FINANCE MINISTER NIRMALA Sitharaman on Monday acknowledged growing concerns among retail investors and equity market participants over the performance of Indian stocks, stretched valuations and the capital gains tax regime, saying the government would consider their representations ahead of the next Union Budget. Her remarks come amid sustained foreign portfolio investor (FPI) outflows and mounting calls for a review of long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax on equities.

In a conversation with Financial Express Editor Shyamal Majumdar at the FE Leadership Awards 2026, Sitharaman said she recognised the anxiety among investors and would hear their concerns before deciding on possible policy interventions. However, she cautioned against viewing tax concessions as the primary driver of capital market performance. "I realise the sensitivity and anxiety prevailing among retail investors, especially equity participants, while not being biased either way," she said.

Pointing out that the capital gains tax structure had remained unchanged in 2023-24, when India also witnessed strong foreign portfolio inflows, she said markets ultimately depended on economic fundamentals rather than tax incentives. However, she acknowledged that the circumstances had since changed, with sustained net FPI outflows adding to investor concerns. "The stakeholders are voicing their concerns louder. I will consider all this," she said.

Sustaining economic growth at 7% or above remained paramount, the minister said, stressing that India needed capital to maintain its growth trajectory. While policy attention in recent years had focused on deepening the country's underdeveloped corporate bond market, she acknowledged that equity markets also needed support. "Equity market also needs support, I recognise that voice," she said.

RELIANCE INDUSTRIES POWERED the Sensex past the 75,000 mark on Monday, as its stronger-than-expected quarterly earnings sent shares soaring nearly 12%. A sharp $10-per-barrel decline in crude oil prices added fuel to the rally, helping benchmark indices extend their winning streak to a third consecutive session.

The Sensex surged 1,233.25 points, or 1.66%, to close at 75,692.78. The Nifty jumped 387.70 points, or 1.68%, to settle at 23,440.80, its biggest gain since June 12. The gains marked a strong start to November, with both indices rising more than 3% over the past three trading sessions.

Reliance Industries (RIL) soared 11.64% to ₹1,299 on the BSE, its biggest single-day gain since April 7, 2020, after the oil-to-telecom conglomerate posted a 40.6% year-on-year jump in net profit and 29% growth in revenue for the September quarter. The surge added a record ₹1.83 lakh crore to its market capitalisation.

LAWYER DECLINES REAPPOINTMENT AFTER TERM ENDS NEXT WEEK

Khambata set to leave Tata Trusts

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, November 2

SENIOR ADVOCATE DARIUS J Khambata on Monday declined reappointment as a trustee of both the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust (SDTT) and the Sir Ratan Tata Trust (SRTT), citing the need to preserve his independence and expressing concerns over the future of the Tata Group's ownership model.

In a letter Tata Trusts Chairman Noel Tata and Chief Executive Officer Siddharth Sharma, Khambata said he was unwilling to seek the consent of fellow trustees for his reappointment, as required under the law. FE has reviewed a copy of the letter.

Khambata joined the boards of the two key Tata trusts in November 2023. This is his second stint as a trustee of SRTT and SDTT. FE had first reported in July that Khambata was likely to step away from the trusts once his tenure ended in November. Following his departure, SRTT will be left with four trustees — Noel Tata, Jimmy Tata, Jehangir HC Jehangir, and Venu Srinivasan. Barring Srinivasan, whose term ends in December this year, all three trustees have trusteeship in perpetuity.

The sad events of 17 September 2026, a day that will live in infamy, have sullied Tata Sons' reputation

Khambata said he had accepted the two trustee positions at the invitation of the late Ratan Tata and bore no ill will towards fellow trustees. While acknowledging that Noel Tata and Sharma had expressed a wish for him to continue, he said his positions had at times differed from those of other trustees, including Noel Tata.

"That is the old Tata way. Yet in law even a trustee's reappointment requires the agreement of all other trustees. That is a consent that it is not in my character to seek as it would compromise my independence to do so," he wrote.

Khambata also reiterated his opposition to listing Tata Sons, arguing that it would threaten the relationship between the holding company and the charitable trusts.

SITHARAMAN SAYS INDIA MUST SHED ECONOMIC CYNICISM

Speak confidently about economy's resilience: FM

FINANCE MINISTER NIRMALA Sitharaman on Monday urged Indians to shed cynicism and speak more confidently about the economy, saying the country's resilient growth, strong fundamentals, robust GST collections and stable leadership under Prime Minister Narendra Modi warranted greater optimism despite global challenges.

"India needs a lot of optimism. India needs a lot of conversing with optimism. India needs reduction in cynicism. India needs to voice that we believe in ourselves," Sitharaman said, appealing to businesses and experts to recognise the strength of the broader economy rather than remain apprehensive about its future.

"What I see often is even discerning experts of some domain saying, 'In my sector it's all right, but I wonder how it's going to be from tomorrow.' If your sector is fine, you would rather want every other sector to be similarly fine," she said, speaking at an HSBC India event in Mumbai.

She pointed to the country's strong banking system, robust economic activity and GST collections as evidence of resilience. "Banks are fine. Economy is robust. Look at the GST number which came out yesterday. Can the GST number be reflective of anything else other than robust activity on the ground?" she said.

India's GST collections grew at the quickest pace in over four years in October to a six-month high of ₹2.31 lakh crore amidst festive demand and a sharp jump in imports revenue.

Explaining the factors underpinning India's resilience, Sitharaman cited the aspirations of its people, the expanding middle class and the country's large domestic market. Rising purchasing power has strengthened domestic consumption, complementing the contribution of exports to economic growth.

She also attributed business confidence to policy clarity, transparency and political stability under the Modi government, saying these factors had helped businesses plan and engage with the government.

Highlighting poverty reduction as a major achievement, the Finance Minister referred to a World Bank report showing nearly 500 million people had been lifted out of poverty between 2011 and 2023.

As per the World Bank, India lifted an estimated 496 million people out of poverty between 2011 and 2023, with the share of the population living below the lower middle-income country line falling from 57.7% to 16.1%. Extreme poverty, measured by the $3 per day threshold, declined from 27.1% to 2.6% during this period.

The finance minister attributed the improvement to a combination of welfare delivery and greater access to healthcare, education, financial services and livelihood opportunities.

The Ayushman Bharat scheme, which provides eligible families with cashless treatment coverage of up to ₹5 lakh, has helped reduce the financial burden of medical emergencies.

Centre steps in to protect bulk Scotch duty benefits

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, November 2

THE GOVERNMENT IS taking necessary steps to address issues relating to the HSN Code classification of bulk Scotch whisky imports to ensure that the duty concessions negotiated under the India-UK comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) are not impaired, senior commerce ministry officials assured industry representatives on Monday.

At a high-level stakeholder consultation with domestic distillers, multinational liquor companies and industry associations, the officials said the government's commitment to provide duty concessions under the CETA would not be affected. They reiterated the government's commitment to providing a stable and predictable environment for the industry.

The meeting was chaired by Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal in which other senior officials also participated along with representatives of the Confederation of Indian Alcoholic Beverage Companies (CIABC) and the International Spirits and Wines Association of India (ISWAI), among others.

"The Commerce Secretary told industry associations that the ministry will work with the Ministry of Finance on a resolution within the framework of the law to address HSN code ambiguity on bulk Scotch imports," a statement by CIABC said.

"The ministry's commitment to honour FTA obligations, while safeguarding the interests of the domestic alcohol beverage industry, gives the sector the confidence it needs. We look forward to an early resolution that ensures business continuity," CIABC Director General Anant S Iyer said.

TARIFF CLARITY

- The Centre assured liquor industry representatives that duty concessions would remain unaffected

- The dispute centres on whether bulk Scotch whisky should be classified under HS 2208 (spirits) or HS 2106
- Representatives of the industry maintain that Scotch whisky remains whisky irrespective of whether it is imported in retail bottles or in bulk containers.

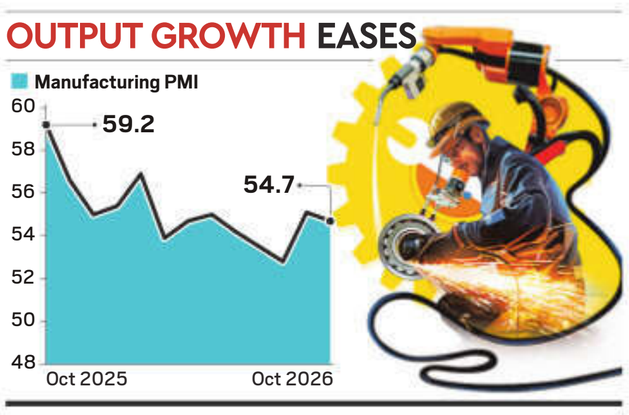
The meetings, according to the commerce ministry, focused on customs cooperation, trade facilitation, and preparations for the implementation of the India-EU FTA. PTI

Manufacturing growth loses steam in October; exports gain pace: PMI

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, November 2

OUTPUT GROWTH EASES



INDIA'S MANUFACTURING SECTOR activity moderated in October because of slower increases in output and new orders, according to the Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) survey compiled by S&P Global. A six-month high export growth provided support, while price pressures eased.

The HSBC India manufacturing PMI eased to 54.7 in October from a seven-month high of 55.1 in September. A PMI reading of more than 50 denotes expansion in activity from the previous month, while a print below 50 indicates contraction.

Demand improved, albeit at a slower pace than in September, with panel members noting favourable new client wins and successful marketing campaigns, S&P Global said.

Overseas markets contributed to the upturn, as new export orders increased at the fastest rate in six months. Companies reported gains from Bangladesh, Canada, Indonesia, Nepal, Oman, Saudi Arabia, Sri Lanka, the UK, the US and the United Arab Emirates.

"Supported by rising sales and new product releases, firms lifted output at a sharp rate that exceeded its long-run average," S&P Global said.

"Growth nevertheless softened from the previous month, driven by a slowdown among intermediate goods makers. This category still led the expansion, however."

Cost pressures moderated across the manufacturing industry even as firms reported higher prices for several materials and energy. The overall rate of input cost inflation fell to its lowest since February. Manufacturing firms raised selling prices to protect margins, but the increase was the slowest in just under four years. Higher production requirements and rising workloads encouraged a second successive monthly increase in factory employment. The pace of job creation, however, eased from September, S&P Global said.

Alongside adjustments to staffing, Indian manufacturers continued to build inventories. Finished goods stocks rose at an unprecedented pace, with firms reporting deliberate efforts to accommodate buoyant demand and prevent shortages, S&P Global said.

"Input inventories also increased more quickly, with the rate of accumulation reaching an eight-month high. Input purchasing growth entered its sixty-fourth straight month in October, but the pace of expansion slowed to the weakest over this period," S&P Global said.

Despite continued demand growth, business confidence slipped from September and remained below its long-run average. Nearly 18% of manufacturers anticipated higher output over the coming year, while the remainder were neutral. Positive expectations were underpinned by new client enquiries and demand for industrial automation and technology solutions, S&P Global said.

Captive coal output surges 42% in Oct

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, November 2

COAL PRODUCTION FROM India's captive and commercial mines surged nearly 42% year-on-year to 22.03 million tonne (MT) in October, compared with 15.49 MT a year earlier, as improved mining operations and higher capacity utilisation boosted domestic coal output.

Coal dispatches also jumped 36% to 21.11 MT from 15.48 MT in October 2025, according to data released by the Ministry of Coal on Monday.

The sharp October growth pushed cumulative production during April-October FY27 to 117.23 MT, up 11.3% from 105.33 MT in the corresponding period last year. Dispatches increased 11.53% to 124.86 MT from 111.95 MT, reflecting sustained growth in mining activity.

The latest figures mark a continued expansion in captive and commercial coal mining. During April-October FY25, production stood at 96.04 MT, while dispatches were 104.71 MT. The ministry attributed the improvement to "improved operational efficiency, enhanced mining productivity" and better utilisation of mining capacities across the sector.

MINING BOOST

- Coal dispatches climbed 36% to 21.11 million tonne in Oct, reflecting improved mining activity
- Cumulative production during Apr-Oct FY27 increased 11.3% to 117.23 million tonne
- Dispatches during the seven-month period grew 11.53% to 124.86 million tonne

In another development, the Lohari coal mine in Jharkhand secured Mine Opening Permission in October after awaiting operationalisation for several years. With the latest approval, the number of operational captive and commercial coal mines has increased to 87. The ministry said the approval reflected the impact of its "Ease of Doing Business reforms", aimed at facilitating the operationalisation of coal mines.

The increase in output comes as the government seeks to strengthen domestic coal availability and cut reliance on imported supplies.

Grain ethanol firms push for price revision

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, November 2

GRAIN-BASED ETHANOL manufacturers have urged the Centre to review procurement prices and allocation norms for the 2026-27 supply year, warning that restrictions on sugar-based feedstocks could disrupt supplies and undermine the viability of maize-based distilleries.

