IN BRIEF

ITC Q2 profit falls 18.7%; cigarette tax dent sales

Cigarette-to-soap conglomerate ITC on Monday reported an 18.7 per cent Y-o-Y drop in consolidated net profit (attributable to the owners of the company) at ₹4,168.40 crore for Q2FY27, as a steep increase in taxes weighed on its cigarette business even as other segments posted strong growth. Consolidated net revenues rose 3.9 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹20,269 crore. Both revenues and profit marginally exceeded the Bloomberg consensus estimates of ₹20,111 crore and ₹4,136 crore, respectively. Sequentially, net revenues rose 6 per cent from ₹19,114 crore in Q1, while net profit fell 5.1 per cent. This is the second consecutive quarter in which higher cigarette taxes have weighed on ITC's bottom line. ISHITA AYAN DUTT reports 2 ▸

Equity capital vital, market's concerns merit attention: FM

Asserts there is no fragility in the economy and India needs less cynicism

SUBRATA PANDA
Mumbai, 2 November

India needs more equity capital to sustain economic growth of over 7 per cent, Union Finance and Corporate Affairs Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said on Monday, acknowledging concerns about sustained foreign portfolio investor (FPI) outflows in "changed" circumstances among market participants.

"Taxation is just one part of it. I quite appreciate and realise the sensitivity and anxiety prevailing among retail investors and equity market participants," the minister said at a Financial Express event here. A few weeks earlier, Sitharaman had said she would keenly listen to discussions on long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax and the securities transaction tax (STT) on equities.

The minister stressed that the tax structure was the same in 2023-24 (FY24), when India attracted strong capital inflows. "Nothing was done differently for drawing investments. But, of course, the situation is very different now. Circumstances have changed, challenges have grown and more net FPI outflows have happened," she said, but added that foreign investors had begun returning.

■ Sebi calls for removal of LTCG tax for FPIs P21 ▸

In FY27, FPIs had withdrawn a net ₹1,59,568 crore from Indian equities as of the end of October. They had, however, turned net buyers over the past two weeks.

While the Centre had spent the past few years deepening the corporate bond market, she said there were now calls for similar support for equity markets. "At a time when our growth is very important, and people are putting their very best to ensure that we sustain growth of over 7 per cent, we need capital and equity particularly now," she said.

Stressing that India's growth momentum must not be allowed to weaken amid global uncertainties, the Finance Minister — earlier in the day at HSBC's Algorithm of Inclusion event — urged greater confidence in India's economic prospects, arguing that the country's fundamental indicators remained sound despite global uncertainty.

The minister also called for a shift in the way India's economic performance was discussed, arguing that excessive scepticism, even among informed commentators, risked undermining confidence. "India needs a lot of optimism, India needs a lot of conversing with optimism, India needs a reduction in cynicism. India needs to voice that we believe in ourselves," she said.

'Differences within Tata group should be settled amicably'

Union Finance and Corporate Affairs Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday said the ongoing differences between Tata Sons and Tata Trusts should be resolved quickly. "This is a very critical component of the economy, and has to be amicably settled among themselves, to make sure that it comes back quickly to some normalcy... It cannot be spilling out in the public. And for the maturity of that leadership, we would like to have this seen settled sooner," she said.

Khambata set to exit Tata Trusts

Senior advocate Darius Khambata conveyed on Monday he would not seek reappointment as a trustee of the two core Tata Trusts. He termed September 17, when the Tata Sons' board met, "a day that will live in infamy" and had "sullied Tata Sons' reputation", reports NIVEDITA MOOKERJI

VEDANTA-RAVVA ARBITRAL AWARD DISPUTE DRAGGED ON FOR 22 YEARS

'Nobody will trust you', SC cautions Centre

BHAVINI MISHRA
New Delhi, 2 November

The Supreme Court on Monday warned the Centre that "nobody will trust" it if it continued to frustrate the enforcement of arbitral awards, dismissing the government's challenge to the enforcement of two awards in favour of Vedanta Limited and Ravva Oil (Singapore) Pte Limited. The dispute has now dragged on for more than two decades.

A Bench of Justice J B Pardiwala and Justice Manmohan took exception to the Centre's decision to continue contesting enforcement after years of litigation, asking why it would not allow the companies to realise the amounts awarded to them. "What are these arguments? You are frustrating an arbitral award like this? At the stage of enforcement of it?" the Bench asked.

The judges also questioned the government's position on arbitration, underscoring the contradiction between its resistance to enforcement and its efforts to promote India as an arbitration-friendly jurisdiction.

THE APEX COURT DISMISSED THE CENTRE'S PLEA CHALLENGING THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE TWO ARBITRAL AWARDS

"And we talk about all of this arbitration and seat, and this and that," the court observed, before adding: "Nobody will trust you."

The dispute originates in a production sharing contract signed in October 1994 between the Centre and a consortium of companies to develop the Ravva oil and gas field in the Krishna-Godavari basin. What began as a disagreement over contractual payments evolved into arbitration proceedings in Malaysia, challenges before foreign courts and prolonged enforcement litigation in India.

The first partial arbitral award was delivered in October 2004, followed by a final award in October 2016. The arbitral tribunal held that that no further amounts were due from the companies under the ONGC carry dispute, rejecting the Centre's demand for $99 million.

Darius Khambata to exit Tata Trusts, calls Sep 17 a day of 'infamy'

NIVEDITA MOOKERJI
New Delhi, 2 November

In a fresh development at Tata Trusts, the largest shareholder in Tata Sons with a 66 per cent stake, senior advocate Darius Khambata has said he would not seek reappointment as a trustee of the two core trusts.

Khambata's term at both Sir Dorabji Tata Trust (SDTT) and Sir Ratan Tata Trust (SRTT) would end later this month. He has called September 17 "a day that will live in infamy", referring to the Tata Sons board meeting in his exit letter on Monday.

With Khambata's exit on November 9, SDTT will have five trustees. Tata Trusts Chairman Noel Tata is a perpetual trustee at SDTT — an issue that has been red-flagged by some trustees to the Maharashtra Charity Commissioner. The tenures of Vice-chairmen Vijay Singh and Venu Srinivasan are till July 2027 and November 2028, respectively. The three-year term of the other two trustees — Bhaskar Bhat and Neville Tata (Noel Tata's son) — is also till November 2028. At SRTT, which was frozen by the Maharashtra Charity Commissioner earlier this year, there are three life trustees, allegedly in violation of the provisions of the Maharashtra Public Trusts Act. In an amendment last year, the number of life trustees was capped at one-fourth of the total, implying that SRTT can have only one life trustee at this point. The three life trustees at SRTT are Noel Tata, Jimmy N Tata (Ratan Tata's younger brother) and Jehangir HC Jehangir. Srinivasan's term at SRTT is till December 2026.

Even as renewals were a routine process at Tata Trusts earlier, there have been several instances of voting by trustees for reappointments in the absence of consensus within the philanthropic organisation during the last two years, resulting in conflicts and exits.

In his exit letter, reviewed by Business Standard, Khambata cited his consistent stand and support for the Trusts' resolutions of July 28, 2025 on two issues. First, the opposition to the listing of Tata Sons by engaging with the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), while giving the Shapoorji Pallonji group the liquidity it sought. The second issue was supporting a third term for N Chandrasekaran as chairman of Tata Sons.

> "I WAS THE FIRST TO CAUTION AGAINST THE POTENTIAL LISTING OF TATA SONS, CALLING IT EXISTENTIAL FOR THE TRUSTS... AND I DRAFTED AND PROPOUNDED THE JULY 28, 2025, RESOLUTION, WHICH WAS PASSED UNANIMOUSLY"
>
> Darius Khambata
> Trustee, SDTT & SRTT

"The last has since been overtaken by the astounding events of August and September 2026," Khambata wrote, without specifying the events.

In August, Chandrasekaran wrote to the Tata Sons board saying he would not seek reappointment for a third term. A month later, a Tata Sons board meeting passed a resolution to grant a third term to Chandrasekaran. Noel Tata, as nominee director on the Tata Sons board, was the only one to oppose the proposal. The resolution of July 2025, that Khambata mentioned in his letter, was unanimously passed by both SDTT and SRTT and conveyed to Tata Sons.

"I was the first to caution against the potential listing of Tata Sons, calling it existential for the Trusts at the May 28, 2025, meeting, and I drafted and propounded the July 28, 2025, resolution which was passed unanimously. No fiduciary of the Trusts could have taken any other position, for the Tata model was at stake," Khambata wrote. While there was no voting on Tata Sons listing at the September 17 board meeting, the two nominee directors — Noel Tata and Venu Srinivasan — opposed each other. Srinivasan cited his "fiduciary duties" while doing so.

"It is now untenable to say that a nominee director of a public charitable trust, particularly a sitting trustee, may act against the Trust's interests merely because he also owes a duty to the company; he sits on that board precisely to protect the Trusts... There cannot be two classes of trustees — those who are nominee directors and those who are not. All trustees owe an equal fiduciary duty to the Trusts," Khambata wrote.

Following the RBI's September 11 rejection of Tata Sons' application to deregister as a core investment company (CIC), signaling that it has to go for mandatory listing as an upper-layer non-banking financial company (NBFC), the Tata Sons board proposed to take the listing matter forward. However, Noel Tata has sought a restructuring of Tata Sons to ensure that the holding company retains its privately held status.

Pointing out that Chandrasekaran had said Tata Sons must always be in sync with Tata Trusts, Khambata wrote that "to my mind, nothing since warrants a relook at that dynamic". It is not an objective judgement, he wrote, while calling September 17 a day "that will live in infamy" and one that has "sullied Tata Sons' reputation". He was referring to the Tata Sons board meeting where the struggle for power and control at the largest conglomerate was on public display.

The Tata way is about ethos and values and that's "much larger than short-term balance sheet mania", according to Khambata. He added that "listing has always been the shareholders' strategic decision". No section of the public has a legal or moral right to shares in a private company, or to insist it list to raise money more easily, he wrote.

ED registers money-laundering case against Subhash Chandra

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has registered a money laundering case against media baron Subhash Chandra (pictured) in connection with an alleged loan fraud that caused a ₹1,322 crore loss to Life Insurance Corporation Housing Finance Limited (LICHFL), officials said on Monday. Chandra is alleged to have inflated his net worth to avail loans from LICHFL and then defaulted on them. The officials said the case has been filed under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, taking cognisance of a CBI FIR. Responding to the charges, a spokesperson for Zee Entertainment Enterprises (Z) said the ED filed the case against Chandra in his personal capacity and has no bearing on the company or its operations. "The company would like to state that the matters pertain to Dr Subhash Chandra and the promoter entities and have no bearing on 'Z' or its operations in any manner," the spokesperson said. PTI

India-made generic version of HIV drug gets US FDA nod

The US Food and Drug Administration has approved an India-made generic version of the world's only twice-a-year shot to prevent HIV — a big step toward making the drug available inexpensively and more quickly in 120 low- and middle-income countries. The announcement was made on Monday morning by the manufacturer and organisations that helped to speed up development of the medication, called lenacapavir. The generic was developed by India-based Dr. Reddy's Laboratories under an agreement brokered by Unitaid, the Clinton Health Access Initiative and Wits RHI, a health research institute in Africa. The partners sought to accelerate development and make the drug available at an affordable price. PTI

ITC Q2 profit falls 18.7% as cigarette tax dents sales

ISHITA AYAN DUTT
Kolkata, 2 November

Cigarette-to-soap conglomerate ITC on Monday reported an 18.7 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) drop in consolidated net profit (attributable to the owners of the company) at ₹4,168.40 crore for the second quarter of financial year 2026-27 (Q2FY27), as a steep increase in taxes weighed on its cigarette business even as other segments posted strong growth. In the same period last year, its net profit was at ₹5,126.11 crore.

Consolidated net revenues rose 3.9 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹20,269 crore. Both revenues and profit marginally exceeded the Bloomberg consensus estimates of ₹20,111 crore and ₹4,136 crore, respectively.

On a sequential basis, net revenues rose 6 per cent from ₹19,114 crore in Q1FY27, while net profit declined 5.1 per cent from the preceding quarter. This is the second consecutive quarter in which higher cigarette taxes have weighed on ITC's bottom line.

The tax increases, effective February 1, 2026, included a hike in the goods and services tax (GST) on cigarettes from 28 per cent of the transaction value to 40 per cent of retail sale price. Excise duty was also raised sharply following the phase-out of the compensation cess.

ITC said that the legal industry volumes remained under pressure due to unprecedented increase in tax. The company adopted a calibrated approach to mitigate the risk of a disproportionate shift in volumes to illicit trade while protecting its consumer franchise. It also undertook multiple interventions to re-architect its portfolio to reinforce market standing and fight global smuggled brands in the market, the company said.

The cigarette segment clocked pre-tax profit of ₹4,044.49 crore in Q2FY27, down 26 per cent Y-o-Y. On a sequential basis, however, pre-tax profit rose 7.3 per cent from ₹3,769.11 crore in the previous quarter.

The non-cigarette FMCG (fast-moving consumer goods) segment posted a 19.1 per cent Y-o-Y increase in revenue to ₹7,218.36 crore. The company said that the FMCG revenue growth was at a 14-quarter high as biscuits, snacks, noodles, spices, salt, frozen snacks, homecare, and notebooks led with over 20 per cent growth. This was supplemented by high-teens growth in dairy and personal wash. NewGen channels also saw "robust" growth, the company said, while there was a strong performance rebound in general trade. Pre-tax profit in non-cigarettes FMCG stood at ₹576.69 crore in Q2FY27, up by 31.4 per cent Y-o-Y.

Agri business continued to be impacted by West Asia conflict and delayed call-offs by customers, the company said. However, new market development initiatives were stepped up to diversify into other geographies, while value-added products showed strong growth. The agri business segment recorded a revenue of ₹4,550.60 crore in Q2FY27, up by 12.7 per cent Y-o-Y. Pre-tax profit stood at ₹518.41 crore, up by 14.3 per cent Y-o-Y.

In its overall commentary, ITC said that the Indian economy continued to demonstrate strength, underpinned by resilient domestic demand across rural and urban markets. However, deficient and uneven monsoons and lower reservoir levels, alongside strengthening El Niño conditions, pose risks to agricultural output, it said.

Marico net up 31% on strong margins

SHARLEEN D'SOUZA
Mumbai, 2 November

> IN ITS INDIA BUSINESS, TRADITIONAL AND ORGANISED TRADE GREW IN DOUBLE DIGITS, ALONGSIDE ACCELERATED GROWTH IN QCOM

Marico's consolidated net profit rose 31 per cent in the second quarter of financial year 2026-27 (Q2FY27) on the back of strong margins and volume growth.

Its India business volume grew 10 per cent in the quarter, driven by growth in the core franchise and the continued scale-up of new businesses.

The maker of Parachute coconut oil saw its revenue rise 13 per cent to ₹3,897 crore in Q2FY27. Its net profit stood at ₹550 crore. The company's PBIDT (profit before interest, depreciation, and taxes) was up 25.1 per cent to ₹762 crore.

In the India business, traditional and organised trade grew in double digits, alongside accelerated growth in quick commerce (qcom), the company said.

Marico's international business grew by 13 per cent in constant currency growth (CCG) terms and 23 per cent in INR (Indian rupee) terms during the quarter. Bangladesh delivered 5 per cent CCG, a marginal sequential improvement despite consumer demand softness amid persistent high inflation and lapping a high base, it said.

"We expect growth to gradually improve in the subsequent quarters. Vietnam continued its strong growth momentum and delivered 22 per cent CCG, with healthy growth across the portfolio, and acceleration in e-commerce. MENA (Middle East and North Africa) delivered 15 per cent CCG, supported by resilient performance in the Gulf on the back of focused execution. South Africa and NCD (new countries and development) & Exports business registered strong performance with 15 per cent and 17 per cent CCG, respectively," the release added.

Saugata Gupta, managing director and chief executive officer (MD & CEO) of Marico, said, "With multiple growth engines firing and sustained investments behind our brands, people and capabilities, we are well positioned to sustain this momentum and build an even stronger Marico for the future," he said.

Marico appointed former Hindustan Unilever MD & CEO, Rohit Jawa, as independent director for a period of five years from January 1, 2027 to December 31, 2031, it said in a separate exchange filing.

IndiGo's long-haul ambitions put fuel hedging on its radar

DEEPAK PATEL
New Delhi, 2 November

Rising jet fuel prices amid the ongoing West Asia conflict are battering airlines' finances and pushing up airfares. Against this backdrop, IndiGo Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Willie Walsh on Monday said the airline was reviewing its long-standing policy of staying away from fuel hedging, particularly in view of its planned long-haul expansion.

During a press conference here, he said that the airline had discussed fuel hedging with its board and would undertake a "comprehensive review" before taking a decision.

IndiGo has historically stayed away from fuel hedging, a financial arrangement through which airlines lock in fuel prices in advance to protect themselves against sudden price increases.

Jet fuel typically accounts for around 40 per cent of an Indian airline's total operating expenses. In the second quarter of 2026-27 (Q2FY27), IndiGo reported a consolidated net loss of ₹1,879 crore. Its fuel expenses surged 67.2 per cent year-on-year to ₹9,967 crore during the quarter, weighing heavily on profitability.

IndiGo CEO Willie Walsh said fuel hedging is about giving stability and managing risk

Walsh said, "Hedging is a very difficult decision to make. Today it's quite easy in that none of the airlines in the Indian domestic market are hedged. Hedging is about managing risk. It's not about taking a bet on what the fuel price will be. It's about giving you stability and managing risk."

"If we were to hedge, given that our competitors in the domestic market aren't hedged, then you're introducing an additional risk, which clearly goes against the whole principle of hedging," he said. However, he added that the airline's planned long-haul expansion offered an opportunity to review its policy, as several international competitors hedge a substantial portion of their fuel requirements. "At the moment, we're not hedging and we're not planning to hedge until we've completed our comprehensive review," Walsh said.

Parl panel flags concerns over high airfares

A parliamentary panel on Monday raised concern over the rising airfares during a meeting with senior officials of IndiGo and Air India, who told the members that surging jet fuel costs and Pakistan airspace closure were pushing their operational costs higher, according to a source. The issues were discussed during a meeting of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Public Undertakings, chaired by BJP member Baijayant Panda. PTI

EV registrations soar 75% in Oct even as PV market shrinks 14.6%

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 2 November

Electric passenger vehicle registrations revved up nearly 75 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in October even as the overall passenger vehicle market contracted 14.6 per cent.

And, electric vehicles (EVs) helped manufacturers, such as Tata Motors and Mahindra, cushion the decline in sales of conventional vehicles.

According to data from market intelligence firm Jato Dynamics, passenger vehicle registrations declined to 501,406 units in October 2026 from 587,103 units in the corresponding month last year.

However, EV registrations rose 74.7 per cent to 36,646 units from 20,979 units a year earlier, while internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicle registrations fell 17.9 per cent to 464,760 units.

Consequently, EV penetration in the passenger vehicle market nearly doubled to 7.3 per cent from 3.6 per cent a year earlier.

The divergence was particularly pronounced for Tata Motors and Mahindra, where growing EV volumes helped offset sharper declines in conventional vehicle registrations.

For Tata Motors, one in every five passenger vehicles registered during October was electric. The company's EV registrations rose 76.3 per cent to 14,560 units from 8,259 units a year earlier. It accounted for 20.2 per cent of its total registrations, compared with 10.4 per cent last year.

Its ICE registrations, however, declined 18.7 per cent to 57,693 units, while overall registrations fell 8.8 per cent to 72,253 units.

A similar trend was visible at Mahindra, where EV registrations jumped 84.2 per cent to 8,473 units from 4,599 units. Electric models accounted for 13.2 per cent of its registrations, or about one in eight vehicles, compared with 6.3 per cent a year earlier. Mahindra's ICE registrations declined 19.1 per cent, while its overall registrations fell 12.6 per cent to 64,063 units.

"Electrification is no longer just a future strategy; it is becoming a key driver of growth. In October, overall passenger vehicle registrations fell 14.6 per cent, while EVs grew nearly 75 per cent. For Tata and Mahindra, EVs helped cushion much sharper declines in conventional vehicles," said Ravi Bhatia, president, Jato Dynamics.

KRITY AMBEY
New Delhi, 2 November

Two ministries — those of skill development & entrepreneurship, and corporate affairs — spent just 8 per cent of their allocations under the FY27 Budget Estimates (BE) in April-September this financial year — this, when the finance ministry has begun pre-Budget consultations for the next Budget.

According to the latest data with the Controller General of Accounts (CGA), of the 47 ministries and departments that have a BE of more than ₹3,000 crore, only 19 had used more than 45 per cent of it. The Ministry of Coal's rate is 14 per cent while the Ministry of Jal Shakti and Ministry of Minority Affairs spent just 16 per cent and 17 per cent, respectively.

Among other slow spenders, the Ministry of Jal Shakti also recorded the largest shortfall in absolute terms, having used ₹15,336 crore against its full-year allocation of nearly ₹95,000 crore.

Several other major ministries too have recorded slow progress.

The Ministry of Rural Development used 31 per cent of its allocation of ₹1.97 trillion while the Ministry of Education spent 25 per cent of its allotment of ₹1.40 trillion.

The Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs achieved 31 per cent of its ₹85,522 crore.

At the other end of the spectrum, the Ministry of Railways emerged as the fastest spender, having used 77 per cent of its ₹2.81 trillion, followed by the Ministry of Mines at 75 per cent.

The Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers spent 69 per cent while the Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution, and the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy rang up 66 per cent and 64 per cent, respectively.

The Centre met nearly 48 per cent of its BE for expenditure in April-September (H1FY27) with a spending of ₹25.50 trillion. The government has exhausted 42 per cent of its fiscal-deficit target during the first half of FY27.

State Bank of India in a research note said it expected the central government to exceed its fiscal-deficit target of 4.3 per cent of gross domestic product in FY27 by 40 basis points due to excise duty cuts, a higher subsidy bill and the base-year revision. "The only possible option with Government to contain fiscal deficit within Budget Estimates is to cut in expenditure," it added.

Among ministries with some of the largest budgetary apportionments, the Ministry of Defence spent 53 per cent of its ₹7.85 trillion, while that of Home Affairs notched up 54 per cent of its ₹2.55 trillion.

The Ministry of Finance, which has the largest allocation of ₹19.73 trillion, had spent ₹8.28 trillion, or 42 per cent of its BE, by the end of September.

Its large allocation is partly on account of interest payments, which accounted for more than three-fourths of the ministry's expenditure during H1FY27.

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways, one of the government's major infrastructure spenders, used 58 per cent of its annual allocation of ₹3.10 trillion.

The Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas spent 63 per cent of its allocation while it was 39 per cent for the Ministry of Power.

Trends in capex

The Ministry of Railways also led in capital expenditure, having spent 67 per cent of its FY27 allocation by September.

The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways followed at 57 per cent, while the Ministry of Defence and Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs scored 44 per cent and 43 per cent, respectively.

The Ministry of Science and Technology was the slowest in capex, having spent just 2 per cent of its annual allocation.

In absolute terms, the ministry spent only ₹425 crore against its FY27 capex BE of around ₹20,091 crore.

The Centre's overall capex stood at ₹6.55 trillion in H1FY27, accounting for nearly 54 per cent of its full-year target.

Capital expenditure has been the key tool in the Centre's economic strategy in the last five years. The government ramped up its own capex to revive the economy in the aftermath of the pandemic.

With the capex aim of ₹12.22 trillion set for FY27, the government has nearly tripled its spending since FY21.

Early cane crushing yields under 1 mt of sugar in Oct; recovery falls

To augment sugar supplies during the crucial festival season, which began in earnest in October, the Union government had urged sugar mills to start crushing cane early to ensure that supplies from the new crop began hitting the market in October itself. Data furnished by the National Federation of Cooperative Sugar Factories (NFCSF) shows that by the end of October, around 152 sugar mills had started crushing cane, of which a majority, around 81 per cent, were in Maharashtra alone. Together, the mills had produced around 0.85 million tonnes (mt) of sugar in October. The cane recovery rate appears to be lower than last year's, at 8.01 per cent against 8.44 per cent in the 2025-26 season. This could be a cause for concern regarding final production figures going forward. India produced around 28 mt of sugar in total last year, which was lower than the year before. OUR BUREAU

Merchandise exports likely to grow 28.7% in Q3: Exim Bank

Export-Import Bank of India (India Exim Bank) expects India's merchandise exports to expand 28.7 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in the third quarter of the current financial year 2026-27 (Q3FY27) to $141.8 billion, citing a diversified export basket and markets, new trade agreements and an improving global growth outlook. The state-owned bank said non-oil exports are expected to reach $120.3 billion in Q3, reflecting 21.9 per cent Y-o-Y growth. Non-oil and non-gems and jewellery exports are projected at $106.4 billion, with Y-o-Y growth of 16.2 per cent in Q3. Amid global uncertainties and supply chain realignments, the bank sees continued market and product diversification, opportunities from recent trade pacts and continued demand in major export destinations as key drivers of the growth. "India's positive export outlook is also likely to be supported by an improving global and domestic growth outlook, strong investment activity, and exchange rate movements," India Exim Bank added. However, tighter global monetary policy and evolving trade regulations remain downside risks to export growth, according to the bank. OUR BUREAU

Pak lost $40 bn following trade suspension with India: PIBC chief

Pakistan has suffered an estimated $40 billion in economic losses since trade with India was suspended in 2019 following the Pulwama terror attack and subsequent escalations, the head of a business advocacy group said Monday. Chairman of the Pak-India Business Council (PIBC) Noor Muhammad Qasuri also urged the neighbours to restore commercial ties, saying it would benefit businesses on both sides and create opportunities for investment, tourism, and regional cooperation. Qasuri also said the suspension forced Pakistani businesses to import key raw materials and other goods from distant markets, pushing up transportation and freight costs and delivery times. Pakistan's pharmaceutical industry relied on raw materials available in India, he said, adding that its imports from New Delhi could generate annual savings of $2 billion to $3 billion. PTI

India moves to resolve Scotch tariff dispute under UK Ceta

The Commerce Ministry has assured liquor industry stakeholders that duty concessions for bulk Scotch whisky under the India-UK trade pact will remain intact and steps are being taken to address issues that could impair the benefits, an official said on Monday. The development comes amid ambiguity over the HSN code classification of bulk Scotch imports. Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agarwal met with key industry leaders, domestic distillers, and multinational manufacturers representing the whisky and broader alcoholic beverages sector to discuss the issue. The talk focused on issues relating to the classification of bulk Scotch whisky imports and measures to boost value-added manufacturing. "The Commerce Secretary assured the stakeholders that commitment for duty concession under India-UK Ceta shall not be affected and necessary steps are being taken," the official said. PTI

Captive, commercial coal production surged 42% in Oct

Coal production from captive and commercial mines rose 42 per cent year-on-year to 22.03 million tonnes (mt) in October 2026, compared to 15.49 mt in the corresponding month last year, according to a statement from the Ministry of Coal on Monday. Coal dispatches from these mines rose 36 per cent to 21.11 mt during the month, against 15.48 mt in October last year. During April-October of the current financial year (FY27), coal production from captive and commercial mines grew 11.3 per cent to 117.23 mt, compared to 105.33 mt in the corresponding period of the previous year. Dispatches during the seven-month period rose 11.53 per cent to 124.86 mt, from 111.95 mt a year ago. In another development, the Lohari coal mine in Jharkhand received Mine Opening Permission in October 2026, after awaiting operationalisation for several years. With this, the number of operational captive and commercial coal mines has increased to 87. OUR BUREAU

Labour Bureau prepares to revise CPI-IW base year

AUHONA MUKHERJEE
New Delhi, 2 November

The Labour Bureau is preparing to revise the base year of the Consumer Price Index for Industrial Workers (CPI-IW), with the exercise expected to expand sectors and locations covered by the index, according to two people aware of the matter. It would also introduce technology-based methods of price collection and scrutiny.

The bureau has constituted an expert group chaired by former National Statistical Office (NSO) director general A K Sadhu to provide technical guidance on the base-year revision.

A separate standing tripartite committee, comprising representatives of employers, employees and the government, will also advise on the exercise.

The bureau is consulting state governments, Union Territories and other stakeholders on the proposed changes.

The existing CPI-IW series has a base year of 2016 and covers seven sectors — factories, mines, plantations, railways, public motor transport undertakings, electricity generating and distributing establishments, and ports and docks.

The Labour Bureau has begun collecting employment data from state and central government agencies to identify centres for the revised series. The target base year for the new series has not yet been specified.

The ongoing exercise is expected to add the construction sector to the index, taking the number of centres covered from the existing 88 to 130, according to people privy to discussions during consultations on the revision.

The addition of construction has been recommended by the expert group chaired by Sadhu.

The proposed expansion is intended to capture a wider range of occupations, working conditions and geographical areas. The CPI-IW measures changes in retail prices of goods and services consumed by industrial worker households.

It is used to revise dearness allowance (DA) for central and state government employees and workers in organised-sector establishments, as well as for determining variable DA and revising minimum wages.

It is also used for wage adjustments under agreements and price escalation clauses in business and public works contracts.

The index is released every month by the Labour Bureau, along with the Consumer Price Index for Agricultural Labourers and Rural Labourers (CPI-AL/RL).

The CPI-AL/RL series was revised last year, with the base year updated from 1986-87 to 2019 with effect from June 2025.

The revision expanded its coverage from 20 states to 34 states and Union Territories, and increased the number of sample villages from 600 to 787.

The CPI-IW revision is now the next major base-year updation exercise for the Labour Bureau's consumer price indices.

The revision will also require fresh data on the spending patterns of working-class households.

The Bureau has asked the NSO to allocate a time slot for conducting the Working-Class Family Income and Expenditure Survey (WCFI&ES).

The survey provides expenditure data used to calculate the weights assigned to different items in the CPI-IW basket, the people said.

Emails sent to the Ministry of Labour and the Labour Bureau did not elicit a response till the time of going to press.

Among other areas being looked into for the revised index are changes in household consumption since the 2016 base year, including the addition of online and over-the-top (OTT) services and other emerging items.

The exercise is also examining alignment of the classification of items with the international Classification of Individual Consumption According to Purpose (COICOP) 2018 standard.

The bureau is also considering greater use of digital tools in price collection, including computer- and mobile application-based collection, geo-tagging and time-stamping of price entries.

Other proposals include examining the feasibility of collecting prices from online markets and e-commerce platforms, and using artificial intelligence (AI)-based analytical tools to detect unusual price movements and inconsistencies in the data.

Making anonymised household expenditure survey data publicly available for research is another suggestion under consideration.

Wider coverage

ILLUSTRATION: AJAYA MOHANTY

- CPI-IW revision may expand coverage from 88 to 130 centres
- Construction sector likely to be added to the index

Centre okays Andhra's ₹27,370 crore power transmission project

SHINE JACOB
Chennai, 2 November

The Centre has approved the expansion of the power transmission network in Andhra Pradesh with an investment of ₹27,370 crore under the Green Energy Corridor Phase-III scheme, and the first phase of the project is expected to be commissioned in 2029-30, a government source told Business Standard.

This comes after the Union Cabinet's approval of the ₹1.86 trillion Green Energy Corridor Phase-III (GEC-III) scheme on September 30 to evacuate up to 135 gigawatts (Gw) of renewable energy through state transmission networks by 2032-33. Of the total outlay, ₹1.36 trillion is for intra-state transmission (InSTS) and ₹50,000 crore for 50 gigawatt-hours (Gwh) of battery energy storage systems (BESS). The Centre is providing support of ₹54,082 crore to offset intra-state transmission charges.

The project, proposed by the Transmission Corporation of Andhra Pradesh, plans construction of 7,872 circuit kilometres of 400 kV and 220 kV transmission lines and 9,500 megavolt-amperes of substation capacity, including five new 400/220 kV substations.

The proposal includes greenfield transmission infrastructure. The planned infrastructure includes key pooling stations at Mudigubba and Talupula, each with a capacity of 5 Gw, and Porumamilla, with a capacity of 1 Gw. New 400 kV substations are also proposed at Ramayapatnam and Koppaka.

Though the GEC-III scheme received Cabinet approval last month, Andhra Pradesh's component was pending clearances. The renewable energy zones identified for evacuation include Roddam-Penukonda, Gorantla, OD Cheruvu-Amadaguru and Kondikonda in Anantapur and Sri Sathya Sai districts, and Rajupalem in Prakasam district.

"The central assistance will lower intra-state transmission charges and discom power purchase costs, and it also supports the AP Integrated Clean Energy Policy 2024," the source added.

The project is crucial, as a Central Electricity Authority estimates the state's peak demand to rise from 15,600 Mw in 2025-26 to 30,927 Mw by 2035-36. Without new renewable energy capacity and evacuation infrastructure, unserved energy will reach 19.4 per cent by 2035-36.

THE PROJECT WILL ADD 7,872 CIRCUIT KM OF TRANSMISSION LINES, WITH THE FIRST PHASE EXPECTED IN 2029-30

Manufacturing PMI dips in Oct on weak demand

AUHONA MUKHERJEE
New Delhi, 2 November

India's manufacturing activity expanded at a slower pace in October after recovering in September, as growth in output and new orders moderated, a private survey showed on Monday. The HSBC India Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI), which tracks monthly changes in manufacturing activity, fell to 54.7 in October from 55.1 in September.

The October reading, based on a weighted average of new orders, output, employment, suppliers' delivery times and stocks of purchases, was slightly below the flash India Manufacturing PMI estimate of 54.9 released last month.

The index remained above the 50-point mark, indicating an expansion in activity, while a reading below 50 signals contraction. October marked the 60th consecutive month of expansion.

"India's manufacturing PMI softened to 54.7 in October from 55.1 in the previous month, but remained firmly in expansionary territory and above its long-run average. Strong international demand pushed growth of new export orders to a six-month high, supporting a robust rise in output," said Pranjul Bhandari, chief India economist at HSBC.

Growth in new domestic business eased from September's seven-month high, while new export orders rose at their fastest pace in six months. "Firms reported gains from a range of destinations, including Bangladesh, Canada, Indonesia, Nepal, Oman, Saudi Arabia, Sri Lanka, the UK, US and UAE," the survey said.

Output continued to rise, but the pace of growth slowed from September, driven by a moderation among intermediate goods manufacturers, the survey said. Meanwhile, cost pressures eased across all three segments of manufacturing industry tracked by the survey.

"Although survey members reported higher prices for several materials and energy, the overall rate of input cost inflation retreated to its lowest since February. Indian goods producers raised selling prices to protect margins, but the increase was only slight and the weakest in just under four years," S&P Global said.

Factory employment also increased in October as production requirements and workloads rose. However, the pace of job creation slowed from previous months.

US shrimp row threatens India's export catch

Complaint against Nekkanti Sea Foods over alleged forced labour could put 35% of India's marine exports under strain

SHINE JACOB
Chennai, 2 November

A complaint by an American shrimp producers' lobby seeking to block imports from a major Indian seafood producer, accusing it of using forced labour to undercut domestic competitors, may cast a shadow over around 35 per cent of India's total marine exports, trade and industry experts said.

The Indian industry alleged that the move was a calculated attempt to tarnish its image and undermine its market growth.

A few days ago, the Southern Shrimp Alliance (SSA) filed a complaint against Indian seafood exporter Nekkanti Sea Foods, alleging that it uses exploitative labour practices to reduce production costs, allowing its shrimp to compete with domestic producers. SSA represents domestic shrimp fishermen and processors across eight states, including Louisiana.

When contacted, a source at Nekkanti said the company was complying with all norms and regulations and that the complaint appeared to be an attempt to target all Indian seafood exporters.

"The SSA is trying its best to tarnish the image of Indian exporters in the US market. They have taken up various cases and made allegations without proper background, approaching the United States International Trade Commission or the Department of Commerce to seek action," said Pawan Kumar, president of the Seafood Exporters Association of India.

Devi Sea Foods, Sandhya Aqua, and Nekkanti are among India's top shrimp exporters, each clocking annual exports worth around ₹1,500 crore, sources said.

The US producers' lobby has filed the complaint under Section 337, which deals with allegations of forced labour.

SSA alleged that Nekkanti uses forced labour, enabling Indian exporters to produce seafood at lower costs and dump it in the US market.

A source at Nekkanti told Business Standard that the company was facing a labour shortage and that no forced labour was involved. "There is a labour shortage at the grassroots level. Our labour laws are very strict," the source said, while declining to comment on the case.

India exported around 1.97 million tonnes of seafood worth ₹73,890.46 crore ($8.46 billion) in 2025-26, an all-time high in both volume and value despite global headwinds.

Frozen shrimp remained the leading product in India's seafood exports, generating ₹49,037.93 crore ($5.62 billion). It accounted for 40.19 per cent of the total export volume and 66.52 per cent of total US dollar earnings from seafood exports.

"All Indian factories exporting to the US, Europe and other major markets undergo very stringent audits, including social and factory audits. We have to display or produce all the documentation required to demonstrate social compliance," Kumar said.

The case is based on a report by Corporate Accountability Lab, a non-profit organisation serving as co-counsel for the shrimpers. Its 2024 report cited labour practices in India's shrimp industry, including debt bondage, recruitment fees, withheld wages, and severe restrictions on workers' movements.

"When we supply to firms such as Walmart, Kroger, Safeway, Cisco, and Costco, they have their own certification bodies that inspect factories and examine social compliance," Kumar added.

"The scrutiny goes to the extent of checking individual employees. If I provide a list of workers with their details, including provident fund and Employees' State Insurance records, auditors may randomly call 10 employees and verify the details with them. That is the level of compliance factories have to undergo," he said.

On restrictions on workers' movements, the industry body attributed them to cultural differences. "Around 70 per cent of our workforce comprises women. In India, we are very careful about the safety of women workers," he said.

Institutions must learn to outgrow their founders: Equitas MD & CEO

Q&A Last week, Equitas Small Finance Bank (SFB) Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer P N Vasudevan resigned from the post, citing investor concerns over a perceived conflict of interest arising from his daughter's association with a non-banking financial company (NBFC). In an exclusive face-to-face conversation with Shine Jacob, Vasudevan talks about his exit and the road map for Equitas. Edited excerpts:

On applying for a universal banking licence

"WE ARE GOING THROUGH A TRANSITION. WE WILL PROBABLY APPLY AS SOON AS IT IS COMPLETED"

P N Vasudevan
MD & CEO, Equitas Small Finance Bank

Your daughter started the NBFC Unico in 2023. Why, then, did you decide to step down now, when you had time until 2029?

■ There is no conflict of interest in my daughter running an NBFC while I head Equitas. She is only a financial investor in the NBFC and is not involved in its operations. However, the perception was that there was a conflict.

Every time investors asked the same questions, I had the same answers. Banks of a similar size had much higher daily trading volumes than us. Feedback from several investors was also that this was an overhang. Only when the overhang goes away will the bank's performance be reflected in its valuation. I have been fighting this perception for the past two to three years. So, we have been thinking about this for some time now.

We were doing well on all fronts — growth, portfolio quality, credit costs, and profitability, among others. Besides, we had brought down the microfinance portfolio from 53 per cent when we became a bank to 11 per cent now. We then thought that if the transition had to happen, this was the right time, when the next person would not have to do any firefighting and could simply take charge and grow the bank from here.

As I understand it, you wanted to create a corpus fund for Varshini Illam Trust, your family's non-governmental organisation (NGO). Was this the reason your daughter invested in the NBFC Unico in 2023? Is that correct?

■ For the NGO's dream project of providing doorstep daily services to special children through 500 buses, we needed a corpus of around ₹1,000 crore so that the project could be sustained through the interest earned on it. There were people who advised me to sell off my daughter's stake in the NBFC so that I could continue. Had I done that, it would have derailed the entire social service initiative.

In 2022, you also resigned to devote time to the NGO, but then returned. Was this decision an emotional one as well?

■ Last time, I wanted to step down because I wanted to leave the bank, start an NBFC, get my daughter to invest in it and create value through that for the trust. So, that decision was driven by our own purpose. It was actually a more difficult decision.

This decision is for the benefit of Equitas. The overhang has to go for the bank. If it does, feedback from investors suggests there will be greater interest among shareholders in looking at the stock, which should improve its valuation. Hence, the decision was easier this time. Institutions will have to outgrow their founders.

What's the succession plan?

■ The Nomination and Remuneration Committee has already started the process of identifying a successor. After that, the appointment will also require Reserve Bank of India (RBI) approval. So, I think a new person will take charge in anywhere between four and six months.

Will the change of guard affect Equitas' growth?

■ We have set out a five-year plan through to 2031, which envisages average annual growth of 20 per cent in both advances and deposits over the next five years. Return on assets should average about 1.5 per cent.

A large part of the business will continue to focus on the informal and semi-formal segments of borrowers because that is where there is still substantial unmet credit demand in the market.

Will the change in leadership delay your road map for applying for a universal banking licence?

■ We are already in compliance with the RBI guidelines for an SFB converting into a universal bank. We have been in dialogue with the RBI and are also discussing the matter internally.

We are gauging the right time to apply to the RBI for the licence. Now that we are going through a transition, we will probably apply as soon as it is completed.

What do you think would be the ideal share of the microfinance institution (MFI) business?

■ We have already reduced it to 11 per cent from 53 per cent and are targeting a share of 10 per cent. The margin dilution resulting from the reduction in the MFI business is behind us now.

Small businesses will be our focus. I don't think any of that is likely to change because that is the bank's strength. It is the bank's core strength, built over 20 years. A new person will want to settle down quickly and deliver good results. He can do that by continuing with what the bank does very well and what it has built over the past two decades.

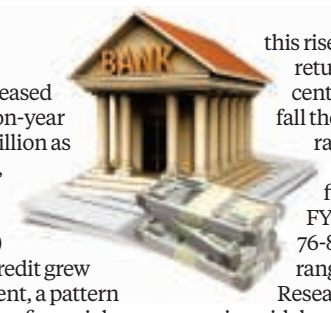
Banks' credit-deposit ratio in 3 southern states above 100%

SNEHA SASIKUMAR



Bank deposits increased 16.6 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) to ₹284.4 trillion as of October 15, 2026, according to the latest Reserve Bank of India (RBI) report. However, credit grew faster at 17.94 per cent, a pattern seen every year since financial year 2022-23 (FY23). Banks are lending out a growing share of what they collect. The credit-deposit (CD) ratio of scheduled commercial banks surpassed 80 per cent in FY26. It stayed above 80 per cent till October 15, FY27. Private banks led this rise. Their ratio returned to over 90 per cent in FY26 after a brief fall the previous year. The ratio stayed more or less there in the first quarter (Q1) of FY27. It was above the 76-80 per cent optimum range cited in an SBI Research report. The ratio varies widely across states. Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, and Telangana continued to have CD ratios over 100 per cent, with Andhra Pradesh at the top, crossing 150 per cent in FY26. At the other end, Goa and Arunachal Pradesh lent less than a third of the deposits they collected.

