to move towards owning inventory

■ Rival Blinkit transitioned to an inventory-led model in September last year aggregate foreign ownership, the main hurdle to qualifying as an Indian-owned and controlled company. Swiggy says the transition to owning inventory could take two to four quarters; analysts expect it to begin in the third quarter, with margin gains visible over the following two. Rival Blinkit made the same move in September last year.

The accounting change alone is dramatic. A marketplace books only its commission — typically 20-35% — while an inventory-led business books the full value of goods sold. Analysts estimate Instamart's reported revenue could rise four to five times without a single extra order. Instamart posted quick-commerce revenue of ₹1,232 crore in the June quarter of FY27 on a net order value of ₹5,817 crore. At Blinkit, the same transition helped drive parent Eternal's consolidated FY26 revenue up 168.5% to ₹54,364 crore.

For consumer goods makers, however, the shift is less about accounting and more about leverage. "Delivery and servicing costs tend to be higher with e-commerce marketplaces versus quick commerce. The move towards owning inventory will make q-commerce even more cost-efficient, prompting a bigger shift from e-commerce to quick commerce as dark store networks expand and assortments grow," said Mohit Malhotra, global CEO, Dabur.

The numbers back him up. Dabur gets 10% of overall sales from online channels — with quick commerce, at 5-7%, already ahead of e-commerce's 3-5% — and the q-comm business is growing 50% year-on-year against 20-30% for e-commerce. The CEO of a top FMCG company, who declined to be named, said quick-commerce margins run 200-300 basis points higher than on conventional e-commerce marketplaces, with historically lower servicing costs.

HUL lines up higher capex for its 'new India' bet

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, September 4

HINDUSTAN UNILEVER (HUL) plans to raise capital expenditure to about 3% of topline in the next five years from 2% in the previous five years as India's largest consumer-goods company bets on rising consumption, premiumisation and new categories to drive volume-led growth.

At its Capital Markets Day on Friday, HUL widened its medium-term earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortisation (Ebitda) margin range to 22-24%, from its earlier guidance of 22.5-23.5%. The company reported an Ebitda margin of 23.6% in FY26.

The higher capex intensity marks a step-up in investment as HUL seeks to capitalise on what it calls 'new India' — a market offering a rare combination of scale and rising per-capita consumption.

The company said more than 85% of its capex over the past five years was directed towards growth and savings initiatives, while more than 75% of future spending is expected to go towards similar priorities. The higher capex will also be part of a broader capital allocation framework that includes reshaping its portfolio towards high-growth spaces, making bolt-on acquisitions and providing shareholder payouts, while maintaining its focus on 100% cash conversion.

"Structural shifts in new India present an attractive FMCG opportunity," HUL said, adding that it would leverage its portfolio to unlock competitive volume-led growth.

HUL reported FY26 turnover of ₹63,763 crore, operating cash flow of ₹10,999 crore and an Ebitda margin of 23.6%. Its return on capital employed stood at 110.9%.

Telcos push back on Trai's proposed 5G slicing norms

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, September 4

TELECOM OPERATORS HAVE pushed back against the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India's (Trai) proposed norms for 5G network slicing, stating that the regulator is seeking to regulate internal network parameters rather than the actual quality of service experienced by consumers.

Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea (Vi), in their responses to Trai's consultation on amendments to quality-of-service regulations, have raised concerns over the proposed framework for managing network slices, saying it could constrain the development and commercialisation of differentiated 5G services.

Network slicing allows operators to create virtual networks over the same physical infrastructure, with different slices configured for specific requirements such as higher speeds, lower latency or greater reliability. The technology is expected to be important for monetising 5G beyond conventional mobile broadband.

Trai has proposed that operators take corrective action when a 5G cell records more than 80% physical resource block (PRB) utilisation during peak hours on five days in a month. If congestion continues for 30 days, the regulator has proposed that the operator disable priority slices on that cell until additional capacity is deployed.

NET LOSS

■ Telcos say Trai seeks to regulate internal parameters rather than actual service quality

■ They say the move could impact the development of differentiated 5G services

■ Network slicing allows operators to create virtual networks over the same physical infrastructure

The operators have questioned the use of PRB utilisation as the trigger for regulatory intervention. Jio has said that PRB utilisation is an internal network metric and does not necessarily indicate deterioration in the experience of customers using the network.

The company has therefore sought an outcome-based approach, under which intervention would be linked to measurable consumer-facing parameters rather than network engineering metrics.

STATES' AGGREGATE CAPITAL expenditure (capex) likely grew at half the pace in April-July of the current financial year compared with the year-ago period, partly due to a monsoon-induced slowdown. Going by the finances of 20 large states reviewed by FE, their capex during April-July FY27 rose 10.7% year-on-year to ₹1.79 lakh crore, compared with 21.8% growth in the same period of FY26. The moderation could also partly stem from only four tranches of tax devolution being shared with the states in April-July 2027, compared with five in the year-ago period. However, stronger tax revenue growth, lower borrowings and the likely front-loading of tax devolution in the coming months could provide

The 20 states analysed by FE are Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Bihar, Rajasthan, Odisha, West Bengal, Punjab, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Haryana, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh.

Maharashtra recorded the sharpest increase in capex, with spending more than tripling to ₹18,472 crore from ₹6,000 crore a year earlier. Punjab also more than tripled its capex to ₹4,299 crore, albeit from a much lower base. Kerala recorded a 69.1% increase, while capex rose 58% in Chhattisgarh and 54.9% in Telangana. Among the larger spending states, Gujarat remained the West Bengal registered the steepest decline, with capex plunging 52.9% to ₹1,670 crore, underscoring its fiscal constraints.

E-way bills rise 7.7% in August

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, September 4

THE NUMBER OF e-way bills generated under the Goods and Services Tax (GST) regime rose 7.7% year-on-year (YoY) to 139.1 million in August, according to data from the GST Network. Sequentially, however, e-way bill generation declined 0.5% from 139.8 million in July.

In July, e-way bill generation had increased 6% YoY, marking the slowest growth in 45 months.

An e-way bill is an electronic GST document required for the movement of goods valued at more than ₹50,000. Growth in e-way bill generation is considered a leading indicator of economic activity and domestic trade.

"The sustained rise in e-way bill generation figures clearly reflects that the growth momentum in India's organised economy remains firmly intact. This consistent upward trend is a strong signal of underlying economic resilience, driven by improved compliance, formalisation of business activity, and steady consumption demand across sectors," said Saurabh Agarwal, tax partner at EY India.

"Building on this positive trajectory, it is reasonable to expect that collections in September are likely to be even more robust, as the country moves into the festive season," Agarwal said.

A rise in e-way bill generation generally points to stronger GST collections in the subsequent month, as a significant portion of the underlying transactions gets reflected in the following month's tax receipts. India's gross GST collections rose 14.8% YoY to ₹2 lakh crore in August.

Battery storage to be mandatory at solar, wind units

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, September 4

INDIA PLANS TO mandate two-hour battery storage equivalent to at least 10% of capacity for all new ground-mounted solar and onshore wind projects commissioned after July 1, 2027, as the rapid addition of renewable capacity poses growing challenges in balancing intermittent generation and avoiding curtailment, according to draft regulations issued by the Central Electricity Authority (CEA).

The requirement will become more stringent from July 1, 2029, when the minimum storage duration will double to four hours, while the minimum storage capacity will remain at 10% of a project's installed capacity.

The CEA draft states that ground-mounted solar and onshore wind plants commissioned after July 1, 2027, "shall be equipped with co-located Energy Storage System (ESS) having a minimum storage duration of two hours" and a capacity equivalent to at least 10% of installed capacity.

For a 100-MW solar project, this translates into at least 10 MW of storage for two hours.

For projects commissioned after July 1, 2029, and up to June 30, 2031, the draft proposes "a minimum storage duration of four hours" while retaining the minimum storage capacity at 10%. A 100-MW plant would therefore require 10 MW of storage capable of delivering power for four hours, equivalent to 40 MWh.

The proposal comes as

UPDATED NORMS

■ Govt to mandate battery storage equivalent to at least 10% of installed capacity

■ This applies for all new ground-mounted solar and onshore wind projects commissioned after July 1, 2027

■ The requirement will become more stringent from July 1, 2029, when the minimum storage duration will double to four hours

India rapidly expands renewable energy capacity but faces increasing challenges in managing fluctuations in solar and wind generation. Energy storage systems can absorb surplus electricity during periods of excess generation and release it when demand rises or renewable output falls, helping reduce curtailment when clean power exceeds the grid's ability to absorb or transmit it. The CEA has invited comments and objections on the draft regulations until October 4, 2026. It has also proposed that any future change in the required percentage of grid-forming capability or ESS capacity "shall be notified by Authority from time to time."

Isro sends India's first geo-imaging satellite EOS-05

Indian Space Research Organisation's GSLV-F17 rocket carrying EOS-05 satellite lifts off from the Satish Dhawan Space Centre, in Sriharikota, Andhra Pradesh

PTI

AMITABH SINHA & ANONNA DUTT
New Delhi, September 4

IN ITS FIRST launch since January, the Indian Space Research Organisation (Isro) sent an earth observation satellite, EOS-05, to space early Friday morning, using a GSLV rocket.

The EOS-05 is India's first dedicated imaging satellite to be placed in the geosynchronous orbit, about 36,000 km from Earth, from where it can keep constant watch over the country and provide real-time imaging service. With a 10-year mission life, the satellite is designed to image large areas of interest at frequent intervals for purposes such as monitoring natural disasters or keeping track of agriculture or forestry. It will also have defence uses.

India has several other active earth observation satellites in the lower-earth orbits which circle Earth and periodically capture imagery over India. In the geosynchronous orbit, the satellite remains stationary relative to Earth, and is able to watch the same region continuously, without gaps.

The GSLV-F17 rocket deposited the EOS-05 satellite in a transfer orbit, at an altitude of more than 190 km from Earth, about 18 minutes after the launch. From there, the satellite will perform a series of orbit-raising manoeuvres over the next few days to travel to the geosynchronous orbit, its final destination. In a message congratulating Isro, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said, "Yet another outstanding achievement by ISRO and a proud moment for our nation. The successful launch of GSLV-F17 carrying EOS-05, India's first-ever imaging satellite from geosynchronous orbit is a reflection of the excellence, innovation and growing capabilities that define India's space sector."

Weighting more than 2,360 kg, the EOS-05 was the heaviest satellite to be carried by the GSLV rocket until now.

The successful launch is a big relief for Isro as three of the six missions launched in 2025 and 2026 turned out to be unsuccessful.

GOLDMAN SACHS SEES GULF EXPORTS AT 16 MILLION BARRELS DAILY

'Dark' tanker traffic surges in Hormuz

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, September 4

ASURGE in oil tankers crossing the Strait of Hormuz with tracking systems switched off is masking the scale of Persian Gulf supply recovery, with Goldman Sachs estimating actual exports at 15-16 million barrels per day (mb/d) against visible flows of only around 10 mb/d, even as tensions continue to disrupt one of the world's key energy routes.

Brent crude eased 75 cents, or 0.79%, to $94.77 a barrel by 1230 GMT, after its recent rise on renewed geopolitical and shipping risks.

In its September 2 Oil Tracker report, Goldman Sachs Research highlighted the growing disconnect between observable tanker movements and estimated physical exports as vessels increasingly transit the Strait without transmitting Automatic Identification System (AIS) signals.

"Accounting for dark crossings, we estimate recent total Persian Gulf oil exports at roughly 15-16 mb/d or 2/3 of pre-war levels," Goldman said. Visible Persian Gulf exports were around 10 mb/d on a seven-day moving average.

Goldman has raised its estimate of Persian Gulf oil flows by

■ Widening gap between tanker tracking and estimated exports as more vessels transit the Strait with AIS signals switched off

Hormuz remains constrained: TankerTrackers puts crude flows at 4.9 million barrel per day, far below pre-conflict levels

Shipping risks persist: At least six tanker strikes were confirmed across the Gulf and Red Sea in 10 days

Prices face moderation: Rising dark transits and China's price-sensitive buying could limit crude's upside, says Goldman Sachs 5 mb/d in just two weeks, attributing much of the revision to untracked tanker traffic.

The increase "likely results from a ramp up in oil tankers crossing the Strait near the coast of Oman with their AIS off," the bank said.

The development makes it increasingly difficult for the oil market to determine how much supply is actually moving through the conflict-hit region.

Vessel tracking had already become less reliable by August as more tankers switched off AIS while navigating Hormuz.

Goldman nevertheless estimates a 7.9 mb/d net hit to Persian Gulf flows. Shipping risks also remain elevated, with the report citing at least six confirmed tanker strikes over the past 10 days in the Persian Gulf and near the Red Sea.

Separately, TankerTrackers estimates crude exports specifically through Hormuz at 4.9 mb/d since the second US blockade began on July 14, compared with 16.63 mb/d before the conflict.

Its data show tracked crude flows dropping to 3.45 mb/d between February 28 and April 13, and further to 2.72 mb/d during the first US blockade from April 13 to June 18. Flows recovered to 10 mb/d during the June 18-July 14 MoU period.

Across 186 days of conflict, 779 million barrels of crude moved through Hormuz, averaging 4.19 mb/d, according to TankerTrackers.