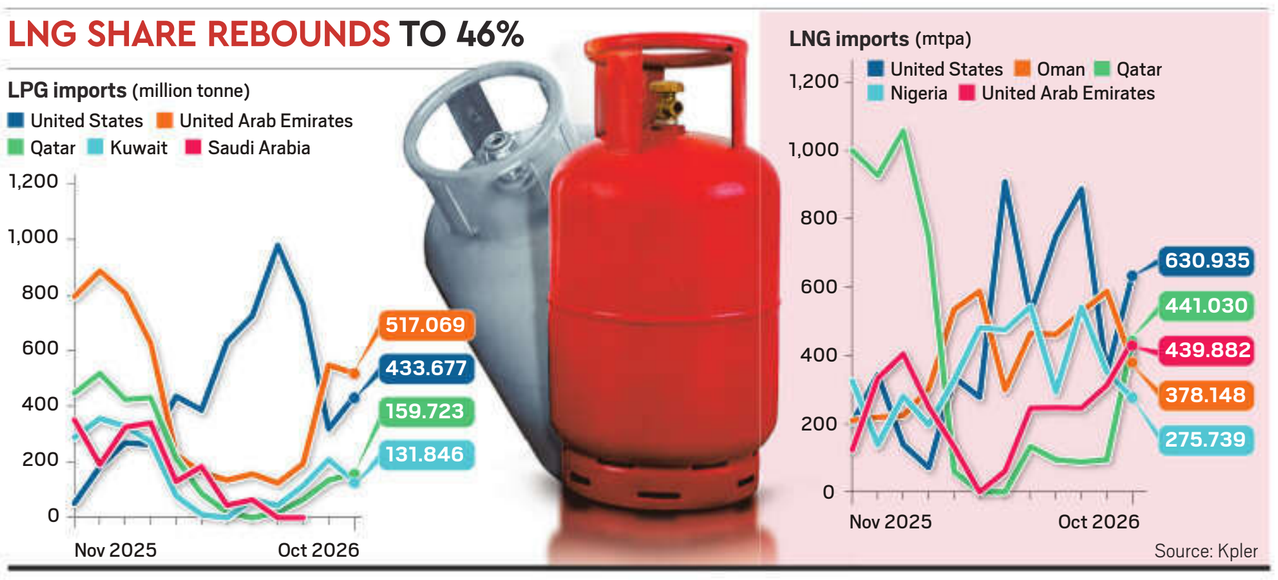
The government has barred oil marketing companies (OMCs) from procuring ethanol made from sugarcane juice, sugar syrup and B-heavy molasses for the November 2026-October 2027 supply year. "The procurement price for maize-based ethanol had been cut from ₹71.86/litre to ₹68.86/litre, would hit the financial viability of corn-based distilleries and farmers' income," CK Jain, president, Grain Ethanol Manufacturers' Association (GEMA), told FE.

Jain said the tender placed a disproportionate burden on rice-based feedstocks, particularly FCI's surplus foodgrain, priced at ₹60.32 per litre, and damaged foodgrains, priced at ₹64 per litre. This, he said, could weaken maize's role in the biofuel sector. The price differential had created uncertainty over the distribution of procurement demand, particularly as maize prices had risen sharply.

Gulf freight advantage helps West Asia reclaim share in India's LNG, LPG imports

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, November 2

LNG SHARE REBOUNDS TO 46%



WEST ASIA IS regaining ground in India's gas import basket after months of war-related disruptions, with the region's share of liquefied natural gas (LNG) imports recovering to 46.4% in October from 16.3% in May, while its share of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) imports rose to 60.8% from 33.6%, as Gulf shipments resumed and regional suppliers retained a significant freight-cost advantage over the US.

According to Natalia Katona, an Abu Dhabi-based commodity analyst, LNG freight costs from the Gulf are estimated at $0.20 per million British thermal units (MMBtu), compared with $0.64 from the US Gulf Coast. For LPG, freight from Saudi Arabia's Ras Tanura is around $236 per tonne, against $322.5 per tonne from Houston, although high war-risk insurance premiums continue to weigh on regional shipping.

The recovery marks a significant turnaround from the disruptions following the outbreak of the West Asia conflict in late February. Before the war, the region accounted for 67.9% of India's LNG imports and 85.9% of LPG supplies in February, according to Kpler data.

In volume terms, West Asian LNG shipments rose to 1.26 million tonne (MT) in October from around 359,000 tonne in May, while LPG supplies more than doubled to 847,000 tonne from 381,000 tonne.

The difference in freight costs is particularly significant for LNG, with shipments from Ras Laffan and Das Island estimated at $10.4 per tonne, against $33 per tonne from the US Gulf Coast, according to Katona.

For LPG, the $86.5-per-tonne freight difference is based on a very large gas carrier (VLGC) transporting approximately 45,000 tonne.

According to maritime consultancy Drewry, LPG cargoes from the US Gulf Coast typically take 35-40 days to reach India, compared with 10-12 days from the Middle East, giving nearby suppliers an advantage in delivery time.

However, the freight advantage does not necessarily translate into lower overall delivered costs. Katona said reported war-risk insurance premiums for vessels passing through the Strait of Hormuz were around 7-8% of the insured hull and machinery value, with actual costs depending on vessel size, age and valuation.

Separately, she estimated the delivered LNG price in western India at $33.4 per MMBtu, or approximately $1,737 per tonne.

The rebound in West Asian shipments has also been supported by increased tanker movements through the Strait of Hormuz, despite continuing security risks.

Qatar emerged as a major contributor to the LNG recovery, with shipments reaching 441,000 tonne in October compared with no supplies in May. However, volumes remained below the 744,000 tonne imported in February.

India's overall LNG imports rose 18.8% year-on-year (y-o-y) to a 13-month high of 2.71 MT in October, up 21.4% from September, according to Kpler.

The US remained India's largest individual LNG supplier, shipping around 631,000 tonne, followed by Qatar at 441,000 tonne, the UAE at 440,000 tonne, Oman at 378,000 tonne, Angola at 333,000 tonne and Nigeria at 276,000 tonne.

The recovery was also visible in LPG shipments. The UAE remained India's largest supplier for the second consecutive month, shipping 517,000 tonne in October, followed by the US at 434,000 tonne. Qatar supplied nearly 160,000 tonne and Kuwait 132,000 tonne.

However, West Asia's LPG share moderated from 70.8% in September to 60.8% in October, indicating an uneven recovery. India's overall LPG imports declined 31.2% y-o-y to 1.39 MT from 2.03 MT.

The decline coincided with weaker domestic consumption. LPG demand fell 12.11% y-o-y to 2.64 MT in October, according to Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell data. Consumption during April-October FY27 declined 14.52% to 16.31 MT from 19.09 MT a year earlier.

Despite recovering shipments, uncertainty persists, with QatarEnergy extending force majeure on LNG deliveries to India's Petronet LNG for November.

Clean energy shielded India from West Asia crisis: Modi

- Govt eyeing 500 GW more green power capacity in 10-11 years

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, November 2

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi on Monday said India's investments in clean energy over the past decade had helped the country avert a severe energy crisis amid the ongoing conflict in West Asia, as he outlined plans to add another 500 gigawatts (GW) of non-fossil fuel power capacity over the next 10-11 years and called for reducing dependence on imported fuels.

Addressing the Bharat Renewable Energy Summit & Expo 2026 in New Delhi, Modi said that continued reliance on fossil fuels would repeatedly expose the global economy to disruptions, stressing that energy security was directly linked to economic security.

"If India had not invested in clean energy and created new systems for this over the past decade, then our crisis could have been much more severe than the rest of the world," the prime minister said.

He added that the ongoing conflict had reinforced the importance of energy independence. "This global crisis has given a clear signal to every country that energy security is directly linked to economic security," he said, emphasising that the future of energy security lay in clean energy.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the four-day Bharat Renewable Energy Summit & Expo 2026 at Bharat Mandapam, in New Delhi on Monday PTI

The Prime Minister said India's renewable energy sector had attracted investments exceeding ₹15 lakh crore ($164 billion) over the past decade, including more than ₹6 lakh crore ($63 billion) in the two years since the 2024 RE-INVEST Summit. Investment opportunities in the sector could exceed ₹20 lakh crore ($220 billion) by 2030.

Highlighting the country's expanding ambitions, Modi said India was targeting another 500 GW of non-fossil capacity over the next 10-11 years, beyond its existing goal of reaching 500 GW by 2030.

"This target is somewhat difficult, but I have faith in the capability of my country; therefore I say, we will do it," Modi said.

India achieved its Paris Agreement commitment of having 50% of installed electricity capacity from non-fossil sources in 2025, five years ahead of schedule. According to the renewable energy ministry, installed non-fossil capacity stood at around 308 GW at the end of September 2026.

Against the backdrop of disruptions to gas supplies from West Asia, Modi also called for a Clean Cooking Movement to reduce household dependence on imported gas through rooftop solar-powered cooking.

"We have to launch a Clean Cooking Movement," he said, urging startups and innovators to develop solutions that allow households to cook using electricity generated by rooftop solar installations.

PE/VC funding in healthcare up 621%

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, November 2

PRIVATE EQUITY AND venture capital investments in India's healthcare sector rose 621% year-on-year to $3.1 billion in the second quarter of FY27, according to a report by EY and the Indian Private Equity and Venture Capital Association (IVCA).

Healthcare was the second-biggest sector for such investments after infrastructure. Investments were nearly 10 times higher than in the previous quarter.

The rise in investment value was accompanied by an increase in deal activity, with the sector recording 28 deals in the second quarter compared with 19 in the previous quarter.

In September alone, the sector attracted $1.1 billion, up 465% from a year earlier. The month saw 11 deals, against eight in August and six in July.

Some of the biggest investments during the quarter went into hospital chains and other healthcare companies.

For instance, KKR acquired a 100% stake in the Indian hospital business of Medicover for $1.4 billion.

Similarly, Permira and TPG Capital invested $450 million in Kids Clinic India — which operates Cloudnine — for a 35% stake. Advent International invested $329 million in Yatharth Hospital and Trauma Care Services for a 25% stake.

Other major transactions included a $242-million investment in Manipal Health Enterprises by ADIA, PSPIB, Norway's Government Pension Fund Global and others.

The report also said healthcare recorded exits worth $1.4 billion during the quarter. Healthcare ranked third in sector-wise exits, after financial services at $2.8 billion and e-commerce at $2 billion.

Across all sectors, PE/VC investments rose 46% year-on-year to $17.1 billion in the quarter. But the overall deal count fell 9% to 348, showing that the increase in total investment was driven by larger transactions.

The report said 36 large deals worth $13 billion accounted for 76% of the quarter's total investment.

The report shows that September was the strongest month for overall PE/VC investments this year. However, EY said investors could become more careful in the coming months amid inflation and high crude oil prices.

"Going forward, we expect PE/VC investors to remain cautious and selective and prioritise resilience of future profitability and return on capital," Vivek Soni, partner and national leader, private equity services, EY India, said.

Petronet LNG's profit rises 53% to ₹1,235 crore

PETRONET LNG REPORTED a 53% year-on-year increase in its net profit to ₹1,235 crore in the second quarter of FY27, even as the company navigated disruptions in LNG supplies from Qatar amid the ongoing Strait of Hormuz crisis.

The company's profit before tax (PBT) rose 53% to ₹1,659 crore during the July-September quarter, compared with ₹1,083 crore in the corresponding period last year. Profit after tax (PAT) increased to ₹1,235 crore from ₹806 crore, marking the company's highest-ever second-quarter PBT and PAT.

In talks with Qatar

The country's top gas importer is in talks with Qatar to secure delivery of some of the at least 90 liquefied natural gas cargoes delayed chiefly by the West Asia crisis, said CEO AK Singh. Qatar has a contract to supply Petronet with 7.5 million metric tonne of the fuel annually, equivalent to about 9-10 cargoes a month. —AGENCIES

Khambata set to leave Tata Trusts

KHAMBATA SAID HE had cautioned against a potential listing at a May 28, 2025, meeting, describing it as "existential" for the trusts, and had drafted the resolution passed unanimously on July 28, 2025, opposing the move.

However, he said opposition to listing must be accompanied by a proposal to provide liquidity to the Shapoorji Pallonji Group, which holds a stake in Tata Sons. He said he had consistently supported giving the group an exit through the sale of some or all of its shares.

Khambata expressed disappointment with the engagement with the Reserve Bank of India, saying it had not meaningfully demonstrated how Tata Sons could adopt the transparency and reporting mechanisms of a listed company while remaining unlisted.

Commenting on recent developments, Khambata said events in August and September 2026 had overtaken earlier resolutions supporting a third term for N Chandrasekaran as Tata Sons chairman.

Reacting to the news of Khambata stepping away from the trusts, a former trustee noted that Noel Tata's decision to put conditions for the reappointment in February this year, after the two trust boards had resolved to reappoint Chandrasekaran in July 2025, took many board members from both trusts by surprise. "It was news to us. Since we had resolved to reappoint him. And nothing about a condition was discussed with the trustees," the former trustee said.

He criticised Vijay Singh and Venu Srinivasan for publicly supporting a listing in April 2026, despite having been party to earlier unanimous resolutions opposing it.

"In April 2026, contrary to unanimous resolutions they had been party to, Vijay and Venu suddenly told the media, though not their co-trustees, that they favoured listing, disregarding the trusts' interests. They have not shared their reasons for this volte-face with either," he wrote.

Khambata also defended the decision by four trustees across SDTT and SRTT, including himself, on September 11, 2025, not to renew Vijay Singh's tenure as Tata Sons' trust nominee director. He said the decision was intended to secure stronger opposition to listing and had helped preserve the trusts' veto through Noel Tata, adding that subsequent events had demonstrated its importance.

Khambata said the events of September 17, 2026, had damaged Tata Sons' reputation and imperilled the image of corporate India. He also expressed sadness over the divide between Noel Tata and Chandrasekaran, urging the two to uphold the Tata Group's founding values.

"I leave it to the judgement of history as to whether those to whom Ratan Tata entrusted the Tata model have the statesmanship to rise above personal interest and to preserve, rather than diminish, the model," he wrote.

FUEL COSTS SOAR AS AIRLINE SEEKS LOWER TAXES AND AIRPORT CHARGES

IndiGo pushes for cheaper flying

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, November 2

INDIGO HAS CALLED for lower airport charges and taxes, warning that rising operating costs are putting pressure on airlines' financial sustainability as the industry grapples with record-high aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices. Chief executive Willie Walsh said the sector needed a more competitive cost structure amid mounting fuel expenses and geopolitical disruptions.

"Airport charges are too high. We would do much better if we had lower taxes. So lower taxes, lower airport charges. That's the way forward," Walsh said during his first media interaction since taking charge of the airline earlier this year. He said airport charges had increased around 4% in the second quarter, while airlines were seeking better value from airport operators.

The demand comes as airlines grapple with an unprecedented surge in jet fuel prices, driven largely by an unusually high crack spread — the difference between crude oil prices and refined jet fuel prices. Walsh said the spread, which averaged around 22% between 2000 and 2025, had risen to approximately 65%.

