RBI GOVERNOR INTERVIEW WITH FE

FCNR(B) decision data-driven, well thought out: Governor

● Central bank expects at least $80 bn from all three forex schemes; says decision taken from position of strength

KSHIPRA PETKAR & JOYDEEP GHOSH
Mumbai, August 19

RESERVE BANK OF India (RBI) Governor Sanjay Malhotra on Wednesday strongly defended the decision to advance the closure of the FCNR(B) swap window by a month, describing it as a well-thought-out, calibrated, prudent and data-driven response to evolving conditions.

“It will not be correct to call it a U-turn; it is rather a calibration,” Malhotra told FE in an exclusive interview. The move demonstrated the central bank’s ability to remain flexible and data-dependent amid rapidly changing conditions, he added. Responding to criticism that his remarks after the August 5 Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting had ruled out an early closure, Malhotra said the RBI was still assessing a situation that was evolving rapidly.

“I would like to highlight the use of the words ‘as of now’ when I mentioned that there was no proposal to advance the last date,” he said. The RBI had also said it would keep stakeholders informed of any decision, clearly indicating that an early closure had not been ruled out, he added. According to Malhotra, the decision was taken from a position of strength. The RBI expects the three schemes — foreign currency non-resident (bank), or FCNR(B), deposits, external commercial borrowings (ECBs) and overseas foreign currency borrowings (OFCBs) — to attract at least $80 billion. This reflected the country’s strong macroeconomic fundamentals and would further strengthen its balance of payments, he said. Inflows had been stronger than the RBI and most market participants had expected. “There is a diminishing marginal utility of every dollar that is swapped. At the same time, there is an increasing marginal cost because you need to sterilise it for a longer period,” Malhotra said.

While the announcement may have appeared sudden, stakeholders had been given more than two weeks to make the necessary arrangements and benefit from the scheme during the remaining period, which the RBI considered sufficient, he added. The underlying objective of the facility — to attract foreign currency assets and strengthen the external sector — remained unchanged. The decision to close the temporary facility early was part of the RBI’s external-sector management, Malhotra said.

On the cost and contingent liability for the RBI, Malhotra said the foreign currency assets received through the swaps would appear as foreign currency assets on the central bank’s balance sheet, increasing its size.

Sebi asks brokers to accept orders during CAS shift

● Move aimed at boosting liquidity

August 19

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has asked brokers to accept orders during the five-minute transition to the closing auction session (CAS) to improve liquidity and price discovery under the new stock closing mechanism, three brokers told Reuters.

Under the present mechanism, orders are not taken from 3:15 pm to 3:20 pm. These five minutes are set aside to calculate reference prices and transition from continuous trading to CAS — a 20-minute auction window that begins at 3:15 pm.

However, Sebi has now asked brokers to accept orders during the five-minute window as it aims to boost market participation and efficient price discovery, the brokers said, requesting anonymity. “Starting in September, we will begin accepting after-market orders between 3:15 and 3:20 pm to enhance price discovery in CAS. This change will increase CAS’ efficiency,” said Dhiraj Relli, MD and CEO of HDFC Securities.

The move comes after multiple meetings between Sebi and brokers aimed at improving the

IN A LANDMARK decision, the Gujarat government on Wednesday granted permission to Micron Technology’s semiconductor facility in Sanand to have a 12-hour workday while maintaining the statutory weekly limit of 48 hours.

The move, under the newly introduced Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, is aimed at consolidating the state’s leadership in India’s fast-growing semiconductor assembly, test and packaging industry.

The code allows states to exempt factories from certain provisions, subject to safeguards, while ensuring that employees do not work beyond the weekly limit. “Gujarat has

No tipping option may be shown at the time of booking, before the ride begins or while it is in progress, the advisory said.