'India, Belgium must work on lab-grown diamonds'

UNION COMMERCE MINISTER Piyush Goyal on Friday suggested India and Belgium should work together on the lab-grown diamonds front. Speaking at a high-level dialogue on the India-European Union Free Trade Agreement (FTA) in the presence of visiting Belgian Prime Minister Bart De Wever, Goyal said the two countries need to work on technology and certification aspects of lab-grown diamonds.

Outlining gems and jewellery as the top area where the two economies complement each other, Goyal said, "Let us

co-create, design, maybe lab-grown diamonds would be a new area we should look at working together in." The initiative can be anchored in Antwerp, a major marketplace for rough diamonds, and in Mumbai and Surat, Indian cities at the forefront of diamond polishing.

Earlier in the day, Wever inaugurated a Belgian diamond grading company HRD Antwerp's expanded facility at the Bharat Diamond Bourse, which will increase research capacity by 30%, as per an official statement.

The visiting PM said while the India-EU FTA signed in January this year will scrap or reduce tariffs on 95% of Indian and European goods exports, there is a case for going down to zero as well, certainly in the case of diamonds.

Speaking about the pact, the visiting PM said, "It is an expression of strategic openness. It is an expression of the willingness to trust. It is the proof of mutual respect. It makes our economies resilient against disruption and against coercion."

"Our cooperation is directed towards an international order that is more stable, more prosperous and better in balance," he said.

WORKING WITH 12 DEEPTech STARTUPS UNDER 'FARM' INITIATIVE

LTTs helps deeptech startups go to market

● Programme's focus is on access to customers, global exposure, rather than funding

POULOMI CHATTERJEE
Bengaluru, September 4

ENGINEERING, RESEARCH AND development services company L&T Technology Services (LTTs) is working with 12 deeptech startups to help move their technologies from prototypes to commercial products, with access to global customers forming the core of the initiative.

Under its LTTs FARM programme, the company is providing startups with engineering expertise, industry access and exposure to large enterprise customers, apart from access to its labs and facilities for product development. The focus is on startups that align with LTTs' broader Engineering Intelligence portfolio — Software Defined Mobility (SDM), Plant Buildout & Modernisation, Energy & Industrial Automation, Digital Manufacturing, Next Gen Compute & Data Centers, Software Platforms & EI and MedTech.

"The dynamics of the startup ecosystem have changed as they Products can't mature themselves sitting in labs. They have to be a part of the cycle in the market to mature faster keep evolving," LTTs CTO Ashish Khushu told FE. While funding had been a major challenge for deeptech companies a few years ago, capital is no longer the primary hurdle, he said.

The startups selected include robotics companies Twara Robotics, CynLr, xTerra Robotics, Ansعر Robotics and Zensomy Autonomous Technologies; healthtech firms Nesa MedTech and Onward Health; and AI drug discovery company Boltzmann Labs. Others are QpiAI, RC Labs, Terraclime Technologies and Tranzmeo IT Solutions.

Khushu said many of these companies have already developed prototypes or launched products but lack access to global enterprise customers, limiting their ability to refine and scale their offerings.

"For a product to mature and meet the global benchmarks in quality and competitiveness, these startups have to have access to marquee ER&D customers spend," he said. "Products can't mature themselves sitting in labs. They have to be a part of the cycle in the market to mature faster."

LTTs will help the startups participate in requests for proposals (RFPs), customer discussions and product demonstrations. It has also held sessions with its delivery leaders to help the founders understand how to approach large enterprise customers outside India.

The programme targets startups at technology readiness levels (TRL) 4 or 5 through TRL 8. Khushu said a large number of Indian deeptech startups are currently at TRL 5-7, where they need customer validation and experience to move towards full-scale production.

"Currently, there are a large number of startups in India at the TRL 5, TRL 6 or TRL 7 levels, where all they need is an endorsement and some experience to enter full-fledged production," he said.

For LTTs, the programme is also a way to bring emerging technologies into its own offerings and deepen customer relationships. Startups at TRL 6 and 7 will be introduced to select customers and can be included in solutions being developed for them.

Jio's next decade starts with an IPO

TEN YEARS AFTER RESHAPING TELECOM, IT NOW FACES CHALLENGE OF TURNING SCALE INTO VALUE

URVI MALYANIA
Mumbai, September 4

TEN YEARS AFTER entering the telecom market with free calls and ultra-cheap data, Reliance Jio is preparing to take the scale it built through that disruption to public markets. The company's proposed initial public offering, estimated to be around ₹37,700-crore, cleared by the Securities and Exchange Board of India last week, could become the largest IPO and mark a turning point for a business that has spent its first decade chasing subscribers and building infrastructure.

The question for Jio is no longer whether it can disrupt telecom. It has already done that. The bigger test now is whether it can monetise the network, customer base and digital ecosystem built over the past decade — and persuade public-market investors that Jio is worth more as a technology and digital platform than as a telecom operator alone.

When Jio commercially launched on September 5, 2016, it offered free voice calls and data as part of its introductory offer on an all-4G network. Its entry triggered a price war that forced incumbents to cut tariffs, accelerated network investments and hastened consolidation across an industry that had more than 10 operators competing for subscribers.

"Jio brought with it scale at a national level. Till then, many players were able to survive with a regional play. But Jio took the game national. And not everyone was cut out for that scale," an analyst said.

The impact was visible not just in the number of operators but in the economics of data. There were fewer than 10 million 4G consumers in FY16, with monthly data consumption below 0.2 GB per capita. By FY25, 4G and 5G users had reached 938.3 million, while monthly data consumption had risen to 25.7 GB per capita.

Over the same period, the price of data fell from ₹228 a GB to ₹7.9. The resulting proliferation of cheap data helped create the conditions for the rapid expansion of digital payments, streaming, e-commerce and other app-based services.

Jio itself has grown into a vastly larger business. It had 524.4 million customers at the end of FY26, adding 36.2 million during the year, while average revenue per user stood at ₹214 a month. Revenue from operations was ₹1.47 lakh crore, Ebitda ₹76,255 crore and profit after tax ₹30,049 crore.

Its proposed IPO, however, is less about funding the next leg of expansion than about bringing the business to public markets and unlocking a market valuation. Jio Platforms plans to issue up to 270 million fresh shares, with the bulk of the proceeds — ₹27,500 crore — earmarked to repay or prepay borrowings of Reliance Jio Infocomm.

That makes the listing an important marker in Jio's evolution. Its first decade was about building scale: acquire customers, build the network, lower the cost of data and establish a dominant position. The second decade will be about extracting more value from that scale.

Kia eyes 410K sales by 2030

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, September 4

KIA INDIA IS targeting domestic vehicle sales of 410,000 units by 2030 as it seeks to accelerate growth through a wider portfolio of premium SUVs and electrified powertrains.

The company has laid out a roadmap of 10 new models by 2030, eight of which will carry some form of electrified powertrain, including electric vehicles, strong hybrids and CNG. The strategy marks a significant expansion of Kia's portfolio as it seeks to move beyond its current dependence on a relatively small number of models.

Kia already produces 430,000 units annually in India, giving it sufficient headroom to meet its 2030 domestic sales target. The challenge, however, will be to substantially increase sales and capacity utilisation while also growing exports.

"At this stage, we have adequate capacity," Atul Sood, senior vice president, sales and marketing, Kia India, said. "And we are very much on track to utilise that actually." He said Kia will reassess its capacity requirements as it gets closer to 2030, particularly as exports grow, but there is currently no concrete expansion plan.

The company on Friday launched the Sorento, positioned in the premium three-row SUV segment. Prices start at ₹27.99 lakh for the seven-seat diesel HTE and go up to ₹40.39 lakh for the six-seat hybrid HTX(A) Black Line AWD.

Cisco pivots to built-in resilience

URVI MALYANIA
Mumbai, September 4

CYBERSECURITY IS MOVING beyond a collection of stand-alone products towards an integrated approach focused on simplifying IT environments and building resilience, Sandeep Agarwal, chief technology officer, security, Cisco India & South Asia, said.

Cisco believes adding more security tools can make organisations less effective at detecting and responding to threats. The strategy, therefore, is increasingly centred on platformisation — bringing multiple capabilities together and reducing the number of consoles and tools security teams need to manage.

"You (now have) have multi cloud, hybrid cloud, SaaS products, and AI adoption. All of this has created much complexity. Most people we talk to tell us don't just give us more tools. Nearly 84% of the organisations say managing more than 10-point solutions slows down their ability to respond to and detect (threats)," Agarwal said.

A key element of this approach is shifting from "bolt-on security" to "built-in resilience". Rather than treating security as a separate layer, Cisco is looking to embed it across the infrastructure where data, applications and workloads reside. The broader objective is to ensure businesses continue operating when disruptions occur.

Cisco is positioning a unified data fabric that brings security, network, application and IT telemetry, providing teams with a common view of their environments.

SANDEEP AGARWAL, CTO, SECURITY, CISCO INDIA & SOUTH ASIA

Kenya's tougher terms put Indian firms under pressure

● Tata Chemicals row follows Adani setback as Nairobi pushes for greater local value

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, September 4

KENYA'S DECISION TO push Tata Chemicals out of its soda ash operations at Lake Magadi has raised fresh questions over the operating environment for Indian companies in the country, coming less than two years after the cancellation of Adani Group's proposed airport and power projects.

However, the latest Tata episode points more towards Kenya's growing insistence on local value addition and economic benefits from foreign investments than a broad shift against Indian businesses.

Kenyan President William Ruto on Thursday said Tata Chemicals should end its operations at Lake Magadi, accusing the company of having operated in the region for decades without creating enough local industrial activity. He said the government would bring in new companies

THE NAIROBI PROBLEM

■ Kenya has asked Tata Chemicals to exit its Lake Magadi soda ash operations

■ Nairobi cited inadequate local industrial activity and value creation as reasons behind its decision

■ Tata Chemicals says it is compliant with regulations and is awaiting further direction from Kenyan govt to establish glass and chemical manufacturing facilities in Kajjado, where the soda ash operation is located.

Tata Chemicals, however, said on Friday that the matter remains with the Kenyan mining ministry. Tata Chemicals Magadi (TCML) said it had submitted all the information, reports and documentation sought by the Ministry of Mining, Blue Economy and Maritime Affairs on August 11 and was fully compliant with regulatory requirements.

"TCML, having provided a comprehensive response to the matters raised by the Ministry... awaits the Ministry's review of our submissions and its further direction," the company said in a stock exchange filing.

The company also said that since Tata Chemicals acquired the Magadi plant in 2005, the business had played an important role in the Kenyan economy and remained an integral part of its operations. It said it respected the authority of the Kenyan government and remained committed to resolving the outstanding matters through legal and regulatory channels.

The immediate dispute follows a July 28 directive by the Kenyan government suspending mining operations at Magadi and halting soda ash exports. The ministry had raised issues including mineral beneficiation and value addition, royalty reconciliation, export reporting, community development agreements, employment and skills transfer, local procurement and environmental compliance.

The development is significant for Indian companies because Kenya remains an important market for Indian investment. Nearly 200 Indian companies operate in the country across sectors including manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, information technology, banking, energy and infrastructure.

But the history of Indian businesses in Kenya is mixed. Essar exited its yuMobile telecom business in 2014 after failing to make it profitable, while its stake in Kenya Petroleum Refineries was sold back to the Kenyan government in 2016. Airtel, which acquired part of yuMobile's business, has itself faced prolonged regulatory disputes over its operating licence before securing a new 25-year licence recently.

Mahindra also has an earlier exit-and-return history in Kenya. Its vehicle business left the market after a disputed vehicle-supply arrangement and returned in 2012 through a new local distribution arrangement.

India-Kenya trade rose to around $4.31 billion in 2025-26 from $3.45 billion a year earlier, underlining the depth of the commercial relationship.

The Tata episode also comes against the backdrop of Adani Group's withdrawal from proposed airport and power-transmission projects in Kenya in 2024 following political opposition. Yet Indian investment has not stopped. In December 2025, Kenya signed a $311-million power-transmission agreement involving Africa 50 and India's Power Grid Corporation, indicating that Nairobi continues to be open to Indian capital and expertise.

The distinction is important. The varied experiences of Indian companies in Kenya do not point to a single pattern of hostility towards Indian business. Rather, they reflect the regulatory, commercial and political risks that foreign companies face in the market, with the Tata case adding a sharper focus on local value creation.

For Indian businesses, the shift could mean that access to Kenyan resources and infrastructure will increasingly come with stronger expectations around local manufacturing, processing, employment, technology transfer and community benefits.

Tata's Magadi dispute could therefore become an important test of how Indian companies navigate a more assertive African investment environment, where governments are seeking a larger share of the value generated by foreign investment.

HONASAAIMS TO EXPAND EBITDA MARGIN TO 15%

Mamaearth parent targets ₹5,550-cr revenue by FY31

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, September 4

HONASA CONSUMER, THE owner of beauty brand Mamaearth, expects a two-fold rise in its revenue to ₹5,550 crore in the next five years by FY31, said its founders on Friday. The company is also hopeful of its Ebitda margin expanding to 15% during the same period.