Trai tightens consumer complaint rules, caps penalties at ₹20 lakh

GULVEEN AULAKH
New Delhi, 2 November

Telecom firms may be penalised up to ₹20 lakh for improperly handling or disposing of consumer complaints, according to new regulations of the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai).

To tackle consumer grievances more efficiently, the regulator on Monday announced the amended Telecom Consumers Complaint Redressal (Fourth Amendment) Regulations, 2026.

These came nearly a decade after they were last changed.

Financial disincentives will be levied for failure to comply with the amended rules or if deficiencies in dealing with complaints or appeals are found during reviews or audits.

Penalties will start with ₹1,000 for a complaint improperly dismissed, and ₹5,000 per appeal on service providers, which would be capped at ₹20 lakh per quarter per service area or circle. The disincentive has been reduced from ₹50 lakh, first proposed by the regulator earlier in May.

Service providers will have to submit quarterly "performance reports" on the number of complaints and redresses they have disposed of. Failure to submit them will attract a financial disincentive of up to ₹5,000 per report daily for the first 15 days, and ₹20,000 per report per day subsequently.

This penalty has been capped at ₹10 lakh per instance per service area.

Trai has also levied interest on penalties at 2 per cent more than the marginal cost of lending rate payable on the outstanding penalty and applicable if the service provider does not pay up within 21 days.

The review of existing grievance-redress mechanisms follows a rise in customer complaints as well as change in the ways consumers flag grievances or file complaints, such as mobile apps, chat bots and emails versus calls or Interactive Voice Response System (IVRS).

The regulator has specified that every consumer complaint centre must run round the clock using human representatives, automated systems, or artificial-intelligence (AI) agents, or all of these, on condition that human representatives have to be present for a minimum of 16 hours every day.

Users will have to be notified whenever they talk to an AI agent.

Trai said despite the mechanism first introduced in 2012, and amended twice subsequently, the number of complaints had only risen.

In 2025-26 (FY26), 73,081 complaints were registered, far higher than the 55,978 in FY25 and 44,733 in FY24.

Among other amendments, Trai has said there will be online or manual periodic regulatory reviews or audits of service providers.

The advisory committee has been removed because it was making the appellate process ineffective.

The data on complaints will have to be kept for six months instead of three.

The data on the way a complaint or appeal was handled and addressed must be preserved for a year for audit or review.

Consumers can file an appeal with the appellate authority (AA) within 15 days instead of 30 after getting an unsatisfactory or no response to a complaint. The authority will have 15 days to resolve the appeal.

The appellate authority appointed by a service provider will have to be a senior employee with five years' experience. It would have to present a quarterly report on complaints and appeals to the board or chief executive officer to enhance accountability.

The rules will apply to providers with licences or authorisations for access either wireline or wireless, and internet services under the Telecommunications Act of 2023.

The new framework

- Applicable on telcos and internet service providers
- Penalties:

For improper complaint or appeal disposal:
- ₹1,000 per violation
- ₹5,000 per instance by appellate authority
- Cap of ₹20 lakh per circle

Failure to submit quarterly performance report:
- ₹5,000 per report per day for first 15 days
- ₹20,000 per report per day after 15 days
- Cap of ₹10 lakh per instance per circle

- The review follows a rise in customer complaints

Spandana Sphoorty reports cyber fraud worth ₹7.8 crore

AATHIRA VARIER
Mumbai, 2 November

Microfinance lender Spandana Sphoorty Financial on Monday said it had identified cyber fraud involving unauthorised transactions worth about ₹7.8 crore from one of its bank accounts on November 1.

The transactions were carried out through multiple transfers to 82 beneficiary accounts, the company said in a regulatory filing. Following the discovery, the company stopped the affected services in its production environment and reported the matter to its bank, seeking reversal of the transactions and freezing of the beneficiary accounts. It has also requested a detailed investigation into the incident.

The company registered a complaint on the National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal on November 1 and said it was informing other appropriate authorities.

Spandana Sphoorty said it had insurance coverage for cyber fraud and was filing a claim with its insurer. The company is investigating the incident and will inform the stock exchanges of further developments, including any recoveries and the outcome of the investigation, as the inquiry progresses.

The identities of those involved in the fraud are under investigation, according to the filing. The incident comes amid a series of cybersecurity concerns across the banking and financial services sector. State Bank of India (SBI) is disclosing a dark-web leak involving 3,897 customer records.

The New Indian Express moves SC against curbs on promotion outside South India

Express Publications (Madurai) Private Limited, publisher of The New Indian Express, has approached the Supreme Court (SC), challenging a Bombay High Court (HC) ruling that prohibits it from using the newspaper's trademark for promotional activities beyond five southern states and certain Union Territories.

A Bench of Justice JB Pardiwala and Justice Manmohan on Monday indicated that it was not inclined to interfere with the HC's decision, noting that the impugned judgment dealt with the issues comprehensively.

The court, however, deferred the hearing until after the Diwali vacation after senior advocates representing the publisher sought time to place additional documents on record.

The legal battle stems from a family dispute over the ownership and control of the Indian Express group following the death of its founder, Ramnath Goenka, in 1991.

The disagreement between his adopted son Vivek Goenka and grandson Manojkumar Sonthalia was settled through a memorandum of settlement dated February 5, 1995, which was subsequently incorporated into a consent decree passed by the Madras High Court on April 16, 1997.

Bank of India, Suryoday SFB raise interest rates on FDs

SUBRATA PANDA
Mumbai, 2 November

Bank of India (BoI) and Suryoday Small Finance Bank have raised interest rates on fixed deposits (FDs), with the lenders offering higher returns across select maturities. This comes after the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) shifting towards monetary tightening after its first repo rate increase in nearly four years.

BoI has raised interest rates on deposits of less than ₹3 crore and those between ₹3 crore and ₹10 crore across select maturities of one to less than three years, effective November 2. It has also introduced a special 500-day deposit scheme, offering an interest rate of up to 6.85 per cent for general customers, 7.35 per cent for senior citizens and 7.5 per cent for super senior citizens.

For deposits below ₹3 crore, the bank has raised the rate on one-year deposits to 6.6 per cent and those with maturities of more than one year to less than three years to 6.7 per cent. Senior citizens will get an additional 50 basis points (bps), while super senior citizens will receive an additional 65 bps on deposits with maturities of 180 days to less than three years.

For deposits of ₹3 crore to less than ₹10 crore, the revised rates stand at 6.55 per cent for one-year deposits and 6.65 per cent for maturities of more than one year to less than three years. The bank is also offering an additional 15 bps on non-callable deposits of above ₹1 crore for tenures of one to three years.

Separately, Suryoday Small Finance Bank has introduced special festival-period FD rates, offering up to 8.25 per cent to general customers and 8.6 per cent to senior citizens on five-year deposits of less than ₹3 crore. The rates translate into annualised yields of 8.51 per cent and 8.88 per cent, respectively.

The lender is also offering 8.1 per cent to general customers and 8.25 per cent to senior citizens on 30-month deposits. For 18-month deposits, the rates are 8.01 per cent and 8.16 per cent, respectively. The special rates are applicable from October 30 to November 16.

The increase in deposit rates comes against the backdrop of a shift in the RBI's monetary policy stance. In its October policy review, the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) raised the benchmark repo rate by 25 bps to 5.5 per cent, the first increase in nearly four years, and moved its stance from neutral to calibrated tightening. The change in stance signals that rate cuts are off the table in the near term, with the possibility of further increases or a pause depending on the inflation and growth outlook.

RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra had said the extent and duration of the rate-hike cycle would depend on the trajectory of underlying inflation, the broadening of price pressures and the extent of second-round effects from supply-side shocks.

Petronet LNG seeks early recovery of Qatar cargo

Petronet LNG Ltd (PLL) is in discussion with Qatar to recover pending liquefied natural gas (LNG) cargo earlier than the contractual recovery period, as disruptions in West Asia have sharply curtailed deliveries, said Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer Akshay Kumar Singh.

Speaking at a post-results media briefing, Singh said out of the roughly 75-80 cargoes expected during the eight-month disruption period from March to October 2026, only about six cargoes have arrived. Deliveries under the current Qatar supply arrangement have been severely affected by force majeure disruptions since March 2026.

Under normal circumstances, the company receives around 9-10 LNG cargoes a month from Qatar, with each conventional cargo carrying approximately 138,000 cubic metres of LNG, he added. OUR BUREAU

Irdai cuts share transfer approval fee by 80%

AATHIRA VARIER
Mumbai, 2 November

The Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai) on Monday issued a master circular clarifying requirements governing insurer registration, capital structure, share transfers, and amalgamations.

The circular reduces the processing fee for share-transfer approvals by 80 per cent and specifies compliance requirements for initial public offerings (IPOs), employee stock options, and amalgamations. It is effective from the date of issuance.

Under the revised framework, the processing fee for share-transfer approvals under Regulation 22(4) has been slashed by 80 per cent to ₹10 lakh from ₹50 lakh. Fees paid prior to the notification date will remain non-refundable.

Applications for No Objection Certificates filed before the notification of the Registration (Amendment) Regulations, 2026, will not attract processing fees under the applicable provision, while subsequent applications must be accompanied by the prescribed fees.

The circular outlines compliance requirements for insurers proposing to list their equity shares. Such insurers must disclose existing and proposed post-listing shareholding patterns, with separate details for shareholders holding more than 1 per cent of paid-up equity capital.

TO STANDARDISE AMALGAMATIONS AND STRUCTURAL REALIGNMENTS, IRDAI HAS SPECIFIED THE DOCUMENTATION REQUIRED FOR PROPOSED AMALGAMATIONS AND TRANSFERS

The disclosures must also cover the IPO's purpose and size, including fresh share issuance and offers for sale by existing shareholders. The insurer must submit a declaration signed by its managing director or chief executive officer (MD & CEO) covering the accuracy of information disclosed in the offer documents, disclosure of regulatory action taken or initiated by Irdai, compliance with applicable laws and protection of policyholders' interests at all times.

Irdai has also tightened oversight on employee stock option plans . Equity issuances routed via dedicated employee trusts, as well as stock option exercises by key managerial personnel or directors that breach statutory threshold limits, will require prior regulatory clearance. Listed entities must establish mechanisms with depositories and stock exchanges to enforce these limits continuously.

To standardise amalgamations and structural realignments, Irdai has specified the documentation for proposed amalgamations and transfers. Insurers must submit a report by an independent actuary assessing the impact of the proposed transaction on the transferee insurer's technical reserves, solvency position, product pricing and financial condition. The actuary must not have been professionally connected with any of the parties involved during the five years preceding the date of the report. Insurers issuing instruments classified as Other Forms of Capital under the Registration Regulations, 2024, must file detailed post-allotment submissions within 15 days of allotment.

The submission must include the type and nature of the instrument, interest or dividend rate, quantum of capital issued, subscriber details, including their identity and relevant corporate or individual particulars, and the insurer's solvency position before and after allotment. A declaration signed by the insurer's MD/CEO must confirm the accuracy of the information and compliance with laws.

The circular clarifies that voluntary surrender of registration may be sought when the insurer's business or a class of its business is transferred to another person pursuant to an Irdai order; when the business or a class of business is transferred to or amalgamated with another insurer after obtaining Irdai's approval; or when the insurer is unable to commence operations within the stipulated period after receiving its certificate of registration.

'RE sector may create ₹20 trillion investment opportunities by 2030'

NANDINI KESHARI
New Delhi, 2 November

The renewable energy sector is estimated to create investment opportunities worth over ₹20 trillion by the end of this decade, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Monday at the inaugural session of the Bharat Renewable Energy Summit and Expo 2026 here.

Addressing industry leaders and investors, he said that the sector has attracted over ₹15 trillion in investments in the past decade. "From RE Invest Summit in 2024 till now, the sector has attracted ₹6 trillion in investment," said Modi.

"Energy security is directly related to economic security and its future is in clean energy," Modi said, adding that if countries remain dependent on fossil fuels, the global economy will continue to face repeated disruptions.

Citing the achievement of the 50 per cent target for installed capacity from non-fossil sources in 2025, he said, "In the coming 10-11 years, our target is to add 500 Gw of new non-fossil capacity."

There is a huge opportunity for investors, and researchers in India's clean energy sector, he said. "The scale and scope that India offers is difficult to find elsewhere. India's political and policy stability is also difficult to find anywhere else."

Speaking about the PM Surya Ghar Muft Bijli Yojana, Modi said 6.5 million homes have been covered, and every six days, 100,000 more homes are becoming a part of it. The electricity bill of these homes has reduced by 76 per cent according to a study, he added.

Speaking about the government's agriculture solar pump scheme, PM KUSUM, he said that farmers are saving ₹1 lakh each year. He called for the quick solarisation of government buildings, including schools and hospitals and streetlighting systems.

PM Narendra Modi urged startups, innovators and entrepreneurs to create models where households are able to meet most of their needs from solar power

Modi urged startups, innovators and entrepreneurs to create models where households are able to meet most of their needs from solar power.

Speaking at the same event, New and Renewable Energy Minister Pralhad Joshi said that the total investment in the renewable energy sector in the past two years stood at ₹6 trillion, which is among the highest investments in a sector. Foreign direct investment in the sector during this period stood at ₹5.89 trillion, he added.

PM to inaugurate projects worth ₹22K cr in Pune

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will inaugurate and lay the foundation stone of Pune Metro projects worth around ₹21,800 crore on Tuesday, starting a new line in the city. He will inaugurate Pune Metro Line 3, also known as the Pink Line, which saw an expenditure of ₹8,300 crore.

"Spanning approximately 23 kilometres, the Pink Line connects Maan to District Court Metro station. The corridor will provide Metro connectivity between the Hinjewadi IT hub and Shivajinagar, improving access to one of Pune's major employment centres and facilitating the daily commute of thousands of IT professionals and other commuters," a statement from the Prime Minister's Office said.

The corridor will integrate with the existing metro network, providing seamless connectivity across different parts of Pune.

With India aiming to build more metro networks to counter the rise of four wheelers in most major cities, the PMO said the corridor will help reduce dependence on private vehicles, ease traffic congestion and vehicular emissions, and improve access to major commercial and residential areas. Thirty per cent of the line's total electricity requirements envisaged to be met through solar power. Modi will also lay the foundation stone for Phase-II of Pune Metro, to be developed at an estimated cost of around ₹13,500 crore. This phase comprises Pune Metro Lines 2A, 2B, 4 and 4A, aimed to strengthen connectivity across important residential, commercial and IT hubs.

Lines 2A and 2B will span a total length of around 12.75 kilometres. Line 2A will connect Vanaz to Chandani Chowk, while Line 2B will connect Ramwadi to Vitthalwadi, extending the existing east-west Metro network. Line 4, spanning around 25.52 kilometres, will connect Kharadi to Khadakwasla and line 4A, spanning 6.12 kilometres, will connect Nal Stop to Manik Baug.

India's apex drug regulatory authority, the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO), has told manufacturers and suppliers of key cough syrup ingredients that no batch can leave the factory until it is registered and cleared through the government's digital management system (DMS).

Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) Rajeev Raghuvanshi has asked state and Union Territory (UT)-level drug control bodies to direct all manufacturers, vendors and suppliers of high-risk pharmaceutical-grade solvents to register on the Centre's DMS immediately, according to a document seen by Business Standard.

INDUSTRY EXECUTIVES BACKED THE MOVE AND SAID THAT IMPROPER IMPLEMENTATION COULD LEAD TO POSSIBLE CLEARANCE DELAYS, AS LICENSING AND APPROVAL REQUESTS MIGHT COME IN BULK

"It shall be ensured that no batch of pharmaceutical grade of these solvents should be distributed without uploading the required details sought on the DMS and obtaining system generated no-objection certificate (NOC)," a CDSCO order dated October 27 states.

The order includes 10 such excipients, including propylene glycol, glycerine, maltitol and sorbitol. These ingredients are used in liquid medicines and cough syrups, and regulators treat them as high-risk for contamination.

Officials in the know told Business Standard that states have been requested to accord high priority to this matter and ensure strict compliance across all manufacturing and supply units. While backing the move, industry executives said that improper implementation could lead to possible clearance delays as licensing and approval requests might come in bulk.

"While the notification primarily applies to solvent manufacturers and suppliers rather than formulation manufacturers, its implementation could lead to temporary supply disruptions as manufacturers complete registration and align with the new reporting requirements," said Saurabh Agarwal, director and chief executive officer at Mumbai-based HAB Pharmaceuticals and Research.

These are likely to be short-term challenges. "In the longer run, this initiative will help strengthen traceability, improve regulatory oversight and build greater confidence in the pharma supply chain," he added. A Delhi-based pharma executive said that the move would help prevent solvents that do not conform to pharmacopoeial grade from entering the supply chain and, ultimately, the market at large.

Ban on firecrackers impacts legitimate green crackers: SC

The Supreme Court has said that a complete ban on firecrackers is not only facilitating illegal sale but also preventing people from purchasing legitimate green crackers which have been tested at established facilities. The court, which allowed the bursting of green firecrackers in Delhi-National Capital Region (NCR) from 6 to 7 am and from 8 to 10 pm on November 7 and 8, said that non-implementation and flouting of directions passed by it in various orders earlier in the matter have been a "recurring problem".

"Hence, this court is inclined to regulate the manufacture, storage, sale and bursting of green firecrackers, instead of maintaining the complete ban on the same, for a temporary period, in view of the aforesaid discussion," a bench of Justices M M Sundresh and Prasanna B Varale said in its October 29 order. 'Lender to be booked if farmer ends life due to harassment'

Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde has warned that moneylenders, microfinance companies and banks would face murder charges if a drought-hit farmer dies by suicide due to harassment.

The government will stand firmly behind farmers and provide all possible assistance, Shinde said, urging cultivators not to lose hope during the agrarian crisis. He was addressing a gathering during the inauguration of a sub-district hospital in Nanded district. He warned financial institutions and recovery agents against harassing farmers for loan repayment, stressing that strict action would be taken against coercive recovery practices. PTI

Foreign secy to visit Nepal on Nov 4

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri will undertake an official visit to Nepal on November 4-5, the Ministry of External Affairs announced on Monday.

Misri's Kathmandu visit will prepare the ground for Nepalese Prime Minister Balendra Shah's maiden visit to India, likely in the latter half of November.

It will be Shah's maiden bilateral visit since taking office as his country's PM in March.

His maiden foreign visit as his country's PM was to attend the UN General Assembly in September, where he proposed setting up the Himalayan Climate Resilience Mechanism, a joint early-warning data-sharing initiative comprising Nepal, India and China to monitor glacial lakes and cross-border disaster response.

Chouhan asks officials to draw up plan to deal with drought, cyclones

Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Monday directed ministry officials to formulate a concrete strategy to deal with drought, cyclones and erratic rainfall in different parts of the country, stressing that the farmers' crisis must be handled with "utmost sensitivity" and without procedural delays in relief operations. Chouhan, who reviewed the status of kharif harvesting and rabi sowing at the meeting, was joined by senior officials, including Union Agriculture Secretary Atish Chandra.

"Formulate a concrete strategy in the best interest of farmers," Chouhan directed the officials, emphasising that the government must approach the farmers' crisis with the utmost sensitivity, ensuring that there are no procedural delays in relief operations. PTI

Congress demands JPC probe into IDBI Bank sale process

The Congress on Monday alleged that the IDBI Bank disinvestment was a "scam" and demanded that sale of the bank to a foreign company be halted and a Joint Parliamentary Committee be constituted to probe the entire process.

Congress general secretary in-charge communications Jairam Ramesh claimed that a foreign company is acquiring IDBI Bank from the government using funds that belong to the bank itself. "This is yet another major scam by the Modi government, which warrants an investigation. We demand that the process of selling IDBI Bank to a foreign company be halted," Ramesh said in a post on X. Equity capital vital, market concerns merit attention: FM Sitharaman

Citing robust GST collections and the resilience of the banking system, she said the country's key economic indicators did not suggest any underlying fragility. "Instrumental pillars of fundamental economic well-being are all doing alright; there is no fragility," she said. Sitharaman attributed the economy's resilience in part to domestic demand, rising purchasing power and policy stability. The expansion of the middle class and its growing purchasing power had strengthened consumption, providing an important cushion against external uncertainties.

"We have a large domestic market. Earlier, the market did not have that much purchasing power. Today, we are seeing the Indian middle class grow, along with its purchasing power. This is making a difference to domestic consumption," she said.

Recovery in private investment

Sitharaman, speaking later at the media event, pointed to signs of a recovery in private investment, although companies remained selective about sectors and capacity expansion. She attributed the improvement partly to the demand revival following the next-generation goods and services tax (GST) reforms implemented in September 2025. The reforms had made consumption and demand more visible, giving businesses greater confidence to invest in capacity and production, she said.

She said record GST collections in October underscored the resilience of domestic consumption, which was providing businesses with greater visibility on demand and supporting investment decisions.