OVER 80% OF OUTBOUND CRUDE FLOWS LIKELY USING NEW ROUTE, MAY PUT A LID ON INDIAN BASKET

Omani waters replacing Hormuz as Gulf oil artery

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 19

OMANI WATERS ARE emerging as the critical passage keeping Gulf oil moving to global buyers, including India, with more than 80% of outbound flows either using the Omani side or moving with tracking systems switched off. Increasing traffic through the alternative channel comes at an opportune time for India, as a supply squeeze of Russian Urals over recent weeks have inflated the cost of the country’s crude imports. The Indian crude basket averaged $88.62 a barrel in August so far, up from $82.04 in July and $83.22 in June.

CHANGING COURSE

Route	Vessel passages	Share (%)
Dark	73	80.2
Oman route	2	2.2
Iran route	15	16.5
IMO route	1	1.1
TOTAL	91	100

According to sources in trade circles, insurers, however, no longer consider the Oman corridor a safe alternative amid continued attacks. “More than 80% of outbound flows are either transiting through Omani waters or sailing dark,” Kpler said, adding the latter are also likely using the Omani route.

Tankers continue to get through despite persistent security risks, challenging claims of a complete shutdown of the Strait of Hormuz. But the route’s growing importance has not translated into lower risk premiums. “Insurers now treat the Omani corridor, designed as the safe lane, as part of the target set,” Kpler said. War-risk cover for a single Hormuz voyage has been quoted at $5-14 million, while spot VLCC (very large crude carrier) rates on Asia routes remain near historic highs.

The divergence is significant: Omani waters are increasingly important for physically moving Gulf barrels, but shipowners and insurers still do not have a dependable low-risk corridor. This assumes greater importance for India as refiners again look towards traditional West Asian suppliers at a time when Russian crude availability has eased sharply from July’s peak.

Russian crude supplies to India averaged around 1.9 million barrels per day (mbpd) in the first half of August, down nearly 32% from 2.8 mbpd in July. UAE crude deliveries, meanwhile, stood at around 700,000 bpd and Saudi Arabia at about 480,000 bpd during the first half of August. The numbers underline the growing relevance of Gulf supply routes as refiners rebalance purchases amid lower Russian flows.

Govt to tweak, extend infra viability schemes

PRASANTA SAHU
New Delhi, August 19

WITH A GREATER thrust on public-private partnership (PPP) projects to boost infrastructure creation, the Centre will soon extend the Viability Gap Funding (VGF) and India Infrastructure Project Development Fund (IIPDF) schemes till FY31. The extension will come with a few changes to both schemes, which play a key role in PPP projects.

Under the VGF scheme, funding for most sectors would be retained at the existing level, but there could be some moderation in funding for social-sector projects. PPP projects in the social sector, including healthcare and education, were taken up on a pilot basis with up to 80% VGF, which was considered very high compared with other sectors. “The social-sector VGF is too high. Hence, the funding may be lowered a bit so that it does not look like an EPC (engineering, procurement & construction) project, which is almost entirely government funded,” an official said.

RBI GOVERNOR INTERVIEW

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 2026

‘Ours is a hybrid approach, moving increasingly towards principle-based regulation’

RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra tells Kshipra Petkar and Joydeep Ghosh that the approach to regulation-making has been to make it proportionate to the risks and capabilities of regulated entities. He also says the net forward position is at a record high but remains manageable. Excerpts:

On August 5, you said there was no proposal to close the FCNR(B) swap window prematurely. Nine days later, the RBI advanced the deadline by a month. What changed so materially during those nine days?

Advancing the last day of the swap window for FCNR(B) deposits is a well-thought-out, calibrated, prudent and data-driven response to the evolving situation. The second thing I would mention is that it is from a position of strength. From all three schemes put together, we expect inflows of at least $80 billion. This reflects the strong macroeconomic fundamentals of our country and would also further strengthen our balance of payments.

In early August, we were still assessing the situation, which was evolving very fast. However, the possibility of an early closure was not ruled out. I would like to highlight the use of the words “as of now” when I mentioned that there was no proposal to advance the last date. I would also like to draw your attention to the fact that it was mentioned that we would keep you informed of a decision, clearly implying that an early closure was not ruled out.