Talking about the future growth path, Honasa Consumer founders Ghazal Alagh and Varun Alagh said they intend to “become the fastest-growing company in Indian FMCG to reach ₹5,000 crore” revenue mark. The company will be reaching the ₹5,500 crore revenue mark by FY31 by “building brands that are loved by Indian consumers”. Honasa also aims to reach a 15% Ebitda margin, “unlocking a further 500 basis points as mix and scale move our way”, the founders said in their message to shareholders in the Annual Report.

Honasa Consumer had reported a total income of ₹475.53 crore for FY26, registering a 15.37% year-on-year (y-o-y) growth. The founders, however, cautioned that the revenue and margin targets were not ends in themselves.

“But the number is only ever a consequence. What we are really building is a company that can find a need, prove a product, scale a brand and make it profitable faster than anyone else and then simply do it again,” they said.

The founders said growth would continue to be anchored around a focused set of categories: “face cleansers, shampoos, sunscreens, moisturisers, face serums, lipsticks and baby care” which currently contribute about 80% of revenue, even as the company looks to expand into “newer partitions within existing and new categories”.

“So, we directed the great majority of our brand investment at a focused set of categories,” they said.

Over its flagship brand Mamaearth, the founders said that through the year (FY26), it gained both value market share and share-amongst-handlers in face cleansers and shampoos, in both general trade and modern trade channels as per Nielsen IQ.

“The brand that built this company is growing again and is better built now for what comes next,” it said.

Over the market trend, they said, now “discovery has moved to our mobiles, where beauty is found and debated through creators rather than told through mass media communication.”

Consumers are trading up, choosing efficacy and honest ingredients over general-purpose beauty and personal care. “The path to purchase has fragmented across e-commerce, quick commerce and general trade, so a brand must now win everywhere at once,” they added.

And the youngest consumers, Gen Z, are setting the pace, adopting earlier and expecting more. “We have watched this story unfold before, in the US, in China, in Indonesia: wherever e-commerce has surged, it is the home-grown challengers who gain the most.

India’s online share of retail is still in its early innings and set to roughly double by the turn of the decade. We intend to be standing exactly where that wave breaks,” they said.

Ola Electric opens first partner stores across 7 states

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, September 4

OLAELECTRIC HAS opened its first cohort of dealer-operated stores across seven states, marking a shift to a partner-led retail model and strengthening its presence in regional markets. The company is targeting a 500-plus dealership footprint over the next couple of quarters.

The stores have gone live in Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Bihar, Telangana, Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh, serving local demand for Ola scooters and motorcycles.

The launch comes within a month of Ola Electric opening its sales and service network to dealer partners for the first time. On August 6, the company announced the move, five years after launching its first scooter through a fully company-owned model.

The transition is aimed at improving local market penetration, accessibility and customer response across geographies. Existing company-owned stores will transition into brand product experience centres as the dealer-led network expands.

TCI sees 10-12% growth in FY27 despite West Asia headwinds

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, September 4

THE WEST ASIA crisis continues to pressure logistics costs and demand, but according to Transport Corporation of India (TCI), the disruption has also underscored the importance of many other positive factors.

“Geopolitical developments have created short-term volatility, but they have also underscored the value of resilient and diversified supply chains,” Vineet Agarwal, managing director, TCI, said.

TCI reported 9.1% revenue growth in Q1 FY27 despite elevated fuel costs, geopolitical disruptions and delays. Its diversified business model, multimodal network and fuel escalation mechanisms helped cushion higher operating expenses, while asset productivity, network optimisation and cost discipline supported margins.

The company expects 10-12% revenue growth in FY27, led by manufacturing, rising warehousing demand, infrastructure investments and wider adoption of multi-

“We remain confident of delivering 10–12% revenue growth, supported by manufacturing-led demand, rising warehousing needs, infrastructure-led investments and wider adoption of multimodal solutions,” Agarwal said.

The West Asia disruption had also affected TCI’s business in Q4 FY26, particularly in March, traditionally a strong month for logistics demand. Bunker fuel prices almost doubled during the period, while domestic diesel prices rose by around ₹7–7.5 a litre. Softer production in some MSME-led sectors added to the pressure.

TCI expects margins to improve in FY27, supported by a richer business mix, operating leverage and two new coastal vessels that will increase capacity and asset productivity.

The company sees global supply-chain diversification and the China+1 shift as structural opportunities for India. Contract logistics, multimodal transportation, cold chain, chemical and automotive logistics, and digital supply-chain services are expected to drive growth.

With geopolitical uncertainty likely to persist in the near term, TCI said it will focus on timely cost pass-through, operational efficiency and supply-chain flexibility.

It expects domestic consumption, infrastructure spending and manufacturing activity to continue supporting logistics demand.

Q-comm’s retail reset redraws...

“CONVENIENCE IS DRIVING shopping choices, especially in the top 8–10 metro cities. Wider and relevant assortment along with convenience are the key priorities for consumers today. Quick commerce taps into this felt need,” said Tarun Arora, CEO, Zydus Wellness.

Inventory ownership sharpens that proposition further. Platforms gain direct control over assortment, pricing and availability, and capture sourcing and supply-chain efficiencies — control they can use to push premium, higher-margin products. Swiggy has said inventory ownership could add about 80 basis points to Instamart’s contribution margin, currently pegged by brokerages at ₹4–5 per order against the roughly ₹30 needed to break even.

Blinkit’s playbook shows the benefits compound. Its adjusted Ebitda loss narrowed through FY26 before turning positive, and gross margin improved 320 basis points in the September 2025 quarter as about 80% of order value moved to owned inventory — rising to 90% by December. Analysts now estimate Blinkit’s gross margin at 25–26%, versus 14–15% at Avenue Supermarkets, with advertising income explaining part of the gap.

The relationship with brands is changing in the process. Quick-commerce platforms will increasingly resemble organised retail partners rather than digital marketplaces, with greater say over what is stocked, promoted and surfaced. The channel has also become a launchpad: Malhotra calls quick commerce a “cradle” for innovation at Dabur, which tests new concepts there before widening distribution. New products make up 3–4% of Dabur’s overall business but 10–12% on quick commerce, helped by targeted performance and social-media marketing instead of the heavier promotional spend that modern and general trade demand.

The retail model, however, imports retail risks. Eternal reported inventory losses in quick commerce for the first time in July, at 1.8% of net order value — covering expiry, shrinkage, damage, transit losses and pilferage, with perishables the biggest culprit. Instamart doesn’t disclose an equivalent figure. Capital intensity is rising too: Eternal has raised steady-state capex per dark store, including warehousing, to ₹2.5 crore from ₹1 crore, though higher order density and lower working capital have improved the economics.

For investors, that means a new dashboard. Return on capital, inventory turns and stock losses could matter as much as contribution margin and order growth, and expectations will build for retail-style disclosures — same-store sales for mature dark stores, private-label sales — as inventory risk rises.

For consumer companies, the verdict is already in. It shows in where they launch products, how they market them and where sales are growing fastest. Quick commerce, once dismissed as a convenience channel, is fast becoming a load-bearing wall of India’s retail architecture.

HUL lines up higher capex for its ‘new India’ bet

AT THE FY26 turnover level, a move in capex intensity from 2% to 3% would translate into an illustrative increase from around ₹1,275 crore to ₹1,913 crore, it said. The actual investment, however, will depend on the turnover base in the relevant year, it added.

The strategy comes as HUL’s underlying sales growth has gathered pace. Growth rose to 10% in the June quarter of FY27 from 7% in the March quarter, 5% in the December quarter and 3% in the first half of FY26. The company said sharper resource allocation, faster execution in key pockets and a dedicated organisation for quick commerce helped improve performance.

Premiumisation is a key pillar of the strategy, with HUL investing big on premium brands. More than 60% of its advertising expenditure is now on digital platforms.

Home care, which contributes roughly 37% of HUL’s turnover, is another major growth opportunity. The company sees significant headroom in the segment and expects premiumisation and format upgrades to drive growth. Consumers are increasingly moving from detergent bars to powders and then to liquids. About 63% of HUL’s users currently prefer powders, leaving room for further migration towards higher-value formats.

HUL is also looking to expand participation in relatively underpenetrated categories, while extending established brands into adjacent consumption occasions. Rural markets are a particular focus, with the company estimating that consumption opportunities there are growing about 1.8 times faster than in urban markets.

Quick commerce is becoming an increasingly important part of its route-to-market strategy. HUL has created a dedicated cross-functional organisation for the channel and expects India’s quick-commerce market to reach about ₹2 lakh crore by FY28.

Beyond organic growth, the company will consider portfolio extensions, Unilever brands and acquisitions in categories including male grooming, massige (mass & prestige) skincare, fragrances, healthy snacking, protein, hydration and ready-to-drink products.

The company has also introduced an AI-enabled availability engine for quick commerce and is using AI across areas including consumer foresighting, social listening, content development and media optimisation.

Flipkart Minutes rides on mobiles to leave Blinkit...

MINUTES IS NOT yet as operationally efficient as Blinkit, according to UBS, with gross margins still below the market leader’s even as cost per order in most cities has moved closer to Blinkit and Instamart levels.

Its advertising revenue is broadly in line with leading peers. On pricing, UBS’ tracker showed Minutes cut discounts by 20–60 basis points month-on-month in August to 22% on its core offering and 23% on XtraSaver, against 18–19% at Blinkit and 21% at both Instamart and Zepto.

'Card use to climb on convenience'

SIDDHI NAYAK
September 4

CARD PAYMENTS IN India are poised for a steady growth as deeper financial inclusion, rising incomes and easier access encourage electronic transactions, according to analytics firm GlobalData. Debit cards remain dominant, but consumers are gradually leaning toward credit, attracted by benefits such as reward points, discounts, and instalment options, the London-based firm said in a report published Friday. It expects credit card usage to grow after integration with the Unified Payments Interface, the country's home-grown real-time payment system. India brought a much larger share of its population into formal financial services over the past decade, aided by wider bank-account ownership and inclusion initiatives like direct benefit transfers. That expansion has coincided with an exponential surge in digital transactions, especially low-value payments through the UPI. The Reserve Bank of India's Financial Inclusion Index — which captures financial literacy, consumer protection, and inequalities and deficiencies in services — rose to 70 as of March-end from 67 a year earlier, extending its steady climb. Outstanding debit cards stood at 1.03 billion as of July, while credit cards were at 122.9 million

COMMON CLOSING ALSO SUGGESTED; BSE, BROKERAGE STOCKS RALLY

CAS revamp: Experts pitch for hybrid settlement

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, September 4

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India's (Sebi) decision to review the closing auction session (CAS) mechanism, especially on expiry days, after a month of sharp price swings and tepid participation, has given significant relief to market players.

In fact, the prospect of changes to CAS cheered trading-linked stocks on Friday. BSE shares climbed 3.14%, while brokerages also rallied, with Angel One gaining 4.2% and Motilal Oswal Financial Services and Groww rising about 2%.

The review comes after a series of sharp swings in the indicative closing prices of the BSE and NSE indices, particularly on weekly and monthly expiry days. The latest episode came on Thursday, when the Sensex's indicative closing prices swung by nearly 4,000 points during the weekly expiry.

Market experts have suggested a range of measures to curb such volatility, including a hybrid settlement mechanism, tighter price bands and aligning the closing times of the cash and derivatives markets.

Rajesh Palviya, head of research at Axis Securities, said

KEY TAKEAWAYS

■ Decision to review CAS has given significant relief to market players

■ Market experts have suggested a range of measures to curb volatility

■ Last-minute order imbalances can influence closing prices

■ Mismatch between the closing times of the cash and derivatives segments also a concern

■ BSE MD & CEO Sundararaman Ramamurthy said considerable improvement is needed

while CAS brings India closer to global best practices by pooling end-of-day liquidity to arrive at a single equilibrium price, relying entirely on that price for derivatives settlement can create vulnerabilities on expiry days. Last-minute order imbalances can disproportionately influence the closing price and trigger sudden volatility, he said.

Palviya suggested a hybrid mechanism combining the CAS closing price with the 30-minute volume-weighted average price (VWAP). Such a system, he said, could preserve the liquidity benefits of an auction while reducing distortions caused by dependence on a single closing price.

The mismatch between the closing times of the cash and derivatives segments has also emerged as an area for possible reform.

Tejas Shah, head of trading at Equirus Securities, said since the underlying cash market and derivatives are closely interconnected, aligning their closing times could help curb forced trades and the triggering of stop-loss orders.

BSE Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer Sundararaman Ramamurthy told

CNBC-TV18 on Thursday that participation in CAS had been lower than expected, contributing to volatility, and that considerable improvement was needed.

According to Ramamurthy, market participants have proposed several changes, including delinking derivatives settlement prices from the CAS-determined closing price, using VWAP for derivatives settlement while retaining CAS for the cash market, restricting the auction to stocks outside the top 500, and narrowing the current 3% price band on either side of the reference price.

Rupee logs its best week in five

REUTERS
Mumbai, September 4

THE RUPEE ENDED largely unchanged Friday, but posted its best weekly performance against the US dollar in five weeks, helped by stronger-than-expected dollar inflows into the central bank's special schemes.

The rupee moved in a narrow 6-paisa range before closing at 94.4850, aided by the Reserve Bank of India, which intervened at the start of the session and continued to sell dollars thereafter, traders said.

For the week, however, the currency gained 0.9%, posting its biggest rise since the week ended July 31, aided by heavy RBI intervention.