The government, she in the earlier said, will maintain its capital expenditure drive until private investment gathers sufficient momentum to expand productive capacity. "Capital expenditure is a very important component of our growth strategy because till such time the private sector also comes in to expand capacity, it is important for the government to push through with capital expenditure," she said.

The Centre's capital expenditure push over the past five years had delivered results, with its multiplier effect supporting wider economic activity. However, she cautioned that higher public spending must not come at the expense of fiscal discipline. "I agree we need to spend, but it has to be with responsibility," she said, adding that fiscal prudence would remain a priority under PM Narendra Modi.

Insurance, skills and banking reforms on agenda

At the earlier event, Sitharaman said expanding insurance coverage would remain a central priority in the government's financial inclusion agenda, particularly for the poorest and most vulnerable sections of society. "Insurance for all is very clearly on the top agenda," she said.

The government is seeking to widen access to insurance and pension products, including through schemes such as the Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana and Pradhan Mantri Suraksha Bima Yojana, which offer insurance cover at minimal premiums. Subsidised pension programmes are also intended to provide financial security to those unable to work. Expanding access to formal credit, particularly for aspiring entrepreneurs and small businesses, is another priority.

The government also plans to establish artificial intelligence (AI)-training-capable centres in every district to address the mismatch between industry requirements and the skills of young people entering the workforce. "There is a gap between employers' expectations and the capabilities of young people entering the workforce. Students graduating from colleges in smaller towns and rural areas may not always meet industry requirements. We want to bridge that gap," Sitharaman said.

On banking reforms, Sitharaman said a high-level committee would assess the sector's future requirements and recommend measures to strengthen the banking system. The Finance Ministry has appointed former Central Vigilance Commissioner S N Patel to head the committee. Its members include RBI Deputy Governor Shirish Chandra Murmu, former Indian Bank chief Padmaja Chunduru and former RBI Deputy Governor N S Vishwanathan. The panel has six months, until April 2027, to submit its recommendations.

VEDANTA-RAVVA ARBITRAL AWARD DISPUTE DRAGGED FOR 22 YEARS

'Nobody will trust you': SC pulls up Centre

The Delhi High Court rejected the Centre's challenge to enforcement on July 1, 2026, prompting its appeal to the Supreme Court. The apex court found no grounds to interfere with the High Court's decision.

"We are of the view that no error, not to speak of any error of law, could be said to have been committed by the High Court in passing the impugned judgment and order," the Bench said, while dismissing the appeal.

The dispute has now spanned 32 years since the original contract was signed and approximately 22 years since arbitration was formally invoked on August 16, 2004. The first award itself is more than 22 years old, while the final award was delivered a decade ago.

How the dispute unfolded

The consortium entered into a production sharing contract with the Centre on October 28, 1994, for developing the Ravva oil and gas field. Differences subsequently arose over the interpretation of contractual provisions governing the calculation of the government's share of profit petroleum, including the treatment of payments made towards ONGC's carry obligations.

The dispute was referred to arbitration in Kuala Lumpur in August 2004. On October 12 that year, the tribunal delivered a partial award, deciding certain contractual issues while leaving the quantification of amounts payable to a later stage.

The Centre challenged the award before Malaysian courts. The Malaysian High Court set it aside on January 12, 2009, but the Court of Appeal restored it on September 15 that year. The Malaysian Federal Court upheld the award on October 11, 2011.

Nearly three years later, on July 10, 2014, the Centre issued a showcause notice seeking to recover approximately $99 million from the companies — $64 million from Vedanta's predecessor, Cairn Energy India, and $35 million from Ravva Oil. It claimed the amounts were due under the production sharing contract.

The companies subsequently returned to arbitration to resolve the outstanding question of quantification. A reconstituted tribunal delivered the final award on October 26, 2016, ruling in their favour. The award was subsequently upheld by Malaysian courts, including the Malaysian Federal Court on February 28, 2019.

The Centre then resisted enforcement in India, raising objections relating to limitation, public policy and the tribunal's jurisdiction. Among other arguments, it contended that the tribunal had become functus officio — having exhausted its authority — after delivering the partial award in 2004.

On July 1, 2026, Delhi High Court Justice Jasmeet Singh rejected the objections. The High Court held that the enforcement proceedings were within the limitation period and that the tribunal retained jurisdiction to determine the amounts payable. It also directed that bank guarantees furnished in connection with the dispute be released within eight weeks.

The Centre then challenged the ruling before the Supreme Court.

Government's arbitration record under scrutiny

The Supreme Court's remarks come amid growing scrutiny of the government's role in arbitration-related litigation. The government has itself acknowledged the extent of litigation following arbitration proceedings. In a written reply to the Lok Sabha on July 22, 2024, the Ministry of Finance said a sample study of the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) and NTPC found that more than 60 per cent of arbitral awards were challenged in courts.

The ministry said its guidelines on arbitration and mediation in domestic public procurement contracts reflected its "unsatisfactory experience" with arbitration in high-value contracts involving the government, government entities and public sector enterprises. It also clarified that it did not maintain comprehensive data on arbitration and litigation expenditure in the form sought in the parliamentary question, while acknowledging that the government incurred costs on both arbitration and subsequent litigation.

A separate study published in Arbitration International in June 2026 examined 2,020 petitions challenging arbitral awards under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation-Act, 1996, filed before the Delhi High Court between 2021 and 2024. Government entities featured in 1,258 cases, accounting for 62.28 per cent of the dataset. The study found that government entities were petitioners challenging awards in 825 cases, or 40.84 per cent of the total. By comparison, they defended awards as respondents in 412 cases, or 20.39 per cent.

Government entities therefore challenged awards approximately twice as often as they defended them in the dataset. Indian Railways and its subsidiaries accounted for 178 cases, followed by NHAI with 116. The study does not cover execution proceedings or establish that government entities account for a corresponding proportion of enforcement delays. It nevertheless illustrates the extent of government participation in litigation challenging arbitral awards.

The findings come as the Centre seeks to position India as a global arbitration hub.

In June 2025, Union Minister of State (Independent Charge) for Law and Justice Arjun Ram Meghwal told the National Conference on Institutional Arbitration organised by the Department of Legal Affairs that "India will become the arbitration hub".

Organised in collaboration with the India International Arbitration Centre (IIAC) and ONGC, the conference sought to promote institutional arbitration as the preferred mechanism for commercial dispute resolution, particularly among public sector enterprises. In a Lok Sabha reply in February 2026, the Law Ministry said the government had undertaken legislative amendments in 2015, 2019 and 2020 to facilitate timely arbitration, minimise judicial intervention and ensure faster enforcement of arbitral awards. It also acknowledged, however, that the Arbitration Council of India, envisaged under the 2019 amendments, had yet to be constituted.

SC flags persistent enforcement delays

The Supreme Court has repeatedly highlighted the difficulties parties face in securing the benefits of arbitral awards, even after successfully navigating arbitration and subsequent court challenges.

On May 29, in Madhya Pradesh Road Development Corporation Limited versus Jabalpur Corridor Private Limited, Justice J K Maheshwari and Justice Atul S Chandurkar observed that both the government and the courts had contributed to undermining arbitration in India.

"Arbitration in India has not failed; however, courts sometimes have failed arbitration in India. Even the government's role cannot be ignored," the court said, warning that excessive judicial intervention could undermine India's credibility and its ease of doing business. It also stressed that judges must recognise the importance of certainty, uniformity and finality.

A business jet crashed into a South Florida neighbourhood, United States, killing all nine people on board and leaving a fiery crater. The cause was not immediately clear. Video recorded by passersby captured the crash on Sunday afternoon when the Bahamas-bound aircraft plunged from the sky before slamming into the ground and exploding in Green Acres. Florida Governor Ron DeSantis said there were no immediate reports of anyone on the ground injured or killed. Authorities have not released the names of the people who died. About 600 people were evacuated from a nearby mobile home community. Authorities have not provided any information about what caused the crash. Binance says customers withdrew $5 bn after hack

Binance's customers have withdrawn almost $5 billion from the world's biggest cryptocurrency exchange since it reopened after a hack that saw $6.3 billion of crypto stolen from the platform in what could be the largest financial heist in history. Customers have withdrawn a net $4.72 billion since a suspension was lifted on Sunday morning, a spokesperson said. The exchange froze withdrawals for about 48 hours after the hack, which the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) said was carried out by North Korea. Binance said the net outflow amounted to about 2.8 per cent of assets on the platform, a relatively modest figure that analysts said suggested customer confidence had largely held up. The outflow compares with about $7 billion withdrawn from Circle's USDC stablecoin over a week after the collapse of Silicon Valley Bank in 2023. The attack marks a step up in North Korea's crypto thefts. "Our top priority right now is to ensure the environment is secure, after which users can withdraw their funds and Binance can resume operations," Binance co-chief executive officer (CEO) Yi He said in a post on X on Monday. Anti-graft push is an economic boon, says Xi

Chinese President Xi Jinping has defended his 14-year-old rigorous anti-corruption campaign in which over eight million officials were punished, asserting that it has a "positive impact" on the country's economic development. The 73-year-old leader also rejected the criticism that his anti-graft campaign is stifling China's economic development. "If full and rigorous self-governance has had an impact on economic and social development, it has been positive, not negative," said Xi. REUTERS

Anthropic's Q3 net loss falls by $43.01 bn

Anthropic's net loss narrowed sharply in the third quarter as revenue jumped, an amended initial public offering (IPO) filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission showed on Monday. The company's net loss fell to $23.29 billion in the three months ended September 30 from $66.3 billion in the second quarter, while revenue rose to $16.96 billion from $11.56 billion. Anthropic filed to go public last week, setting the stage for what could be the biggest IPO on record. REUTERS

Marvell reaches $115 billion deal for Lumentum Holdings

Marvell Technology is buying optical components maker Lumentum in a $115 billion all-stock deal, including debt, as the custom chipmaker takes on larger rival Broadcom in a race to cash in on the Artificial Intelligence (AI) spending boom. The deal, announced on Monday, is one of the biggest in 2026 and among the boldest bets yet on the AI build-out that chip executives expect to underpin industry demand for years. "AI infrastructure is undergoing a fundamental architectural shift toward optical connectivity, creating an opportunity that comes along once in a generation," said Marvell CEO Matt Murphy. "We intend to help shape the next era of AI connectivity and create exceptional stockholder value." REUTERS

US voters sour on economy before midterms

Rise in consumer prices and wages has been nearly equal; high mortgage rates and fuel costs deepen woes

REUTERS
2 November

United States President Donald Trump at a midterm campaign rally in Dubuque, Iowa, on Sunday PHOTO: REUTERS

On the eve of elections that will decide whether United States (US) President Donald Trump's Republican Party keeps control of Congress, voters are focused on the economy. High and rising prices are a key issue, with many blaming his policies, specifically tariffs and the Iran war, for nagging inflation.

In short, Americans are in a sour mood. The numbers, however, tell a more complex story. The unemployment rate remains historically low, more people than ever are employed and overall economic growth is solid. The artificial intelligence (AI) investment boom has also driven up the stock market, padding retirement accounts for millions.

Countering that momentum is inflation. Though not nearly as high as just a few years ago, it is elevated enough that people feel the pinch whenever they fill their gas tanks, pay a utility bill or order a meal.

Trump is not on the ballot on November 3, but voters have his economic record in mind. Consumer surveys show the mood has generally deteriorated since his second term began in January 2025. The Conference Board's confidence measure perked up in October, while the University of Michigan's consumer sentiment index registered a near-record low.

The labour market offers one argument for confidence. Companies are not conducting mass layoffs, weekly unemployment insurance claims are near a 57-year low. The unemployment rate, at 4.2 per cent in September, has remained below 4.5 per cent for five straight years — the longest stretch on record.

Stock market gains have helped underpin consumer spending. Still, some economists warn of potential fragility. A wave of corporate earnings results from the likes of Amazon.com and Intel added to worries about the sustainability of the AI spending boom, sending indexes such as the Nasdaq Composite sharply lower.

"A sharp reset in AI expectations could undermine corporate confidence, trigger a pullback in capex (capital expenditure) and weigh on GDP growth, just as higher oil prices, tariffs and tighter immigration restrictions push inflation higher, raising the risk of a stagflationary environment in which growth slows even as price pressures persist," Torsten Slok, chief economist at Apollo Global Management, wrote in a mid-October note.

Putting such a dire scenario aside, frustration with inflation is top of mind for many households. Although it has slowed since its 2022 peak, inflation remains well above the central bank's 2 per cent price-stability target.

For much of Trump's second term, wages were growing faster than prices, meaning workers' paychecks could cover as much or more of the same goods and services. That changed earlier this year after the US and Israel launched attacks on Iran. The eight-month war has lifted fuel prices globally and contributed to broader price acceleration. Demand for AI is also adding to inflation, Fed policymakers and economists say. Wage growth is slowing.

Consumer prices and average hourly earnings have both risen about 5.5 per cent since January 2025, data from the US Bureau of Labor Statistics shows. Workers are no better off in purchasing-power terms than when Trump came into office. Longer-term borrowing costs have also risen. Mortgage rates topping 7 per cent and a shortage of housing supply have put home purchases out of reach for many people.

Iran: No breakthrough, but peace efforts go on

"I CAN TELL YOU THAT THE DIALOGUES ARE CONTINUING. HOWEVER, THE ISSUE IS COMPLEX"

Esmaeil Baghaei, Foreign Ministry spokesperson, Iran

Contacts between Iran and the United States (US) to end their eight-month war are continuing, Tehran's foreign ministry said on Monday, after days of Iranian talks with Qatari mediators ended with altered proposals but no breakthrough.

"I can tell you that the dialogues are continuing. However, the issue is complex," said Foreign Ministry spokesperson Esmaeil Baghaei, adding that the two sides were exchanging messages through mediators.

Amid fears the conflict could reignite after Tuesday's midterm elections in the US, China and Russia both spoke out on Monday against the possibility of renewed military action in a war that has hit the global economy.

Baghaei said the plan Iran had submitted in September to end the war remained the focus of discussions, but he confirmed comments attributed to Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi on Saturday that the proposal could be shortened. "The basis of dialogue and talks between Iran and the US via mediators is still Iran's seven-steps proposal, which is now condensed, making it possible to implement it within two days," he said.

Kuwait's oil output in Oct highest since start of war

Kuwait raised its crude oil production to 2.1 million barrels per day (bpd) in October, the highest level since the outbreak of the Iran war and an increase of over 300,000 bpd from September, a person with direct knowledge of the matter said. The rise came despite a record number of attacks on shipping in the Strait of Hormuz.

A police vehicle damaged in a clash with garment workers seeking higher wages, in Gazipur, Bangladesh, on Monday

Garment workers in Bangladesh continued their violent protests on Monday for the second day in a row over their demand for higher pay, prompting authorities to deploy additional paramilitary forces after reports surfaced of vehicle vandalism and major roads being blocked.

Demonstrators clashed with law enforcement personnel in the capital's Mirpur area, Ashulia, Gazipur and Narayanganj, and set police vans ablaze as police used tear gas, water cannons and batons to disperse them, local media reports said. The latest wave of protests has forced 670 of around 4,000 registered garment factories to shut in Dhaka, Gazipur and central Mymensingh.

Europe supermarket fridges feel cyberattack heat

REUTERS
2 November

European supermarket fridges are under cyberattack once again, with stores from Sweden to Belgium hit by a hack on Monday that turned up their temperatures, echoing an incident in France in October.

Supermarket chains Ahold Delhaize and Colruyt said an IT incident overnight hit fridges and freezers in dozens of stores in Belgium and Luxembourg, while Swedish grocers ICA and Coop reported similar temperature spikes.

"There has been a cyberattack and all our freezers reached 50 degrees Celsius," Engla Ingwall, sales manager at an ICA franchise store in Stockholm, told Reuters.

A spokesperson at privately held ICA said that the firm was aware that "limited number of stores were affected by an incident overnight, which impacted their refrigeration and freezer systems".

These incidents follow an attack in France in October, in which hackers seized control of cooling units at hundreds of supermarkets, causing fires and food losses. Ahold also reported a cybersecurity incident to police last month.

While no one has claimed responsibility for either attack, the cases have put a spotlight on rising anxiety over hybrid attacks spreading from conflicts on European borders after Russia's 2022 invasion of Ukraine.

Moscow has repeatedly denied involvement in hybrid warfare operations. Reuters was unable to establish who was behind Monday's attacks, or if there was any link to the October ones in France.

Retail threat

New incidents: Belgian supermarket chain Ahold Delhaize and Luxembourg-based Colruyt are the latest retailers to report cyberattacks

France precedent: Similar attacks in France in October targeted cooling units, triggering fires and food losses

Devices targeted: Attacks have affected refrigerators, heating systems, security cameras and alarm networks

Sweden's national cybersecurity centre is working on several incidents affecting grocery stores across the country, the head of the centre, John Billow, said on Monday. "We have in recent weeks... identified we have quite a lot of exposed operational technology devices in Sweden that we have been clear about the necessity to update or patch," he said.

From refrigerators and heating systems to security cameras and alarm networks, a vast range of devices, can now be controlled remotely, creating new opportunities for cybercriminals.

Stephan Moelans, chief executive officer of Belgian refrigeration firm Sabcobel, told the Belga news agency the incident was a cyberattack, with units' evaporators switched to defrost mode. Moelans' office declined to comment. A spokesperson for Belgian Colruyt Group said five shops had their fridge systems attacked.

In Ireland, food wholesaler Musgrave said that a cyber incident had affected refrigeration systems in 13 of its SuperValu stores, forcing it to remove some chilled and frozen products from sale.

Tom Hegel, a researcher at cybersecurity firm SentinelOne, said that attacks were usually extortion, politically motivated or nation-state level operations, with the lack of financial demands in the recent supermarket cases pointing to sabotage.

Nordhaus: Connecting the dots between climate change & economics

AMOL AGRAWAL

William Nordhaus, Professor of economics at Yale University, passed away recently. His ideas and models laid the foundation for economics of climate change, one of the most pressing issues of our time.

In recognition of his work, Nordhaus was awarded the Nobel Prize in economics in 2018 "for integrating climate change into long-run macroeconomic analysis" (Paul Romer was coawarded "for integrating technological innovations into long-run macroeconomic analysis").

Nordhaus completed his doctorate in economics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) under Robert Solow, a Nobel Laureate. Solow was awarded the Nobel Prize in 1987 "for his contributions to the theory of economic growth."

Solow's work was instrumental in producing future Nobel Laureates.

In his autobiography on the Nobel Prize website, Nordhaus narrates how his early interest in environment and climate change was perhaps due to his father's deep interests in skiing.

He adds that because of global warming, "my boyhood ski area of La Madera will no longer offer skiing" as no ice will remain.

This early environmental awareness proved handy as after his doctorate in 1967, he started working seriously on integrating climate change into growth models pioneered by his adviser Solow.

The early 1970s saw a revival of "high-water mark of modern Malthusianism" in Nordhaus's words.

In 1798, British economist Thomas Robert Malthus had prophesised that population growth will always be higher than food growth, leading to continuous human misery.

Though, the Malthusianism theory was proven wrong due to constant innovations by humanity, the ideas kept coming back.

In the 1970s, books such as The Population Bomb and The Limits to Growth, brought the Malthusian doomsday predictions to the fore.

The 1970s also saw oil shocks pushing the world economy into stagflation — high inflation and low growth.

The blame was laid on the growth fetish which not just led to enormous burden on natural resources but also created negative externality of pollution.

Famous economists usually say how the economic/political crises shaped their early world and research.

It was no different for Nordhaus. While the world was descending into chaos of stagflation, it provided food for thought for the then young economist Nordhaus.

Climate change was based on physical sciences and Nordhaus started to explore economics of climate science.

He was fortuitous to have been posted to the International Institute of Applied Systems Analysis at Vienna where he worked with climate scientists to connect the dots between science and economics.

The end-result was the first Integrated Assessment Model (IAM) which laid the foundation of modelling climate science economics.

The Nordhaus model was built on the Solow model which said the growth of a country is driven by a combination of technology, labour and capital.

Nordhaus asked whether growth can continue with constraints of climate change and carbon emissions.

The climate question became integral to the growth process: While economic growth affects climate, climate change also effects economic growth.

Climate change is a global problem and has to be modelled accordingly.

The IAM models were later expanded to Dynamic Integrated Model of Climate and Economy (DICE) models and Regional Integrated Model of Climate and Economy (RICE) models, which integrated the global economy and global climate system.

These models have been used extensively to estimate the economic consequences of global warming based on multiple scenarios.

Key insights from these models were that emitters should face the costs of emitting.

Economists use market prices to determine economic behaviour. However, there were no market prices due to externalities. The IAM models used linear programming techniques to estimate shadow prices of carbon emissions.

Nordhaus interpreted the shadow carbon price as "carbon tax" which has become central to climate policies today.

The discussions also shaped carbon trading system under which industry players are given carbon permits.

The heavy polluters can buy credits from not-so-heavy polluters.

The World Bank notes that 47 countries have implemented carbon tax and 34 countries have carbon credit mechanisms.

Nordhaus' work was also criticised for underestimating the impact of climate change and saying that aggressive climate change policies will lower economic growth.

Apart from laying the foundations of climate science economics, Nordhaus was also a familiar name for economics students.

In 1948, Paul Samuelson (his teacher at MIT) started publishing the first major-textbook titled Economics.