Subsequently, as we continued to monitor the external position and the inflows, we considered it appropriate to advance the date. You will appreciate that the flows have been stronger than we expected and even stronger than what most market participants expected. One also needs to remember that there is diminishing marginal utility from every dollar that is swapped. At the same time, there is an increasing marginal cost because you need to sterilise it for a longer period. The announcement may appear sudden, but the time given is more than two weeks, and we believe that it is sufficient for all participants to make the necessary arrangements and benefit from the scheme during the remaining period.

Critics have called this a policy U-turn and questioned whether the likely scale of inflows—and their impact on liquidity and the rupee—was inadequately assessed. How do you respond?

It would not be correct to call it a U-turn; it is a calibration. It should be seen as the ability of the central bank to be flexible in its approach and data-dependent, based on rapidly evolving conditions in these uncertain times. The underlying objective of the facility remains the same: to attract foreign currency assets and further strengthen our external sector. The decision regarding the closure of this temporary facility is therefore part of external-sector management.

What is the estimated cost—or contingent liability—to the RBI over the three-to-five-year maturity of the swaps, and how will it ultimately appear on the central bank’s balance sheet?

The foreign currency assets that we receive through the swaps will be shown as foreign currency assets on our balance sheet, so they will expand our balance sheet. The forward leg will be shown as a contingent liability and will therefore be an off-balance-sheet item. Overall, we believe that the net impact will be positive. However, it is difficult to accurately assess and calculate the costs and benefits because there are so many parameters to consider, and these themselves evolve over the swap period with broader macroeconomic and geopolitical developments.

The rupee has depreciated substantially over the past year, while the RBI’s net short forward-dollar position has risen to a record level. Is the growing use of forwards a deliberate structural shift in the RBI’s intervention strategy, and are there limits to how large that position can safely become?

The net forward position that we have right now is very manageable. It is primarily on account of the swaps that we undertook earlier to infuse liquidity and those undertaken now to strengthen our balance-of-payments position. The exchange rate continues to be market-determined. Our policy on intervention remains the same: to curb excessive volatility and any undue speculative activity. We are committed to ensuring orderly financial conditions and, at the same time, orderly movements in exchange rates.

Indian banks certainly have the scale and ability to achieve a larger global footprint. They are on the right path....If they continue doing some fundamental things, I believe it is only a matter of time before they are among the world’s top banks

The RBI has raised its FY27 growth forecast to 6.7% and lowered its inflation projection to 5%, yet monetary policy remains on hold. What is the principal constraint today?

The inflation-growth dynamics when the MPC met in August were more or less similar to those at the June policy meeting, with marginal changes—the inflation projection was lowered by 10 basis points and the growth projection raised by 10 basis points.

It is important to understand that a monetary response to a supply-driven shock is warranted if there is a broadening or generalisation of inflation, a de-anchoring of inflation expectations or persistent inflation. On all three counts, the MPC felt that there was limited evidence. Headline inflation, while elevated, was primarily due to supply shocks and limited to food and fuel. There were also limited signs of its generalisation, as could be seen from the core inflation data. Similarly, inflation expectations, though slightly higher, remained contained. Moreover, high inflation is expected to moderate from its peak in

Q3. The shock, therefore, did not warrant a monetary response to curtail demand when the MPC met.

At the same time, the MPC noted signs of inflation normalising from the benign levels seen hitherto. I would like you to recall that average inflation last year was only 2% when the policy rate was reduced to 5.25%. Since then, headline inflation rose to 3.9% in the first quarter. Moreover, underlying inflation, as measured by core inflation excluding precious metals, is expected to align with core inflation in Q4 of this year. Thus, there is a normalisation of inflation in this financial year, especially towards the end, which may suggest a recalibration of policy rates. However, the MPC decided to wait for greater certainty, especially regarding the inflation trajectory and the level at which inflation may settle, before recalibrating the policy rate to ensure an appropriate real interest rate.