Walsh said fuel accounted for more than 40% of IndiGo's costs, compared with about 32% for the global airline industry, leaving Indian carriers exposed to the full volatility of jet fuel prices. Airlines in India do not hedge their fuel costs.

The airline is also reviewing its fuel hedging policy but is not currently hedging its fuel requirements. Walsh said the carrier would undertake a comprehensive review before taking a decision, adding that fuel hedging was primarily a risk-management tool rather than a bet on oil prices.

While Asian airlines typically hedge around 40% of their fuel requirements, European carriers hedge 70-80%, he said. IndiGo is also examining a proposed fuel price stabilisation scheme but has not participated so far, citing cash-flow considerations.

Walsh said IndiGo was attempting to absorb as much of the increase as possible but acknowledged that passengers could face higher airfares if costs remained elevated.

"We understand that people would prefer to have lower prices, but we have to have an eye on the financial stability of the company. We're trying to absorb as much as we possibly can," he said.

He acknowledged that higher ticket prices could weigh on passenger demand but said maintaining the airline's financial stability was necessary. IndiGo reported a net loss of around ₹1,879 crore in Q2.

Geopolitical disruptions are adding to operational pressures. IndiGo has cut around 30 flights daily, primarily services to and from Saudi Arabia, amid continuing tensions in West Asia and airspace restrictions. The closure of Pakistani airspace has also forced Indian carriers to recalibrate their networks.

Walsh said IndiGo would restore services only when it was safe to do so, reiterating that passenger safety remained the airline's priority.

IndiGo is targeting the first delivery of its Airbus A350-900 aircraft in the second quarter of 2028. The airline has 60 A350s on order and plans a three-class configuration, including business class and premium economy, as it prepares to expand its long-haul international operations.

Despite its ambitions in the premium and long-haul segments, Walsh maintained that IndiGo would continue to operate as a low-cost carrier, with its expansion strategy centred on strengthening its existing network while gradually entering new international markets.

IndiGo is currently recruiting pilots in anticipation of future growth and expanding operations, Walsh said.

Buyers turn to refurbished premium smartphones

Sub-₹20,000 phone sales plunge 30% as costs rise

ASHUTOSH MISHRA & OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, November 2

RISING SMARTPHONE PRICES are beginning to reshape buying patterns, with consumers either stretching their budgets to buy higher-priced devices or turning to refurbished premium models, even as demand for entry-level handsets weakens.

Sales of smartphones priced below ₹20,000 declined by more than 30% year-on-year during the initial days of the pre-Diwali festive season, as higher memory chip prices made devices less affordable. The trend is prompting manufacturers and retailers to step up discounts and cashback offers to sustain demand in a segment that accounts for a significant share of industry volumes.

"The early days of this festive sale are premium-led. Buyers who are upgrading are going for higher-priced models, and demand around the ₹20,000-30,000 mark is holding up as shoppers look for better value than the entry tier can now offer. The sub-₹20,000 segment is where the pain is concentrated, which has declined by more than 30% year-on-year during the initial days of the festive season sale," Shubham Nimkar, research analyst at Counterpoint, told FE.

Rising memory costs have pushed up prices across categories, adding to affordability concerns. OnePlus has announced Diwali discounts of up to ₹7,000 across its smartphone portfolio, along with additional instant bank discounts of up to ₹3,000. Domestic handset maker Lava International, meanwhile, is holding prices during Diwali week but has announced increases of up to ₹3,000 across its portfolio from November 15, citing the ongoing memory shortage. The company has urged consumers to take advantage of existing festive prices before the revisions take effect.

The pressure is not restricted to lower-priced devices. According to the All India Mobile Retailers Association (AIMRA), iPhone sales declined by up to 40% during the pre-Diwali period, as higher prices, limited discounts and supply constraints deterred buyers. Apple is now offering fresh cashback incentives across its range, including on the iPhone 17 from November 1. According to an industry executive, buyers can avail of cashback of ₹7,000 on full-swipe transactions and ₹8,000 on EMI purchases.

Retailers, however, say exchange-led purchases are gaining traction, particularly among premium buyers looking to trade in their existing devices and upgrade. "During this festive season, the industry as a whole has made a conscious effort to bridge the impact of price increases that we have seen in the recent past. Brands, banks, financing partners and retailers have all come together to make smartphones more accessible," Swarn Bajaj, founder and CEO of P3S Ventures (iNvent), said.

BUYING PATTERN

- Memory costs squeeze affordability
- Entry-level demand weakens sharply

- Festive discounts intensify
- OnePlus steps up price cuts
- Lava price hike from Nov 15
- iPhone sales fall up to 40%
- Apple rolls out cashback offers
- iPhone 17 gets ₹7,000 cashback

● RAKESH SHARMA, JOINT MANAGING DIRECTOR, BAJAJ AUTO

'Pulsar portfolio set for January makeover'

Bajaj Auto is sharpening its focus on premium motorcycles, exports and electric mobility to drive growth in FY27. Rakesh Sharma, joint managing director, Bajaj Auto, talks to Akbar Merchant about the Pulsar revival, upcoming motorcycle brands, record export performance and the company's strategy to balance market share with profitability. Excerpts:

Bajaj Auto remains outside India's top three two-wheeler manufacturers. What are your priorities for regaining market share in FY27?

India's motorcycle business accounts for around 19% of our overall business, while our international operations across 108 countries contribute substantially. In India, our focus is on motorcycles of 125cc and above, alongside electric scooters.

The sub-125cc segment has declined from around 50% of the motorcycle market five years ago to approximately 45% now. We prioritise profitability, with operating profitability at 20.9%, which we believe is best-in-class globally. Our entry-level products are priced at a premium, and we accept some market-share loss to protect margins.

THE NS RANGE IS GROWING AT ROUGHLY TWICE THE MARKET RATE, WHILE THE CLASSIC RANGE HAS ALSO BEEN UPGRADED

Pulsar has faced market-share erosion. How is the refreshed portfolio performing?

Pulsar sells around 100,000 units a month, but parts of the portfolio had reached the end of their product cycles. We began refreshing the range with the 250cc models, followed by the 160cc motorcycles, and are now seeing a reversal of market-share erosion in the 150cc-plus segment.

The NS range is growing at roughly twice the market rate, while the classic range has also been upgraded. The contribution of new products to our 250cc-and-above portfolio increased from 7% in August to 26% in September and 34% during the first 16 days of the festive period. We expect the entire 125cc-to-400cc Pulsar portfolio to be refreshed by January 1.

What are your plans for the two new motorcycle brands in FY27?

One brand will target an emerging sub-segment with significant potential, identified through an understanding of India's demographics and international markets. The second will strengthen our presence in the 125cc-to-150cc space. Both will complement Pulsar and address distinct market opportunities.

Is adventure motorcycling another growth opportunity?

Adventure and soft-adventure motorcycles account for around 7% of India's market but are growing four times faster than the overall market. Through KTM adventure motorcycles and Triumph scramblers, we are leaders in this segment. KTM's Dakar heritage, engineering and brand strength give us strong credentials.

Restaurants serve up another price hike

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, November 1

RESTAURANTS AND EATERIES, already grappling with food inflation, repeated commercial LPG price increases and higher minimum wages, now face rising milk prices. With costs mounting across all fronts, menu prices will rise by 10-15%, hotel associations in Bengaluru, Mumbai and Pune said.

Milk is the latest pressure point. Dairies have raised prices through the year to pass on higher fodder and feed costs: Amul and Mother Dairy added Rs 2 a litre across the country in May, Kerala's Milma Rs 4 in June, and Mumbai's wholesale milk price rose Rs 9 a litre in September. The biggest of these increases is in Karnataka, where Nandini milk goes up by Rs 8 a litre to Rs 54 from Monday. Each round of increases feeds straight into the tea, coffee and sweets sold by small eateries, breakfast joints, tea stalls and sweet shops across the country.

Restaurants have been absorbing higher food costs through the year. Food inflation rose to 7.74% in September from 5.97% in August, data from the statistics ministry showed. Onion prices more than doubled year on year, sugar rose 29.8%, rice 8.25% and chicken 8.41%, while vegetable oils were 9.87% costlier, in September.

Cooking gas has been a bigger shock. After the West Asia conflict disrupted supplies in March, the National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI) asked members to ration LPG and switch to electric cooking where possible. Prices have since shot up. A 19-kg commercial cylinder now costs 70-80% more than a year ago in major cities.

Restaurants have already started passing on these costs. Inflation in restaurants and accommodation services stood at 9.36% in September, above headline retail inflation of 5.54%. RBI executive director and monetary policy committee member Indranil Bhattacharyya flagged the trend in the October meeting minutes, citing evidence of input costs being passed through. "Greater pass-through is expected going ahead, especially when demand conditions are strong," he said.

In Bengaluru, hoteliers say the milk price increase leaves them little room to absorb costs. "We had written to the chief minister about two weeks ago asking the government to limit the increase to Rs 2-3 a litre. With a Rs 8 per litre price hike, there is no option to absorb. Prices at hotels across the city will rise by at least 10-15%," said P C Rao, honorary president of the Bangalore Hotels Association. "Rice, toor dal and LPG have all become costlier, as have labour, electricity and water. The Centre's decision to raise the wage ceiling for mandatory provident fund cover to Rs 25,000 a month from Rs 15,000 has added to staff costs," he added.

Associations in Maharashtra have flagged similar increases. The Indian Hotel and Restaurant Association (AHAR) in Mumbai expects menu revisions of 10-15% before Diwali, citing raw materials, commercial LPG, rent, dairy prices and hygiene-related expenses. In Pune, the National Restaurant Association of India's chapter expects a similar increase. "Raw materials are shooting up exponentially. We can easily see menu revisions over the next 8-10 days, of 10-15%," said Saili Jahagirdar, the chapter's head.

For many restaurants, this will be the second increase this year. "Annually there is an upward revision of 4-5% to keep up with inflation. This year there was already a 10-15% revision because of the LPG shock. This will be the second round now. Cumulatively, over the year, this means a 30-35% hike in prices," an industry executive said.

Nov to test festive demand after car sales slide in Oct

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, November 2

INDIA'S PASSENGER VEHICLE market is expected to get a clearer demand signal in November, as registrations during the month will help determine whether October's 14.6% year-on-year decline was driven by a shift in the festive calendar or reflected a broader moderation in consumer demand.

India registered 501,406 passenger vehicles in October 2026, compared with 587,103 units in the year-ago period, according to JATO Dynamics data. While the overall market remained under pressure, electric vehicles (EVs) continued to post strong growth, pointing to a changing sales mix.

With Diwali falling on November 8 this year, compared with an earlier festive period in 2025, vehicle bookings, deliveries and registrations may have shifted between the two months. November's numbers will therefore be crucial in assessing the underlying strength of festive-season demand.

EVs buck market trend

Registrations of non-electric vehicles declined 17.9% year on year in October, while EV registrations surged 74.7%. EV penetration nearly doubled to 7.3% from 3.6% a year earlier. Tata's EV registrations surged 76.3%, while Mahindra's grew 84.2%, highlighting the growing contribution of electric models even as the broader passenger vehicle market weakened.

The trend suggests electrification is becoming an increasingly important factor in manufacturers' sales performance. The extent to which this momentum continues in November will offer further insight into consumer appetite for EVs during the period.

Divergent performances

Among major manufacturers, Tata Motors and Mahindra performed relatively better than the overall market, with registrations declining 8.8% and 12.6%, respectively.

INDIVIDUALS NOW ACCOUNT FOR 64% OF INDUSTRY ASSETS

Retail investors tighten grip on mutual fund assets

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, November 2

TWO YEARS OF market volatility and lacklustre returns have done little to shake retail investors' faith in mutual funds. Far from retreating, individual investors have strengthened their grip on the industry, with their share of total assets climbing to 64% in September 2026 — the highest since July 2024.

The latest data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi) points to a significant shift in the industry's investor mix. Even as market returns have disappointed, individual investors have continued to invest, helped by the growing popularity of systematic investment plans (SIPs), easier digital access and a greater understanding of market cycles.

The rising retail dominance has come at the expense of institutional investors, whose share of mutual fund assets has slipped to its lowest level in more than two years.

Fund managers believe the trend reflects a structural change in investor behaviour rather than merely a temporary shift in allocation.

"Good times generally follow bad times, and individual investors are increasingly aware of this," said Anand Radhakrishnan, MD, Sundaram Mutual Fund. This growing understanding of market cycles, he said, has encouraged investors to increase their equity allocations even during an extended market correction. The resilience of retail investors also reflects the role of distributors in preventing panic exits during market downturns.

Madhu Nair, CEO, Baroda BNP Paribas Mutual Fund, attributed the rising individual share to greater financial awareness and lower redemptions, aided by distributors who have helped investors stay the course through periods of volatility.

Ritesh Pathak, deputy chief business officer at Motilal Oswal Asset Management, pointed to a combination of factors: the popularity of SIPs, seamless digital onboarding, the industry's expansion into tier-II and III cities, and the higher risk appetite of younger investors.

While retail investors have been buying into market weakness, institutional investors have been pulling back for a different set of reasons. Unlike individuals, who predominantly invest in equity, hybrid and passive schemes, institutions tend to park their money in liquid and debt funds. Their investment decisions are consequently driven more by short-term liquidity requirements, taxation and the availability of alternative fixed-income instruments.

Radhakrishnan said the narrowing gap between post-tax returns from debt mutual funds and direct investments in bonds has reduced the attractiveness of mutual funds for institutional investors. At the same time, higher capital expenditure by companies has meant that more profits are being ploughed back into businesses, leaving smaller investible surpluses for deployment in mutual funds.

Nair, however, said the declining institutional share should also be viewed in the context of retail investments growing faster than institutional allocations. While institutions remain concentrated in liquid and money market schemes, individuals have steadily expanded their exposure to equity, hybrid and passive funds over the past two years.

Pathak said the contrasting investment patterns are reshaping the industry's asset base. Institutional investments are typically lumpy and concentrated in debt securities, whereas individual participation is increasingly driven by regular, long-term contributions.