Its stepped-up presence has reinforced expectations that the central bank is using its increased firepower to steer the rupee higher.

"Overall, the FCNR story has given the rupee a strong shot in the arm, but underlying fundamentals still carry their share of risk, and 94.00-94.20 remains a strong support zone (for USD/INR)," CR Forex said in a note.

Sebi presses ahead against Hindenburg, others in Adani case

JAYSHREE P UPADHYAY
Mumbai, September 4

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has started hearing representations as it seeks to recover gains from trades it suspects benefited from prior knowledge of Hindenburg Research's scathing report about Adani Group, two sources said.

Sebi in 2024 said US-based Kingdon Capital Management had built short positions in Adani-related stocks through a Mauritius-based fund linked to Kotak International before Hindenburg published its report.

Short positions refer to selling borrowed shares, buying them back when the share price drops, then pocketing the difference.

Short seller Hindenburg in its 2023 report said Adani Group had violated securities law, triggering a selloff of related shares and a consequent drop in their prices, and wiping out $150 billion in group value. Adani Group denied wrongdoing.

Sebi dismissed Hindenburg's allegations of stock manipulation against the group.

In 2024, Sebi detailed a profit-sharing agreement between Hindenburg and Kingdon and said six entities gained $22.25 million from short-selling trades.

Sebi, Hindenburg, Kingdon and Kotak did not respond to emails seeking comment.

PLAYING ON THE FRONT FOOT

■ Sebi said US-based Kingdon Capital had built short positions in Adani stocks before Hindenburg published its report

■ It detailed a pact between Hindenburg and Kingdon & said six entities gained $22.25 mn from short-selling trades

■ Parties are based overseas, but Sebi believes it has jurisdiction as trades happened in India

Hindenburg previously denied wrongdoing and described Sebi's assertions as "nonsense".

The case is widely regarded as setting a precedent in the pursuit of offshore entities and the recovery of assets overseas. It has already involved the rare attempt of seeking a stay in a foreign insolvency proceeding to enforce penal action.

The regulator has started personal hearings more than two years later as the parties involved took time to respond, sources said. All parties are based overseas, but Sebi believes it has jurisdiction since trades were in India.

Sebi is proceeding with enforcement, arguing that the trades were based on non-public information, and thus violated rules aimed at preventing fraud, said one of the sources.

To secure assets for recovery,

Sebi has opposed court-supervised insolvency proceedings in Mauritius for the Kotak fund - K India Opportunities Fund Class F - used to execute the trades. Proceeds of the trades went into the fund.

Reuters could not determine whether gains were distributed or redeemed by Kingdon as fund beneficiary.

After learning of the insolvency, Sebi asked the court-appointed receiver in the first week of July to ensure fund assets were not transferred or distributed before it had ordered the recovery of alleged gains and interest, sources said.

Mauritius' Supreme Court appointed the managing director of business advisory and restructuring firm Quantum as receiver in June to control and protect the fund's assets.

Quantum declined to comment.

Dollar deluge drives forex reserves to $741 billion

AGENCIES
Mumbai, September 4

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES climbed to fresh record high of $740.80 billion for the week to August 28, Reserve Bank of India data showed on Friday, boosted by heavy inflows from special schemes to attract dollar inflows into the country. The kitty swelled by $11.475 billion in the week.

The RBI can use strong spot foreign exchange reserves to stabilise or strengthen the rupee, HSBC said in a note.

The forex FX pile has risen for nine straight weeks, jumping by almost $75 billion during this period, with the latest figure comfortably surpassing $729.33 for week ended August 21.

For the reporting week, foreign currency assets, a major component of the reserves, increased by $9.337 billion to $600.67 billion, the central bank's data showed.

FRESH PEAK

Expressed in dollar terms, foreign currency assets include the effects of appreciation or depreciation of non-US units, such as the euro, pound, and yen, held in the foreign exchange reserves.

Value of gold reserves increased $2.191 billion to $116.409 billion.

Special drawing rights (SDRs) were down $43 million to $18.81 billion, the RBI said. India's reserve position with the IMF were also down by USD 11 million to USD 4.914 billion at the end of the reporting week, according to the apex bank's data.

In June, the BRI unveiled discounted hedging facilities for overseas borrowings by state-run firms and banks, and a free-of-cost hedging facility for banks to raise overseas forex deposits. It received over $136 billion under three special swap schemes between June 5 and August 31, including about $127 billion from non-resident Indian deposits.

For the week, the rupee rose 0.3% against the dollar to 95.3775.

New entrants turn up heat on incumbent gold-loan NBFCs

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, September 3

FOR YEARS, MUTHOOT Finance and Manappuram have been the familiar faces in India's gold loan market. That landscape is now changing as a slew of large, corporate-backed NBFCs enter the ₹18.6 lakh-crore segment, intensifying the fight for borrowers, branches and pricing power.

In recent months, Tata Capital, Aditya Birla Capital, Shriram Finance, L&T Finance and Godrej Finance have either forayed into or announced expansion in the fast-growing gold loan market. Aditya Birla Capital targets 1,000 gold loan branches in three years, while Tata Capital acquired Yogakshemam Loans, marking the Tata Group's entry into the segment. Godrej Capital has also taken the inorganic route, acquiring Kanakadurga Finance's gold loan portfolio.

The rush comes as the gold loan segment has surged nearly fourfold in the past five years to ₹18.6 lakh crore as of March 2026, becoming the second-largest asset class in the retail segment and surpassing personal loans.

According to Motilal Oswal Financial Services, the segment is set to grow at a 28% CAGR over FY26-FY28, crossing ₹30 lakh crore by March 2028.

"As lenders seek to establish scale, competitive pricing and targeted expansion are likely to exert pressure on yields, particularly in higher-ticket and relatively rate-sensitive borrower segments," said Aniket Dani, director, Crisil Intelligence.

R Srinivasan, vice president and sector head, financial sector ratings, ICRA, said new entrants can offer attractive lending rates to borrowers, which would result in a moderation in effective yields. "The increasing share of higher-ticket loans, driven by rising gold prices, is also placing gold-loan NBFCs in competition with banks targeting a similar borrower segment."

Gold loan yield of Muthoot Finance, the country's largest gold loan NBFC, fell by 300 bps sequentially to 17.93% in Q1FY27.

Executive Vice Chairman-designate George Alexander Muthoot, however, attributed the decline to a variety of reasons. "We have reduced interest rates on some products. We have both higher-rate and lower-rate products, and this quarter, the lower-rate loans probably accounted for a larger share," Muthoot told FE recently.

Srinivasan said changes in product offerings, such as a shift from bullet loans to regular servicing loans, and lower loan-to-value ratios for higher-ticket bullet loans can result in yield moderation or churn in the borrower base for existing lenders. The competitive push is Muthoot believes operational challenges in operating a gold loan business may keep the competition in check. He said the new entrants may have deep pockets and lesser cost of funds, but are not focused gold loan players. "There is a difference between focused gold loan players and also gold loan players. People will realise it after some time..."

Gold lending remains an inherently branch-led business requiring specialised expertise in gold appraisal, collateral management, and customer servicing, supported by extensive distribution networks and long-standing customer relationships. Dani sees these factors as a significant structural advantage for incumbent NBFCs.

"While new entrants can leverage strong balance sheets, established customer ecosystems and ability to cross-sell gold loans through existing networks, replicating branch infrastructure, operational capabilities and customer trust at scale requires considerable time and investment," Dani said.

Conflict over Cauvery

The long-festering water-sharing dispute can be resolved only by the riparian states

TENSIONS OVER SHARING waters of the monsoon rain-fed Cauvery between Karnataka and Tamil Nadu flare up whenever there is a deficiency in rainfall. When rainfall is good, there is no problem in water-sharing. This year, the rain gods have not been kind as the Cauvery basin districts have experienced a rainfall deficit and the water stored in the seven major reservoirs are filled to only 55.7% of their capacity. The poor monsoon and low storage levels were a major reason why Tamil Nadu's chief minister, C Joseph Vijay, belatedly opened the sluice gates of the Stanley reservoir — built across the Cauvery in Salem district of the state — in Mettur. Water stored in this reservoir is also 55% of its live storage capacity and releases will be for 45 days starting September 1 to meet irrigation needs for the samba paddy crop.

Matters have come to a boil this year as flows to Tamil Nadu have considerably diminished from the upper riparian state of Karnataka. Tamil Nadu is clamouring for its share of water as per the directions of the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) and has approached the Supreme Court in this regard. On August 25, the CWMA upheld the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee's recommendation directing Karnataka to ensure a flow of 9,000 cusecs for 15 days to Tamil Nadu between August 26 and September 8. Karnataka, for its part, told the apex court that it is complying with the CWMA's directions. Tamil Nadu has further sought its intervention to direct Karnataka to also make good the accumulated shortfall in earlier releases. Since it sought water over and above what the CWMA had directed, Tamil Nadu was urged to challenge the authority's decision before the appropriate forum.

Approaching the Supreme Court may make for good political optics but a settlement over sharing waters will be elusive unless there is a mutually acceptable distress-sharing formula for years of rainfall deficiency. Only a political dialogue between the riparian states (which should include Kerala and Puducherry as well) in a genuine spirit of give and take can lay the foundations of a durable settlement. Karnataka should stop harping on the inequity of historical agreements. Tamil Nadu, for its part, should get used to living with less water from the Cauvery, perhaps shifting away from water-intensive crops like paddy. Interestingly, its farmers have been requested to cultivate medium-duration paddy varieties with low water requirements and also adopt direct sowing of rice to conserve water supplies.

Perhaps all of this is easier said than done as the biggest stumbling block is Karnataka's assumption of primacy of rights over the Cauvery as an upper riparian state. How can a party to a dispute assume the role of the judge as well? In contrast, as a lower riparian state, Tamil Nadu is often reduced to the position of a supplicant and forced to approach the Supreme Court for implementation of the directions of the CWMA to Karnataka regarding the flow of water. As if all of this weren't bad enough, Karnataka has plans to build the Mekedatu Dam across the Cauvery to supply drinking water to Bengaluru despite the opposition of lower riparian states. This problem is not specific to the Cauvery. Even West Bengal as an upper riparian state has for a long time come in the way of equitably sharing waters of the Teesta with Bangladesh.

The tech mogul strongman is on the rise

THE RISE OF the liberal order in the 19th century depended on two revolutions. The most obvious was in the political sphere, where reformers restrained over-mighty rulers with a combination of constitutional rules and individual rights. But just as important was the transformation of the business world that created public companies, answerable to their shareholders rather than the government. That political model began to crumble with Vladimir Putin's ascent to the Russian presidency, and continues to devolve with the rise of strongmen globally. But it is the reversal of the second revolution that may prove the most long-lasting and history-shaping.

Previously, public companies had been instruments of state power. But in the 1800s, anybody could create a limited-liability company so long as they could put together a board and management team. Robert Lowe, chancellor of the exchequer under William Gladstone, called these companies "little republics" because they simultaneously limited the power of the state and bound themselves to strict constitutional rules. Lowe's "little republics" are now under threat, externally and internally. Donald Trump has asserted his power over even the biggest US companies, taking stakes in some and telling others where to locate their supply chains.

The internal transformation has been even more far-reaching. Google's 2004 IPO launched a new corporate era in which the link between control and ownership has been severed and the constraints on founders weakened or removed. The company that would eventually become Alphabet adopted three classes of shares: A shares with one vote, B shares with 10 votes, and C shares with no votes. Today, co-founders Larry Page and Sergey Brin retain over 50% of the company's voting power, despite exiting daily management and owning less than 11% of its outstanding voting stock.

Concentrated ownership inevitably reduces the oversight directors or shareholders can exercise. But that's only part of the problem. Successful CEOs such as Zuckerberg have their pick of compliant directors. What does "independent" mean when the controlling shareholder oversees the composition of the board?

CEOs can also up stakes if someone gets in their way. This cocktail — dual-class shares, subservient directors, and jurisdiction shopping — has created a new type of corporation: public capital combined with private control. Many of the most powerful firms are no longer classic public companies in which shareholders elect a board that can replace management. They're something new: vehicles whereby visionary CEOs can raise money without losing control or opportunities for the public to bet on great men.

A recent study found the proportion of US tech IPOs with dual-class shares increased from 20% in 2022 to 15% in 2012. Grab Holdings shareholders recently voted to double the voting power of Class B shares, handing co-founder Anthony Tan 74.5% of voting rights. Cloudflare has won approval to replace its dual-class shares with triple-class shares. Elon Musk has introduced a dual voting structure in SpaceX to make up for his mistake with Tesla: He controls around 90% of Class B shares, which carry 10 votes each, giving him over 80% of voting power, and obliged shareholders to forgo the right to a jury trial or class-action suit. Class B shares also hold the sole power to remove Musk as chairman and CEO, meaning that he can't be ousted without his own consent.

So what? Critics of capitalism have long complained that companies are blinded by the need to generate short-term results to satisfy the stock market. Alphabet and its ilk have come up with a way of raising public money while retaining the freedom to make long-term investments in risky but potentially world-transforming technologies. Investors who don't want to sacrifice corporate control have plenty of conventionally governed options. Surely such corporate innovation should be celebrated rather than reviled — particularly if it is driving, as with AI, a great tech revolution?