The MPC also felt that it should remain watchful for any generalisation of inflation or de-anchoring of inflation expectations that could warrant a response to curtail demand.

I must mention that while it is primarily the domestic macroeconomic situation and inflation-growth dynamics that determine our monetary policy, global macroeconomic conditions and geopolitics also have a bearing on the Indian economy. We are watchful on that account. Going forward, we will monitor the inflation trajectory, the level at which inflation settles, any generalisation of inflation and any de-anchoring of expectations before moving forward.

In monetary policy, you have mentioned that El Niño and the monsoon are matters of concern. Is that still the case?

The rainfall deficit is currently about 12.6% from the normal level, and net sowing is 2% lower than last year. However, we have sufficient food buffers. The government has been very proactive in managing the supply side. Agriculture itself has become more resilient to monsoon-related uncertainty and volatility because of better agricultural practices, the use of drought-resistant crops and seeds, and a larger area under irrigation. While the risks remain, we are watchful, and they will obviously be taken into consideration in our policymaking.

You have repeatedly stressed financial stability. Where do you currently see the greatest pockets of vulnerability?

The system-level financial parametters of banks and NBFCs continue to be strong and robust. Banks have a CRAR of almost 18%, a liquidity coverage ratio of about 127%, a GNPA ratio of 1.7% and an NNPA ratio of 0.4%. Our stress tests, which we conduct twice a year, indicate that even under highly adverse conditions, all banks will remain resilient and have sufficient capital to absorb those shocks.

As of now, we do not see any vulnerability in any particular sector. We are watchful, and our supervision team is alert. We continuously monitor developments in all major regulated entities on a real-time basis as well as through off-site supervision. There are no major risks developing at the systemic level.

Bank balance sheets are considerably stronger, but deposit growth has often struggled to keep pace with credit. Is India approaching a structural funding constraint that could limit credit growth, and do banks need to rethink deposit pricing more fundamentally?

This is an often-asked question. Let me make a few observations. First, every rupee of credit creates a rupee of deposit. If you look at the data in absolute terms, you will find a more or less one-to-one relationship between credit and deposit growth. The growth rates, however, are different. Deposit growth is lower because the deposit base is about 25% larger, given that credit-deposit ratios are around 80-82%. That is why the rate of deposit growth is lower than that of credit.

The amount of credit that banks can provide depends on their capital. The CRAR, as I mentioned earlier, is almost 18%, well above the norm. The other factor determining their ability to provide credit is the reserves and system liquidity that we provide. System liquidity is ample today.

Banks can, of course, be constrained by their own liquidity because of the LCR requirements. That can constrain them to some extent. But the LCR today is 127%. As of now, banks are not constrained in providing more credit.

The nature of deposits is changing, with a large share of retail deposits moving towards money markets and capital markets. This has implications for liquidity and decreases the money multiplier without impeding banks’ ability to create money and provide credit.

The RBI has increasingly favoured principle-based and harmonised regulation. Banks, however, sometimes argue that frequent regulatory changes raise compliance costs and reduce predictability. How do you strike the balance between regulatory agility and providing institutions with a stable rulebook?

Our approach to regulation-making has been to make it proportionate—proportionate to the risks and the capabilities of regulated entities. It has been prescriptive, of course, but is moving increasingly towards principle-based regulation. While we have hybrid regulations, both principle-based and rule-based regulation have advantages.

Rule-based regulation can create a culture of creative compliance and a tick-box approach. At the same time, it may require more frequent changes as experience increases, the economy grows and the financial system evolves.

A principle-based approach has the advantage of not needing to be adapted too frequently. However, it can suffer from interpretational issues and inconsistent application across regulated entities. It can also increase compliance costs because banks must formulate their own policies for prudential reasons.