The result is a gradual shift from institution-led allocations towards a more retail-driven mutual fund industry. And the shift may have further to run. Pathak expects individual investors' share to continue rising as financialisation deepens and more households embrace equity mutual funds as a vehicle for long-term wealth creation.

Bonds see best day since early April on Brent slide

KHUSHI MALHOTRA
Mumbai, November 2

A SHARP DECLINE in oil prices unleashed demand for government bonds on Monday, pushing the 10-year note to its best day since early April, as investors rushed to lock in higher yields ahead of the key US mid-term elections.

Brent crude futures fell nearly 5% to $108 per barrel in Asian trade, retreating from a six-month peak hit last week, as Iranian negotiators left talks with Qatari mediators to end the war with the US, and a draft proposal was being circulated with a follow-up meeting possible.

The benchmark 6.94% 2036 bond yield fell nearly 10 basis points to 7.3154%, its steepest one-day decline since early April. The rupee strengthened 0.05% to 94.90 per dollar, while the benchmark Nifty 50 index rose 1.7% to 23,440.

The market witnessed a "bull flattening" in both overnight indexed swaps and government bond curves, traders said, as long-end rates fell faster than the short-end, signalling improved expectations for inflation and the policy path.

Attention is now on Tuesday's US midterm elections.

Traders will gauge whether the result alters the prospects for a US-Iran ceasefire and sustained oil price correction, which could shape the interest rate path in India.

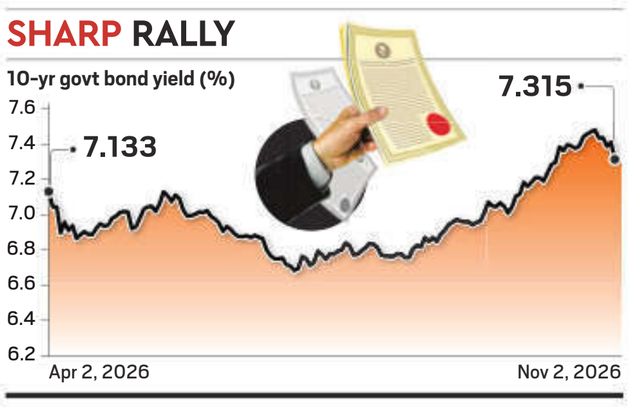
"The impact on government bonds will depend on a combination of US Treasury yields and impact on crude oil," said Gaura Sengupta, chief economist at IDFC First Bank.

If concerns about an escalation with Iran grow after the results, government bond yields could face upward pressure, Sengupta said.

OIS rates eased as lower oil prices softened rate hike concerns.

The one-year OIS fell 6.25 bps to 6.6575%, the two-year was down 7.25 bps at 6.6750%, and the five-year pared 8.75 bps to 6.7750%. REUTERS

SHARP RALLY



Rupee falls 8 paise to 94.84 vs dollar

THE RUPEE FELL 8 paise to close at 94.84 against the US dollar on Monday, weighed down by a firm greenback in overseas markets.

Forex traders said the Indian rupee is showing signs of near-term stabilisation after recovering sharply against the US dollar in previous sessions.

A positive trend in domestic equities and softening of crude oil prices, however, cushioned the downside.

At the interbank foreign exchange market, the rupee opened down at 94.90 and fell further to a low of 95.04 in intra-day trade. The unit recouped some losses in the closing session to settle at 94.84, down 8 paise from its previous close.

On Friday, the rupee appreciated 50 paise to close at 94.76 against the US dollar.

"The recovery remains vulnerable as weakness across Asian currencies and uncertainty in global equity markets continue to influence dollar demand," said Gaurav Garg, head — research, Lemonn. PTI

NaBFID in talks with NDB, AIIB for $1-bn credit

ABHIJIT LELE
Mumbai, November 2

NATIONAL BANK FOR Financing Infrastructure and Development (NaBFID) has begun discussions with multilateral agencies such as New Development Bank (NDB) and Asia Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) to raise about $1 billion under the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) concessional currency risk hedging window.

Managing Director Rajkiran Rai G said the development finance institution is stepping up overseas borrowings to mitigate the impact of hardening of interest rates. The RBI window is open till December. The central bank is providing 1.5% exchange rate risk cover to lenders. NaBFID is planning raising around $4 billion via the overseas route under this facility.

Rising of market rates, both domestic and external, has made lenders review resource-raising strategies. Domestic borrowings have become relatively costly. Investors in the Indian market are asking for a coupon rate of over 8% from top-rated financial institutions for 10-year paper. With the hike in repo rate, banks, which have given credit lines to NaBFID, would begin to revise rates for external benchmark-linked loans, Rai told FE.

The institution has already raised $750 million through maiden 10-year bonds and $500 million via external commercial borrowings (ECBs). It can mobilise another $350 million under the ECB route.

The infrastructure lender was in the final stage to tie up a loan facility of $1 billion from international commercial lenders. This facility is backed by the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA), a member of the World Bank group.

Sebi issues rules for depositary receipts on REIT, InvIT units

REUTERS
November 2

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Monday issued a depositary receipts framework to let foreign investors buy into real estate investment trusts (REITs) and infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs) through select overseas exchanges.

The framework, proposed in August to attract more foreign capital to these sectors, was approved by Sebi in September.

Sebi said REITs and InvITs proposing to list in India and simultaneously issue depositary receipts must seek approval from both the Indian exchange as well as the international exchange involved. Any fresh issue of depositary receipts will require approval from at least 75% of unitholders.

Units issued for depositary receipts cannot be priced lower than the price offered to Indian investors for a similar offering, the framework said.

Any fresh issue of depositary receipts on units of a privately placed InvIT can be subscribed to only by foreign institutional investors and corporate bodies.

REITs and InvITs listed in India already accept foreign investment, subject to government and Reserve Bank of India rules.

PN VASUDEVAN, MD & CEO, EQUITAS SMALL FINANCE BANK

'Diluting stake in Equitas was a mistake'

PN Vasudevan, who resigned as the managing director and CEO of Equitas Small Finance Bank, describes his substantial stake dilution in the lender as a mistake. Vasudevan, who will discharge his duties till a successor is appointed, explains to Narayanan V what prompted his resignation, how the bank plans to scale up its business by another ₹1 lakh crore in the next four-five years, and why its universal banking ambition remains unaffected despite the leadership change. Excerpts:

Your resignation came as a surprise, particularly when the bank was performing well.

When we started Equitas in 2007, making money was never my objective. I held a 20% stake from the very beginning, which came down to 5-6% within a year. By the time we became a small finance bank, my stake was only about 1.5%, and that too was held in my daughter's name. In 2022, I wanted to step down to focus on philanthropy. We had launched a project to provide doorstep services for children with special needs from low-income families. That requires a lot of money. I thought I would step out of the bank, start an NBFC, and have my daughter sell her shares in the bank and invest in that NBFC. The value created would become the corpus for the trust, enabling us to expand and scale up the initiative.

Later, someone from Chola Finance resigned to start an NBFC. We then thought my daughter could invest in that NBFC, instead of starting something on her own. In reality, there is no conflict, because the arrangement is in line with the Banking Regulation Act. RBI is the regulator that gives the NBFC its licence and is also the authority that renews my contract every three years. But the perception has been very strong.

Many investors told me over the last two-three years that there is a lot of talk within the investment community about a conflict of interest between Equitas and the NBFC. Because of this perceived conflict, many serious investors are reluctant to invest in the stock.

Do you regret diluting your stake in Equitas so substantially?

If you ask me to go back to 2007 and start all over again, I would do things differently. I would want to create as much wealth as I could. But in those days, money was never on my mind.

In November 2008, my salary was 45 times the lowest salary in the organisation. During the annual review in March 2009, I told the board to reduce my salary. My total CTC was ₹52 lakh, and I asked them to bring it down to ₹45 lakh. I kept it at that level for the next 10 years with no ESOPs or any other incentives.

When we became a bank, there were around 50 people in the organisation drawing more than me. When we started this (philanthropy) project, I realised that I needed money. That is when the whole idea of the NBFC came into our minds.

In the new NBFC started by the former Chola executive, where my daughter is an investor, we will ensure that she holds at least 20-25% even after five to six years. The value created through that stake should eventually go towards building the corpus for the trust.

I THINK NEXT ₹1 LAKH CRORE WILL BE ACHIEVED IN FOUR-FIVE YEARS BECAUSE THE SEGMENTS WE OPERATE IN HAVE A HIGH LEVEL OF UNMET CREDIT DEMAND

Reliance powers market rally

MORE STRIKINGLY, THE stock alone contributed 756.86 points, or 61.37%, of the Sensex's 1,233-point rise. Its contribution to the Nifty was equally significant at 197 points, accounting for nearly 51% of the index's gains.

The rally also pushed the combined market capitalisation of RIL and recently listed Jio Platforms past the ₹30-lakh-crore milestone to ₹30.68 lakh crore. RIL was valued at ₹17.58 lakh crore, while Jio Platforms commanded a market value of ₹13.10 lakh crore.

The other big catalyst was crude oil. Brent prices dropped nearly $10 a barrel to $108, offering relief to a market rattled in recent months by elevated energy costs, inflation concerns and geopolitical tensions. For India, a major oil importer, softer crude prices ease pressure on inflation, corporate margins and the rupee.

"Indian equity markets started November on a strong note, with the rally supported by easing crude oil prices, strong Reliance Industries results and improving geopolitical sentiment," said Ankur Punj, managing director, Equirus Wealth.

Foreign portfolio investors bought shares worth ₹3,114.68 crore while domestic institutional investors sold shares worth ₹392.20 crore, as per provisional data by the exchanges.

Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Investments, said strong October passenger vehicle sales and higher gross GST collections reinforced confidence in domestic consumption and economic resilience. "Renewed US-Iran diplomatic efforts and softer crude prices also helped ease concerns over energy costs and geopolitical risks," he added.

Market breadth reflected the improved sentiment, with 2,889 stocks advancing against 1,577 declines on the BSE. The Nifty Midcap 100 gained 1.19%, while the Nifty Smallcap 100 rose 0.71%, signalling that buying interest was not confined to index heavyweights.

The rally added ₹7.96 lakh crore to investors' wealth, lifting the combined market capitalisation of BSE-listed companies to ₹482.3 lakh crore.

Oil and gas stocks led the sectoral gains. IT, private banks and pharmaceutical stocks lagged. Apart from Reliance, Tata Steel, UltraTech Cement, SBI and NTPC were among the leading Sensex gainers.

● THE EVOLVING WORKFORCE

THE HUMAN EDGE IN AN AUTOMATED WORLD

AS INTELLIGENT SYSTEMS RESHAPE BUSINESS, LEADERS MUST RETHINK DECISION-MAKING AND ENSURE ACCOUNTABILITY AT EVERY STEP

GANESH NATARAJAN
Chairman of 5F World & Honeywell Automation India

IT ALWAYS BEGINS WITH disbelief! The world has changed from AI being seen as just a fad to something that is only needed by market leaders in the US to a growing realisation that the opportunities and challenges of deploying AI are very real for every organisation in the business environment. Today, the broad sweep of AI is threatening to rock the foundations of leadership beliefs and force a substantial rethink about the roles leaders must play and the way they should lead their teams and organisations.

There are three deep realisations that all leaders are facing even as they reimagine a future where AI is integrated in every significant process and activity of the organisations. The first is the importance of identifying internal and external data sources, ingestion, storage and dissemination mechanisms and an orchestration layer that transforms that data into actionable insights. Second is the understanding of the role that generative AI and agentic AI applications can play in all business processes and the creation of governance and control mechanisms for the plethora of agents that will be deployed in every function of the organisation. And finally, as we wrote in our recent Bloomsbury book titled "AI took your org chart", leaders must judiciously deploy dual intelligence mechanisms to take human-AI collaboration to the next level.

What should leaders do to embrace AI and provide thought and action leadership to their teams across functions and geographies? Our own research shows that leaders are taking robust action in three areas. The first is enhancing their own understanding and developing new insights on where AI would best augment the capabilities of their organisations. The second is encouraging adequate experimentation everywhere in the use of AI in every process of the organisation. And finally, the critical agenda for the leader is to ensure that the whole organisation is driven by data, actionable insights are thrown up in plenty by timely presentation of contextualised knowledge and management teams move beyond retrospective situation analysis to truly future oriented proactive behaviour.

The leader's role in the fast-changing world of automation, digital and AI is crucial. Assessment of the current state and starting points as an organisation and in key functions has to be followed by a prioritisation exercise with clearly defined business outcomes. The reimagination exercise has to be followed by the process reengineering and business model redesign exercises. Planning for data management and all technology touch points and the integration and orchestration of AI follows. The definition of roles of all agents and the cultural change assessment have to be done next and once the entire implementation plan is in place, governance processes have to be put in place to extract the value that was envisaged in this major organisation transformation.

Managing teams, roles and goals in fast changing AI enabled transformation is a key result area for today's leaders. Teams have to be judiciously assembled based on skills available and roles assigned to AI agents and humans and desired outcomes achieved to facilitate organisation progress. Getting the whole team to work towards harmonious goals is where dual intelligence has to be put into play and leaders must be clairvoyant and future focused to drive the transformation efforts needed to attain and sustain success.

Dual intelligence approaches place an imperative on leaders and managers to set and manage goals for the organisation and all process and function teams. The team members themselves must take actions that push the workflow forward, take action at critical decision points and build and leverage unique insights to optimise processes even as AI executes the defined process to perfection. And managers have to provide constant check points for performance measurement and improvement and business process optimisation.

This is the time as never before for leaders to show their true mettle. Let AI be just one more tool in the arsenal of strategic weapons, deployed thoughtfully at the right places and at the right time to bring line managers closer to their teams. AI agents will proliferate but leaders must always assign a human in the loop to be the ultimate authority for key decisions and ensure that this dual intelligence approach results in better outcomes for the team, the function or the organisation they have the privilege to lead. AI is here to stay and will keep evolving—can leaders stay ahead of the curve and retain control?