Nordhaus joined Samuelson as coauthor in 1985 and continued to revise subsequent editions after Samuelson passed away in 2009.

Nordhaus also superbly documented the history of lighting, showing how cost of lighting has declined several times more than suggested by the official estimates.

Thus, he argued that the measures of economic progress are massively underestimating the actual progress made by innovations and technology in human life.

Many economists today cite his lighting paper as influential as his work on climate science.

Insalubrious climate for reform

COP31 is up against all-round failures

Next week, leaders of 90 countries will converge in the salubrious "Turkish Riviera" town of Antalya for the 31st United Nations Climate Change Conference (called Conference of Parties 31, or COP31). However, the idyllic setting is not expected to yield much good news. It is already clear that the 2015 Paris agreement target to hold increases in global average temperatures below 1.5 to 2 degrees centigrade above pre-industrial levels is unlikely to materialise. In November last year, the United Nations Environment Programme's "Emissions Gap" report suggested that global temperatures would breach the lower threshold of 1.5 degrees centigrade within the next decade, far faster than climate advocates had hoped, thanks to accelerated fossil-fuel burning. The report points out that there is more carbon dioxide in the atmosphere than at any point in the last two million years. So even if countries lived up to their Nationally Determined Contributions — and the report is doubtful on this score — the world will warm by 2.3 to 2.5 degrees centigrade by the end of the century.

Faced with this disastrous scenario, the effort in Antalya is to limit peak warming to a "low overshoot path" of 1.7-1.8 degrees centigrade before cooling to 1.5 degrees centigrade in 2100. This will require considerably higher emission-cutback pledges than those made in Paris; given that the world has already warmed 1.44 degrees centigrade above pre-industrial levels, only an unalloyed optimist can hope to reach those targets. Beyond unchecked fossil-fuel burning is the sustained reluctance of the developed world, which is responsible for global warming in the first place, to underwrite urgently needed mitigation and adaptation projects in the climate change-impacted poor and developing world. The United States' repudiation of the Paris Agreement set the trend in Donald Trump's first term as President and his second stint saw the mass exit of private finance from climate-funding initiatives.

Much has been made of the fact that climate finance has crossed $2 billion annually. But this amount lags annual requirements of $7.8 trillion till 2030. The bulk of this meagre finance goes into mitigation projects (such as renewable energy and emission reduction) that have revenue-earning potential, leaving little for adaptation programmes (such as infrastructure to contain sea-level rises) needed in scores of island-nations and countries with long coastlines. Climate-finance meetings ahead of Antalya did not suggest a fundamental alteration of this funding paradigm or amount.

India has consistently outperformed its Paris Agreement commitments. It exceeded its non-fossil-fuel electric-power target nine years ahead of schedule and its emission intensity reduction 10 years ahead, and is on track to create an additional carbon sink. This track record has given New Delhi the confidence to set challenging targets for Nationally Determined Contribution for 2031 to 2035. These are creditable achievements that also go a long way towards reducing India's fossil-fuel dependence. But these developments must be weighed against steady ecological destruction, which also plays a role in climate change. Diminishing biodiversity in the Western Ghats and other Indian forests for mining and commercial plantations, for example, unchecked construction in the Aravallis, the indiscriminate building of dams and railways in fragile terrain in Arunachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand, and the disastrous pollution of the oceans are all trajectories that will eventually annul the achievements of the Paris targets. They, too, need to be addressed with the same urgency as emission norms.

Shifts in labour market

India must prepare for greater AI adoption

Artificial intelligence (AI) is reshaping the nature of work and is raising questions about the future of employment, particularly in economies with large and growing workforces. The traditional pathway of moving workers from agriculture to manufacturing and services is becoming harder to sustain as production becomes more capital- and technology-intensive. As a mid-size information-technology (IT) company told this newspaper, the role of entry-level engineers is collapsing because of AI. In this regard, a study in the International Monetary Fund's (IMF's) latest "Regional Economic Outlook" for Asia and Pacific provides an early assessment of the shift. Drawing on 40 million online job postings across 19 Asian economies, it finds that employer demand in occupations more exposed to AI has fallen by nearly 10 per cent since the launch of ChatGPT in November 2022. While this decline has stabilised despite rapid improvement in AI capabilities, the report cautions against interpreting this as evidence that displacement risks have receded. The effects of reduced hiring are likely to unfold only over time.

There are, however, emerging opportunities. Demand is increasing for workers with skills in prompt engineering, retrieval-augmented generation, and AI agent development. However, only about 6 per cent of firms in Asia seek explicit AI skills in their job postings. The study finds that hiring demand is growing faster at firms adopting AI, including for occupations highly exposed to the technology. This suggests that AI can complement workers by raising their productivity, even as it substitutes for certain tasks. The challenge is ensuring that the new opportunities are sufficiently broad to offset the reduction in conventional hiring. The implications differ across economies. Ageing countries such as Japan and South Korea could use AI to mitigate shrinking workforces. For India, Indonesia and the Philippines, which have expanding working-age populations, the challenge involves creating enough productive employment to harness their demographic dividends. These economies are now partly shielded because large numbers of workers remain in agriculture, a sector less exposed to AI. However, development requires a shift towards higher-productivity manufacturing and services, precisely where AI could make job creation more difficult.

Notably, high unemployment among the youth, skill mismatches among graduates, and widespread underemployment already constrain employment prospects across emerging Asia. The IMF's analysis of 65 million career histories finds that only about 5 per cent of workers move across occupations annually. This underlines why reskilling cannot be treated as an automatic solution to technological displacement. Workers need accessible training, institutional support, and opportunities to transition into occupations where demand is growing. India must, therefore, rethink its approach to employment generation and workforce preparedness. Education systems need to move beyond conventional qualifications towards adaptable, technology-oriented skills. Equally important is the direction of technological adoption. If AI-driven gains accrue disproportionately to a handful of firms, taxation and welfare policies may have to be revisited. For countries such as India, ensuring access to frontier AI technologies while building domestic capabilities in infrastructure, data and expertise will be equally important.

India's grid-scale moment

Batteries will power the future economy. India must seize the opportunity to build a globally competitive industry that goes beyond lithium-ion

ILLUSTRATION: AJAYA MOHANTY

India's energy demand is growing at about the same rate as its gross domestic product or GDP. If the economy becomes five to six times its current size in another 20 years, so will the energy demand. Moreover, electricity will power the bulk of economic activity in the country. As a result, massive power-generation capacity will need to come up in the very near future.

It is also true that renewable energy, specifically wind and solar, is a very cheap source of power. They will also become cheaper over time. However, they supply electricity intermittently, while power demand is volatile. This is a key problem for utilities or electricity distribution companies.

LAVEESH BHANDARI

To match intermittent supply with volatile demand requires some form of electricity storage that can be drawn at will. The scales would be massive and the storage needs will be large as well.

Fortunately, many technological alternatives exist that can help meet such demand-supply gaps. But water, compressed air, and brine-based energy storage solutions are difficult to scale-up. And, the most used alternative, the lithium-ion battery, is controlled by China and will continue to be for the next five to 10 years.

Each energy storage system has a different set of advantages. While their use is increasing, they are not currently used at scale. If they could be produced at scale, their costs would be significantly lower. Moreover, typically larger setups are better able to attract resources for research and innovation.

And, therefore, India has a great opportunity and challenge for industrial policy on utility-scale power storage. India could do either of three things. The first is to be agnostic to the technology and support any type of battery-based storage. Roughly, this is what India does currently. The second is to reverse industrial policy, and actively dissuade lithium-ion batteries, letting the industry decide on other alternatives. And the third is to choose a specific type of battery and direct investments towards it.

While technological agnosticism is generally a superior policy solution, focusing on lithium-ion batteries will mean dependence on China for the next decade or so, if not more. India thus needs a policy that seeks to catalyse a new battery industry.

A successful industrial policy for grid-scale storage would, therefore, have three elements. One, it would specify what it is trying to prevent; in this case, it would be lithium-ion. Two, it would seek to promote other technologies. In this, it may specify sodium-ion batteries or be agnostic. And three, it would ensure that an enabling ecosystem is created for new technologies — both financial and regulatory constraints, if any, need to be addressed.

The first step in any policy change is to identify the objective. India's grid storage mission must adopt an approach that is not just China-resilient but one aimed at harnessing global opportunity. A large market in battery-based storage is opening up not only in India but globally. Just as India is electrifying at a fast pace, so are most other economies, and all have the same needs currently mostly being met by China. Therefore, India needs to think of an alternative that could help it access the global energy-storage market. This market is not just about batteries for achieving energy transition, but also to power the large data centres that need seamless electricity supply.

The second step would be to promote demand for non-lithium grid-storage batteries. And it is here that policymakers will need to better understand industry compulsions. No other battery has been around for a long time, and therefore many parameters, degradation rates, lifespans, efficiency levels are not as well understood for new technologies as they are for lithium-ion batteries. Left to itself, the market will tend to prefer the well-known technology to new unknown ones. Recall that the government tried to catalyse India's renewable energy transition by mandating discoms to purchase renewable energy. A similar mandate, of say a minimum of a quarter of total energy storage using non-lithium storage, would help create early demand for other forms of batteries. This would need to be expanded over time.

Third, the world, including India, has underinvested in the development of sodium-ion batteries, one of the most likely alternatives to lithium-ion. These batteries have several advantages: Key inputs are mostly available in India, are low-cost when produced at scale, they are environmentally less harmful, and less susceptible to overheating, among others. Currently, they are marginally less efficient and costlier than lithium-ion batteries, but scale should help cover some of the ever-narrowing gap between sodium-ion and lithium batteries. India has some ongoing initiatives and pilots, but more is required. A great opportunity lies ahead if India can crack the sodium-ion battery ecosystem.

Fourth, the current production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for battery storage aims to incentivise domestic and global companies to set up giga-scale Advanced Chemistry Cell (ACC) manufacturing and battery storage facilities in India. As mentioned before, it is technology-agnostic. A variant of the same scheme that focuses on non-lithium grid-scale storage needs to be created that rewards domestic alternatives on the basis of domestic value addition rather than being output-based. As soon as domestic value added enters the PLI equation, lithium becomes less attractive an option.

Fifth, an ecosystem approach is critical for kick-starting a whole new industry. Financial institutions such as the Small Industries Development Bank of India and the Indian Renewable Energy Development Agency Ltd can provide greater support or better terms to utility-scale storage that has a high level of domestic value addition.

Greater research & development allocations, especially in upstream technologies, such as anode and cathodes, would help. Startups in this space can be funded out of various government schemes. These could be further enabled by capex grants for both incumbents and new entrants. At the same time, a relook at the regulations would help. Many hazmat rules that apply to storage and transport of batteries, among others, currently appear to be designed for lithium-ion batteries, which would need to be corrected.

The larger point being made is that batteries lie at the heart of the future economy, and it would be a good idea to take the driver's seat on this opportunity.

COP31 and the world's 35x35 plan

The next United Nations-mandated climate conference, to be held this month in Antalya, will begin on an anxious note.

The latest Emissions Gap Report 2026 of the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) confirms that global emissions have reached a record high of 58 gigatonnes in 2025 and are still rising. Even if all new Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) promised by countries are fully implemented, global emissions will fall by a mere 5-8 per cent by 2030, compared with the 2025 level. For a pathway consistent with the 1.5-degree climate goal, global emissions need to fall by over 43 per cent compared with 2019 levels and 18 per cent compared with 2025 levels. The scenario is, therefore, grim.

R R RASHMI

Given that NDCs were revised only last year and no further negotiations on the new set of NDCs are on the cards until the next global stocktake in 2028, can the Conference of the Parties (COP31) do anything to buck this trend? More specifically, will India be adversely affected by any action that it may consider?

One such idea that is doing the rounds in anticipation of COP31 is raising the share of electricity in global energy consumption to 35 per cent by 2035.

The goal looks attractive and benign because electrification powered by renewables can help reduce emissions significantly. The current global electrification level reported by the International Energy Agency (IEA) is 23 per cent. Moreover, the share of renewable energy, excluding nuclear, in the global electricity generation mix is nearly 34 per cent, and, in terms of capacity, still higher at 49.5 per cent. So, the goal appears to be within reach.

However, there is more to it than meets the eye. Both electrification and renewable energy capacity additions vary widely at global and national levels. In India, for example, electricity's share of final energy consumption is around 23 per cent. Similarly, the share of renewable energy in the electricity generation mix is around 26 per cent, including large hydro, though its share in terms of overall capacity has risen to over 50 per cent.

As admitted by the International Renewable Energy Agency, the share of renewable energy in the electricity generation mix consistently lags the share of renewable energy in capacity because of lower capacity factors of solar and wind. Rapidly increasing energy demand relative to supply further widens this gap in countries like India. Even in developing economies where the variable cost of solar and wind energy has fallen below that of coal-fired electricity, coal continues to meet over 70 per cent of the final energy consumption because of this reason.

Given this reality, how should India look at the 35x35 electricity goal? A suitable response may depend on four factors.

One, electricity's share of final energy consumption is contingent upon how energy demand is met in the future. Demand for energy originates not only in the power sector, where renewable energy is dominant, but also in industry and the transport sector, where fossil fuels rule the roost. Electricity growth in these sectors will depend on how quickly and to what extent alternative technologies and fuels, such as green hydrogen, biofuels and electric batteries, can be introduced.

Two, India's economic growth requires an increase in energy consumption, 72 per cent of which is currently met by fossil fuels. Under the existing policy scenario, electricity's share in India's energy consumption may rise to about 24 per cent by 2035, but a further rise may not be linear until India's emissions peak. This would depend on the dynamics of Viksit Bharat and cannot be predicted with certainty at this stage.

Three, even in the power sector, where renewable energy is rising in the generation mix, further growth is dependent on critical investments in transmission and energy storage. Investments in renewable energy have no doubt accelerated since 2023, when about 120 countries pledged to triple renewable energy capacity. But global capacity is still half of the projected goal of 11,000 Gw by 2030, mainly because transmission and storage have not kept pace.

Four, neither electrification nor renewable energy can expand in the energy system in the absence of dedicated and planned public and private investments in renewable energy infrastructure. Current attention is focused on capacity creation and not on the development of energy storage infrastructure or alternative fuels at scale. Global green finance, being risk-averse and aligned with fossil fuel phase-out policies, is not a reliable partner for planned investments of this nature.

As India is largely dependent on domestic resources to finance the transformation of critical energy infrastructure, it must decide on the pace of its transformation in a manner consistent with the goals of Viksit Bharat and net zero. Raising the share of renewable energy in the electricity generation mix could be a more pragmatic near-term goal than raising electrification's share in energy consumption.

Short stories about successful brands

BOOK REVIEW

AMBI PARAMESWARAN

Building a brand is part rational selling, part emotional selling, and part great storytelling. Most successful brands have interesting back stories and use them well. There is the famous story of Jamsetji Tata being denied entrance to the whites-only Watson's Hotel; he went and built a hotel that outlasted Watson's — the iconic Taj Mahal Palace Hotel at Colaba. Karsanbhai Patel, a chemist working in Ahmedabad, was encouraged to create an economical washing powder after seeing his family trying to economise on the use of expensive detergent; that led to the creation of Nirma. Then there is the story about milk producers getting under a co-operative union to take on a British brand — and Amul was born. I was reminded of all these stories as I went through Brief Case: How Brands Create Desire, Trust & Culture by Sanjay Arora.

First, a bit about the author. He is not a big-city branding guru. He lives in Nagpur and runs an ad agency (Shells Advertising) that is today the leading ad agency of central India. He also has an enviable following on Instagram. He has over a million followers and his reels have been viewed by an amazing 25 million-plus times. I am sure readers of this newspaper have received forwards of his highly engaging reels. He posts one reel every day and each is based on a trivia, about brands, consumers, culture, books and so on.

It was, therefore, with great excitement that I picked up Brief Case and I was not disappointed. He has presented short stories about 40 brands. Some of the stories would be familiar to most marketing professionals: Dove, Chik, FedEx, Heinz, Patagonia, Spotify, to name a few. But there were quite a few brand stories that were new to this reviewer.

Let me start with one, simply because it is about the city in which I grew up — Madras or Chennai as it is known now. How many of you have heard of the brand or the cloth called "Bleeding Madras"? It is a particular type of cloth made with vegetable dyes that "bleeds" as you wash it. When Brooks Brothers launched it, the product tanked and the company was sued. But the manufacturers had faith in the product and figured out how to turn the so-called weakness into a strength. The campaign that followed made a virtue out of the weakness: "Guaranteed to Bleed" said the headline of the ad. The product took off. I remember hearing the term "Bleeding Madras" during my school days and the story was nostalgic for me.

Or the story behind the creation of the brand Fanta, again a childhood favourite of mine. I did not know that Fanta was created by The Coca-Cola Company in Germany during World War II. Why? Simply because they could not import Coke essence due to war time restrictions. The local company concocted a cloudy drink made with left over fruit and starch called "Fantasticque". After the war the brand languished till yet another European country was looking for an interesting brand name to launch a real orange drink. Fanta was reborn. Unlike Coke, which is made the same way across the world, Fanta takes on a local avatar and is sold in a multitude of flavours.

Wagh Bakri tea is one of the largest-selling tea brands in western India. Did you know that its brand name was inspired by Mahatma Gandhi's teachings of peaceful collaboration or co-existence — tea so good that a "Wagh" (tiger) and a "Bakri" (goat) can enjoy it together!

Afghan Snow used to be a very popular cosmetic brand in the 1960s. I did not know that its name was suggested by the King of Afghanistan (King Amanullah). He took a look at the unnamed white cream that was offered by Ebrahim Patanwala, said that it reminded him of the pure snow of his homeland. Afghan Snow was born (circa 1919).

Of the 40 brands presented, half of them are global brands and half are brands born or created in India. There are many old brands such as ParleG and Kurkure and some new ones such as Dolo 650.

Given the compact nature of the brand stories presented so well in the book, the purpose of the book is not to be a go-to-book on brand marketing but to be a trigger for aspiring brand managers and brand creators. In that regard this is a good addition to the growing library of books on Indian brands.

The reviewer is a best-selling author of 12 books. His latest is the tenth anniversary edition of Nawabs, Nudes, Noodles — India Through 60 Years of Advertising

Alphabet kicks off $6 bn bond sale, tests appetite for tech debt

Google parent Alphabet is selling 6 billion ($6.7 billion) of bonds on Monday, according to a memo from one of the deal's managers, testing investor appetite after doubts about the artificial intelligence (AI) trade triggered a recent selloff in tech stocks and debt.

Alphabet is offering the new bonds in seven tranches, with total demand just over 17 billion, the memo from one of the banks arranging the sale seen by Reuters showed. The bonds have maturities ranging from 2 to 19 years. They include one floating-rate tranche and six fixed-rate tranches, according to US Securities and Exchange Commission filing. The offer marks Alphabet's second euro-denominated sale this year. In May, it sold 9 billion of bonds across six tranches, following a rare 100-year sterling bond sale in February. Concerns about the financing required to support heavy spending on AI, and the returns needed to justify that investment, have weighed on technology stocks. REUTERS

Spotify backer Creandum raises $750 mn

Creandum, a Swedish venture capital firm that has backed some of Europe's most successful technology firms, raised a new $750 million fund to invest in early-stage startups. It plans to make about 30 investments with the new fund over the next two years, according to partner Fredrik Cassel.

Creandum was an early backer of Klarna Group Plc, Spotify Technology SA and, more recently, artificial intelligence (AI) coding startup Lovable and AI model maker Black Forest Labs. Creandum raised the fund, its eighth and largest to date, from around 30 institutions in the US and Europe, Cassel said. The firm closed a prior fund of €500 million ($559 million) in 2024. AI will create more software, not replace it: IBM's Raghavan

SHIVANI SHINDE
Mumbai, 2 November

As many as 2 billion artificial intelligence (AI) agents could eventually be deployed globally, with AI writing half the code, according to Sriram Raghavan, general manager of IBM Software India and Software Innovation Lab.

He said that rather than making software development redundant, the proliferation of AI agents would lead to the creation of far more software, fundamentally changing the role of developers and how enterprises build technology.

"If anything, you're going to see way more software," Raghavan told Business Standard on the sidelines of its flagship event, IBM Think, which recently concluded in Mumbai. He did not specify a timeline for the deployment of these agents.

According to Raghavan, AI has already brought about changes in software development, including how teams are organised, workflows are managed and software is built.

The role of developers is also undergoing a fundamental shift, from writing code to monitoring, reviewing, and evaluating AI-generated output.

"The role of the developer has now changed from doing to monitoring, reviewing, and critiquing. That is a skill change. You have to train your developers differently," he said.

He drew a parallel with electronic design automation in the semiconductor industry. Raghavan said automation had enabled engineers to design increasingly complex chips without eliminating the need for hardware engineers. "We are doing more of semiconductors and chips everywhere in the world," he added.

> "THE ROLE OF THE DEVELOPER HAS NOW CHANGED FROM DOING TO MONITORING, REVIEWING, AND CRITIQUING. THAT IS A SKILL CHANGE. YOU HAVE TO TRAIN YOUR DEVELOPERS DIFFERENTLY"
>
> Sriram Raghavan
> GM, IBM software India

He expects a similar transformation in software development, with automation allowing enterprises to develop more applications while requiring developers to acquire different skills. "The expertise is now checking, verifying, setting strategy, guardrails, guiding the AI to do the right thing. That is where I think software engineering is going," he said. In fact, Raghavan believes that over the next two to three years, more software will be produced than ever before.