Our approach is therefore a hybrid one, moving increasingly towards principle-based regulation. The effort is to be transparent, give regulated entities sufficient time and guide them towards prudent management and better customer conduct.

You have said AI could do for lending what UPI did for payments, while warning that it could erode human judgement. In practical terms, which banking decisions should never be left entirely to an algorithm?

AI has the potential to improve the speed, quality and consistency of decision-making by regulated entities. It has great scope for application. We have always emphasised that it should be used to facilitate decision-making and not to eliminate or replace human judgement entirely.

The use of AI should have adequate human oversight, especially in areas involving high risk, high impact, material customer outcomes or implications for the financial soundness of the entity or the system. Particular use cases can include credit appraisal, risk management and legal compliance. In all areas, AI should be used as a facilitative technology and not as a replacement for humans.

As India explores linking fast-payment systems and CBDCs with other BRICS countries, what is the realistic objective?

First, we are looking to make cross-border payments across countries cheaper, more accessible, safe, secure and fast. That is the primary purpose and is also the G20 objective.

If payments in local currencies become easier, it is possible that this will promote the use of local currencies, including the Indian rupee. However, that will depend on several other factors, including the openness and depth of our financial system and the scale and nature of capital flows, trade-related flows and remittances.

The purpose is not to replace any currency. It is to diversify, make our system more resilient and give customers more options and choices.

The bank-board governance framework was recently released, with the guidelines shifting from a prescriptive agenda to a flexible, principle-based model. Does giving boards greater flexibility also raise the bar for accountability—particularly if governance failures occur in areas that the board chooses to delegate?

The board has ultimate responsibility for the bank’s strategy, financial soundness, governance and risk management. While it can delegate operational functions to management, accountability for these broader areas remains with the board.

This is in line with internationally accepted governance principles. The idea behind this reform is to ensure that boards have sufficient time to dwell on strategic issues rather than operational ones.

The Prime Minister has spoken about the ambition of having an Indian bank among the world’s top five. What, in your view, would Indian banks need to do differently to achieve that global scale and competitiveness?

Indian banks certainly have the scale and ability to achieve a larger global footprint. They are on the right path. They will have to continue improving governance and institutional strength, building a sound risk-management culture, sustaining good customer service and retaining customer trust.

They need to invest continuously in technology, reduce costs, improve efficiency, expand their reach and enhance the customer experience. At the same time, they must continuously train and equip their human capital to adapt nimbly to a growing economy and a fast-evolving financial system.

If they continue doing these fundamental things, I believe it is only a matter of time before they are among the world’s top banks.

But do you think a merger would be the faster way to get there? Would that take us there more quickly than relying on a standalone bank?

I think what we need is a good, strong banking system with healthy competition. The government merged a few banks earlier. Whether there is a case for further mergers is a call the government can take.

Oil import bill soars to $63 bn in Apr-Jul

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 19

INDIA'S CRUDE OIL import bill surged nearly 57% year-on-year (y-o-y) to $63.4 billion during April-July of FY27, even as import volumes remained virtually unchanged, highlighting the sharp impact of elevated global crude prices on the country's energy bill.

Crude imports rose just 0.5% to 81.9 million tonne (MT) during the four-month period, from 81.5 MT a year earlier, according to data from the Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell (PPAC). In rupee terms, the crude import bill stood at ₹5.94 lakh crore.

The surge extended the pressure seen in the June quarter, when the crude import bill had climbed 61% y-o-y to $49.8 billion despite lower volumes.

July added to the strain. India imported 21.4 MT of crude during the month, up 13.3% from 18.9 MT in July 2025.

The monthly crude import bill rose to $13.7 billion from $9.7 billion a year earlier.