PEOPLE FIRST

THE FUTURE OF WORK NEEDS A NEW STRATEGY

EVERY MAJOR SHIFT in workplace technology introduces a shift in the relationship between the organisation and its people. AI is no different, except for its unprecedented scale and speed. As AI moves into core processes, enterprises are not just adopting new tools; they are rewriting the relationship with their employees to redefine what they contribute, how they grow and why their work matters.

A recent report by Wipro and HFS Research found that 53% of enterprise leaders are preparing to run hybrid human and machine teams, yet the terms of that collaboration remain dynamic. This makes AI readiness critical as organisations build the ability to continually identify opportunities, redesign work, govern change, scale what delivers value and learn from what does not. For employees, this journey must begin with trust, built through transparency, fairness, investment in capabilities and clear accountability. Treated as a technology programme, transformation will optimise machines, providing short-term gains. If treated as a people-first journey, it will build something lasting.

Translating productivity gains into business outcomes

AI should not simply make work faster. It should make work more valuable. Most leaders share a genuine ambition to free their people for higher-order work. The same report shows that 63% leaders share this ambition, but only 20% have built that ambition into how their organisations are designed. When routine tasks are automated without redesigning roles, the productivity gains do not translate into real business outcomes. The time saved is absorbed by existing ways of working rather than redirected to innovation, problem-solving, or customer impact.

Realising that ambition requires deliberate choices. How will roles evolve once machines handle routine execution? How will organisations recognise and reward distinctly human contributions like judgement, empathy, ethical reasoning and the ability to ask better questions? These are people strategy questions long before they are technology questions.

Rewarding co-intelligence, not just throughput

As roles evolve and new skills emerge, organisations will need a clearer understanding of the respective contributions of people and technology. If people are to partner well with intelligent systems, organisations need to recognise which activities can be automated, those that can be augmented and those that require human accountability.

This shift also requires organisations to reconsider the unique human qualities they value. Critical reasoning, contextual decision-making, ethical oversight, and the ability to use AI to improve customer and business outcomes are the real differentiators.

Preparing people for the future

Redesigning a future-ready people strategy is about making change worthy of the people who will carry it. With only 18% of organisations today embedding intelligence into enterprise-wide design, the groundwork for genuine human and AI partnership is only just being laid. Sustainable readiness requires key capabilities: business ownership of value; multi-disciplinary workflow redesign; risk-based governance and human oversight; skill visibility; and adoption routines that track benefits and enable leaders to scale or adapt initiatives.

Workflow redesign without capability investment leaves people unprepared. Leaders need to approach work and workforce transformation with transparency and accountability. Enterprises must therefore design new ways for people to build expertise through guided practice, mentoring, simulations and exposure to complex decisions. It must also connect to opportunity. Training should lead to projects, recognised certifications, internal openings and vacancies.

The organisations that thrive will be those that place people at the centre of their intelligent future; this includes valuing human contribution, cultivating judgement, and honoring the trust people place in technologies. The machines are ready. The task now is to ensure that the people's strategy is ready to meet them.

Financing urban transition

Strengthening municipal finances and governance is essential to managing rapid urbanisation

NITI AAYOG MEMBER Rajiv Gauba's call for comprehensive reforms in urban governance, planning, and financing is timely and well-founded. India's cities are increasingly struggling with overcrowding, rising air and noise pollution, inadequate infrastructure, and weak governance. By 2050, nearly 800 million people are expected to live in urban centres, up from around 500 million today, accounting for almost half the country's population. This rapid urbanisation will place enormous demands on infrastructure, public services, and institutional capacity. The fiscal capacity of urban local bodies (ULBs) remains woefully inadequate. Municipal corporations' revenue receipts amount to just 0.6% of GDP. Property tax is their largest revenue source, contributing over 15% of total receipts and more than 60% of their own tax revenue. However, the share of own resources in total ULB receipts has declined as key revenue sources were subsumed into the goods and services tax (GST).

Despite limited revenues and heavy dependence on contingent transfers from higher government tiers, ULBs spend around 1.4% of GDP, with only marginal increases in recent years. This is considerably lower than the expenditure of urban bodies in comparable economies such as Brazil and South Africa. While ULBs in some states have witnessed a higher share of capital expenditure, this largely reflects the reallocation of scarce resources rather than an expansion of fiscal capacity. Moreover, more than half of ULBs' revenue expenditure covers salaries, pensions, and administrative costs.

Without a substantial increase in investment in urban infrastructure and its effective maintenance, India's expanding cities risk becoming increasingly dysfunctional and unliveable. The World Bank estimates that Indian cities will require ₹60 lakh crore in infrastructure investment between 2021 and 2036. The financing challenge is enormous, with capital investment requirements alone exceeding three times ULBs' current revenue receipts. Although Finance Commission (FC) grants have increased, particularly by the 16th FC, strengthening municipal finances remains imperative. Rational user charges can mobilise additional revenue, but deepening the municipal bond market, currently less than 0.05% of GDP, is equally important to reduce dependence on central grants for infrastructure financing.

As of March 31, just 22 ULBs had raised ₹4,540 crore through 31 municipal bond issuances, largely through private placements rather than public offerings. Municipal bonds account for less than 1% of India's rupee bond market. This limited uptake persists despite incentives under the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation 2.0, which offers up to ₹13 crore for every ₹100 crore raised by first-time municipal bond issuers. The Securities and Exchange Board of India has also advocated greater regulatory clarity and pooled financing mechanisms to facilitate bond issuance by smaller towns. However, financial incentives and regulatory interventions alone cannot strengthen urban governance without meaningful fiscal and functional autonomy, and resultant higher creditworthiness of ULBs. Despite the 73rd and 74th Constitutional Amendments of 1993, local governments continue to face inadequate devolution of powers and resources. Correcting this deficit requires greater fiscal devolution, including a dedicated consolidated fund for local bodies and a mechanism to share a portion of GST proceeds directly with them. Equally important are participatory, bottom-up planning, community engagement, and rationalisation of local revenue sources. Performance-linked central grants must strengthen institutional capacity without undermining local autonomy or diminishing the role of states. Excessive conditionalities risk creating centralised decentralisation, defeating the very purpose of empowering local governments. Ultimately, sustainable urbanisation demands a shift from centrally-driven funding to empowered local institutions with predictable revenues, accountable governance, and the capacity to plan and deliver essential services.

Amazon's q-commerce bet: Speed is not the key

India's quick-commerce industry may be fighting the wrong battle. While platforms compete aggressively on delivery timelines, discounts, and dark-store expansion, the next phase of competition could be determined by something more fundamental: understanding consumer behaviour. Speed has driven adoption, but it is increasingly becoming a hygiene factor rather than a sustainable differentiator. Amazon's entry into quick commerce brings an interesting alternative proposition, built around selection, trust, and an integrated shopping ecosystem. However, its success in e-commerce does not automatically guarantee success in quick commerce.

Does delivering in seven minutes instead of 10 change consumer behaviour? Beyond a certain threshold, the incremental benefit of faster delivery becomes negligible. Consumers ultimately care about product availability, convenience, and value.

Amazon's philosophy of obsessing over customers rather than competitors is relevant here. Its potential advantage lies in offering multiple shopping experiences within one application: instant delivery for essentials, hourly fulfilment for immediate requirements, and same- or next-day delivery for a much broader assortment. Rather than competing exclusively on delivery speed, Amazon could compete on the breadth of consumer needs it can fulfil. The question is whether consumers will value having everything in one application more than the specialised experience offered by dedicated quick-commerce platforms.

KARAN TAURANI

EVP, Elara Capital

Traditional e-commerce purchases are often planned, researched, and compared across platforms. Quick-commerce purchases are frequently impulsive, immediate, and driven by specific consumption occasions. The distinction has significant implications for inventory planning. Success depends not merely on stocking a wide assortment but on accurately predicting what consumers want, at what time, and in which neighbourhood.

Amazon's biggest challenge is not replicating its e-commerce infrastructure, but understanding the impulse-driven consumer with the precision that established quick-commerce platforms have developed. Quick commerce is a business of inventory productivity and fulfilment efficiency. Keeping inventory close to consumers reduces delivery distances, while predictive algorithms can optimise assortment based on demand patterns, purchase frequency, and consumption occasions. But technology alone can't guarantee success. Dark stores need sufficient throughput, and newer locations may take 12-24 months to achieve breakeven or profitability.

Amazon's mix of first-party inventory capabilities in food, fresh produce, and staples, alongside third-party marketplace participation, could offer flexibility in managing selection and inventory risk. So the critical metric is not how many dark stores a platform opens, but how well each store converts inventory into profitable transactions. Quick commerce is often viewed as a metropolitan phenomenon, given higher population density and shorter delivery distances. However, demand for everyday essentials is not restricted to metros. While lower density can increase last-mile distances, cheaper rentals and manpower costs could partially offset these disadvantages. The opportunity is meaningful, but expansion must be driven by local demand economics rather than an indiscriminate race for geographic presence.

Can Amazon translate its existing customer relationships into frequent, impulse-driven transactions? Can it anticipate hyperlocal demand without compromising inventory productivity? And can it deliver attractive unit economics while scaling? These questions remain unanswered. In my view, quick commerce will't necessarily be won by the fastest platform or the one with the largest dark-store network. It will be won by whoever understands consumer needs most accurately and fulfils them profitably.

TECHPROOF EXPRESS

THE TALENT ON THE PAYROLL ISN'T THE PROBLEM; THE JOB DESCRIPTION IS

How AI capability counts

SIDDHARTH PAI

Technology consultant and venture capitalist
By invitation

A BOSTON CONSULTING Group report published last week makes an observation simple enough to miss its own implication: The technology services industry does not lack headcount for the artificial intelligence (AI) opportunity ahead. It has, by BCG's account, much of the talent the opportunity requires, already on payroll. The report's real argument is quieter and more uncomfortable. Having the people is not the same as having the right people, and most of what currently gets counted as AI capability inside these firms is the old workforce, doing the old job, faster.

That is worth sitting with longer than a headline allows, because it exposes a confusion this column has circled before without naming directly. The industry keeps answering a question nobody has carefully posed: What, exactly, is the objective that AI talent is meant to serve? "Build AI capability" is not an objective. It is a slogan vague enough that a firm can train people towards it, tag them accordingly, and still have no idea whether it has built anything a client will pay for.

The objective, stated plainly, is this: Move the unit of sale from hours supplied to outcomes verified. For three decades, Indian IT's entire commercial architecture rested on a stable premise, that a client bought engineering time and the firm supplied more of it, reliably, at scale. This column's look at the September quarter earnings found the premise already breaking under its own numbers: AI revenue at TCS, HCLTech, and Infosys is growing far faster than company revenue, consistent with AI-led work repricing and partly replacing the hour-based business sitting beneath it, not simply adding to it. The market has started paying for something other than hours before most firms have finished deciding what that something is.

Once the objective is stated this way, the talent shortfall comes into sharper focus, and it looks nothing like a generic AI skills gap. I looked in an earlier column at the forward-deployed engineer role that made the shape of it concrete. The forward-deployed engineer (FDE) is not a developer who has learned some AI tools. The role requires moving between a business conversation and a production codebase in the same afternoon, diagnosing what a client's process actually needs, and, frequently, telling the client that the thing they asked for is not the thing that will work. That combination—business judgement fused to technical depth fused to the willingness to deliver an uncomfortable answer—is precisely what a pyramid built for scale execution does not produce. It was never supposed to. It was built to execute specifications someone else had already written, extremely well, at volume. TCS's own stated ambition to have an FDE corps of several thousand is an attempt to manufacture, at pace, the one capability that structure was designed to avoid needing.

> AI did not create the shortage. It has simply made it visible, by changing what clients are willing to pay for before the industry finished deciding who should be doing the work

The economics compound the problem rather than easing it. This column's piece on reengineering the delivery pyramid worked through the arithmetic: A team restructured around verification-grade judgement rather than junior volume costs more per head and needs fewer heads, because the people doing the work are doing something harder than execution. A large existing payroll, built on the old ratio of many juniors to few seniors, is not a resource waiting to be redirected toward the new objective. It is raw material—valuable, but expensive to reshape and structurally resistant to the reshaping, because its scale was the whole point of how it was built.

There is a shortcut tempting enough that most firms will try it anyway—relabelling. Take the existing engineer, run a short internal programme, issue a new title, and count the headcount towards the new objective. An earlier column's argument on the Expertise Paradox applies here with uncomfortable precision. An engineer fluent in the vocabulary of a role is not the same as an engineer who possesses its judgement, and a client cannot easily tell the difference between the two until something breaks in production. The gap between sounding capable and being capable does not close because a title changed. It closes, if it closes at all, through exactly the kind of accumulated experience that a short reskilling programme cannot manufacture and a large payroll, however willing, cannot shortcut.

This is the real shape of the shortfall, and it is worth stating without the comfort of a training-programme solution. It is not a shortage of people who have touched an AI tool. By that measure, the industry's shortage is difficult to see. It is a shortage of people who can be handed an ambiguous problem, tell a client an inconvenient truth, and be trusted to own what happens next, a capability that has always been scarce, has always taken years to develop, and was never meant to scale the way the rest of the pyramid did. AI did not create this shortage. It has simply made it visible, by changing what clients are willing to pay for before the industry finished deciding who should be doing the work.

The firms that work this out first will not be the ones with the largest AI-tagged workforce. That admission costs nothing to state and everything to act on, which is exactly why most firms will wait for a client to force it. They will be the ones honest enough to admit that the payroll they already have was built to answer a different question than the one the market is now asking.

Keynes vs Friedman: A Nobel takeaway

AMOL AGRAWAL

The author teaches at the National Institute of Securities Markets

The two major warring ideas that shaped the subject of macroeconomics joined hands this year as the prize recognised economics as much as macroeconomic history

THE 2026 NOBEL Prize in economics was awarded to Robert Hall and Michael Woodford for "microeconomic foundations of macroeconomic stabilization". The Nobel Committee extensively cited British economist John Maynard Keynes (122 times in the Scientific Background document) for laying the foundations of the stabilisation policy. Economist John Cochrane of Stanford University commented that the Nobel laureates' work can be traced to Milton Friedman. It is quite interesting how the two major warring ideas that shaped the subject of macroeconomics have joined hands for this year's prize.