"I think we are going to see more software produced than we have ever seen. Because I think the opportunity to innovate has never been easier. So now the premium is on ideas and deployment. Premium is not on creating software," he said. However, he cautioned that the growing use of AI would not diminish the importance of fundamental engineering skills. "If anything, judgement, core skills become more important than less important," he added.

Asked about recent security concerns surrounding the release of new frontier AI models and whether enterprises were becoming more cautious about their AI road maps, Raghavan said AI adoption was fundamentally changing the cybersecurity landscape. "Is there a different way that we have to think about cybersecurity because of AI? The answer is absolutely yes," he said.

He said organisations needed to adopt a proactive, continuous approach to cybersecurity, using AI to integrate best practices, strengthen technology, manage vulnerabilities, and prioritise risks.

"What we are telling our clients, and our offerings reflect that, you have to think about AI infusion into defence as much as we all worry that AI will be used by the bad guys," Raghavan said. "Waiting for every fix for some human being to sit and check and click a button, you are going to be behind," he said.

On concerns surrounding AI agents taking unintended actions, Raghavan said enterprises must impose stricter controls on agent identities, permissions, and access to internal systems. He said agents should be granted only the minimum permissions required to perform a specific task, rather than broad access to enterprise systems.

"The agent needs a certificate and a token to take an action for the next 30 seconds on your behalf. That's all that it needs to do," he said.

He also emphasised the importance of continuous monitoring, as AI systems, unlike conventional software, do not always behave predictably.

Citing an IBM study conducted with the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology earlier this year, Raghavan said only about 15 per cent of Indian enterprises had reached the stage of scaling AI deployments, while the remaining 85 per cent were still struggling to move beyond initial adoption.

Firms scaling AI have moved beyond individual use cases and are deploying the technology across their organisations. "About 15 per cent of enterprises are truly scaling AI, which means they have reached a stage where a use case has been deployed across the organisation and they are perhaps moving on to use case No. 2 or No. 3," he said.

For the remaining companies, the biggest obstacles are data management, governance, and skills.

Corning to scale up optical fibre capacities in India amid AI rush

GULVEEN AULAKH
New Delhi, 2 November

Corning Inc, the New York-headquartered optical fibre maker more popular for making Gorilla glass for smart devices, intends to expand its optical connectivity manufacturing capacities in India to cater to growing artificial intelligence (AI) data centre demand. With its second manufacturing facility in Pune ready to cater to global clients, more than a decade after it set up the first one in the southern city, Corning is preparing to add an adjacent facility.

"The newer capacity that we are going to lay the foundation for on Tuesday is much larger. The additional capacity is expected to come online in 2027," said Sudhir Pillai, managing director and president, India, Middle East, and Africa, in an interaction.

The second facility will make optical connectivity products for data centre and telecommunications (telecom) network apps, which will complement the 2012 facility, which makes optical fibre. The company did not share the investments it has made or plans to make or the production capacity of the facilities.

"The demand has been growing substantially over the past two years for the fibre, both because of telecom and because of the AI data centres that's coming up in India, and we believe this will at least continue for the next few years," Pillai said.

Calling India an important growth market, Pillai said that demand for fibre from telecom firms was sustaining. However, demand from data centres, and increasingly AI data centres, was rising at a much faster pace.

"We are now one of the fastest growing regions because our customers are now shifting and they're manufacturing across India. And traditionally, our approach has always been to follow the customer. We are seeing mobile original equipment manufacturers in India. We are seeing pharmaceutical companies asking for more glass, and hence we see a lot of growth happening for us in India," the top executive said.

> MD & President, India, Middle East, and Africa, Corning

Corning has inked partnerships with Meta, Amazon, and Nvidia for manufacturing optical fibre, cable, and connectivity solutions in the US, which will be used to build data centres, including AI native data centres.

Pillai said that the company was open to setting up a facility for making display glass panels for televisions, but on the pre-condition that television panel fabricators be set up first. "As and when India will come up with a display fabrication, you will see the big announcements by Corning. Our ears are on the ground and we keep working with the ecosystem partners, with the government, and to see what's happening in display, because we would like to partner as and when the display happens in India," he added.

Quanshium AI Core develops indigenous QRNG

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT
Bhubaneswar, 2 November

Odisha-based deep-tech startup Quanshium AI Core Private Limited has successfully developed and tested a quantum-secure communication link between a ground control station and a 4G/5G-enabled drone over a distance of 10 km.

The technology combines a quantum random number generator (QRNG) with post-quantum cryptography (PQC) to protect communication between the drone and its ground control station against potential cyberattacks, including those that could be mounted using powerful quantum computers in the future.

The achievement is a milestone for India as it attempts to move quantum-grade security from laboratory research to an operational communication platform, at a time when countries are racing to develop encryption technologies capable of withstanding the next generation of computing threats.

Razorpay gets licence to operate from GIFT City

PEERZADA ABRAR
Bengaluru, 2 November

> THE COMPANY CAN NOW MOVE MONEY IN FOREIGN CURRENCY, HOLD IT IN MULTI-CURRENCY ACCOUNTS, AND SERVE FLOWS THE DOMESTIC FRAMEWORK COULD NOT

Razorpay, the omnichannel payments platform for businesses in India, has received a final Payment Service Provider (PSP) licence from the International Financial Services Centres Authority (IFSCA) to operate from GIFT City.

The licence allows the company to move money into and out of India from GIFT City under a single regulatory framework. It follows the in-principle approval Razorpay received in April 2026, marking another regulatory milestone for the company as it seeks to enable compliant cross-border financial flows to and from India.

Rahul Kothari, chief operations officer, Razorpay, said the company already facilitates cross-border payments on both sides: Indian consumers paying global businesses and Indian businesses collecting payments from customers around the world.

"This licence adds a new dimension to that portfolio. It lets us move money in foreign currency, hold it in multi-currency accounts, and serve flows the domestic framework could not: from Indians investing globally to NRIs looking after their families at home," said Kothari. "As India's ties with the world deepen, cross-border infrastructure must be as compliant and seamless as domestic payments. That is what we are aiming to build from GIFT City," he added.

Razorpay has built a full-stack, GIFT City-based infrastructure to help Indian investment platforms offer global investing that is seamless, compliant, and scalable for Indian residents.

MobiKwik's next big bet: Lending as half its revenue

AJINKYA KAWALE
Mumbai, 2 November

Mobile wallet and financial services platform MobiKwik wants lending to account for about half of its total revenue, up from 25-30 per cent currently, cofounder, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer Bipin Preet Singh told Business Standard.

Singh said the company expects disbursements to reach ₹1,500 crore-2,000 crore per quarter over the next six to eight quarters. The Gurugram-based financial technology company recorded disbursements of ₹1,082.6 crore in the second quarter of 2026-27 (Q2FY27), up 34 per cent from ₹807.1 crore in the corresponding quarter of FY26.

"We still expect that the lending business should at least go and become 50 per cent of the top line. This business can easily become ₹1,500-2,000 crore per quarter (in disbursements) over the next six to eight quarters and if you are able to maintain the take rate, it will have a meaningful kind of impact on our bottom line," he said.

MD & CEO Bipin Preet Singh expects disbursements to reach ₹1,500 crore-2,000 crore per quarter over the next six to eight quarters

The company reported a consolidated net profit of ₹11.83 crore in Q2FY27, against a net loss of ₹28.62 crore in the same quarter last year. On a quarter-on-quarter (Q-o-Q) basis, profit rose 55.4 per cent from ₹7.62 crore in the first quarter of FY27.

Revenue from operations grew 9.4 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) to ₹295.7 crore from ₹270.21 crore in Q2FY26. Total income increased 8.4 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹302.76 crore. In Q2FY27, the company reported revenue of ₹2,087.9 crore from payments and ₹869.1 crore from financial services.

Total expenses declined 2 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹280.08 crore in Q2FY27 from ₹285.7 crore a year ago.

Payment processing charges fell 10.8 per cent to ₹119.47 crore in Q2FY27, while lending operational expenses declined to ₹1.52 crore from ₹12.78 crore in Q2FY26. Employee benefits expense, however, rose 59 per cent to ₹56.19 crore.

As of Q2FY27, MobiKwik had 11 lending partners. The company received approval from the Reserve Bank of India for a non-banking financial company licence in April.

Beyond GST 2.0

The next phase of GST reforms promises to deal with registration, refunds and input tax credit. Businesses want more

MONIKA YADAV
New Delhi, 2 November

Reform road

- GST is moving from rate changes to process reforms
- Focus on simpler registration, faster refunds and wider input tax credit (ITC)
- Major changes in enforcement and process require amendments to the GST law
- Single registration for multi-state businesses remains pending
- Electricity and petroleum products remain outside GST
- Working capital blockage on reverse charge and imports is yet to be addressed

A year after the rationalisation of indirect tax rates, the goods and services tax (GST) regime is entering a new phase of reform. While the first big reset under GST 2.0 sought to simplify the tax structure, the second phase is aimed at making the system easier to navigate through simpler registration, faster refunds, wider availability of input tax credit (ITC) and more predictable enforcement.

The 57th meeting of the GST Council in October cleared several process reforms, reflecting a recognition that the success of the indirect tax depends not just on the tax structure, but also on how it is administered.

Small biz demands

The latest changes seek to simplify GST compliance, which is particularly important for small businesses and online sellers looking to expand beyond their local markets.

But they do not resolve the wider difficulties of operating across multiple states. Industry believes more needs to be done to simplify GST compliance, reduce unnecessary notices and address gaps in the tax system.

"Businesses operating across multiple states should be allowed to operate under a single GST registration, rather than having to maintain separate registrations in every state," said Dinesh Singhal, managing director of Kanohar Electricals Ltd, which is headquartered in Meerut and operates across several states.

Singhal also called for extending faceless assessments at the state level.

Beyond procedure

Tax experts argue that the next stage of GST reform must address what they say are structural problems that affect tax neutrality and compliance.

They want inclusion of goods that are outside the GST, including electricity and petroleum products, in the tax framework, further liberalisation of ITC restrictions and allowing refunds of accumulated credits.

They also called for moving towards a single-rate, single-tax structure, a single return for compliance and a mechanism to refund GST to tourists.

The exclusion of electricity and petroleum products from GST, in particular, has implications for businesses because taxes paid on these inputs cannot generally be credited against GST liabilities in the way eligible GST paid on other inputs can. This results in cascading costs across supply chains.

However, bringing these products into the framework would require agreement between the Centre and states, given their revenue implications, according to Prashanth Agarwal, partner with PwC India.

"A single return, meanwhile, could reduce repetitive compliance requirements, provided it consolidates reporting obligations without weakening the information available to tax authorities for detecting evasion," said Nimish Bhatia, partner with Price Waterhouse.

Inverted duty

Under GST law, an inverted duty structure arises when a business pays a higher rate of tax on the raw materials it buys than on the finished goods or services it sells. This leads to unused tax credit piling up in the business's account. This can be claimed as a refund, but only in limited cases.

The Council has decided to extend refunds under the inverted duty structure to tax paid on input services from November 1, 2026, subject to specific conditions. The benefit will apply where the higher tax rate arises on raw material, not on input services. Some items, including edible oils and coal, also remain outside this facility.

Agarwal said businesses should be allowed to recover unused GST credit more easily. He argued that a wider refund facility covering accumulated credit on both goods and services, similar to what was available under the earlier state-level VAT system, would prevent legitimate credits from remaining stuck and improve cash flow.

The issue extends beyond the inverted duty structure. Separately, under the reverse charge mechanism, the buyer pays GST directly to the government instead of the seller. For instance, when a company hires a transporter or takes legal services from an advocate or imports services, it has to pay the GST in cash. In such cases, the tax can generally be claimed as input tax credit. The Council needs to evaluate and provide for an option to pay such taxes under reverse charge through credit as well, Agarwal added.

Stuck ITC

Further liberalisation of blocked ITC could improve tax neutrality by reducing the tax burden on legitimate business expenditure.

The 57th GST Council has recommended removing restrictions on certain items under Section 17(5) of the GST law, including outdoor catering, employee health and life insurance, telecommunication towers, pipelines outside factory premises, free samples, and goods destroyed or written off on expiry of shelf-life.

Currently, businesses cannot claim input tax credits on these items.

However, restrictions remain in place on certain motor vehicles, construction-related expenditure and corporate social responsibility activity. A proposal to relax the restriction on motor vehicles was discussed but deferred after some states raised concerns, and the matter has been referred to an official committee, said Bhatia.

The Council has also created a committee to recommend safeguards to protect ITC for bona fide buyers.

"Denial of ITC to genuine buyers on the supplier's non-compliance in paying appropriate taxes to the government has been a contentious issue for the industry for a long time. It is important that the Committee seeks industry consultation and lays down clear guidelines and conditions, on the satisfaction of which the buyer's ITC should be protected. The buyer should then be subject to tax recovery only if it is proven that the buyer has colluded with the supplier for fake ITC malpractices," Bhatia said.

The committee's recommendations will be important in determining whether the system can distinguish between deliberate tax fraud and a genuine buyer's inability to control a supplier's subsequent non-compliance.

Tech trouble

GST has evolved into a data-intensive tax administration system, relying on electronic returns, invoice matching and information shared across government platforms. As the GST Network interfaces with systems such as the Indian Customs Electronic Gateway, the Reserve Bank of India and SEZ Online, seamless data exchange becomes increasingly important.

"Disruptions, data mismatches and delays in information flows can undermine the efficiencies that technology is intended to deliver. For businesses, technical problems can translate into delayed refunds, discrepancies in returns or uncertainty over the availability of ITC," said a former chairman of the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) who asked to remain anonymous.

> TAX EXPERTS ARGUE THAT THE NEXT STAGE OF GST REFORM MUST ADDRESS STRUCTURAL PROBLEMS THAT AFFECT TAX NEUTRALITY AND COMPLIANCE

The move to risk-based and automated processing also raises questions about transparency. Risk profiling can help authorities identify potentially fraudulent claims and speed up the processing of routine cases. But taxpayers should not be left without a clear explanation when their claims are excluded from automated processing or subjected to additional scrutiny, another former CBIC official said.

"Tax administrations may need to protect the details of their risk-assessment models to prevent misuse. Even so, communicating the broad reasons for adverse decisions and providing accessible mechanisms for review would help maintain confidence in the system. Automation should reduce unnecessary discretion, not make administrative decisions harder to challenge," he added.

Decriminalisation

The Council's proposed changes to GST enforcement are another important element of the shift to a more trust-based tax regime. The Council's recommendations of decriminalising certain offences could help address concerns about the use of criminal proceedings in tax matters.

But changes to arrest provisions alone will not eliminate concerns about enforcement, experts said. Investigative tools such as summons, provisional attachment and bank account freezing can have significant consequences for businesses, even in the absence of criminal prosecution, the former CBIC chairman said.

The practical impact of decriminalisation will, therefore, depend on how enforcement powers are exercised, not just on changes to the provisions governing arrest and prosecution. Consistent procedures, supervisory oversight and accessible remedies against arbitrary action will be necessary to ensure that the objective of decriminalisation is not diluted in practice.

Faceless assessments for Central GST accounts could also help reduce direct interaction and improve consistency in decision-making. Extending such mechanisms across state GST administrations would require appropriate technology, common procedures and safeguards to ensure that taxpayers can effectively present their cases and challenge adverse decisions, another former official said.

The rollout test

The Council has set a direction for the next stage of GST reforms through faster refunds, simpler registration, wider ITC availability and more predictable enforcement. The benefits, however, will depend on how these changes work in practice.

Vinod Kumar, president of the India SME (small and medium enterprises) Forum, said refund processes need to be enabled on the ground and that small businesses require clear implementation timelines. Even short delays or lack of clarity can strain cash flow and disrupt inventory and expansion plans.

He also noted that while the earlier provision of a minimum of ₹1,000 on export refund claims has been removed to help micro and small exporters, the process for sanctioning such low-value refunds has not been fully implemented.

Experts agree that closing the gaps between policy decisions and operational execution is the real test of the next phase. A simpler tax structure was an important first step — making compliance easier and enforcement more transparent remains the harder task.

Supported by progressive policy initiatives and a growing manufacturing ecosystem, the industry is well positioned to enhance its global competitiveness.

India's MMF and Technical Textiles: Unlocking Export Potential, Building Global Leadership

Shri Shaleen Toshniwal, Chairman, MATEXIL

India's textile industry is poised for a significant transformation, with Man-made Fibre (MMF) textiles and Technical Textiles emerging as two important drivers of future growth and export expansion with changing global consumption patterns, technological advancements and increasing demand.

Government of India has set an ambitious export vision of achieving US$11 bn. in MMF textile exports and US$10 bn. in Technical Textile exports by 2030 which I firmly believe achievable.

India's Strong Manufacturing Foundation

Indiais world's 2ndlargest producer of polyester and viscose fibres. Indian manufacturers have demonstrated their capabilities in producing a wide range of MMF products, including fabrics for apparel, sportswear, home textiles and specialised applications. Similarly, India's Technical Textiles sector has significant manufacturing capabilities across 12 segments. Both the segments have huge opportunity globally.

Free Trade Agreements: Expanding India's Global Market Access

The FTAs with the EU, United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Oman and the UAE, among others, offer significant opportunities for MMF and Technical Textile exporters. Beyond traditional markets, there is considerable scope to expand exports to Africa, Latin America, CIS countries and other emerging economies.

Government Support: Enabling the Next Phase of Growth

Continued policy support of the Government will be critical to achieving the ambitious 2030 export targets. Recent GST reforms, including the rationalisation of GST rates on MMF fibres , refundof inputtax on capital goods have provided important relief to the textile value chain.

Sustained investment in infrastructure, logistics, technology upgradation, research and development, testing facilities and skill development will be necessary to strengthen India's overall manufacturing ecosystem which are encouraging.

Technical Textiles: A High-Growth Opportunity for India

Technical Textiles represent one of the most promising growth areas for India's textile industry. These products are primarily designed for their functional and performance characteristics and serve a wide range of industrial and strategic applications.

Innovation, Sustainability and Value Addition

Achieving the 2030 export targets will require more than an expansion of manufacturing capacity. In MMF textiles and technical textiles, there are considerable scope to expand exports.

Special attention must also be given to MSMEs, which constitute an important part of India's textile manufacturing ecosystem.

MATEXIL: A Catalyst for Export Growth

As the Export Promotion Council representing India's MMF and Technical Textiles sectors, MATEXIL is committed to working closely with the Ministry of Textiles, other Government departments and industry stakeholders focusing of the MSMEs to realise the country's export ambitions.

The Road Ahead: Achieving the 2030 Export Vision

I am confident that India's strong manufacturing base, growing technical capabilities, expanding network of FTAs and supportive Government initiatives provide the right foundation in achieving the target of US$11 bn. in MMF textile exports and US$10 bn. in Technical Textile exports by 2030.

FTAs Unlock India's MMF & Technical Textiles: A New Era of Global Competitiveness

Shri Anil Rajvanshi,
Vice-Chairman, MATEXIL

India's manmade fibre (MMF) textiles a n d technical textiles sectors are entering a phase of unprecedented opportunity. As global demand increasingly shifts towards performance-driven and manmade fibre-based products, India is well-positioned to strengthen its role as a major manufacturing and sourcing destination.

Government has set an ambitious roadmap for the sector, targeting exports of US$11 bn in MMF textiles and US$10 bn in technical textiles by 2030. Meeting these goals will require a stronger focus on innovation, value addition, market diversification, global competitiveness and a concerted effort by Industry and government.

FTAs: Opening Doors to Major Global Markets

India's growing network of FTAs is opening new avenues for MMF and technical textile exports. Agreements with EU, UK, Australia, UAE, Oman, and New Zealandare expected to improve market access and enhance the competitiveness of Indian MMF and technical textiles. They offer an opportunity to expand market reach, build stronger global partnerships and attract investment.

Turning FTAs into Export Growth

Growing global demand for industrial, medical, automotive and protective textiles are opportunities open massive strategic growth avenues:

- Focus on value-added products: Move towards specialised yarns, performance fabrics, sportswear and technical home textiles.
- Expand technical textile exports: Tap growing demand for medical, industrial, automotive and protective textiles.
- Strengthen global value chain integration: Position India as a reliable sourcing destination for international buyers.
- Drive technology and innovation: Encourage investment in advanced manufacturing, recycling and smart textiles.
- Develop stronger textile clusters: Improve infrastructure, logistics, testing facilities and skill development in key manufacturing hubs.
- Compete on quality and sustainability: Long-term success will depend on quality, compliance, sustainability and supply-chain transparency, not just tariff advantages

As Export Promotion Council for MMF Textiles and Technical Textiles, MATEXIL remains committed to helping exporters navigate these evolving opportunities. Through market intelligence, buyer-seller meets, trade delegations, industry programmes and awareness initiatives on FTAs and international regulations, the MATEXIL will continue to support Indian exporters in expanding their global footprint.

Government Policy Support: A Catalyst for Strengthening India's MMF and Technical Textiles Exports

Shri A. Ravi Kumar,
Executive Director,
MATEXIL

Government Policies continue to play significant role in improving the competitiveness of Manmade fibre textiles and technical textiles and promoting exports.

Government of the significant measures that will play a crucial role. Some of them are as follows.