The rise in import costs came as crude prices remained substantially above year-ago

CRUDE SHOCK

■ India's crude import bill jumped 57% to $63.4 bn in April-July, despite largely flat volumes

■ Crude imports rose just 0.5% to 81.9 mn tonne, underscoring the price-driven surge in costs

■ July imports climbed 13.3% to 21.4 mn tonne, pushing the monthly bill to $13.7 bn

■ India's crude basket averaged $82.04/bbl in July, well above $70.95 a year earlier

■ Net oil and gas import costs widened to $57.8 bn, from $40.3 bn a year earlier levels. The Indian crude basket averaged $82.04 a barrel in July, compared with $83.22 in June and $70.95 in July 2025. Brent crude averaged $83.41 a barrel in July, against $70.99 a year earlier.

India's net oil and gas import bill widened to $57.8 billion during April-July, from $40.3 billion in the corresponding period last year. Gross petroleum imports, comprising crude oil and petroleum products, were valued at $69 billion, compared with $48.2 billion a year earlier. The higher overall bill came despite a sharp fall in petroleum product imports. Petroleum, oil and lubricants (POL) imports declined 45.1% in volume terms during April-July to 9 MT from 16.4 MT. Their value fell to $5.6 billion from $7.6 billion.

Liquefied natural gas (LNG) imports, meanwhile, increased to 11,867 million standard cubic metres (mmscm) from 11,269 mmscm. The corresponding import bill rose to $5.6 billion from $4.5 billion.

The pressure remains significant given India's high overseas dependence. Crude oil import dependency stood at 88.3% during April-July, while domestic crude production fell to 9.1 MT from 9.5 MT. Overall oil and gas import dependence was 80.4%, marginally above 80.3% a year earlier.

Open market sale of wheat from Sept

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, August 19

THE GOVERNMENT IS likely to start offloading its wheat stocks under the open market sale scheme (OMSS) from next month, aiming to curb a possible price rise in the coming months.

Sources told FE that traders and bulk buyers must register on the Food Corporation of India's (FCI) designated platform under OMSS. Initially the government may offer 3 million tonnes (MT) of wheat under OMSS from FCI's surplus stock.

At present, the FCI has over 48.74 MT of wheat as the central pool stock against a buffer and strategic reserve norm of 20.52 MT for October 1. Traders say that the government currently holds over 20 MT of surplus wheat after meeting the requirement of the public distribution system and buffer.

"Wheat prices may see some upward trend depending upon demand and actual shipments of wheat to Bangladesh. Still, we anticipate that the government will begin releasing wheat under the OMSS tender in the coming month, which should further ease supply-side pressure and keep prices affordable," Navnet Chitlangia, President, Roller Flour Millers' Federation of India, told FE.

Chitlangia said that at present, there is ample availability of wheat across the country, while market prices have softened by Rs 60 - Rs 70/quintal from their recent highs. He said that these corrections in prices were largely driven by two factors: muted demand for wheat products and small and unorganised traders offloading their stocks in anticipation of the Government's commencing open market sale.

The average retail price of sugar, according to the price monitoring cell of the Department of Consumer Affairs, was ₹ 31.5/kg on Wednesday.

Cochin airport witnesses surge in cargo movement

THE ONAM SEASON has brought a significant surge in cargo exports through the international airport here, CIAL said on Wednesday.

The Cochin International Airport (CIAL), in a statement, said that around 1,678 metric tonnes (MT) of cargo, including 1,173 MT of perishables, are expected to be handled through scheduled flight services between August 17 and 23.

The increased movement in cargo is being driven largely by the seasonal demand for fresh produce and other commodities associated with the Onam market, it said.

"Perishable cargo accounts for the bulk of the movement, with consignments comprising banana, small onion, beans, drumstick, tindly, fruits, papaya, snake gourd, green mango and banana leaves," it added.

"The volume is expected to rise further during the peak Onam period, with 250 MT expected on August 19, 260 MT on August 20, and 300 MT each on August 21 and 22, followed by an expected 200 MT on August 23," CIAL said.

In addition to scheduled passenger flights carrying cargo, CIAL has also witnessed cargo movement through non-scheduled freighter services operated by national airlines and IndiGo, it said.