In 1936, John Maynard Keynes published The General Theory of Employment, Interest and Money. Although Keynes does not mention macroeconomics even once in his book, his framework shaped macroeconomics as a distinct subject. Keynes wrote the book challenging the classical theory which suggested that markets will resolve the world economy from Great Depression. Keynes wrote that markets were not clearing as wages and prices were sticky and that they do not change instantly as shown by traditional economics. As markets were not functioning, Keynes argued for a large-scale government stimulus to resurrect the economy.

The Great Depression was followed by the Second World War which too required large-scale government intervention. The twin forces of depression and wars led to a surge of Keynesianism across economic policy and economics departments in universities. Keynesianism got a boost when Alban William Phillips, in 1958, noted a negative trend between inflation (wages) and unemployment. This relationship, called the Phillips curve, showed there is a trade-off between the two economic variables. Policymakers can choose between inflation and unemployment.

In 1968, Milton Friedman entered the hallowed debates of economic stabilisation. He argued that the trade-off between inflation and unemployment exists only in the short run. If inflation is allowed to rise, it feeds into expectations. Over time, people start seeing higher inflation and demand higher wages. Firms respond to higher wages by cutting down labour and employment. In the end, we have both high inflation and high unemployment. Friedman's prognosis came true in the 1970s when world economies suffered from high inflation and unemployment or stagflation.

> Woodford's research added to Hall's analysis, saying that consumption is also impacted by interest rates

The world of macroeconomics was now divided into two major warring factions: Keynesianism and the Chicago School. Keynesianism advocated government role in economic stabilisation whereas the latter suggested that government should play a minimal role in economic affairs. The Chicago School also revived monetarism, which said money supply leads to inflation. As central banks are responsible for money supply, they play a major role in economic stabilisation. While Keynesianism was based on sticky wages and prices, Chicago was based on free markets and rational expectations.

Friedman was joined by his University of Chicago colleague Robert E Lucas Jr who criticised Keynesianism as a vague theory. He argued for a new macroeconomics framework built on microeconomic foundations and rational expectations. Few economists insisted on retaining the Keynesian ideas of sticky prices/wages. The debates resulted in a New Keynesian approach where macroeconomic decisions are the result of millions of decisions by households and businesses. Individuals have rational expectations that if policy is anticipated, it will not have any impact.

In this historiography of macroeconomics enters the work of the 2026 Nobel Laureates. Keynes had argued that income is a sum of consumption, investment, government spending, and net exports. In most countries, consumption forms the largest share of a country's income and thus it is important to determine consumption. Keynes said that consumption is a function of income, and if income rises consumption does too. Friedman noted that consumption is driven by permanent income, not a temporary income like government transfer. Hall turned the consumption debate on its head, stating that consumption cannot be predicted based on income. Instead, he suggested, households make consumption decisions based on their expectations of the future. People change consumption only if there is a change in information about the future.

Woodford was one of the key figures of the New Keynesian School which summed up the stabilisation policy in three equations. The first equation asked how output responds to change in interest rates. The second, based on the Philips curve, asked how output and expectations impact inflation. The third fed into the first two equations and asked how central banks interest rates impact inflation and output.

Thus, Woodford moved away from money supply to interest rates and provided a modern monetary policy framework in which central bank interest rates impact output and inflation. Woodford's research added to Hall's analysis, saying that consumption is also impacted by interest rates. If a central bank lowers interest rates and these are not expected by households, consumption could be higher than expected.

Woodford drew deep insights from Swedish economist Knut Wicksell's work on natural/neutral interest rate which neither stimulates nor reduces consumption. In fact, Woodford's book title, Interest and Prices, was inspired by that of Wicksell's book. His ideas are now used by central banks and finance ministries across the world. The Urjit Patel Committee report that established inflation targeting at the RBI mentions New Keynesian Woodford models as the basis for the inflation targeting framework.

The 2026 Nobel is as much a prize for economics as macroeconomic history. Most economists who have contributed to this history have been awarded the Nobel Prize. Hall and Woodford are the latest additions to the galaxy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reward decarbonisation

Apropos of "A necessary trade-off" (FE, November 2), climate policy cannot succeed if it becomes an arena for trade retaliation. Carbon-border measures may discourage companies from shifting emissions abroad, but they can burden developing country exporters that lack finance and access to cleaner technology. Rejecting climate accountability would be shortsighted. The priority should be fair implementation: richer economies must support cleaner production, recognise verified emissions reductions, and consult trading partners before imposing penalties. Smaller exporters need affordable technology, carbon accounting, and transition periods. Otherwise, environmental rules risk becoming protectionist barriers that deepen inequalities. Climate action should reward genuine decarbonisation wherever it occurs.
—SM Jeeva, Chennai

Public tax ledger

"Firm, not arbitrary" (FE, November 2) rightly separates genuine evasion from a demand that stretches back too far. Yet the debate may be missing a simpler fix: a public tax ledger that records every clarification, ruling, and appeal outcome in plain language, searchable by anyone. When a company and an officer read the same rule differently, citizens could see how similar cases were settled before. Such openness would discourage both hidden misclassification and sudden, surprising demands. Think of it as shared memory for taxation. Businesses would plan with confidence, while officials would have to justify every unusual move in writing. Limitation periods would become easier to defend, since the record would show when the department first knew of a problem.

BINANCE CLIENTS PULL OUT $4.7 BN AFTER HACK

TRADERS HAVE PULLED billions from Binance since late last week, when the crypto exchange giant suffered the largest cyber theft in history. Net withdrawals from the platform reached $4.7 billion by Monday morning in London, according to a Binance spokesperson. The outflows represent less than 3% of the $166 billion in assets held by the world's largest crypto venue, the spokesperson said. Binance restored customer withdrawals on Sunday after freezing them in the wake of the $6.4 billion exploit, which the Federal Bureau of Investigation has attributed to North Korean hackers.

THE DEAL EXPANDS MARVELL'S ADDRESSABLE MARKET TO $550 BN

Marvell to buy Lumentum for $115 bn in AI data-centre bet

ANHATA ROOPRAI
November 2

MARVELL TECHNOLOGY IS buying optical components maker Lumentum in a $115 billion all-stock deal, including debt, as the custom chipmaker takes on larger rival Broadcom in a race to cash in on the AI spending boom. The deal, announced on Monday, is one of the biggest in 2026 and among the boldest bets yet on the AI build-out that chip executives expect to underpin industry demand for years.

The heavy spending, however, is also facing a major reality check as investors begin to doubt its sustainability in the face tightening margins and slowing cash flow, triggering a selloff in chip stocks.

"AI infrastructure is undergoing a fundamental architectural shift toward optical connectivity, creating an opportunity that comes along once in a generation," said Marvell CEO Matt Murphy, who will remain chairman and CEO of the combined company.

"We intend to help shape the next era of AI connectivity and create exceptional stockholder value."

Lumentum shares fell 6.5% before the bell, while Marvell was down 2.3%. Both stocks have fallen sharply since deal talks were first reported late last month due to the AI bubble concerns.

By buying Lumentum a company roughly half its size—Marvell is betting that Big Tech's AI spending boom is here to stay and would keep demand for optical components used to move data at high speeds outstripping supply.

Lumentum makes photonic products, including high-performance lasers and optical components used in AI, cloud computing and communications networks.

AI chip giant Nvidia, which invested $2 billion each in Marvell and Lumentum earlier this year, did not immediately respond to requests for comment on the deal.

Just three years ago, Marvell was a relatively little-known chipmaker. But its market value has since surged to more than $170 billion, thanks to its role in helping tech giants such as Amazon develop custom AI chips and networking technology for data centers.

"Combining Marvell's custom chips and networking expertise with Lumentum's optical components could give it a much stronger hand as data centers demand ever-faster, more energy-efficient connections," said Axel Rudolph, chief technical analyst at IG Group.

"But this is an enormous bet, and investors are right to ask whether Marvell is paying too much and taking on too much at once."

Under Monday's agreement, Marvell will pay $1,132 per share in stock, a 23.9% premium to Lumentum's last unaffected closing price on October 28, before deal talks were first reported. That gives the deal an equity value of $102.54 billion.

Marvell said the acquisition would expand the combined company's total addressable market to $550 billion.

Contacts over ending war with US continue: Iran

REUTERS
Dubai, November 2

CONTACTS BETWEEN IRAN and the United States to end their eight-month war are continuing, Tehran said on Monday, after days of Iranian talks with Qatari mediators ended with altered proposals but no breakthrough.

"Consultations through mediators are very intensive. We have presented our conditions and proposals and everything depends on the political rationality of Washington," Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araqchi said in comments carried by state media outlet IRNA.

US attack likely

While oil prices fell nearly 4% on Monday on hopes that the latest round of mediation could lead to a diplomatic solution to the crisis, Iranian sources said they believed a new US attack was still more likely than a deal.

Iran's Foreign Ministry spokesperson Esmaeil Baghaei said the plan Iran had submitted in September to end the war remained the focus of discussions, but he confirmed comments attributed to Araqchi on Saturday that the proposal could be shortened.

"The basis of dialogue and talks between Iran and the US via mediators is still Iran's seven-step proposal, which is now condensed, making it possible to implement it within two days," he said.

US President Donald Trump rejected the seven-step proposal in September.

The plan would call for the US to end its blockade on Iranian ports, Iran to reopen the Strait of Hormuz waterway, a US waiver on Iranian oil sales, the cancellation of new sanctions on Iran and then talks on other issues. Baghaei reiterated that condensing the plan would not change Iran's underlying stance that a return to talks on the country's nuclear programme could only happen after it verified that all its conditions were met.

Asked whether the possibility of transferring Iran's highly enriched uranium stockpile to another country was raised in the talks, and whether Iran might agree to that, he said no.

An official briefed on the talks said Iran's negotiators had left on Sunday but not because of any problems in the talks, and added that a draft proposal was being circulated without elaborating.

Russia, China express concerns

China's Foreign Ministry on Monday said President Xi Jinping expressed concerns on the West Asia war to Oman's Sultan. "The Middle East Gulf region should not become an arena for great-power rivalry and geopolitical conflict. Peace and stability in the region require joint nurturing and protection by all parties," Xi told Omani Sultan Haitham bin Tariq al-Said.

In Moscow, the Russian Foreign Ministry said reports of new military action against Iran were a cause for extreme concern and called for increased diplomatic efforts. Russian President Vladimir Putin spoke by phone with Iran's top security official Mohsen Rezaei on Monday, Iranian media reported.

Oracle taps investors for $20 bn to fund AI growth

REUTERS
November 2

ORACLE PLANS TO raise $20 billion through bond and share sales, regulatory filings showed on Monday, as the software giant taps investors to fund its costly AI and cloud infrastructure build-out. Shares of the company fell nearly 5%, extending a roughly 33% decline this year through Friday.

Oracle said it would use the proceeds for general corporate purposes, including capital spending, debt repayment, acquisitions, dividends and share buybacks.

The fundraising underscores the scale of Oracle's AI investment as it seeks to more than triple revenue by fiscal 2030. The company said last week that capital spending would peak this fiscal year and the next, while pledging to raise no more than $20 billion in additional financing for AI through fiscal 2030.

Shares rallied about 11% on Wednesday after CFO Hilary Maxson said Oracle also expects free cash flow to turn positive in the second half of fiscal 2028.

Oracle had $125.34 billion in notes payable and other borrowings as of August 31, compared with fiscal 2026 revenue of $67.36 billion. It expects revenue to exceed $225 billion and adjusted earnings to top $21 per share in fiscal 2030.

Wall Street expects the company's adjusted profit per share for fiscal 2027 to be $8.14, according to data compiled by LSEG.

Anthropic's Q3 loss shrinks ahead of IPO

REUTERS
November 2

ANTHROPIC'S NET LOSS narrowed sharply in the third quarter as revenue jumped, an amended IPO filing with the US Securities and Exchange Commission showed on Monday.

The AI company's net loss fell to $23.29 billion in the three months ended September 30 from $66.3 billion in the second quarter, while revenue rose to $16.96 billion from $11.56 billion.

Anthropic filed to go public last week, setting the stage for what could be the biggest initial public offering on record, as investors scrutinise the vast sums being poured into AI infrastructure.

Some current and prospective investors are valuing Anthropic at about $1.5 trillion, down from roughly $2 trillion, after the AI startup disclosed financial details at a recent investor event, Reuters has reported.

The amended prospectus gives investors a fresh look at Anthropic's finances as the San Francisco-based company moves closer to its highly anticipated IPO.

Anthropic posted an operating loss of $567 million in the third quarter, compared with operating income of $974 million in the second quarter.

Leverage ratio rules for banks: What changes & why it matters

The Reserve Bank of India has rolled out tighter leverage ratio norms for banks. This is expected to ensure capital adequacy in case of a financial crisis since the leverage ratio is calculated on the total value of the exposure without adjusting for risk, i.e., by assuming that the risk is 100%, writes Sebastian Morris

APRIL 1, 2027

NEW NORMS TO COME INTO EFFECT, ALIGNING WITH THE MANDATE FOR BASEL III COMPLIANCE

DOMESTIC SYSTEMICALLY IMPORTANT BANKS TO MAINTAIN A MINIMUM LEVERAGE RATIO OF 4% WHILE FOR OTHER BANKS THIS IS 3.5%

● What do the final guidelines for the leverage ratio framework say?

THE FINAL GUIDELINES on the revised Leverage Ratio Framework (LRF) brings India's commercial banking regulations in line with the global Basel III "Leverage Ratio 2017 Standard" set by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision (BCBS). The measure is a minimum capital requirement norm. It announces that the banks must maintain a certain minimum ratio of Tier I capital to total exposure.

Tier 1 capital consists of:

(1) The net worth of the bank in question measured conservatively, which is the paid-up equity share capital, share premium, statutory reserves, retained earnings all summed up less the intangible assets, deferred tax assets, and equity held in subsidiaries;

(2) Perpetual non-cumulative preference shares and debt instruments that have no finite maturity dates.