There are nevertheless reasons for worry: These new corporate forms exploit shareholder capitalism's legal protections while escaping its discipline. The biggest worry is the concentration of power in the hands of a few. And the close relationship between Trump and his favourite CEOs means the state can reach deep into the private sector and vice versa. To put it simply: An interconnected public-and-private oligarchy rules with ever fewer constraints. This arrangement would be worrying enough in ordinary times. But it is taking place at a moment when AI is remaking the world. Such fundamental change requires careful oversight if it is to serve the general good. Thanks to a combined political and corporate revolution, it is instead being driven by a tiny handful of people who are answerable to nobody but themselves.

SEBI NEEDS TO TAKE STEPS THAT MAKE SPECULATING IN OPTIONS MORE EXPENSIVE

shares (figure 1). On expiry days, when options market activity spikes, the ratio can balloon to as much as 3,000. For comparison, in most developed markets, the number is far more grounded (5 to 15). This mismatch is what India ultimately has to address.

To see why the mismatch matters, consider a trader who trades options and holds just enough of the underlying shares to offset the position's directional exposure, its delta — a strategy also known as delta-hedging and employed by institutional investors. The catch is that an option's delta shifts violently as expiry nears and the price hovers around the strike. Keeping the position delta-neutral therefore forces the trader to buy and sell the underlying again and again — in a cash market that is already thin, so each rebalancing trade moves the price and feeds the very volatility the hedge was meant to neutralise. Thin participation in the auction only makes this worse. Data so far suggest that less than 5% of daily trading activity now flows through the CAS window (figure 2), down from around 10% before the transition. In a market with this kind of liquidity mismatch, derivatives hedging can end up driving the price of the underlying shares rather than the other way around.

The same mismatch invites a second problem: manipulation. If you hold a large options position, one way to make it pay is to nudge the handful of shares that set the index. A few hundred crore rupees deployed in a thin cash market can shift the settlement price against which contracts worth thousands of crores are settled. Sebi's interim order against Jane Street alleges that the firm used such a strategy. And Sebi's recent interim order against Copthall Mauritius Investment Limited and Mansi Share and Stock Broking Private Limited over prima facie manipulative trades during the auction suggests that CAS has not eliminated the problem either, in part because it has yet to attract sufficient liquidity.

This points to the only durable fix. Tinkering with the last 20 minutes will not help until the imbalance beneath it is addressed, and there are only two ways to do that. One solution is to deepen the cash market by making short selling easier for investors, creating genuine two-sided flow that makes the closing price harder to move. The other is to narrow the gap in the cost of speculation between options and the underlying shares. An investor can build a large position in the derivatives market with substantially lower capital than would be required to take an equivalent position in the underlying. As long as that differential persists, options will keep attracting disproportionate volumes, and the problem is likely to persist. Therefore, Sebi needs to take steps that make speculating in options more expensive. Its recent moves — larger lot sizes, higher securities transaction tax, fewer weekly expiries on some indices — are a good start. However, the recent data shows these steps have had only limited impact (figure 1). The the gap they were meant to close remains substantial.

The auction was never a problem. The mismatch beneath it is — and until that narrows, no closing mechanism that Sebi designs can eliminate the chaos that Indian financial markets experience on expiry days.

Who are you, again?

EVERY AUTUMN, the state develops a suspicion that its pensioners have died, and each must file a certificate of being alive, the continued drawing of the pension being, apparently, insufficient evidence of appetite. Every year, a company director must file a KYC certifying that he is himself, a proposition nobody contests on the other 364 days. The provident fund office will not release a claim unless Aadhaar, PAN, and bank details match to the last character. Descartes needed only cogito ergo sum. The Indian citizen authenticates, therefore he is, and must be again next quarter.

India has built the most ambitious identity infrastructure in the democratic world, and has arranged its institutions so that almost none will accept another's verification of who a citizen is.

eKYC is a word concealing at least four different activities. First is customer due diligence under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, which asks who a customer is and how risky. Second is authentication under the Aadhaar Act, 2016, which asks only whether a person is who she claims to be. Third is the seeding of Aadhaar and bank accounts that routes welfare to the right beneficiary, not identity verification at all but payment plumbing. Fourth is subscriber verification in telecom and sundry portals, where the object is to trust a SIM, not to know a customer. Four tasks, four laws, one name. That is why "doing KYC" once buys the citizen nothing at the next counter.

The rulebook, oddly, is kinder than the counter. The RBI's Master Direction on KYC, 2016, already permits Aadhaar OTP, offline Aadhaar, video identification, and DigiLocker, and directs that where a KYC Identifier exists in Central KYC Records Registry, the record be fetched and customer not troubled again unless something has changed or lapsed. The humane rule is written. The branch has not read it. Under Sebi's circular of May 2024, a "validated" record travels across brokers and funds, but only inside the securities market. Your bank knows you well enough to sell you insurance, but not well enough for the insurer to issue the policy without fresh papers, though all four regulators sit on the same registry.

Outside finance, the checks are misdescribed by the very officials enforcing them. The department of telecommunications discontinued Aadhaar eKYC for SIMs in 2018, after Justice KS Puttaswamy v Union of India [(2019) 1 SCC 1]; the Aadhaar number was struck from the form years ago, yet citizens still believe they are "doing Aadhaar KYC" for a phone. The rural development ministry told Lok Sabha in 2025 that the Aadhaar-based payment system is merely a mode of payment and that MGNREGA work cannot be denied for want of it; at the worksite, it is denied anyway. LPG subsidy can flow to a bank account linked directly to the gas connection, with no Aadhaar; at the showroom, biometrics are demanded regardless.

Descartes needed only cogito ergo sum. The Indian citizen authenticates, therefore he is, and must be again next quarter

Why did centralisation not become reuse? The registry, created by notification S.O. 3183(E) of November 26, 2015, holds well over a billion records, one for every financially active adult: a library in which every book is catalogued and none is lent. India centralised storage before it harmonised purpose; each regulator runs its own logic atop the common records, and the RBI itself has been wary of records drawn from them. Beneath this runs the incentive that defeats the rest. An institution is legally safer collecting the data itself, and re-collection is always permitted where information looks changed or incomplete. A rigid digital flow shuts out the elderly, the disabled, and the mismatched. And a citizen prompted for KYC relentlessly learns to obey exactly the signal the fraudster imitates; the "update your KYC" scam works because the state has rehearsed its victims. The fraudster, it must be said, is the one counterparty who accepts your KYC at the first attempt.

Five changes would fix most of this, and the first two need no new technology. First, amend Rule 9 of the Prevention of Money Laundering (Maintenance of Records) Rules, 2005, to make reliance a duty: where a valid KYC Identifier exists, an entity must onboard from it, recording a specific, risk-based reason for any fresh demand, with a safe harbour for good-faith reliance. Second, supersede the 2015 notification so that bodies outside the money-laundering perimeter — the EPFO, oil marketing companies, food departments — can rely on the registry under strict purpose limitation. Third, convert the Financial Stability and Development Council's February 2024 proposal for uniform KYC norms into a binding standard: one data schema, one list of documents, one re-verification clock in place of today's two-, eight- and 10-year cycles. Fourth, build a federated exchange rather than another central store, issuing purpose-bound tokens carrying only assurance level, date, source, and consent, routed through the consent managers of the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025. Singapore's MyInfo and Estonia's X-Road rest on the once-only principle: reuse proof, not raw data. Fifth, codify, from the Aadhaar (Authentication and Offline Verification) Regulations, 2021, an enforceable right to an alternative rail, so that no entitlement is extinguished by an authentication failure alone.

The colonial default was that an activity is prohibited unless permitted. Its digital descendant is that a citizen is unverified unless re-verified. The presumption against the citizen has survived the very technology built to retire it.

The state has identified its citizens a billion times over. It has not yet learnt to remember them. The pensioner, meanwhile, should keep his certificate handy. Autumn returns every year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Tangible growth

Apropos of "Beyond the 7.8% number" (FE, September 4), the debate over revised GDP figures highlights a crucial gap between statistical recalibration and lived reality. While we must certainly appreciate the methodological shift to capture broader economic activity, we cannot ignore that a 7.8% growth rate feels disconnected from the ground realities, where private consumption remains fragile and investment is still selective. The real issue is not the integrity of our data, but its utility in guiding policy. To restore confidence, we need a balanced approach that pairs these new metrics with a clear focus on job creation and wage growth. We should publish additional granular data that tracks household well-being, ensuring that our statistical evolution is matched by tangible progress in ordinary citizens' lives.

—K Chidanand Kumar, Bengaluru

Look beyond numbers

Apropos of "Beyond the 7.8% number" (FE, September 4), the impressive Q1 FY27 GDP growth deserves recognition, but the headline figure should not obscure the quality of growth. Strong manufacturing, capital formation, and domestic consumption are encouraging, yet employment generation, private investment, exports, and productivity must keep pace. The new GDP series also calls for greater transparency and a consistent back series to strengthen statistical credibility. India must therefore look beyond quarterly numbers and ensure that GDP expansion translates into productive jobs, higher household incomes, and broad-based prosperity. Growth is meaningful only when its benefits reach the wider economy.

● MOTORCYCLE REVIEW: NEW DUCATI MONSTER

Monster when you want, a docile cat otherwise

DUAL PERSONALITY, STRONG HERITAGE, ‘STRIPPED AWAY’ DESIGN, BUT EXPENSIVE

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

HAVING PREVIOUSLY pushed Ducati’s long-distance machines — the Multistrada V4 S and V4 Rally — to their absolute limits on Italian high-ways, I had a solid understanding of the Italian brand’s engineering refinement. But getting on the fifth-generation Ducati Monster across Delhi’s congested streets offered a unique perspective.

What’s the Monster?

To appreciate the new bike, one must look back at its heritage. ► 1st Gen (1993/M900): Debuted at the 1992 Cologne Show, creating the ‘Sport Naked’ category with a simple formula: a Superbike chassis paired with a road engine. ► 2nd Gen (2008/Monster 1100): Refined the iconic muscle with sharper lines and V-twin power. ► 3rd Gen (2014/Monster 1200): Liquid-cooled Testastretta power. ► 4th Gen (2021): Got a lightweight aluminium monocoque frame. ► 5th Gen (2026): Redesigned from scratch with the new V2 engine.

Why is it famous?

The Monster democratised the Ducati brand, and got new buyers to the showrooms because it looked Shoulders, waist, and knees form 90-degree angle (above), and riding is easy thanks to a low 815-mm seat height and upright riding position more accessible than big and heavy Ducati bikes.

How’s the ride?

On the move, it did not turn as many heads as a Multistrada would. But, at red lights, its muscular stance made others realise it’s special. When the lights turned green, the 890-cc V2 engine (111 hp, 91.1 Nm) left traffic in the rear-view mirror.

But more than power, what I loved was its light weight. At 175 kg (wet, no fuel), the Monster is nimble, and navigating the crowded lanes of West Delhi’s markets was remarkably easy, aided by a low 815-mm seat height and upright ride position. This new V2 engine delivers over 80% of its torque between 4,000 and 10,000 rpm. In Urban or Road mode, it purrs like a docile cat, and rides like butter in bumper-to-bumper traffic. Switch it to Sport mode, and it shows what power is. While I couldn’t test the efficiency, expect a figure of 20 km/litre.

Should you buy it?

Starting at ₹13.99 lakh, ex-showroom, for the standard version, and ₹14.45 lakh for the Monster+ in Iceberg White, it is expensive. At a time when the world is shifting towards midsize bikes (350-750 cc), the Monster occupies an exclusive space — not designed for high sales, but focused on rides who get a high on two-wheeler adrenaline.

Kia's hybrid debut faces sharp price rivalry

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

KIA HAS ENTERED India’s premium three-row SUV segment with the Sorento, starting at ₹27.99 lakh for the 2.2-litre diesel (193 PS/442 Nm) and ₹29.49 lakh for the 1.6-litre Turbo GDI Hybrid (prices are ex-showroom). The latter combines a 180 PS petrol engine with a 65 PS electric motor (delivering 264 Nm torque), making it the first in its segment to offer a strong hybrid layout paired with all-wheel drive (AWD).

But the Sorento Hybrid enters a landscape turned on its head by JSW MG Motor India, which recently launched the Hector Tomahawk PHEV — offering full plug-in hybrid capability with a 20.5 kWh battery — at a lower ₹25.7 lakh (or ₹21.79 lakh via its Battery-as-a-Service model). Unlike the Sorento, the Tomahawk PHEV can be driven in pure EV mode for 100-odd km.

To justify its premium over plug-in competitors and conventional strong hybrids, Kia is banking on scale, technology, and luxury. Built on the global N3 platform, the Sorento is the longest and widest in its class (4,815 mm length, 2,815 mm wheelbase). It premieres the global debut of the generative AI-powered Kia AI Assistant, dual 12.3-inch curved screens, 2nd-row ventilated seating, and Level-2+ ADAS.

Foreign assets amnesty scheme goes live with forms now available

FORM 1 HAS TO BE FILED BY DEC 31 WITH VALUATION OF UNDISCLOSED INCOME

SAIKAT NEOGI

THE INCOME TAX Department has notified Form 1 under Foreign Assets of Small Taxpayers Disclosure Scheme, 2026 (FAST-DS 2026) to declare undisclosed foreign income or assets and provide the valuation. It has to be filed electronically by December 31, 2026 through the income tax e-filing portal.