It further said that these freighter services have been operating from Kochi to Middle East sectors, adding further capacity during the Onam season. PTI

CONCERNS OVER QUALITY OF HIGHWAYS CONSTRUCTION

Govt to blacklist developers for massive sub-contracting

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 19

IN A MAJOR crackdown on poor construction quality, the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) plans to use Goods and Services Tax (GST) payment trails to expose and blacklist contractors who delegate work through multiple layers of sub-contracting.

Speaking at FICCI's Tunnels and Bridges Conference on Wednesday, Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari warned that developers engaging in illicit multi-tiered subcontracting face two-to-three-year bans.

"The government will blacklist such developers and publicise it so that it hits them where it hurts most — their share prices," Gadkari said, noting that traditional monetary fines running in mere lakhs have failed to act as an effective deterrent.

The Minister cited instances of contracts being awarded substantially below the estimated cost and subsequently being subcontracted through multiple layers, with each intermediary retaining a margin and construction quality suffering.

The quality of highways is the first priority, followed by costs. The ministry was already assessing contractors based on their performance and had begun extending the exercise to consultants preparing Detailed Project Reports (DPRs), proposing to link tender eligibility to these performance assessments.

Apart from poor construction in some cases, which he said discredited him, the minister also expressed dissatisfaction with the quality of DPR.

Many reports are prepared without visiting the site, which leads to design flaws and results in accidents and deaths of 180,000 people annually.

Gadkari proposed using international agencies or standards for project report preparation. The government could mandate that for each project worth more than ₹1,000 crore a company with more than 51% foreign holding be allowed to participate, the minister said.

The ministry is preparing tunnel tenders worth ₹2 lakh crore to ₹2.5 lakh crore. The minister said India will have to make tunnel boring machines locally, whose capital cost he identified as a binding constraint. He asked the local industry to look at this sector as there will be a big demand for them in India across different sectors going forward.

He also disclosed his efforts to bring the German tunnel boring machine makers to set up a facility in India. Offering them high quality steel and other requirements.

MANUFACTURING STILL NEEDS TO CATCH UP

Services account for more than 60% of SEZ exports

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 19

SERVICES EXPORTS CONTINUE to power India's Special Economic Zones (SEZs), accounting for over six in every ten dollars of foreign exchange earned by these tax-free enclaves, according to the latest trade figures compiled by the Export Promotion Council for EOs and SEZs.

Out of total SEZ exports of $183 billion in the fiscal year 2025-26, services accounted for 61.4% ($112.3 billion), leaving merchandise goods to pick up the remaining 38.6% ($70.8 billion). Services shipments expanded 4% year-on-year (y-o-y), while goods exports edged up 3%.

Information Technology (IT) and IT-enabled services dominated the services portfolio, generating 81% of the sector's total foreign earnings.

In the merchandise segment, refined petroleum products remained the standout growth driver, surging 29% year-on-year to $35.26 billion and capturing nearly half of all goods exports. The heavy concentration in petroleum reflects the dominance of a single major hub: Reliance Industries' mega-refinery at Jamnagar, Gujarat. The Jamnagar SEZ alone shipped $34.8 billion worth of goods — representing 49.1% of all physical goods leaving India's SEZs. Vedanta Aluminium ranked a distant second, generating $4.3 billion or 6% of total goods exports.

Engineering goods formed the second-largest merchandise category at $8.4 billion (11.9% share), followed by Gems and Jewellery at $7.1 billion (10%), and Pharmaceuticals at $6.5 billion (9.3%). The United States solidified its position as the largest single destination for SEZ output across both goods and services. The US absorbed 51% ($57.5 billion) of all SEZ services output, followed by the United Kingdom at 17% ($19 billion) and the Netherlands at 7% ($7.8 billion).