The "exposure" is essentially the size of the balance sheet minus permitted enhanced by the off-balance items (contingent liabilities) like letters of credit, financial guarantees, and commitments that would become loans in the future. Exposures on derivatives and securities financing transactions are all included, not as reported in the balance sheet but in a more conservative way as specified in the announced regulations. No netting of assets is permitted except under narrow guidelines.

The definition is in line with the Basel III norms and considers all liabilities that may arise in the future.

● What is the minimum ratio for D-SIBs?

THE LEVERAGE RATIO comes into effect from April 1, 2027, and is somewhat different across banks. Domestic Systemically Important Banks (D-SIBs) — State Bank of India, HDFC Bank, and ICICI Bank which are viewed as "too big to fail" financial institutions —need to maintain a minimum leverage ratio of 4%. Other banks (including foreign) are to maintain a ratio of 3.5%. The measurement of exposure is not risk adjusted. It includes the total exposure irrespective of risk.

● What are the other regulatory measures?

A CLOSELY RELATED measure is the capital adequacy norm — the ratio of (Tier I and Tier II Capital) to the value of risk weighted assets. Tier II capital includes subordinated debt, revaluation reserves. The requirement here is of 9% by the RBI, somewhat above the Basel III norm of 8%. There is a further qualification that Tier I must constitute at least 7%, and an addition-al buffer of 2.5% on Tier I (for draw-down during a crisis). So, effectively the requirement is 11.5% on the risk-weighted assets. The risk-weighted assets add all the assets with a risk weight that ranges from zero for cash, to 35% or so for home loans, 100% for lending to businesses, and 150% for unrated debt instruments.

● What does it say about CRR?

THE CASH RESERVE ratio or the CRR is sometimes used as an instrument of monetary policy to increase /decrease the money in the system by decreasing /increasing the ratio. This works in a "tight reserve" regime that the RBI follows. It also results in the money multiplier being defined by the ratio of (1+cash/deposit)/ (CRR +cash/deposit). Since this is constant unless the CRR is changed by the RBI (the cash/deposit ratio being a near constant), the money supply can interalia be increased or decreased by lowering or raising the CRR respectively. The other methods are open market operations (when the RBI buys /sells bonds to increase /decrease the money supply), and discounting under the repo window (allowing banks to borrow with collateral).

● Why are these changes being effected now?

CONTAGION IS WHAT makes all banks vulnerable in a system-wide crisis. The risk-weighted measure of assets could become useless since the risks typically go up during uncertainty and are amplified by the behaviour of banks. When there's a perceived threat to the payments mechanism or the fundamental uncertainty is high, banks, fund houses and financial intermediaries will seek to have much higher levels of liquidity, all at the same time. They would do so by trying to sell assets such as stocks and bonds, whose values can then go into a free fall, negating any earlier assessed risk weights. This LRF will then act to ensure capital adequacy since it is calculated on the total value of the exposure without adjusting for risk, i.e., by assuming that the risk is 100%.

● What is its utility in a financial crisis?

IT WILL HELP in recovering from a mild crisis without too much intervention by the central bank. But it does not guarantee that a deep crisis will not happen. That is always possible, given the compositional fallacy (failure) that all financial markets have, and hence central bank intervention cannot be avoided. Walter Bagehot's adage that the central bank must discount financial assets during a crisis remains. Standard macroeconomics too demands this. The measure has the one-shot cost of banks having to have a larger Tier I capital.

ASUS eyes 25% share of India's PC market

ASHUTOSH MISHRA
New Delhi, November 2

CONSUMER ELECTRONICS COMPANY ASUS is targeting a 25% share of India's PC market over the next two years as it expands its creator-focused portfolio and introduces longer financing options to counter rising device prices and lengthening replacement cycles.

"We touched 25% market share two months ago, and we want to sustain this share in 2027-28," Arnold Su, vice-president, consumer & gaming PC, ASUS India, told FE.

The company eventually aims to increase its overall consumer PC market share to 30%. In the gaming PC segment, it currently commands a 31-33% share and is targeting 40% over the longer term.

ASUS is expanding its creator-focused ProArt portfolio to tap into India's growing creator economy. It has launched its ProArt P14 and P16 laptops powered by Nvidia's latest RTX Spark platform, making it among the first PC makers to introduce the technology in India.

The laptops are designed to enable users to run AI workloads locally rather than relying entirely on cloud-based tools. This reduces dependence on paid AI tokens and enhances data security, particularly for commercial projects, the company said.

"Instead of uploading your files to the cloud and paying for tokens, you can do it within your ProArt series. You can save significantly on token expenses, and the data remains within your device," Su said.

ASUS estimates that India's annual market for laptops equipped with gaming graphics cards is around 1.2 million units. High-end devices featuring graphics cards such as the Nvidia RTX 5070 Ti and above account for 5-10% of this market, or around 100,000-120,000 units annually.

The company believes that 30-40% of this high-end segment could potentially be addressed by creator-focused laptops, as more consumers use high-performance machines for video editing, coding and content creation. ASUS expects around 35% of its sales in India to come from locally manufactured products this year, compared with less than 10% a few years ago. It has expanded its manufacturing partnership with Dixon Technologies by adding a second production line this year. Rising component costs and device prices, however, are weighing on demand, with consumers increasingly holding on to their existing machines for longer, Su said.

ASUS's internal service data shows that the proportion of customers returning for repairs after their warranty expires increased from around 25% last year to 33-35% in the first nine months of 2026. "Because of the price hike, people are using their current machines for a longer period of time," Su said, adding that the company was looking to improve spare parts accessibility and price transparency to support such customers.

To encourage upgrades, ASUS has introduced longer financing tenures. While financing options earlier largely ranged from nine to 12 months, the company is now offering select products with 24-month zero-interest financing and zero down payment, alongside 18-month financing options.

"Even for customers who are willing to buy, the higher price is quite challenging. Easy financing will be one of the very important answers," Su said.

ASUS has also re-entered the tablet segment to cater to consumers seeking devices primarily for content consumption and basic usage.

On festive demand, Su said sales in October were weaker year-on-year, although the comparison was distorted by Diwali falling roughly two weeks later this year.

"October itself is down for the entire industry," he said, adding that a clearer picture of festive demand would emerge after the promotional period concludes in November.

The company is also investing in its gaming ecosystem through more than 30 tournaments across India and its gaming academy, which trains aspiring professional players. ASUS operates more than 20 ROG stores where consumers can access high-end gaming machines and play games through booked slots.

FM weighs case for foreign capital in Budget

Asked whether the government needed to roll out the red carpet for foreign investors to attract capital, Sitharaman cautioned against a policy approach that could be seen as favouring one class of investors over another.

"If you pitch for dollar (investors), what about rupee (domestic) investors?" she asked. "Hear all the stakeholders, what the government can really do, and we'll do that. First, hear them, and then see what we can act on," she said.

Market participants have attributed the FPI pullout partly to relatively expensive Indian equity valuations and subdued corporate earnings growth. The capital gains tax regime has also figured in industry representations seeking to improve the attractiveness of Indian equities to both domestic and overseas investors. Sitharaman, however, did not indicate whether any specific changes to the tax structure were under consideration.

On the ongoing differences within the Tata Group, Sitharaman described the matter as a "delicate" one and expressed the hope that the dispute would be resolved amicably among the parties concerned, without government intervention at this stage.

Highlighting the Parsi community's contribution to building the Tata Group into a global business conglomerate, she described it as a "critical component" of the Indian economy, given its extensive business interests and investment footprint. She said she expected normalcy to be restored at the earliest and hoped that commercial wisdom and business acumen would prevail. "I wouldn't readily say (anything at this point)," she said.

The differences between Tata Sons and its controlling shareholder, Tata Trusts, centre on the reappointment of N Chandrasekaran as chairman and the question of whether the holding company should go public. The September 17 board decision to grant Chandrasekaran another five-year term, despite objections from Tata Trusts chairman Noel Tata, has triggered a governance dispute. With efforts reportedly under way to resolve the differences, the next Tata Sons board meeting, scheduled for November 26, could prove significant.

As she prepares to present her 10th consecutive Union Budget on February 1, Sitharaman said bridging the skills gap among young job seekers, reviving private investment and strengthening the contribution of micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) would remain important priorities in the government's pursuit of Viksit Bharat.

She said the responsibility of delivering a Budget that makes a tangible difference to people's lives remained paramount, describing the milestone as an overwhelming responsibility rather than a personal achievement.

"It's always an overwhelming feeling of the responsibility to deliver a proper Budget, which means a lot to the people, helps growth and faces the challenges," she said.

On employment, the minister said the government would continue to focus on skilling young people to bridge the gap between industry requirements and the capabilities of job seekers. Industry had repeatedly flagged that graduates lacked the skills needed for immediate employment, forcing companies to spend six to eight months providing additional training.

"Training youth and giving them the skill sets so that they are job-ready is what we want to spend time on," she said, adding that the government had begun addressing the issue through the previous two Budgets.

On private investment, Sitharaman said she was beginning to see industry come forward with fresh investment proposals, marking a shift from her earlier assessment that companies were holding back despite having strong balance sheets.

She attributed the improvement partly to the next-generation GST reforms introduced in September 2025, which she said had boosted consumption and given businesses greater visibility on demand.

"Industry today has the confidence that it can see demand in the market. It can invest and produce, and therefore reach the level it wants to reach," she said.

Citing October's GST collections, which she described as the highest on record, Sitharaman said resilient domestic consumption was encouraging companies to expand capacity.

"Consumption having really come up has given that clear visibility, and therefore, I'm seeing investments happening from the private sector," she said.

Responding to concerns that India's economy was increasingly dominated by a handful of large business groups, the minister pointed to the growth of MSMEs and startups, saying economic expansion was taking place across different layers of industry.

She also urged industry to maintain regular engagement with the government rather than restricting its interaction to annual pre-Budget consultations.

"They are welcome to ask the government for anything they want," she said, adding that businesses should continue to flag emerging challenges and provide feedback on the implementation of policies.

On regulatory reforms, Sitharaman said the government was taking the Economic Survey's observations seriously and working with states to address industry concerns. Procurement rules, tender conditions and project execution requirements were being reviewed to improve transparency and ease of doing business.

She also emphasised the importance of sustaining public capital expenditure to support growth until private investment gathered sufficient momentum.

At the same time, she stressed that fiscal prudence would remain a priority, requiring the government to balance investment needs with fiscal discipline.

Separately, the minister criticised the Opposition over its protests and allegations against the government, accusing it of undermining parliamentary processes and creating an impression of instability.

While acknowledging the Opposition's right to hold the government accountable, she said this should be done through debates in Parliament rather than street protests and mock parliamentary proceedings.

"To be in the Opposition and put the government on the mat to answer questions is absolutely right. I'm not against that. I would want more of that to happen in Parliament rather than in mock parliaments," she said.

Reiterating the government's approach to policymaking, Sitharaman said trust in businesses, industry and taxpayers would remain central to its policy framework. "Whichever policy we make, trust the business, trust the industry, trust the taxpayer. That will be our charter," she said.

Arvind mulls aggressive garment expansion

NANDINI OZA
Ahmedabad, November 2:

ARVIND FASHIONS IS considering an aggressive expansion of its garment business, with the company working on a growth model that could take the segment's growth rate to 25%, from around 15% currently.

The company is evaluating large greenfield investments, which its management has described as being on a scale not previously considered by Arvind, even as it focuses on improving capacity at existing facilities over the next few quarters.

Punit Lalbhai, vice-chairman of Arvind, said during the company's Q2 FY27 earnings call that a 25% growth model for the garment business was on the drawing board and could be launched a few quarters from now.

However, the company wants to first establish a consistent execution record at the 15% growth level before stepping up its expansion plans, he said.

"As we speak, we are making very ambitious plans on garment greenfield investment, of the scale that perhaps has never been thought of at Arvind," Lalbhai said, adding that the company wanted to be careful before formalising and announcing the plans.

Telcos to face up to ₹20L fine over complaint lapses

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, November 2

TELECOM OPERATORS COULD face penalties of up to ₹20 lakh per quarter in each service area for failing to properly address consumer complaints and appeals, under a revised grievance redressal framework notified by the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) on Monday.

Under the Telecom Consumers Complaint Redressal (Fourth Amendment) Regulations, 2026, the regulator has set separate penalties for the two categories of violations. An operator will be liable to pay ₹1,000 for every complaint found to have been improperly disposed of and ₹5,000 for each appeal handled improperly.

Trai has also sought to make compliance with reporting requirements more stringent. Telecom operators that fail to submit quarterly performance reports will face a penalty of ₹5,000 per day for the first 15 days of delay, which will increase to ₹20,000 per day thereafter. This will be subject to a ceiling of ₹10 lakh per instance per service area. Any outstanding penalty not paid within 21 days will attract interest at two percentage points above the marginal cost of funds-based lending rate (MCLR).

The revised rules come against the backdrop of an increase in consumer grievances. Complaints received by telecom operators rose to 73,081 in FY26, compared with 55,978 in FY25 and 44,733 in FY24, according to Trai data.

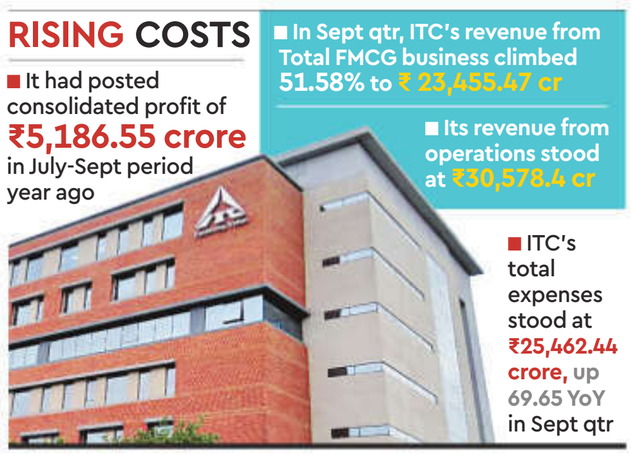
Beyond financial penalties, the amended regulations require complaint centres to function round the clock. While operators can use automated systems and AI agents to handle consumer interactions, human representatives must be available for at least 16 hours a day.