The Form 1 comprises four parts: Part A for the basic information of the assessee; Part B for details of foreign assets and incomes; Part C for the valuation summary of immovable property, jewellery, artistic work, securities, etc (as on March 31, 2026) and Part D for the amount payable.

The I-T department will then issue Form 2 which will determine the amount payable. The assessee will have to pay this within two months or within four months along with interest for two months from the end of the month in which Form 2 was issued. The taxpayer then has to file Form 3 with the payment details, following which it will issue Form 4 as the final order certifying the validity of the declaration and payment.

Convenient route

FAST-DS 2026 offers an easier route for regularising unreported foreign income and assets compared with earlier disclosure schemes and the Black Money Act (BMA). Under the BMA, 30% tax plus penalty up to 300% of tax, along with a separate ₹10 lakh penalty for failure to dis-

TIME TO ACT

■ FAST-DS 2026 offers a more convenient way to regularise unreported foreign income and assets compared with earlier disclosure schemes and the Black Money Act

■ A delay of over two months in paying the fee notified in Form 2 will attract penalty interest

■ The effective tax is 60% of the foreign income/ asset value or ₹1 lakh for certain assets close foreign assets / inaccurate particulars, may apply. Under FAST-DS 2026, an effective levy of 60% under Category 1 cases — undisclosed foreign income and undisclosed foreign assets up to ₹1 crore — and a fee of ₹1 lakh for Category 2 cases — assets up to ₹5 crore which were acquired from income which was offered to tax in India applies.

“The voluntary disclosure will provide immunity from further tax, penalty and prosecution under the BMA and Income-tax Act, 2025 offering taxpayers greater certainty and a controlled exit from potential BMA or I-T Act exposure,” says Abheet Sachdeva, partner, Nangia Global.

Residential status

The FAST-DS is not restricted only to individuals who are currently resident in India. A person who was resident in India during the relevant period can use the scheme even if he is currently a non-resident or falls in the ‘Resident but Not Ordinarily Resident’ category.

Manish Garg, partner, Tax, AKM Global, a tax and consulting firm, says this is particularly relevant for returning Indians who accumulated foreign bank accounts, investments, employee stock option plans, restricted stock units or insurance policies during their stay abroad. “Compared with the original black money disclosure window, FAST-DS provides a fresh, targeted opportunity for smaller and often inadvertent historical omissions, with a relatively calibrated tax/fee structure and immunity from specified Black Money Act consequences,” he says.

Receiving a notice or inquiry does not by itself make a taxpayer ineligible for FAST-DS 2026. If assessment proceedings under the I-T Act or the BMA are pending in respect of the undisclosed income or asset, the taxpayer can make a declaration under FAST-DS 2026, and the Assessing Officer is required to take the declaration into account while finalising the assessment under BMA or I-T Act.

However, it cannot be used where the assessment proceedings for the relevant year have been completed under the BMA. It also does not apply to income or assets representing proceeds of crime where proceedings have been initiated or are pending under the Prevention of Money-Laundering Act. Taxpayers who have received notices should review the status of the proceedings and consider making a FAST-DS declaration rather than assuming that the ongoing proceedings disqualify them.

HIMALAYAN SALES

B Govindarajan, CEO, Royal Enfield

Since its 2016 launch, the Himalayan brand of ADVs, including the 450 that was launched in 2023, has sold over 320,000 units globally.

Why RE brought back the OG Himalayan

SIMPLICITY, COMMUNITY DEMAND, BETTER PRICING

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

WHEN ROYAL ENFIELD launched the liquid-cooled Himalayan 450 (452-cc engine) in 2023, it was a leap towards high performance, sophisticated chassis, and modern electronics. Yet, on Friday, marking a decade since the original Himalayan 411 cc carved out India’s adventure touring category, Royal Enfield launched the all-new Himalayan 440 (443-cc engine) priced at ₹2.29 lakh (ex-showroom).

But on paper, it seems intriguing: why introduce a 443-cc when a 452-cc already exists?

The company said the answer lies in business logic, simplicity, and community demand.

Community demand

When Royal Enfield replaced the 411 with the 450, a segment of its rider community felt something was lost. While performance riders embraced the 450, long-distance riders missed the low-stress character of the OG machine. Royal Enfield said that driven by rider feedback, the 440 is a retro move: a simpler, uncomplicated machine built for riders who prioritise mechanical dependability over top-end speed.

440 versus 411

But the 440 isn’t simply a rebadged 411; instead, it addresses the mechanical flaws of the original. The engine size has grown to 443 cc, and it delivers 25.4 bhp and 34 Nm of low-end torque at 4,000 rpm. Importantly, it replaces the old 5-speed box with a new 6-speed transmission for relaxed highway cruising, updates the chassis frame for durability, and adds larger front brake pistons, an LED headlamp, and Tripper navigation powered by Google.

440 versus 450

Compared to the liquid-cooled 450, the 440 shares almost nothing mechanically. It has an air/oil-cooled long-stroke engine and simple digital-analogue gauges over complex ride-by-wire modes and TFT displays of the 450. It retains pure ADV hardware: a low 800-mm seat height, 220-mm ground clearance, and 21-inch front and 17-inch rear spoke wheels.

The 440 also plugs a pricing void. With the 450 priced well over ₹3 lakh, budget-conscious buyers were open to offerings from other companies. The 440 aims to attract that customer.

Lastly, the 440 proves that progress isn’t always about adding more technology or power or finesse, but in bringing back simplicity.

Early units booked now will have an exclusive 10-year anniversary badge on the fuel tank.

● YOUR QUERIES: INCOME TAX

No limit on F&O losses set-off, but can’t adjust against salary

● Is there any maximum limit to set off the loss in options trading from the gains in the cash segment?

There is no monetary limit. As per Section 43(5) of the Income Tax Act, income or loss from F&O transactions is classified as business income or loss, as the case may be. Therefore, loss from options trading would fall under the general set-off rules for business loss under Section 71, i.e., business loss can be set off against income from any other head in the same financial year — including STCG/LTCG from your cash/equity segment — with the sole exception of salary income. So the entire loss (whatever be the amount) can be set off in the same year, subject only to your total income from other heads. Any unabsorbed balance can be carried forward for eight years, but from the following year it can only be set off against future business income and not capital gains.

● Can I claim tax benefit on HRA received if I own a house in another city and is kept vacant?

Yes, you can. HRA exemption only requires that the house you’re living in is rented — it doesn’t matter if you own a house in another city. So HRA exemption will be available as long as you live in a rented apartment, even though you may own a house in another city, and irrespective of whether that house is vacant or occupied. One catch: exemption on HRA is only available under the old tax regime.

● I have retired from service and have income of ₹10 lakh from deposits and dividends. I did not file ITR as income is below ₹12 lakh a year. Will it create a problem later?

As per law, you must file an ITR if your gross total income for the year is more than the basic exemption limit, which is ₹4 lakh under the new tax regime (computed before deductions and before the rebate is applied). Someone earning ₹10 lakh under the new regime pays no tax because of the rebate provided by the Act, but their income is still well above the exemption limit of ₹4 lakh, so they must file a return. It is important to note that tax payable and the obligation to file a tax return are two separate requirements. So if your deposit interest plus dividends exceed ₹4 lakh gross, you should file your tax return. Practically, file now as a belated return for the year in question if the window is still open.

Non-filers run the risk of receiving a notice from the tax department, and you also permanently lose any TDS refund that may be owed to you if you don’t file.

ANTHROPIC TO FINALISE $15 BN PRE-IPO CREDIT FACILITY

ANTHROPIC IS SET to finalise an expansion of its revolving credit facility to $15 billion, according to people familiar with the matter, clearing a hurdle before the artificial intelligence firm's public filing for its highly anticipated IPO. Morgan Stanley is leading the process, the people said. Goldman Sachs Group & JPMorgan Chase & Co. also have prominent roles on the facility, along with Citigroup, they said. The four lenders are also leading the IPO. The Claude chatbot maker is seeking to raise as much as SpaceX or more in the IPO, people familiar with the preparations have said.

BYTEDANCE HAS SECURED a $29.6 billion loan from 30 banks, three people with direct knowledge of the matter said on Friday, with the Chinese social media giant's bet on AI development driving strong interest from lenders. The loan is the second-largest made in Asia this year after SoftBank raised $40 billion in March to boost OpenAI investments, underscoring lenders' enthusiasm for the sector which demands ever-increasing capital.

STAFF CUTS ACCOUNT FOR 8% OF GROUP'S GLOBAL WORKFORCE

Volkswagen flags 50,000 job cuts in major rejig

BLOOMBERG
September 4

VOLKSWAGEN'S SUPERVISORY BOARD backed a sweeping restructuring that calls for 50,000 additional job cuts, far fewer models and a smaller industrial footprint, giving CEO Oliver Blume his clearest mandate yet to overhaul Europe's biggest carmaker.

The measures approved on Thursday at a meeting in Wolfsburg double workforce reductions across Volkswagen Group brands since late 2024, while also paving the way for the company to slim its vehicle lineup by 2035. The new staff cuts, about half of which will affect German operations, represent 8% of VW's global workforce.

Management is pursuing the reductions in response to declining sales in China, high costs in Germany and under-used factories. VW is also tightening investment, planning €135 billion of capex and R&D spending over 2027 through 2031, about 16% less than the investment agreed on last year.

The spending reductions come as Chinese rivals led by BYD expand in Europe, adding to pressure to cut costs and direct investment toward its strongest businesses.

The shares surged 9.7% in Frankfurt, the biggest intraday advance since March 2023, before paring about a third of the gain. They had fallen by more than a fifth over the past year through Thursday's close.

"This is a brave plan and a realistic decision for all concerned," analysts at Citigroup wrote, calling the agreement "existential" for the carmaker.

It "should further allow VW to continue to move capital to its highest-return brands and models, without the need to maintain excess capacity utilisation," they added.

VW's works council, which represents the company's employees, sought to temper the potential for job losses. It said the 50,000 figure is a management planning assumption of the number of staff cuts required to achieve Volkswagen's target of 9% margin by 2030. A spokesman for the labour group said that compulsory layoffs remain ruled out through the end of 2030 under existing agreements. That distinction reflects the compromise behind Thursday's unanimous board vote, reached a day earlier than expected.

India unit to lay off 12% of workforce

VOLKSWAGEN GROUP'S INDIA unit is accelerating a three-year restructuring plan that will eliminate about 12% of its workforce, people familiar with the matter said, as the German automaker looks to lower costs before its next investment cycle in India.

Skoda Auto Volkswagen India began the overhaul in 2025 but has moved to tighten the timetable, with reductions now being carried out in quicker tranches through 2027, the people said. A few hundred white-collar and shop-floor jobs may disappear over the course of the programme, they said.

The overhaul is intended to save tens of millions of dollars at its India operations by the time Volkswagen begins launching its next generation of vehicles, including a new electric model, the people said. The company is trying to enter that investment phase with a leaner cost base after struggling to gain scale in auto markets.

"While we do not comment on speculative figures regarding our workforce, our ongoing efforts to optimise operations across our Indian business units continue to gain momentum," said Piyush Arora, MD and chief executive officer of Skoda Auto Volkswagen India.

Skoda Auto Volkswagen India began the overhaul in 2025 but has moved to tighten the timetable, with reductions now being carried out in quicker tranches through 2027, the people said. A few hundred white-collar and shop-floor jobs may disappear over the course of the programme, they said.

The overhaul is intended to save tens of millions of dollars at its India operations by the time Volkswagen begins launching its next generation of vehicles, including a new electric model, the people said. The company is trying to enter that investment phase with a leaner cost base after struggling to gain scale in auto markets.

"While we do not comment on speculative figures regarding our workforce, our ongoing efforts to optimise operations across our Indian business units continue to gain momentum," said Piyush Arora, MD and chief executive officer of Skoda Auto Volkswagen India.

US military turns off ad trackers on devices

REUTERS
Washington, September 4

US MILITARY OFFICIALS say they have disabled advertising trackers on a range of phones and computers, according to letters released by US Senator Ron Wyden and statements given to Reuters, a development that follows reports that commercially available location data had been used to target American forces in West Asia.

The Air Force told Wyden it disabled the advertising identifiers on computers and mobile phones two months ago. US Special Operations Command said that it had 'recently' disabled them on its Windows devices. The Army said that advertising IDs tied to mobile devices had been disabled since earlier this year. Wyden, an Oregon Democrat, has pressed the Pentagon on this issue.

The disclosures highlight a growing national security concern: that location data collected by the advertising industry and sold by data brokers — companies that collate and resell personal data — can be used to track

US non-farm payrolls surge by 162K in Aug

REUTERS
Washington, September 4

US JOB GROWTH accelerated sharply in August while the unemployment rate held steady at 4.1%, suggesting an improvement in the labour market after recent struggles, keeping an interest rate hike from the Federal Reserve this month on the table.

The larger-than-expected increase in non-farm payrolls last month reported by the Labour Department in its closely watched employment report reflected a rebound in leisure and hospitality employment following two straight monthly declines, as well as a reversal of the drag from local government education.