Export Promotion Mission: Strengthening the Export Ecosystem

The launch of the Export Promotion Mission (EPM) is a significant step towards providing comprehensive support to India's exporting community, particularly MSMEs. The Mission's focus on improving access to export finance, addressing trade-related challenges, facilitating market access and strengthening export capabilities can help Indian exporters become more competitive in international markets.

GST Reforms

The reduction of GST on man-made fibres from 18% to 5% and on man-made yarn from 12% to 5%, while retaining the 5% rate on fabrics, has brought greater tax-rate alignment across the MMF value chain.

The recommendations made at the 57th Meeting of the GST Council, held on 8 October 2026, focus particularly on measures aimed at expediting GST refunds, resolving the blockage of working capital, and providing relief on accumulated Input Tax Credit (ITC). These reforms are especially significant for the Manmade fibre (MMF) Textile and Technical Textile Sectors, which require substantial capital investment and continuous working capital.

MATEXIL's Engagement with the Government

The Council continuously monitors developments relating to trade, taxation, customs, standards, market access and other policy matters affecting the manmade and technical textiles sector.

I urge all members to actively engage with MATEXIL and make full use of the services, programmes, information resources and opportunities provided by the Council. The feedback, suggestions and active participation of our members are invaluable in enabling MATEXIL to effectively represent industry concerns and advocate appropriate policy interventions.

Come Dec, van Gogh & other Dutch masters will be in India

Over 60 works from the Drents Museum in the Netherlands will be on display at NGMA, Delhi

VEENU SANDHU
New Delhi, 2 November

It isn't every day that Vincent van Gogh comes to India. But some four weeks from now, he will travel to Delhi through one of his early paintings. Along with his work will travel 60-odd paintings of other Dutch masters, among them Piet Mondrian, Jan Sluijters, Suze Robertson, Hendrik Willem Mesdag and George Breitner.

The exhibition, titled "Van Gogh and Dutch Masters: Visions of Clouds and Trees", will be on view at the National Gallery of Modern Art (NGMA), New Delhi, from December 4, 2026, to April 4, 2027. The works, from the permanent collection of the Drents Museum in Assen, Netherlands, will trace the evolution of Dutch landscape painting from the 19th to the early 20th century, exploring how artists from the region interpreted nature through expansive skies, shifting cloud formations, woodlands and trees.

The exhibition also marks a milestone in cultural cooperation between India and the Netherlands. It follows an Amrita Sher-Gil exhibition at the Drents Museum (May to September) and is part of the India Biennale 2026.

The lone van Gogh painting, The Peat Barge (1883), which will be put up at the NGMA, tells the story of the artist's formative years.

He painted it during his brief stay at Drenthe, a province in the north of the Netherlands, which is home to the Drents Museum.

Suzanne Rus, conservator and curator at the Drents Museum, says the growing interest in landscape painting during the 18th and 19th centuries coincided with rapid industrialisation in the Netherlands. It prompted artists to often seek refuge in the countryside. Drenthe, with its vast peat fields and uninterrupted landscapes, became one such haven.

(Top) Vincent van Gogh, The Peat Barge, 1883, oil on canvas and panel; and Piet Mondrian, Moored Barge with Horses, 1898-1900, oil on canvas PHOTOS: COURTESY DRENTS MUSEUM

Encouraged by fellow artists, van Gogh, too, visited the province but chose a part that other painters had largely overlooked. While many artists travelled to Drenthe during summer, he arrived in autumn, encountering a landscape that was darker and more subdued, says Rus. It offered him a different perspective on the countryside and an opportunity to experiment. He also found inspiration in the lives of the people who inhabited Drenthe.

THE WORKS TRACE THE EVOLUTION OF DUTCH LANDSCAPE PAINTING FROM THE 19TH TO THE EARLY 20TH CENTURY

Though he stayed there for barely three months, the experience helped shape his understanding of himself as a painter. He was 29/30 years old then. He began experimenting with light and colour, becoming increasingly sensitive to it. "His letters to his brother Theo, written during that period, offer insights into the artistic direction he was beginning to discover," says Rus, drawing attention to the interplay of dark tones with striking touches of red and white in the painting.

Among the other prominent works that will travel to India will be Julius Jacobus van de Sande Bakhuyzen's Cows at the Water's Edge. The painting carries a personal history. Bakhuyzen, who was from The Hague, regularly travelled to Drenthe during the summer months to visit his sister who was a floral painter. After her death, he never returned to the village where this work was created.

Another significant inclusion will be Piet Mondrian's Moored Barge With Horses (1898-1900). Today, Mondrian is best known for his geometric abstractions, such as straight lines, grids and primary colours. This early work, however, belongs to a period when he was still painting recognisable landscapes.

Among the rare women artists to feature at the exhibition will be Suze Robertson. Although she never visited Drenthe, she painted in other parts of the Netherlands. Her work broadens the scope of the exhibition, going beyond one province or artistic movement.

Through these artists, and others, the exhibition traces a transition from Romanticism to Impressionism, Expressionism and early Modernism.

The Drents Museum, meanwhile, has quite a history of its own. Opened in 1854, its collections date back to the 18th century, spanning archaeology, history and visual art. This will be its first exhibition in India.

It will extend beyond the display of paintings to include an immersive projection of the works, offering a sense of how the artists observed and experienced the Drenthe landscape.

Holding companies typically trade at a discount to the value of their underlying assets, partly because investors have limited exit options in unlisted entities. For years, Reliance Industries (RIL) was valued using the sum-of-the-parts approach. But with Jio Platforms' listing, at least one part of the valuation puzzle has been resolved. Reliance's 64.5 per cent stake in Jio Platforms is now worth ₹8.37 trillion.

RIL added ₹1.83 trillion to its market capitalisation Monday, its best since April 2020, following a record quarterly profit.

The stock closed 11.6 per cent higher at ₹1,300, marking its biggest single-day gain since April 7, 2020, when it rose 11.94 per cent. Ahead of the closing auction session (CAS), the stock was trading at ₹1,274.5, up 9.4 per cent.

The rally had a marked effect on the Nifty 50. The index's indicative price rose as much as 2.8 per cent during the CAS, compared with a gain of 1.2 per cent before the auction. It settled 1.68 per cent higher at 23,440.8, while the Sensex gained 1.66 per cent to close at 75,692.78.

RIL accounted for nearly half the increase in the combined mcap of Nifty 50 constituents. While Reliance surged 11.6 per cent on Monday, Jio Platforms fell 0.74 per cent to ₹1,420.

"Given the market volatility currently, the Jio rally and listing gains were exceptional. Jio Platforms' average revenue per user (Arpu) is still lagging behind Bharti Airtel's. When it next announces a revision, it will certainly be upwards. That will improve its Arpu figures and could trigger a short-term rally in the stock," said Gaurav Sharma, head of research at Globe Capital.

Reliance accounted for more than a fifth of all stock option contracts traded on Monday. Its November ₹1,300 call option was the most actively traded stock option in the market, with 176,350 contracts. Its premium rose more than fivefold to ₹19.4.

"This is a phenomenal move for RIL, given the stock's underperformance in recent times. The disruption and uncertainty surrounding Russian and Saudi refineries due to the West Asia crisis and the Russia-Ukraine conflict have played out in RIL's favour. The inability of the US and most other refineries to process heavier crude grades, such as Venezuelan crude, benefits RIL's position as the world's largest grassroots refinery. Monday's gains in RIL, one of India's largest companies, set the tone for the sector and benefit the broader market," Sharma said.

Open interest in the ₹1,200 call option fell 58 per cent, while its premium more than quadrupled, from ₹20 on Friday to ₹87, as call writers closed their positions. These traders had bet that Reliance's share price would not cross ₹1,200 before the November expiry. Traders are now writing put options at strikes of ₹1,220-1,260, betting that the stock will not fall below those levels before the November 23 expiry. Open interest in the ₹1,250 put option rose sixfold.

The Nifty 50 rose 387.7 points, or 1.68 per cent, to 23,440.8, never trading below Friday's close. The index is now 5.7 per cent above its 52-week low but remains 11.1 per cent below its high. Advancing shares outnumbered declining ones 1,955 to 738, while the combined mcap of National Stock Exchange-listed companies rose by about ₹7.7 trillion.

All broad-market indices ended higher for the third consecutive session, with metal and oil and gas stocks leading the gains following the firm's results.

The Nifty Midcap 50 rose 1.24 per cent and the Nifty Midcap 100 gained 1.19 per cent. The Nifty Smallcap 250 climbed 1.37 per cent, while the Nifty Smallcap 50 advanced 0.43 per cent.

"The stock has decisively broken above a prolonged downward-sloping trendline, suggesting that selling pressure may finally be giving way to fresh buying interest. The current breakout comes at an interesting juncture, with several fundamental triggers potentially improving the investment narrative," said Apurva Sheth, head of research at Samco Securities.

Sebi calls for removal of LTCG tax for FPIs: Report

REUTERS
Mumbai, 2 November

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has recommended the government remove the long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax imposed on foreign investors, two people with direct knowledge of the matter said, as India looks to galvanise its underachieving equity markets.

The regulator has also proposed tax relief for domestic mutual fund investors, suggesting they be exempt from LTCG if they are selling existing holdings to invest in new ones, the sources said. The recommendations, which come months before the annual federal budget in February, are not binding and a final call rests with the government.

The equity market has lagged emerging market peers over the past two years. Foreign investors have sold a record ₹2.94 trillion in stocks this year and overseas investments by retail investors have surged as returns have stagnated.

Sebi's recommendations follow scores of meetings held by the regulator with foreign investors over the last two years as selling persisted, putting pressure on the rupee. One consistent piece of feedback from investors has been the need to change how India taxes them, the people said. "The proposals are aimed at reducing the upfront tax burden on foreign investors," said one of them.

The details

- India levies 12.5% tax on gains on equity held for more than one year
- Returns from diversified domestic equity MFs, a common savings instrument for retail investors, have stagnated
- Sebi said switching from MF scheme to another should not be treated as a taxable sale if held for over a year
- Sebi said transaction costs of investing in equities in India are among the highest across jurisdictions

The people declined to be named as the recommendations, which have not been reported previously, are part of pre-budget representations and are private. Queries emailed to Sebi and the the Union Ministry of Finance were not answered.

"Scrapping the long term and short term capital gains tax would be a clear positive, improving post tax returns and removing a longstanding friction in allocating capital to India," said Gary Tan, Portfolio Manager, Active Equity, Allspring Global Investments. However, the move would not remove concerns that AI could erode India's labour cost arbitrage growth model, he added.

Sebi has said that transaction costs associated with investing in equities in India are among the highest across jurisdictions. Investors currently pay long-term capital gains tax of 12.5 per cent for securities held for more than a year and short-term capital gains tax of 20 per cent, in addition to securities transaction taxes on trades and withholding taxes on dividends.

Jefferies in a note said any reduction in LTCG taxes could improve the market's attractiveness for foreign investors and support portfolio inflows. Brokerage firm IIFL estimates scrapping capital gains tax could lift foreign investors' returns 2.3 percentage points.

Samir Arora, founder and fund manager of Singapore-based Helios Capital Management, noted India was one of the very few countries where foreign investors pay taxes on capital gains.

Coal India to sell 10% in arm SECL via IPO

SAKET KUMAR
New Delhi, 2 November

Coal India Ltd (CIL) has filed the draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) for the proposed initial public offering (IPO) of its wholly-owned subsidiary South Eastern Coalfields Ltd (SECL), through which it plans to divest a 10 per cent stake in the coal producer.

CIL currently holds 100 per cent of SECL's paid-up equity capital of 668.06 crore shares. The proposed sale of 66.81 crore shares represents 10 per cent of the company's existing equity. If the entire offer is completed, Coal India's holding would consequently come down to 90 per cent.

The proceeds from the offer for sale (OFS) will accrue to CIL. SECL will not receive any proceeds from the offer, according to the DRHP.

"Our company expects that listing of the equity shares will enhance our visibility and brand image, provide liquidity and a public market for the equity shares in India," SECL said in the DRHP.

The DRHP, dated November 1, was filed with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), BSE and the National Stock Exchange (NSE), Coal India said in a regulatory filing on Monday.

The proposed listing will bring a sizeable coal producer with a substantial earnings base to the stock market. SECL reported revenue from operations of ₹32,956.52 crore and profit after tax (PAT) of ₹4,754.59 crore in 2025-26.

Its operational earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation stood at ₹7,423.77 crore.

SECL produced 176.29 million tonnes (mt) of coal in 2025-26 (FY26), accounting for 16.94 per cent of India's total coal production during the period, according to the DRHP. It was the second-largest coal-producing subsidiary of Coal India, contributing 22.95 per cent of the parent company's total output. Its FY25 production was 167.49 mt, the highest production growth among Coal India's subsidiaries during the period.

The company's operations are concentrated in the Korba coalfield in Chhattisgarh. Its three major opencast mines including Gevra, Dipka and Kusmunda, together produced about 126 mt in FY26, accounting for 71.48 per cent of SECL's total output.

The three mines have a combined environmental clearance capacity of 172.5 million tonnes per annum. Under Coal India's revised roadmap for producing one billion tonnes of coal, SECL is expected to contribute 245 mt in FY30.

SECL has outlined plans to increase production through new mine development, capacity expansion, mine developer and operator-led projects, and improvements in coal evacuation infrastructure.

As of April 1, 2026, the company had geological resources of about 47.55 billion tonnes, accounting for approximately 11.5 per cent of India's total coal geological resources. Of this, approximately 11 billion tonnes have been projectised.

Its audited coal reserves stood at 4.61 billion tonnes. Based on its FY26 production level, these reserves were estimated to be sufficient for approximately 26 years of operations.

IPO fundraising rose 30% to record ₹84.4K cr in H1

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 2 November

India's mainboard IPO market witnessed a record fund mobilisation at ₹84,400 crore in the first half of 2026-27 (H1FY27), registering a 30 per cent rise over the year-ago period, with nearly 94 per cent of the funds raised during the second quarter, according to a report by Grant Thornton Bharat.

As many as 71 companies made their stock market debut during April-September 2026, compared with 55 in the corresponding period a year ago.

According to the report, the funds raised increased from ₹64,900 crore in H1 FY26 to ₹84,400 crore in H1 FY27.

The average listing-day gains improved to 18 per cent from 10 per cent a year ago, while average retail oversubscription increased to 28 times from 25 times, the report titled India IPO Market: H1 FY27 and Q2 FY27 Review said.

Notably, September was the busiest month, with 32 IPOs collectively raising ₹40,400 crore.

10-year Gsec yield falls 10 bps, rupee gains for second day as oil prices rise

AATHIRA VARIER
Mumbai, 2 November

Bond yields fell sharply on Monday, tracking a steep decline in crude oil prices, while the rupee extended its gains for a second consecutive session. The US dollar, meanwhile, weakened ahead of the US midterm elections scheduled for November 3.

The yields on the benchmark 10-year government bond fell nearly 10 basis points (bps) on Monday, marking its sharpest decline in seven months to 7.32 per cent.

The 10-year bond yields have declined 16 bps from their four-year high of 7.48 per cent recorded on October 26, 2026. They have risen 95 bps over the past year and 90 bps so far in the current calendar year.

"Bond yields have come down mainly because of two reasons. One is the fall in crude oil prices and the other reason might be short covering. Few positions might have been covered here," a dealer with a public sector bank said.

"If the levels of 7.30 break, the entire short will be covered pushing the yields towards 7.25 levels. There will be more clarity on yield direction post the results on US mid-term elections," the dealer added.

Brent crude futures slid over 7 per cent to $108.46 per barrel amid hopes of a deal to end the US-Iran conflict.

The January 2027 Brent contract had settled at approximately $113.43 on Friday before declining 3.9 per cent to $109, following reports of continued diplomatic engagement between the US and Iran that eased some immediate concerns about further escalation.

The rupee, which opened at 94.89 against the dollar — compared with the previous close of 94.96 — strengthened to 94.70 during the day before giving up some gains to settle at 94.90.

"The Indian rupee appreciated, supported by lower crude oil prices and positive risk-on market sentiment.

A softer greenback ahead of the US midterm elections also provided a tailwind for the domestic currency. However, persistent geopolitical worries encouraged bargain buyers to step in at lower levels," said Dilip Parmar, research analyst at HDFC Securities.

The Indian unit has gained almost 1 per cent since October, following regulatory measures aimed at curbing speculative bets. In 2026, the rupee has depreciated 5.3 per cent against the dollar.

Sebi cuts cool-off period for OFS by off-market illiquid Invits to 8 weeks

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 2 November

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Monday reduced the moratorium for offer for sale (OFS) transactions by privately listed illiquid infrastructure investment trusts (Invits) to 8 weeks from an earlier 12 weeks.

PRIVATELY LISTED INVITS FACE LIQUIDITY CONSTRAINTS DUE TO THEIR HIGH TRADING LOT SIZE

Currently, the cooling-off period for transactions purchases or sales before and after an OFS is based on liquidity. It stands at two weeks for the most liquid shares, four weeks for other liquid shares and 12 weeks for illiquid shares.

Privately listed Invits face liquidity constraints due to their high trading lot size, which limits participation largely to institutional investors, body corporates and high-net-worth individuals.

Consequently, trading volumes in such Invits tend to remain thin and they may fall under the illiquid category due to these structural liquidity constraints.

"Based on the feedback received from market participants and in order to facilitate ease of doing business, it has been decided to reduce the cooling off period for illiquid private listed Invits. The cooling-off period in case of private listed Invits whose units are illiquid shall be 8 weeks," said the regulator in a circular.

Sebi said this will come into force with immediate effect.

THE COMPASS | DECODING MARKET DIRECTION

Recovery in retail growth, margins key triggers for RIL

RAM PRASAD SAHU

Record profitability at the oil-to-chemicals (O2C) segment helped Reliance Industries (RIL) beat consensus estimates and post its best ever earnings in the September (Q2FY27) quarter.

What powered the all-time-high O2C show was the strong refining cracks and three-year high polyester chain deltas.

In addition to the O2C performance, the digital services operating performance also beat estimates powered by steady subscriber base additions and a slight increase in average revenue per user (Arpu).

The laggard in the consolidated results was the retail business which missed estimates.

The strong gains at O2C and upward revisions in earnings estimates led to a 11.6 per cent surge in the stock price of the country's most valuable company.

The O2C segment's operating profit rose 48 per cent sequentially and 68 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y) to ₹25,200 crore while margins improved 250 basis points (bps) quarter-on-quarter (Q-o-Q) to 10.9 per cent.

Operating profit per tonne increased to $145, up 26 per cent sequentially and throughput recovered to 20.6 million tonnes.

Nomura Research points out that with cracks broadly stable Q-o-Q at multi-decade highs, the sequential jump came from a lower crude basket cost, better margin capture and higher throughput (raw materials processed) of 20.6 million tonnes (mt) versus 18.1 mt in Q1FY27.

Gasoil, aviation turbine fuel and gasoline cracks were up 3.5 times, 3.7 times and 3 times, respectively, over the year-ago quarter.

What offset the gains and weighed on O2C earnings partly were the special additional excise duty (SAED), high crude premiums and freight, and fuel retail underrecovery.

The company expects refining margins to remain robust in the near term, with 5 million barrels per day of refining capacity offline across West Asia and Russia.

Another segment that performed better than expectations was the telecom business. Revenue growth was up 3 per cent sequentially and 11 per cent on a Y-o-Y basis.

The gains were driven by a 1.5 per cent Q-o-Q rise in Arpu, subscriber net additions of 9 million, and a scale-up in digital services.

The gains at the operating level of 5 per cent Q-o-Q and 15.5 per cent Y-o-Y growth were ahead of estimates and driven by a robust 88 per cent incremental margin in Reliance Jio and 8 per cent Q-o-Q growth in digital services profit.

Going ahead, broadband monetisation and tariff hikes remain key triggers while satellite and artificial intelligence (AI) initiatives are additional growth options.

What disappointed the Street was the weak operating performance in the retail segment.

Operating profit was down 11 per cent Y-o-Y while segment margins contracted by 120 bps.

This was largely on account of the growing contribution of digital commerce in revenue and associated infrastructure investments increasing the fixed cost.

Revenue growth in the retail business was impacted by lower net store additions, as the store count was down by 200 and 500 unviable stores were closed.

In addition, a 2-year high inflation coupled with higher input and packing costs, lower demand for higher priced imported items due to the falling rupee and a weak monsoon impacted rural demand, weighing on revenues.

Motilal Oswal Research expects a pickup in store additions and increased momentum in quick commerce to support a recovery to double-digit revenue growth for the retail business starting from FY28.

However, analysts led by Aditya Bansal of the brokerage expect profitability to come under pressure over FY27-28 due to the scale-up of digital commerce.

They estimate an operating profit margin of 7.3 per cent over FY27-29 (versus 11.6 per cent in FY26).

They have cut the FY27-29 reported segment profit estimates by 3-5 per cent to factor in continued investments in digital commerce.

The brokerage points out that RIL is currently trading (prior to Monday's rally) at a 54 per cent holding company discount on its 64.5 per cent stake in JPL, which is excessive.

While the energy segment drives a near-term earnings upgrade, recovery in retail segment's growth and profitability are the key drivers of RIL's stock price, it adds.

Equirus Securities is positive on the company and believes the stock offers valuation support post the recent correction.