Consumers also need to be informed when they are interacting with an AI-based system. The amendments further strengthen the institutional framework for consumer grievance redressal by setting up of a Consumer Grievance Redressal Oversight Committee, comprising representatives of service providers and consumer organisations, to oversee the functioning of grievance redressal mechanisms.

The rules also reduce the time available for consumers to escalate unresolved grievances. Consumers will now have 15 days, as opposed to 30 days earlier, to approach the appellate authority if they are dissatisfied with the operator's response or do not receive one.

The regulations are intended to address gaps in the existing complaint redressal framework as consumer interactions increasingly shift towards digital platforms and automated systems. Trai has sought to establish a more standardised mechanism across service providers, with greater emphasis on accountability, accessibility.

ITC Q2 net profit down 18.45%



PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, November 2

DIVERSIFIED GROUP ITC on Monday reported an 18.45% decline in its consolidated profit to ₹4,229.33 crore for the September quarter of FY2026-27 due to higher expenses.

It had posted a consolidated profit of ₹5,186.55 crore in the July-September quarter a year ago, according to a regulatory filing by the Kolkata-headquartered company.

Its revenue from operations was ₹30,578.4 crore, up 43.85% in the second quarter of FY27 compared to ₹21.255.86 crore a year ago.

ITC said in its earnings statement that it saw "robust growth across all Non-Cigarette Business segments. "The FMCG business reported a "fourth consecutive quarter of double-digit revenue growth," with EBITDA margin expanding 50 bps YoY amid inflationary pressures, it added. Besides, ITC had "strong recovery momentum" in Paper Segment and its agri Business also delivered a "robust growth" despite West Asia-led trade disruptions.

Global inflationary pressures intensified, led by higher energy and food prices, along with high sovereign bond yields and tighter financial conditions

ITC's total expenses were ₹ 25,462.44 crore, up 69.6% YoY in the September quarter.

Its total consolidated income, including other income, was ₹31,085.76 crore, up 42.33% in Q2/FY27.

"The operating environment continued to be characterised by heightened uncertainty amidst renewed geopolitical tensions and trade disruptions. Crude oil and crude-linked input prices remained elevated, while supply chain disruptions and higher freight costs persisted," said ITC.

It further added that global inflationary pressures intensified, driven by higher energy and food prices, alongside elevated sovereign bond yields and tighter financial conditions. "In India, headline inflation moved up, driven by a broad-based increase across food, fuel and core components," it said.

Share of ITC Ltd on Monday settled at ₹266 on BSE, up 0.15% from previous close.

SAY NOT PROPER TO TARGET ONE COMMUNITY FOR POLLUTION

Realty firms raise concern over dust ban in Mumbai

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, November 2

NIRANJAN HIRANANDANI, CMD, HIRANANDANI COMMUNITIES

It is not proper to target one community (developers). About 90% are following all norms, while 10% may not be complying

BOMAN IRANI, CMD, RUSTOMJEE GROUP

Vehicle traffic is a major issue of pollution

TOP REAL ESTATE developers have said that both infrastructure projects and vehicles are equally to be blamed for rising pollution in Mumbai following Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation's (BMC) warning of strict action against property developers and contractors who fail to implement dust-control measures at construction sites and adjoining roads.

"It is not proper to target one community (developers). About 90% are following all norms, while 10% may not be complying," said Niranjan Hiranandani, chairman and managing director of Hiranandani Communities.

Hiranandani said that besides real estate construction, several major infrastructure projects, including bridges and metro lines, were contributing to air pollution in the city.

Among the ongoing projects in the city are the Mumbai-Ahmedabad High-Speed Rail Corridor (bullet train), Versova-Bandra Sea Link (VBS) and Thane-Borivali Twin Tunnel project.

"There is a lot of vehicular pollution happening," he said, adding that recycled water should be used to clean roads to minimise dust.

Mumbai's Air Quality Index (AQI) has remained in the 'unhealthy' category in recent weeks, prompting the Bombay High Court to express concern over the coastal city's pollution levels surpassing those of Delhi.

Mumbai had traditionally been considered relatively protected from pollution because sea breezes helped disperse pollutants. However, the natural advantage appears to be diminishing.

Boman Irani, chairman and managing director of Rustomjee Group, said prevailing climatic conditions were not allowing pollutants to disperse effectively.

"Vehicle traffic is a major issue of pollution, Irani said, adding that infrastructure construction was also contributing to the problem.

He said his company was deploying measures such as spray guns and filters at construction sites and ensuring that trucks were washed before leaving the premises.

However, Gulam Zia, international partner and senior executive director at Knight Frank, said real estate developers were as responsible for the city's pollution as infrastructure agencies and vehicle owners.

"Real estate development has increased in the last two to three years, even infrastructure works have also increased," Zia said.

He, however, pointed out that several infrastructure projects were nearing completion, with around 70-80% of metro construction work already completed.

Zia said certain road infrastructure projects, such as the Goregaon-Mulund Link Road (GMLR) had substantial stretches passing through forest areas and therefore had a relatively limited impact on everyday city life.

"Developers are equally responsible for the pollution. Even today, one can see trucks with muddy tyres moving in and out of construction sites," he said.

BS-VI rule: Big jams at NCR borders

INTENSIFIED VEHICLE CHECKS at Delhi's interstate borders to enforce pollution-control restrictions triggered massive traffic snarls on Monday, leaving commuters stranded for hours as long queues built up on roads connecting the national capital with neighbouring Haryana and Uttar Pradesh.

Heavy congestion was reported at several entry points, including the Delhi-Gurugram, Delhi-Noida, Delhi-Ghaziabad, Delhi-Sonipat and Delhi-Najafgarh borders, as enforcement teams checked vehicles for compliance with the prescribed emission standards.

As air quality slipped into the 'very poor' category the Commission for Air Quality Management imposed stage two measures in Delhi-NCR under the Graded Response Action Plan. The High Court, meanwhile, refused to stay the decision to bar entry of non-Delhi-registered vehicles that do not meet BS-VI norms. — PTI

Homebuyers body seeks Rera overhaul

- FPCE's letter to the PM cites an inherent conflict in current framework

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, November 2

HOMEBUYERS' BODY FORUM for People's Collective Efforts (FPCE) has urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to overhaul the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, citing an inherent conflict in the current framework between promoting real estate growth and protecting consumer interests.

FPCE President Abhay Upadhyay has written a letter to the Prime Minister, appealing to him to 'complete historic real estate reform by separating homebuyer protection from real estate promotion'. FPCE is a member of the Central Advisory Council for RERA,

The Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016, commonly known as Rera, was enacted by Parliament to regulate the contractual relationship between homebuyers and promoters.

Rera, which was fully implemented from mid-2017, aims to ensure transparency and accountability in the real estate sector.

"Unfortunately, Modi Ji, nearly ten years later, we are compelled to share with you that the objectives of this historic legislation remain far from being achieved. The fault does not lie with the law your government gave. It lies with the system entrusted with implementing it," Upadhyay said in the letter.

He said the Rera law has failed to eliminate malpractices prevalent in the real estate sector, such as one-sided agreements, delay in project completion, diversion of funds by developers and non-execution of orders passed by the regulatory authorities.

"The same authority has been entrusted with both promoting the real estate sector and protecting homebuyers against it. This conflict lies at the heart of Rera's failure, and no amendment can succeed while it remains," the association said in a statement.

Upadhyay pointed out that various grievances such as mechanical registrations, indiscriminate extensions in the timeline of project completion and unexecuted orders passed by the authorities have remained unaddressed.

B-schools see 11% fall in MBA applications

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, November 2

APPLICATIONS FOR MBA and other management programmes in India declined 11% in 2026 as Indian students increasingly applied for business schools in Europe and Asia for overseas education, according to a survey by the Graduate Management Admission Council (GMAC).

Broadly, 60% of the management programmes surveyed in India reported a decline in applications.

The survey found that applications from Indian students to domestic B-schools declined 11% while those from foreign students rose 133% though they accounted for less than 1% of total applications.

The findings point to a shift in Indian students' overseas study preferences, with the US, UK and Canada facing growing competition from B-schools in Europe and Asia.

Any reduction or termination in such projects or adverse change in government policies could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.
3. Customer concentration risk: We derive a significant part of our revenue from our top 10 customers, and we do not have long term contracts with most of these customers. If one or more of such customers choose not to source their requirements from us or to terminate our long-term contracts, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected. Failure to effectively manage our expansion may lead to increased costs and reduced profitability and may adversely affect our growth prospects. Our inability to manage our business and implement our growth strategy could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and profitability.
7. Risk in relation to corporate records and filings: Certain of our corporate records and filings are not traceable or have certain discrepancies. We cannot assure you that regulatory proceedings or actions will not be initiated against us in the future and we will not be subject to any penalty imposed by the competent regulatory authority in this regard.
8. Risk in relation to outstanding litigations: Our Company, Promoters, Directors, Subsidiaries and Key Managerial Personnel are currently involved in certain legal proceedings. The working capital as a percentage of total revenue from operations was 561.06%, 65.19%, 63.51% and 39.94% for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Also, we have experienced an increase in our cash conversion cycle and may experience longer cash conversion cycles in the future.  For trade receivables outstanding for more than six months, the Company undertakes periodic follow-ups, reconciliations, and internal escalations as part of its standard receivables management process.*
 # The higher number of days for the three-month period is primarily attributable to the seasonality and cyclicality of our business and the lower first-quarter revenue base, and may not be indicative of the underlying annual cash conversion cycle.

11. Industry related risk: The SWT industry is capital-intensive in nature. Our business model involves undertaking SWT projects which may require significant upfront capital expenditure, and which may lead to us relying on bank financing or project-based lending. Our ability to borrow and the terms of our borrowings will depend on our financial condition, the stability of our cash flows and our capacity to service debt in a rising interest rate environment.
12. Risk in relation to materialisation of contingent liability: We have certain contingent liabilities which, if materialized, may adversely affect our financial condition. As of June 30, 2026, our contingent liabilities amounted to ₹0.21 million.
13. Risks in relation raw materials: We depend on a few suppliers for the supply of majority of our raw materials and we do not have continuing and exclusive supply agreements with all of them. 14. Health and Environmental Risk: The assets we operate, and the handling and treatment of waste expose us to safety, operational and other risks, including the risk of personal injury to our employees or third parties. Failure to limit our exposure to such risks may subject us to significant disruptions in our business, legal and regulatory actions, costs, and liabilities and could have an adverse impact on our results of operations.

RISK TO INVESTORS

For details, kindly refer to the section titled "Risk Factors" beginning on page 25 of the Prospectus.

A. Risk to Investors:

1. Product Concentration Risk

We derived 73.20%, 80.93%, 81.59% and 80.49% of our revenue from the sale of wire and cable polymer compounds during the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024, respectively. Any loss of sales due to reduction in demand for such products or any downturn in the wire and cable industry would have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

2. Customer Concentration Risk

Our top 10 customers contributed 61.34%, 66.81%, 64.44% and 50.52% of our revenue from operations in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024, respectively. Further, as of June 30, 2026, we derived 90.84% of our revenue from operations from repeat orders of our customers, and we do not have firm commitment agreements with our customers. The loss of any of these customers or a significant reduction in repeat orders could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

3. Supplier Concentration and Raw Material Risk

Our top 10 suppliers of raw materials accounted for 88.02%, 93.52%, 83.52% and 75.34% of our total procurement cost in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024, respectively, with our largest supplier alone accounting for 64.73%, 71.68%, 60.74% and 38.32%, respectively. Cost of raw materials consumed represented 76.62%, 78.13%, 80.85% and 83.90% of our revenue from operations for the same periods. We have not entered into long-term agreements with most of our suppliers, and any inability to procure adequate raw materials at competitive prices, or any fluctuation in their prices, may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

4. Single Manufacturing Facility

We operate out of a single Manufacturing Facility located at Goa, spread across an aggregate parcel of land admeasuring about 24,220 sq. mt. Any significant localised social unrest, natural disaster, breakdown of services or any disruption in production at, or shutdown of, our Manufacturing Facility could have a material adverse effect on our business, cash flows, results of operations and financial condition.

5. Negative Cash Flows

We experienced negative cash flows from operating activities of 407.69 lakhs in the three months' period ended June 30, 2026. We also experienced negative cash flows from investing activities of 579.26 lakhs, 363.05 lakhs and 75.11 lakhs in the three months' period ended June 30, 2026, Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2024, respectively, and negative cash flows from financing activities of 3,104.71 lakhs, 2,571.76 lakhs and 224.07 lakhs in Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024, respectively. Any negative cash flows in the future would adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

6. Working Capital Risk

Our business requires significant amounts of working capital. As of June 30, 2026, our inventories and trade receivables together amounted to 16,762.93 lakhs and represented approximately 84.90% of our total current assets (83.08% as of March 31, 2026, 82.47% as of March 31, 2025 and 86.72% as of March 31, 2024). Our inability to meet our working capital requirements, including failure to realise receivables and inventories, may have an adverse effect on our results of operations and overall business.

7. Geographical Concentration of Exports

Our export operations are spread across 13 countries; however, they are concentrated in the Middle East, specifically Saudi Arabia, which contributed 65.38% and 82.64% of our revenue from export operations in Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2025, respectively. Any adverse changes in economic and political conditions in these regions may have an adverse impact on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

8. Untraceable corporate records and past non-compliances

Certain of our corporate records, including notices, minutes and attendance sheets of board, committee and general meetings from incorporation till March 31, 2013, and certain regulatory filings are either untraceable or incorrect. Further, there have been certain instances of non-compliance with certain provisions of the Companies Act, 2013, delays in payment of statutory dues and delays in filing of GST and EPF returns in the past. We cannot assure you that legal proceedings or regulatory actions will not be initiated, or penalties will not be imposed on us, in relation to such matters.