The unemployment rate was unchanged despite the labor force increasing by 683,000, adding another layer of strength to the report. Financial markets boosted rate hike bets for the US central bank's September meeting. The odds had been dialed back after Fed Governor Christopher Waller said at a Reuters event on Thursday that he was inclined to argue in favor of keeping rates steady if upcoming data confirmed inflation pressures were cooling.

Non-farm payrolls surged by 162,000 jobs last month after an upwardly revised rise of 21,000 in July, the Labour Department's Bureau of Labour Statistics said.

and target military personnel deployed to war zones.

The Air Force and Special Operations Command declined to comment. Similar letters from the Army and Navy to Wyden said they disabled advertising IDs on military devices but gave no indication of when the restrictions were imposed. The Army said that advertising IDs had been blocked on Windows computers 'since before 2021' but that Android and Apple mobile devices had only had it disabled by default "since

US opens probe into 1,000 Tesla Cybercabs

THE US NATIONAL Highway Traffic Safety Administration said it has opened an audit into about 1,000 Tesla Cybercab vehicles, examining the process and technical data the EV maker relied on to claim compliance with federal vehicle safety standards.

The probe comes after Tesla on Thursday began commercial deployment of a small number of the two-seater Cybercab in Austin, Texas, and said it planned to gradually expand the service to additional vehicles and locations.

NHTSA said the Cybercab lacks permanently attached conventional manual controls, including a steering wheel, brake pedal, accelerator pedal and mirrors.

The agency said it would examine the basis for Tesla's certification and related issues, including the extent to which the company determined that certain Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards were not applicable to the vehicle.

Tesla did not immediately respond for comment. The EV maker had 420 autonomous vehicles registered in Texas as of Friday morning, according to state records, including 45 Cybercab vehicles.

US diesel prices hit record $5.85

DIESEL HITA record price in the US on Friday, soaring to an average of $5.85 a gallon for the first time as the six-month war with Iran disrupts the world's flow of fuel. Because diesel is used for many freight and delivery networks, higher diesel prices mean higher transportation costs for a long list of everyday goods.

Some businesses have already passed on costs to consumers in the form of added fees on online orders and packages in the mail. And shoppers may see more and more sticker shock trickle down to store shelves.

One of the most immediate strains is being felt in the grocery aisle, particularly with produce, meat and other perishable foods that need to be hauled in and restocked frequently — or even harvested using diesel-powered farm equipment. It can take time for all of those costs to trickle down. Still, experts warn that price hikes could mount the longer diesel remains expensive.

A range of other products are also transported by diesel trucks, trains and boats, including clothing, cosmetics and furniture. This could add to Republicans' political challenges ahead of November's midterm elections, with many voters already sour on President Donald Trump's management of the economy and fallout of the war he launched.

Telcos push back on Trai's proposed 5G slicing norms

AIRTEL HAS ALSO SAID that any material deterioration in the experience of ordinary users should be reflected in parameters such as speed, latency or network availability. It has opposed the need for operators to face additional regulatory requirements based on network utilisation alone.

Vodafone Idea, meanwhile, has sought the removal of the proposed 80% threshold or its replacement with a technology-neutral framework focused on the actual quality of service delivered to users.

The operators have also raised concerns over Trai's proposal requiring them to inform the regulator 21 days before launching a new 5G network slice and provide details demonstrating that sufficient network capacity is available.

For telcos, the concern is that such requirements could slow the launch of new services and potentially require disclosure of commercially sensitive information before a product is introduced.

The debate comes as operators are increasingly looking at ways to monetise their investments in 5G. While 5G adoption has expanded rapidly, operators have yet to fully translate the technology's capabilities into differentiated revenue streams.

Network slicing is expected to enable operators to offer customised connectivity to enterprises and consumers, including services requiring guaranteed performance. Airtel has already begun using slicing for differentiated consumer offerings.

The consultation also assumes significance as Trai examines the broader implications of differentiated 5G services for net neutrality.

The regulator's challenge will be to ensure that premium or specialised services do not undermine the quality of the basic network, without making the regulatory framework so prescriptive that it limits innovation.

RBI mops up ₹6 lakh crore via VRRRs

MARKET PARTICIPANTS SAID persistent surplus liquidity could force the RBI to look beyond short-term VRRR auctions, with forex swaps and an incremental cash reserve ratio (I-CRR) among the possible tools.

"Even though RBI is trying to mop up the excess via short-term VRRRs, this is not fully effective.

Further, collateralised overnight rates have slid to the 4-4.5% area and short-term money market instruments are being dragged to sub-6% yields," Suyash

Choudhary, CIO-fixed income at Bandhan AMC, said in a note.

He said 'urgent attention' was required, with substantial measures needed to sustainably re-anchor overnight rates to the policy rate.

NSE's decade-long wait for IPO ends

NSE SHARES WERE trading at around ₹1,975-2,050 apiece in the unlisted market as of Friday evening, while the weighted average acquisition cost for several domestic shareholders participating in the OFS is less than ₹1 per share.

Other selling shareholders include Aranda Investments, the Mauritius-based wholly owned subsidiary of Temasek Holdings; Bank of Baroda; Stock Holding Corporation of India; and four public-sector insurers — General Insurance Corporation of India, New India Assurance Company, National Insurance Company and United India Insurance Company.

The regulatory clearance marks a major milestone in NSE's long-delayed journey to the public markets.

The exchange enters the IPO process on the back of strong earnings. NSE's consolidated net profit rose 11% year-on-year to ₹3,122 crore in the first quarter of FY27, while revenue from operations increased 13% to ₹4,560 crore.

NSE's offering could, however, face competition for investor attention from Jio Platforms, which has also recently received approval from the Securities and Exchange Board of India for an IPO and plans to raise around ₹40,000 crore.

Kotak Mahindra Capital, Morgan Stanley India, HSBC Securities and Capital Markets (India), SBI Capital Markets, Avendus Capital, DAM Capital Advisors, HDFC Bank, IDBI Capital Markets and Securities, Motilal Oswal Investment Advisors and Pantomath Capital Advisors are the book-running lead managers to the issue. MUFG Intime India is the registrar for the issue.

liquidity to remain above 2% of net demand and time liabilities (NDTL) even by the end of March. "Thus, the RBI may have to deploy a combination of temporary and more permanent measures for liquidity absorption, and sooner rather than later," he said.

RISK TO INVESTORS

(For details, refer to section titled "Risk Factors" on page 16 of the Prospectus)

1. Losses incurred in past periods and negative cash flows:

We incurred net losses and negative operating cash flows in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024. There can be no assurance that we will not incur losses or negative operating cash flows in the future as we expand our operations. The following table sets forth certain financial information for the Fiscals indicated:

Particulars	Fiscal
	(in ₹ million)
Profit/(Loss) after tax	(2,853.99)	(1,883.83)	(477.10)
Net cash used in operating activities	(348.95)	(451.85)	(313.44)

2. Debt Servicing and Financing Risk:

High indebtedness, weak debt servicing metrics, and reliance on external financing may constrain our liquidity and growth. Failure to generate sufficient cash flows, secure financing, or comply with debt covenants could adversely affect our operations, financial condition, and expansion plans.

Particulars	Fiscal
	2026	2025	2024
Debt service coverage ratio*	0.08	0.37	0.27

*Debt service coverage ratio is calculated as earnings before exceptional item, depreciation and interest divided by total borrowings.

3. Risks related to dependence on Experience Centers:

We derive a significant portion of our Total PPUS GMV from our Experience Centers in India, which contributed 74.72%, 66.41%, and 56.20% of Total PPUS GMV in Fiscal 2026, 2025, and 2024, respectively*. Additionally, within India, our Experience Centers in Mumbai and Delhi accounted for 28.42% and 22.94%, respectively, of Total PPUS GMV in Fiscal 2026.

*This does not include PPUS GMV derived from UK and US as PPUS GMV attributable to the UK and US are omni-channel.

4. Risks related to our online channel:

Our dependence on mobile platforms, app store policies, device compatibility, and technology changes could adversely impact accessibility, growth, and engagement. Failure to maintain mobile ecosystem partnerships, platform compatibility, site performance, or evolving consumer preferences may reduce engagement and sales.

5. Risk related to Trade policies, geopolitics and trade tariffs:

Dependence on export markets, particularly the U.S., exposes us to tariffs, trade disputes, sanctions, and geopolitical developments that may reduce demand and profitability.

6. Customer Growth and Retention Risk:

Our growth depends on attracting new customers, retaining repeat buyers, maintaining brand reputation, and delivering a superior shopping experience. Failure to sustain customer acquisition, engagement, spending levels, or marketing effectiveness could adversely affect revenue, profitability, and growth prospects.

7. Dependence on top Designer Brands:

A significant share of our Total PPUS GMV is concentrated among top designer brands. Our top 10 Designer Brands contributed 30.24%, 26.54% and 23.44% of our Total PPUS GMV in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Failure to retain existing brands, onboard new brands, manage supplier concentration, or address product quality and pricing challenges could adversely affect customer demand, revenue, and growth.

8. Pricing Control and Brand Exclusivity Risk:

The sale price or maximum retail price at which the products are sold through our channels are not within our control. Limited control over product pricing and non-exclusive brand agreements may reduce competitiveness, customer conversion, and traffic. Higher prices versus other channels or reduced brand participation could adversely affect sales, profitability, and responsiveness to changing consumer preferences.

9. Intellectual Property Protection and unauthorised use Risk:

Our right to use certain intellectual property acquired under the IP Agreements has been challenged. We have received a notice seeking termination of the License Agreement alleging contractual breaches, which we have disputed. While our Company has responded to the Notice, denying such allegations, any further claims, disputes, or legal proceedings relating to these intellectual property rights could adversely affect our business, operations, and reputation.

10. Risks related to dependence on womenswear category:

Our business is dependent on the sale of womenswear for a significant portion of our revenues, contributing 77.70%, 75.66%, and 77.88% of our Total PPUS GMV in Fiscal 2026, 2025, and 2024, respectively. Negative trends in womenswear demand, economic conditions, trade policies, or tariffs may reduce business volumes.

11. Utilisation of Net Proceeds related Risk:

Company proposes to utilize the Net Proceeds towards (i) investment in our wholly owned Subsidiary, PSL Retail for expenditure towards lease liabilities of Experience Centers, and back-end offices in India; (ii) funding towards sales and marketing expenses to be incurred by our Company; and (iii) general corporate purposes. The usage of our Net Proceeds towards these Objects will not result in the creation of any identifiable assets.

Particulars	Fiscal
	2026	2025	2024
Rent expenses (in ₹ million)	847.83	482.95	350.07

*The rent expenses relate solely to the Experience Centers of our Company, in India and abroad, and do not include any rent expenses in relation to short-term pop-up stores, warehouses or offices.

12. Since the Company has incurred loss in Fiscal 2026 based on Restated Consolidated Financial Information, the basic and diluted EPS is negative, and hence, the Price to Earnings ratio is not ascertainable.

Regulation or creativity or innovation. Which do you choose? Censorship or self-regulation, what do you prefer?

India is a beautiful working model for self-regulation and self-censorship and we work closely with the government to make sure we are following everything we need to follow without having an onerous regulatory model. It's important because you don't want to interfere with creativity and you also need to be a responsible player. Our relationship with the government allows us to do that. India has always been a phenomenal free speech culture, so in the spirit of that, it has not been that tough.

What would you need to change in your secret sauce to be equally, if not more, successful 10 years from today?

A lot of companies have a motto that they put on a plaque and never look at again. We actually run the business by that culture memo. Over the years it went from being a 170-page Power-Point document to a couple of pages of memo. But at the core the values are intact. And you have to have great people to do this. You have to give them all the resources to do the best work of their life and get out of the way. It's the last part that people trip up on a lot. That's going to shepherd us into the next 10 years, which will look a lot like the last 10, but better and faster.

Non-fiction filmmakers sometimes feel like stepchildren in the film world. Are we going to see a lot more stuff on Netflix which will be non-fiction? Is there a place for it and is it growing?

Absolutely. I hope you're seeing a lot of it on Netflix today. That Academy Award that we were able to bring home to India was for a documentary short. It has always been core to the business. I was a kid in Phoenix who had to travel for an hour and a half to the theatre to see a documentary on the Holocaust. What got me excited was this opportunity that no matter where you are in the world, you'd have access to a documentary which you mostly don't. So there's always going to be a place for that at Netflix.

With IP lawsuits rising, do you see AI platforms like Midjourney and MiniMax challenging your studio-quality short-form content by replicating protected IP from Squid Games and Stranger Things?

We always have to be aware of what the audience is gravitating towards and how we serve that need. I have not fact checked it, but I heard that the big micro drama company in China switched to doing all AI-generated micro dramas and that the engagement in those dropped by 70 per cent. But as it is right now, audiences are looking to either escape or connect when they engage in content in programming. And there's something about the lack of humanity there that people are rejecting right now.

When you started out, did you think that you would be this successful at becoming the entertainer of the world? And which country has been particularly difficult to work in?

When I met Reed in '99, he was clear we were going to be exactly what we are now. I was more skeptical whether it would get that big and certainly not that fast.

Every country has its own nuances. People have individual tastes. The hardest thing to do is to be able to operate in those very bespoke environments. Sometimes it can be navigating regulatory environments and sometimes it is about understanding the local taste and sensibility. That can be difficult.