After a 21 per cent correction from its 52-week high, RIL trades at 17 times one-year forward estimates price-to-earnings (PE) estimates, 9 times enterprise-value-to-operating profit and 1.4 times PE growth compared to historical averages of 21 times, 12 times and 2 times, respectively.

Despite mixed Q2, Street positive on Sun Pharma

Domestic business grew 17% Y-o-Y; EM revenue up 18%

DEVANGSHU DATTA
New Delhi, 2 November

Sun Pharmaceutical Industries (Sun Pharma) had a mixed second quarter of financial year 2026-27 (Q2FY27), where growth in the speciality business and US business slowed, but India growth accelerated. While many analysts continue to be bullish on India's most valuable pharma company, which closed with a market capitalisation of ₹4.24 trillion on Monday, near-term earnings projections were downgraded along with target prices post-Q2 last Friday. The company's share price gained initially, but has since given up most of the gains to close at ₹1,768.

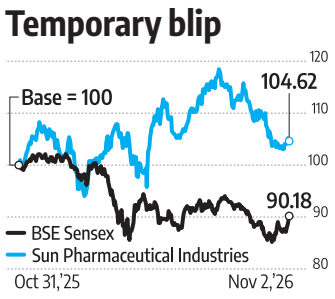
In Q2FY27, revenue beat consensus slightly. Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortisation (Ebitda) margin—adjusted for forex gains—was at 28.8 per cent. The domestic business grew 17 per cent year-on-year (Y-o-Y), while emerging markets revenue grew 18 per cent and the rest of the world (RoW) 13 per cent. Speciality and innovation were slow.

Organon's Q3 was along expected lines, and the acquisition process is on track for completion in early 2027. Sun Pharma had announced Organon's acquisition in April for an enterprise value of about $12 billion. Operating cash flow (OCF) has grown 26 per cent Y-o-Y in the first nine months (9M) of 2026, with around $3 billion of cash on the balance sheet.

The US revenue was $455 million, up $28 million quarter-on-quarter (Q-o-Q), while speciality revenues (up $5 million Q-o-Q) was lower than expected due to slowdown in Ilumya (plaque psoriasis treatment drug) Ilumya's US psoriatic arthritis indication is set for soft launch in November. The gross margin was 80.9 per cent, ahead of consensus. Adjusted PAT (profit after tax) grew 1 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹3,160 crore. Excluding generic gRevlimid, Sun Pharma's revenue increased 15 per cent Y-o-Y, while Ebitda grew 21 per cent. Projections suggest Ilumya's new psoriatic arthritis FDA label will lead eventually to peak sales of $90-130 million. Sun Pharma and Organon can generate $300 million peak sales in Europe. The company reiterated high single-digit guidance for FY27 (without taking Organon into consideration). Management commentary claims the business outlook remains strong over the medium to long term, with continued traction in the speciality portfolio. But near-term earnings growth will be under pressure due to high marketing expenses, slow US generics sales and likely higher R&D expenses.

Speciality revenue is slow as Ilumya's growth has slowed down during the quarter. Serious revenue contribution from Unloxcyt and Leqselvi to speciality products marketed by Sun Pharma in the US and global markets will come through in FY28, but FY27 is likely to see the company incur higher spending.

Temporary blip



Sources: Bloomberg, BSE

US generics' contribution inched up sequentially on five new launches. But the US business may be muted due to regulatory issues across manufacturing plants. Overseas growth may be higher in rupee terms given forex trends. Recent semaglutide approvals in South Africa and Brazil could drive emerging market (EM) revenues. The Ebitda margin could improve to 30 per cent as speciality products begin to contribute positively. The India business retained market share of 8.6 per cent and saw 15 new launches

US sales contributed 27 per cent to consolidated sales, with five generics launched. US sales declined 8.2 per cent Y-o-Y due to erosion in lenalidomide revenue. However, US sales were up 6.5 per cent Q-o-Q. EM revenue grew 7.6 per cent Y-o-Y to $350 million and contributed a fifth to revenue. RoW revenue stood at $241 million, higher Y-o-Y, contributing 14.3 per cent to consolidated revenue. Globally, innovative-medicine sales grew 6.9 per cent Y-o-Y to $356 million, accounting for 21.1 per cent of consolidated sales.

Ilumya did well in Romania and Brazil. Commercialisation of the arthritis indication will leverage existing sales force, extending coverage beyond dermatologists to rheumatologists. Management confirmed semaglutide commercialisation in India, South Africa, and Brazil. Sun Pharma's recent rupee non-convertible debenture (NCD) issuance is for refinancing existing borrowings. R&D expenditure was ₹778 crore or 4.8 per cent of sales, with innovative medicines at 32.4 per cent of total R&D spending.

The stock continues to attract long-term investors. According to Bloomberg, 27 of 31 analysts polled post-Q2 are bullish, while three are bearish and one neutral. Their average one-year target price is ₹2,122.47.

Direct plans now the default, costs matter

KARTHIK JEROME

On October 28, 2026, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey announced that direct plans would become the default on fund houses' digital platforms. Investors choosing regular plans must be told they cost more.

Who benefits

Direct plans have existed for almost 14 years. "Through this step, Sebi aims to create greater awareness of direct plans," says Renu Maheshwari, co-founder and principal adviser, Finscholarz Wealth Managers.

Until October 31, 2026, some asset management companies (AMCs) allowed investors to choose regular plans inadvertently on their websites. "On one leading AMC's website, investors with an existing regular-plan investment had to notice and uncheck a preselected box to avoid another regular-plan investment," says Avinash Luthria, Sebi-registered investment adviser and founder, Fiduciaries.

"Making direct plans the default will prevent accidental investment in regular plans by requiring a conscious decision to choose the costlier plan," adds Vedant Gupte, co-founder and chief executive officer (CEO), Trackk, an investment platform.

Young systematic investment plan (SIP) investors with long horizons stand to benefit most from a lower fee. "The change may motivate some investors who are no longer in touch with their distributors to switch to direct plans," says M Pattabiraman, associate professor, Indian Institute of Technology Madras, and founder, Freefincal.

Bank branches, distributor apps and third-party platforms are excluded from this change. "Many investors may still believe that regular plans charge only a one-time commission," says Luthria. Higher fees actually apply to every tranche.

Why costs matter

Costs matter a great deal over the long term. "While the invested amount compounds, expenses create a drag on compounding," says Maheshwari.

A ₹10,000 monthly SIP over 20 years grows to roughly ₹99.9 lakh at an assumed 12 per cent annual return in a direct plan, against ₹87.35 lakh at an assumed 11 per cent annual return in a regular plan, about ₹12.56 lakh less.

"Investors cannot control performance, but they can control the expense ratio," says Vishal Dhawan, CEO and founder, Plan Ahead Wealth Advisors.

Match plan to needs

Choose low-cost direct plans if you can do asset allocation, rebalance annually and avoid panic selling. "The relevant test is whether they can remain invested when their portfolio falls 25 per cent, rather than merely whether they can pick a fund," says Gupte.

Regular plans can help those who would otherwise avoid investing or exit at the worst moment.

How to switch old investments

- Regular-to-direct switch is treated as a sale and taxed
- Units of equity funds held for 12 months or less attract 20% short-term capital gains tax
- Units of equity funds held for more than 12 months attract 12.5% long-term capital gains tax on gains above ₹1.25 lakh
- Recent purchases may attract exit loads
- Move existing units in tranches; those past exit loads and lock-in periods first
- Use annual ₹1.25 lakh exemption to move a portion tax-free

"The distributor should, however, provide ongoing monitoring-and-review services because the higher expense ratio is paid continuously," says Dhawan.

If you cannot build portfolios, the best option is to choose direct plans and pay separately for advice. "Use the money saved on commissions to hire an independent, fee-only fiduciary adviser, paid from your pocket," says Maheshwari. She adds that paying advisers directly removes the conflict associated with incentivised scheme sales.

Expense ratio & fund selection

Active funds: Costs matter, but so do other variables. "Assess whether the fund's consistency in generating alpha justifies its expenses. Examine rolling returns alongside risk ratios and performance measures, including Sharpe ratios, downside capture and information ratio," says Dhawan.

Debt funds: Costs matter because returns are lower. High total expense ratios may prompt managers to take credit or duration risk to compete. "Paying attention to expenses helps guard against excessive risk," says Dhawan.

Passive funds: Tracking error and costs should be the key criteria in the selection of index funds and exchange-traded funds (ETFs). "Expenses are particularly important because they track the market rather than seek alpha," says Maheshwari.

Some index funds are funds-of-funds that invest in ETFs. Ensure that the higher expenses of funds-of-funds are not excessive.

How UPS pensioners can submit life certificate by Nov 30

The Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) introduced a digital life certificate facility for pensioners covered under the Unified Pension Scheme (UPS), allowing them to complete their annual compliance requirement through an application.

The facility, called UPS Jeewan Setu — Digital Life Certificate (DLC), is available through the NPS by Protean eGov application.

It uses Aadhaar-based authentication and face recognition to verify a pensioner's identity, eliminating the need for physical visits.

How to submit the DLC

1. Open the NPS by Protean eGov mobile application.
2. Select "UPS Jeewan Setu — Digital Life Certificate" on the home screen.
3. Enter the Permanent Retirement Account Number and date of birth.
4. Verify the details using the one-time password sent to the registered mobile number.
5. Select Aadhaar, enter the Aadhaar number and click on "Continue with Aadhaar".
6. Choose the face authentication option and complete verification.
7. Once authentication is successful, the application will generate the life certificate. Click "Done" after receiving the confirmation.

PFRDA said that UPS pensioners must submit their life certificates every year by November 30 to ensure uninterrupted monthly assured pension payments.

12. RECORD DATE AND SHAREHOLDER ENTITLEMENT

12.1. As required under the SEBI Buyback Regulations, the Company has fixed Friday, November 20, 2026 as the Record Date for the purpose of determining the entitlement and the names of the shareholders, who are eligible to participate in the Buyback.

12.2. As per the SEBI Buyback Regulations and such other circulars or notifications, as may be applicable, in due course, each Eligible Shareholder will receive the Letter of Offer along with the tender form indicating the entitlement of the Eligible Shareholder for participating in the Buyback.

12.3. In accordance with the SEBI Buyback Regulations, the dispatch of the Letter of Offer shall be through electronic mode only, within 2 (two) working days from the Record Date. If the Company or the Registrar to the Buyback i.e. MUFG Intime India Private Limited (Formerly Link Intime India Private Limited), receives a request from the Eligible Shareholder to receive a copy of the Letter of Offer in physical form, the same shall be provided.

12.4. The Equity Shares to be bought back as a part of the Buyback are divided into 2 (two) categories:

(i) Reserved category for Small Shareholders (defined hereinafter); and

(ii) General category for all other Eligible Shareholders.

12.5. As defined in Regulation 2(i)(n) of the SEBI Buyback Regulations, a "small shareholder" is a shareholder who holds equity shares having market value, on the basis of closing price on the stock exchange having highest trading volume as on the Record Date, of not more than ₹ 2,00,000/- (Indian Rupees Two Lakhs only).

12.6. In accordance with the proviso to Regulation 6 of the SEBI Buyback Regulations, 15% of the number of Equity Shares which the Company proposes to buyback or such number of Equity Shares entitled as per the shareholding of Small Shareholders as on the Record Date, whichever is higher, shall be reserved for the Small Shareholders as part of this Buyback.

12.7. Based on the shareholding on the Record Date, the Company will determine the entitlement of each Eligible Shareholder including Small Shareholders to tender their Equity Shares in the Buyback. This entitlement for each Eligible Shareholder will be calculated based on the number of Equity Shares held by the respective shareholder as on the Record Date and the ratio of Buyback applicable in the category to which such shareholder belongs. The final number of Equity Shares which the Company will purchase from each Eligible Shareholder will be based on the total number of Equity Shares tendered. Since the Promoters and Promoter Group and persons in control of the Company have declared their intention to not participate in the Buyback, the Equity Shares held by them shall not be considered for the purposes of computing the entitlement ratio, in accordance with the proviso to Regulation 4(iv)(a) of the SEBI Buyback Regulations. In accordance with Regulation 9(ix) of the SEBI Buyback Regulations, in order to ensure that the same Eligible Shareholder with multiple demat accounts/ folios does not receive a higher entitlement under the Small Shareholder category, the Company will club together the Equity Shares held by such Eligible Shareholder with a common Permanent Account Number ("PAN") for determining the category (Small Shareholder or General Category) and their entitlement under the Buyback. In case of joint shareholding, the Company will club together the Equity Shares held in cases where the sequence of the PANs of the joint shareholders is identical. In case of Eligible Shareholders holding physical shares, where the sequence of PANs is identical, the Company will club together the Equity Shares held in such cases. Similarly, in case of physical shareholder where PAN is not available, the Company will check the sequence of the names of the joint holders and club together the Equity Shares held in such cases where the sequence of the PANs and name of joint shareholders are identical. The shareholding of institutional investors like mutual funds, pension funds, trusts, insurance companies, foreign institutional investors/ foreign portfolio investors etc. with common PAN will not to be clubbed together for determining the category and will be considered separately, where these Equity Shares are held for different schemes/ sub-accounts and have a different demat account nomenclature based on information prepared by the registrar and transfer agent to the Buyback ("Registrar") as per the shareholder records received from the depositories. Further, the Equity Shares held under the category of "clearing members" or "corporate body margin account" or "corporate body – broker" as per the beneficial position data as on Record Date with common PAN are not proposed to be clubbed together for determining their entitlement and will be considered separately, where these Equity Shares are assumed to be held on behalf of clients.

12.8. After accepting the Equity Shares tendered on the basis of entitlement, the Equity Shares left to be bought back, if any, in one category shall first be accepted, in proportion to the Equity Shares tendered over and above their entitlement in the offer by Eligible Shareholders in that category, and thereafter from Eligible Shareholders who have tendered over and above their entitlement in the other category.

12.9. The participation of Eligible Shareholders in the Buyback is voluntary. Eligible Shareholders holding Equity Shares of the Company can choose to participate and get cash in lieu of shares to be accepted under the Buyback or they may choose not to participate. Eligible Shareholders holding Equity Shares of the Company may also accept a part of their entitlement. Eligible Shareholders holding Equity Shares of the Company also have the option of tendering additional shares (over and above their entitlement) and participate in the shortfall created due to non-participation of some other shareholders, if any. If the Buyback entitlement for any Eligible Shareholder is not a round number, then the fractional entitlement shall be ignored for computation of Buyback entitlement to tender Equity Shares in the Buyback. The acceptance of any Equity Shares tendered in excess of the Buyback Entitlement by the Eligible Shareholder shall be in terms of procedure outlined herein. In case any Eligible Shareholder or any person claiming to be an Eligible Shareholder cannot participate in the Buyback Offer for any reason, the Company, the Manager and Registrar to the Buyback and their officers shall not be liable in any manner for such non-participation.

12.10. The maximum tender under the Buyback by any Eligible Shareholder cannot exceed the number of Equity Shares held by the Eligible Shareholder as on the Record Date. In case the Eligible Shareholders hold Equity Shares through multiple demat accounts, the tender through demat account cannot exceed the number of Equity Shares held in that demat account.

12.11. The Buyback from shareholders who are persons resident outside India, including the foreign portfolio investors, erstwhile overseas corporate bodies and non-resident Indian, etc., shall be subject to such approvals, if any and to the extent required from the concerned authorities including approvals from the Reserve Bank of India under Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999, as amended, and the rules and regulations framed there under, and such approvals shall be required to be taken by such non-resident shareholders.

If the security transfer instruction is rejected in the depository system, due to any issue then such shares will be transferred to the shareholder broker's depository pool account for onward transfer to the Eligible Shareholder. In case of custodian participant orders, excess dematerialized shares or unaccepted dematerialized shares, if any, will be refunded to the respective custodian depository pool account.

x. Eligible Shareholders who have tendered their demat shares in the Buyback shall also provide all relevant documents, which are necessary to ensure transferability of the demat shares in respect of the tender form to be sent. In case of certain shareholders viz., NRIs, non-residents etc. (where there are specific regulatory requirements pertaining to funds pay out including those prescribed by the Reserve Bank of India) who do not opt to settle through custodians, the funds pay out would be given to their respective Stock Broker's settlement accounts for releasing the same to such shareholder's account. For this purpose, the client type details would be collected from the depositories, whereas funds pay out pertaining to the bids settled through custodians will be transferred to the settlement bank account of the custodian, each in accordance with the applicable mechanism prescribed by the Stock Exchanges and the Clearing Corporation from time to time.

v. In the case the demat account of the Eligible Shareholders is held with one depository and the clearing member pool/ Clearing Corporation account is held with another depository, the Clearing Corporation that holds the clearing member pool and Clearing Corporation account of the Eligible Shareholder will cancel the excess or unaccepted shares in the depository that holds the demat account. Particulars	Quarter ended	Six months ended	Quarter ended
	Unaudited	Unaudited	Unaudited
	30.09.2026	30.09.2026	30.09.2025
Write-down of various assets and recognition of restructuring costs in relation to decision to wind down the operations of CUMI AWUKO Abrasives GmbH (CAAG), a step-down subsidiary of the Holding Company (Refer Note 3B below)	(8026)	(8026)	-
Write-down of various assets of Foskor Zirconia (Pty) Ltd (FZL), a step-down subsidiary of the Holding Company (Refer Note 3C below)	-	-	-
Total	(8026)	(8026)	-

3A The geo-political situation continues to present an uncertain environment for the operations of the step-down subsidiary, Volzhsky Abrasive Works (VAW), Russia, held through CUMI International Ltd including those arising from international sanctions and territory embargoes. As per the US Department of State's press release dated January 10, 2025, a set of Russian companies in the manufacturing sector which includes VAW were added to the US Department of Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC)'s Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons List (SDN list), for operating or having operated in the manufacturing sector of the Russian Federation economy. As a result of VAW's designation, all of VAW's property and interests in property that are in the United States or in the possession or control of US persons are blocked. Further, most financial transactions involving US currency and transactions involving US persons are not possible for VAW unless authorized by a general or specific license issued by OFAC or exempt.

Consequent to the above designation, the Company (CUMI) made a detailed assessment of the liquidity position of VAW including its ability to continue as a going concern, control over the entity and had also comprehensively assessed the recoverability and carrying values of its assets comprising of property, plant and equipment, intangible assets, trade receivables, inventory and other assets as at the respective balance sheet date including the related goodwill at CUMI International Ltd's consolidated level. Basis the above assessment, an impairment expense (representing certain balances held in foreign currency with a clearing agency by VAW and export receivables of VAW outside the Group) amounting to Rs.10,413 lakhs had been recognised in the prior years. No additional impairment was deemed necessary for the current period.

Cash and cash equivalents of VAW amounting to Rs.36,011 lakhs are not available for use by other entities within the Group due to temporary repatriation restrictions. The impact assessment is a continuing process and given the evolving nature of uncertainties associated, the Holding Company will continue to monitor all material changes to the internal and external environment.

3B On March 30, 2026, the Board of Directors of CUMI International Limited, Cyprus (CIL), the holding company of CUMI AWUKO Abrasives GmbH (CAAG), a step-down subsidiary of Carborundum Universal Limited (CUMI) in Germany, approved the initiation of the closure of CAAG through a voluntary winding-up process in accordance with the applicable laws in Germany. This decision was taken in view of the continued underperformance of CAAG, characterised by mounting losses and its inability to achieve a turnaround given the prevailing market conditions. CAAG is not a material subsidiary of the Group, and accordingly, its winding down is not expected to have an adverse impact on the Group's overall business operations. Pursuant to this decision, the financial information of CAAG was prepared on a realisable value (non-going concern) basis and accounted Rs.11,856 lakhs under the heading exceptional items in the consolidated financial results during the year ended March 31, 2026, representing write-down of various assets and recognition of restructuring costs.

As part of the closure process, CAAG entered into agreements in October 2026 for the sale of all its property, plant and equipment and inventory for an aggregate consideration of Rs.534 lakhs and consequently these assets have been presented as assets held for sale as of September 30, 2026. CAAG has also entered into a reconciliation of interest and social plan with all the employees in accordance with applicable German labour law requirements. The financial impact arising from these actions has been recognised as an expense of Rs.8026 lakhs under the heading exceptional items in the consolidated financial results, representing write-down of various assets and recognition of restructuring costs. With the completion of the above steps, CAAG is now proceeding with the final liquidation/de-registration in accordance with the applicable German laws.

3C On May 13, 2026, the Board of Directors of Foskor Zirconia (Pty) Ltd, South Africa (FZL), a step-down subsidiary of the Holding Company in South Africa, reviewed the financial position of FZL and concluded that it is not in a position to continue the operations and there is no realistic alternative. This assessment was based on the continued underperformance of FZL, evidenced by sustained losses and the absence of a viable turnaround in light of prevailing market conditions.

Consequent to this decision, the financial information of FZL has been prepared on a realisable value (non-going concern) basis. In this context, the Group performed a detailed assessment of the carrying value of assets and has recognised an impairment expense of Rs.1,601 lakhs under the heading exceptional items in the consolidated financial results in the prior year, representing a write-down of various assets. No additional provision was required to be recognised for the current period.

4 Includes Rs.2518 lakhs towards gain on sale of transfer of immovable property rights for the quarter ended June 30, 2026 from Sterling Abrasives Limited, a subsidiary of the Company.

5 Summary of Key Standalone Unaudited Financial Results is as follows: (₹ Lakhs)