You spoke about using AI in an industry where personalisation is key. What would you advise the CEOs reimagining businesses in the world of AI, and what would be the one thing you would tell them not to do?

You have to figure out what is the use case for AI that advances your business initiative and don't get caught up in this idea that you just have to be an AI because that is where all the investment is going. There are things that AI will completely transform and if we are mostly just running head first, it is important that people have a strategy of what they are going to use this tool for and how it will improve the business and on what dimensions are they investing versus being AI at any cost.

RAPID FIRE

● One lesson that Bollywood has taught you about storytelling.
The best storytelling is timeless.

● What about Operation Safed Sagargot you most excited?
The negative thing about my role is I get to see the cuts early. I watched the first couple of episodes without the VFX and the story itself was so engrossing that I was not distracted by the lack of the VFX.

● If, for whatever reason, Netflix no longer works out for you and you have the ability to choose to be the editor of any news organisation in the world, which one would it be?
I look back now, and today I would be such a lousy news editor. I don't think I would pick any of them. I would be a professional consumer.

● If you were forced to run Netflix looking at only one metric every day, what would that be?
It's an internal wonky word...love score. We have this ability to measure how much people really are loving what they are watching. I can't tell you how we do that, but it's part of the secret sauce.

● The last time you and Reed Hastings disagreed?
Reed moved on from Netflix a while ago. So now I am the co-CEO with Greg (Peters). And we decided early on, that we would disagree violently with each other on things we really care about. And we would make sure that we didn't pull punches with each other ever. Because the one thing we both care deeply about is the success of the business and we have complementary skill sets. That said, we agree about 95 per cent of the time and if we don't, we duke it out.

● The last time you and Monika Shergill disagreed.
Very rarely because Monica knows so much more about this market than I do. Why would I possibly disagree with her?

● The one series that is on another platform you wish was on yours.
The Studio because I was in it. And now if I tell people to watch my episode, I have to tell them to watch Apple TV.

● If you have the opportunity to buy any of the following IPs from Warner Brothers Discovery for a price you like, which one would it be: Batman, The Big Bang Theory, Friends, Harry Potter, the entire CNN or TNT Sports.
Harry Potter. If you think back to a franchise that has really stood the test of time, you probably have 20 that are legitimate and Harry Potter is certainly one of them.

● Sanjay Leela Bhansali or Martin Scorsese? Who went over budget?
No comment.

● The best sequel that never got made?
I wish we would have got to Mindhunter Part 3. We always anticipated there would be a third season but David Fincher got very busy making a film. And he is an unbelievably meticulous creator so he couldn't just do two things at a time and he certainly didn't want to short change either one.

● The one earnings call question that kept you up at night.
None. That's an honest answer.

● The most expensive production Netflix has ever done.
Probably Rebel Moon. We made two very big budget movies back to back and released them back to back.

● The one marketing campaign that you loved that wasn't done by Netflix.
FX did a really amazing job of making The Bear feel like it was a much bigger show than it was. It was really because the marketing was so strong.

● One misconception about Netflix in India that you would like to change?
Probably the classy massy one, which is understanding that we're doing both.

● In the benefit of hindsight, do you think Sacred Games was not the right way to start?
No. I wish we had done something like Lock Upp at the same time that we did Sacred Games. And knew that we eventually were going to do both.

● When you meet a first-time filmmaker, is there one tell that convinces you that they are talented?
A rich understanding of the context of the story of film and storytelling. David Fincher and I had one of our first dinners together where we talked all night about just great movies and what made a movie better than all the others. And that was his observation on every great movie ever made or every career-defining performance, which is something I had not thought about until he articulated it that way.

● One piece of advice to a director who is preparing a pitch for Netflix.
It's a very bad idea to pitch me no matter where I am. That happens all the time and it's not very productive for the idea. I would also say that film schools should have an entire course on just pitching.

● What is the most awkward place a story has been pitched to you?
The one not so crazy location is that I will be out to dinner with my wife and another couple and someone will come to the table and pitch relentlessly.

SERVICES OF PILOT-IN-COMMAND TERMINATED

Air India Phuket flight faced triple hydraulic failure: AAIIB report

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, September 4

AN AIR INDIA Airbus A320 Neo flying from Phuket to Delhi on August 4 lost all three hydraulic systems within seconds, triggering autopilot disengagement, a stall warning and an altitude upset, according to the preliminary report of the Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB).

The report also raised a serious safety concern after the pilot-in-command (PIC) tested "non-negative" for psychoactive substances in a post-flight confirmatory test. AAIB has recommended that the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) take appropriate action to prevent the abuse of such substances.

Air India on Friday terminated the services of the pilot-in-command who had tested positive for drug use.

The announcement from the airline came hours after probe agency AAIB's preliminary report into the Phuket flight incident said the drug use by the pilot was a serious concern and asked regulator DGCA to take appropriate action.

"The Pilot-in-Command of the Phuket-Delhi flight tested positive for a psychoactive substance. In line with Air India's zero-tolerance approach to violation of safety, fitness or regulatory requirements, the pilot's employment has been terminated with immediate effect," the airline said in a statement.

The aircraft, VT-EXO, was cruising at 36,000 ft in the Kolkata Flight Information Region when its flight-control system detected a loss of the green hydraulic system at 04:02:43 UTC (coordinated universal time) on August 4. Four seconds later, it detected the loss of the blue and yellow systems, the report said.

SAFETY CONCERNS

■ The report raised a safety concern after the pilot-in-command tested "non-negative" for psychoactive substances

■ AAIB has recommended that DGCA take appropriate action to prevent the abuse of such substances

■ The aircraft initially climbed 372 feet before losing 292 feet from its assigned flight level

■ After landing safely, 20 passengers and four cabin crew members received medical assistance

The autopilot disengaged at 04:02:48 UTC, followed by a continuous repetitive chime. Three seconds later, a stall warning was triggered. The co-pilot, who was flying the aircraft, attempted to control the situation before the PIC took over.

The aircraft initially climbed 372 feet before losing 292 feet from its assigned flight level. The blue hydraulic system recovered shortly afterwards, followed by the yellow and green systems, restoring normal operation of the flight-control surfaces, AAIB mentioned.

The seatbelt signs were off when the incident occurred, resulting in injuries to passengers and cabin crew. The pilots decided to continue to Delhi rather than divert to a nearer airport and sought medical priority from Delhi air traffic control.

After landing safely, 20 passengers and four cabin crew members received medical assistance. The aircraft suffered damage to overhead bins, ceiling panels and other cabin fixtures. The report said the aircraft had been dispatched under a Minimum Equipment List (MEL) provision relating to the Power Transfer Unit (PTU), which had been invoked on July 28. The PTU acts as an auxiliary pressure source for the green and yellow hydraulic systems without transferring hydraulic fluid between them.

The report also disclosed that both pilots underwent post-flight medical examinations in Delhi. Breathalyzer tests were satisfactory for both. However, subsequent testing for psychoactive substances found the PIC's initial sample to be non-negative. Blood samples were then sent for confirmatory testing, which was also non-negative. The co-pilot tested negative in both tests.

HarperCollins to publish Sonia memoir in India

● Book to be released on November 10

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, September 4

IN WHAT IS being seen as Penguin India's loss and HarperCollins India's gain, the latter has bagged publishing rights for Congress leader Sonia Gandhi's forthcoming memoir, Belonging: A Journey of Love. The book will be published in India on November 10, the publisher announced on Friday.

Under controversy after a publishing deal with Penguin India fell through, reportedly over some parts the publisher wanted deleted, which the author rejected, the deal went to HarperCollins. When contacted, HarperCollins refused to comment on whether the parts Penguin wanted out will be included in the India version, but a source confirmed that since the author is on board, the content is in consonance with her wishes. They also said the book is under

According to a statement from HarperCollins on Friday, the dramatic account will give readers a "unique lens on India — its tumultuous post-independence history and its present political struggles offering an insider's keen perspective on the country's enormous political, economic and social changes over fifty years."

The publisher said most revelatory will be the "portrait of Sonia herself as she invites readers into her private joys and travails, as well as the people and events that shaped her."

The book traces her childhood in post-war Veneto, the romance that brought her to India, her introduction to her formidable mother-in-law Indira Gandhi, the tragedy of Rajiv's assassination, and Sonia Gandhi's reluctant entry into politics and her political journey thereafter.

Internationally, Alfred A Knopf, a division of Penguin Random House, is the publisher of the book. A source confirmed to FE that the book is going ahead with its global release as scheduled, on November 10. Penguin Random House India (PRHI) had also announced to release Belonging on November 10, with an initial print run for 100,000 copies.

The memoir is supposed to be a deeply personal account of Sonia Gandhi's life and journey as Rajiv Gandhi's wife, a politician and Congress leader. However, PRHI reportedly objected to some parts from the book concerning Prime Minister Narendra Modi, India under his 12-year rule, the RSS, and Gandhi's account of communal divides, riots and the plight of minorities. Parleys between the publisher and the representatives of the author continued for a couple months, but ultimately the deal fell through.

On August 31, Penguin Random House India released a statement categorically denying any external pressure on the contents of the book, saying: "Since the content of the book is confidential and under embargo, there was no external pressure whatsoever. Indian athletes prepare for Asian Games, and Japan

NITIN SHARMA & PRITISH RAJ
Patiala/Bengaluru, September 4

NOT ALL SURPRISES are pleasant. The Indian contingent for the Asian Games, to be held in Japan's Aichi-Nagoya from September 19, is doing all it can to avoid one.

At the Sports Authority of India training centres in Patiala (Punjab) and Bengaluru, athletes have been spending time in 40-by-8-foot shipping containers to familiarise themselves with the accommodation in Nagoya. And to prepare their palates, there's, of course, sushi.

In a bid to keep costs low, the organisers of the Aichi-Nagoya Games have done away with a conventional 'athletes village'. Instead, the 17,000-odd athletes taking part will be provided with three accommodation options — a cruise ship, hotel in Patiala. We took the decision to convert these two containers to accommodation facilities, similar to what athletes will get in Japan," said Vineet Kumar, senior executive director and deputy director general of NIS.

India will field 503 athletes with 256 support staff and officials accompanying them. One of them will be Commonwealth Games bronze medalist Seema Kaliraman, a discus thrower, who is among those who got first-hand experience of staying in a container.

"A thrower needs more space to sleep, but the container has constraints. I could not sleep well on the first night. Then I got accustomed to it. I thought the Asian Games were such a big event and there would be athletes' village. But we have to adjust. Our main focus is to win medals," Seema said.

Shot-putter Tajinder Pal Singh Toor, who is six feet and four inches tall and just about fits on a standard-sized bed, said the containers reminded him of his hostel days.

"As a young athlete, I would stay with four or five other shot-putters in one room, sleeping on mattresses in Punjabi University, Patiala. We did this to save money. The space in the containers reminded me of those days. For a tall and well-built athlete like me, space can be a problem. We have the training gear too. But preparing the mind ahead for such challenges helps any sports person, and that's what we are doing by getting accustomed to sleeping in containers here at NIS," he said.

The refurbishing of the shipping containers to convert them into living spaces took more than 45 days. SAI officials had earlier travelled to Japan for a recon.

CORRIGENDUM TO 17TH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING NOTICE AND ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR 2025-26

This Corrigendum is being issued in continuation to 17th Annual General Meeting Notice (AGM) and Annual Report, and in compliance with Regulation 30, Regulation 34(1) and other applicable provisions of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 ("SEBI Listing Regulations"). A Corrigendum is being issued by the Company to inform all the Shareholders to whom the Notice of Annual General Meeting and Annual Report have been e-mailed regarding changes to provide certain modifications to the AGM Notice and the Annual Report, as set out below.

1. Correction in Key Financial Ratios

On Page No. 130 of the Annual report, under Note No. 38. Key Financial Ratio, the figure reported under the head "Debt Service Coverage Ratio" for FY 2024-25 was inadvertently stated incorrectly.

The correct figure for the "Debt Service Coverage Ratio for FY 2024-25 is 13.01". Accordingly, the % change in the Debt Service Coverage Ratio shall be read as -4% instead of 29%. The corresponding correction has also been made on Page No. 61, under Point L – "Details of significant changes in key financial ratios" of the Annual Report.

2. Deletion of references to Participation through VC/OAVM:

The 17th AGM of the Company is being convened through physical mode. However, certain references relating to participation in the AGM through Video Conferencing ("VC")/Other Audio-Visual Means ("OAVM") were inadvertently included in the Notes forming part of the Notice of the AGM.

Accordingly, the notes relating to participation in the AGM through VC/OAVM, including the relevant instructions for joining the AGM through VC/OAVM, have been deleted from the Notice of the 17th AGM.

A corrected version of the 17th AGM Notice and Annual Report has now been submitted to BSE and is also made available on the Company's website at <https://maestroselctronics.com/investor>, and on the website of BSE Limited at <https://www.bseindia.com/stock-share-price/maestros-electronics-telecommunications-systems-ltd/mse1538401> as well as on the website of National Securities Depository Limited (NSDL) at www.evoting.nsdl.com respectively.

All shareholders and concerned parties are requested to take note of the above. Except for the corrections stated herein, all other contents of the Notice of the 17th AGM and Annual Report for Financial Year 2025-26 remain unchanged.

In case of any queries, you may contact the company on email at cs@maestri.in who shall address the queries in connection with the above.