The US led with $14.1 billion or 20% of goods exported from SEZs, driven by shipments of petro products ($4.1 billion), pharmaceuticals ($2.8 billion), and gems and jewellery ($2.4 billion). The Netherlands, the UAE ($5.3 billion), and Tanzania ($3.6 billion) rounded out the other top merchandise buyers.

₹13,000-crore rail, road projects get Cabinet nod

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, August 19

THE UNION CABINET on Wednesday approved four multi-tracking railway projects covering eight districts across four states at an estimated cost of ₹9,450 crore.

The projects will add 410 km to the railway network and improve connectivity to several tourist destinations, including Kuldiha Wildlife Sanctuary, Bhitarkanika National Park, Maa Bhadrakali temple, Pulicat Lake, Lalitgiri, among others.

The projects are expected to raise the freight-carrying capacity of the national transporter by 76 million tonne per annum (MTPA). The additional capacity will facilitate the movement of commodities such as coal, iron ore, cement, containers, automobiles and foodgrains.

All four projects are located along the high-density Howrah-Chennai route. They comprise the Kharagpur-Bhadrak fourth line, Bhadrak-Haridaspur fourth line, Gummidipundi-Gudur third and fourth lines, and

The ₹3,352-crore Kharagpur-Bhadrak (Ranital) project, spread over 173 km, will connect steel hubs at Jakhapura, Tatanagar and Durgapur with the ports of Paradip and Dhamra. The project is expected to add 13 million tonne of annual freight capacity and save ₹466 crore in logistics costs.

The proposed third and fourth lines on the Cuttack-Paradip (Badabandha) section will address capacity constraints on a stretch already operating at up to 101% utilisation. Capacity utilisation is projected to rise to 177% with the planned expansion of ports and industries in the region.

Additionally, the Cabinet has cleared the ₹3,591-crore Muzaffarpur-Sitamarhi-Sonbarsa four-lane highway corridor in Bihar under the hybrid annuity model (HAM). The 83 km project, which has a 30-month construction period, is expected to cut travel time between Muzaffarpur and Sonbarsa from two hours to one hour.

According to the Cabinet briefing, the government has taken infrastructure decisions involving 62 railway projects worth ₹2.74 lakh crore, 38 highway projects worth ₹3.82 lakh crore and 12 metro projects worth ₹1.46 lakh crore under NDA 3.0.

UP, Japan seek to scale up green hydrogen tie-up

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 19

UTTAR PRADESH IS seeking to take its green hydrogen partnership with Japan beyond research and institutional cooperation to pilot projects, technology deployment and commercial-scale investments, while planning a dedicated 'Japan City' to attract Japanese companies in semiconductors, electronics, data centres and advanced manufacturing.

The push comes as Escorts Kubota and Minda Corporation have moved ahead with manufacturing projects in the Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority (YEIDA) region, adding to the investment pipeline created through the state's growing engagement with Japan.

Escorts Kubota is setting up a ₹2,025-crore plant in YEIDA's Sector 10, with first-phase capacity to manufacture 60,000 tractors and 15,000 construction equipment units annually. The project is expected to generate 3,829 direct jobs and have a Gross State Value Added impact of more than ₹7,756 crore. Minda Corporation has proposed ₹1,166 crore investment across two projects in Sector 10 and Sector 24, expected to create around 6,440 employment opportunities.

Japanese companies such as Denso, Nagase and Seiko Advance already have operations in Uttar Pradesh. Invest UP has identified Escorts Kubota, Minda Corporation, Toyo Denso and Nagase among the key drivers of Japan-linked investment in the state.

"We have India's largest youth workforce — talented and skilled — and we aim to introduce this workforce to Japanese work ethics and standards. Our priority is to connect our youth with Japanese manufacturing culture," Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath said.

The state is looking to integrate practices including Kaizen, 5S, lean manufacturing, robotics, automation and precision engineering into its skills and manufacturing ecosystem. Green energy is emerging as another important pillar of the partnership. Following the Uttar Pradesh-Yamanashi MoU signed in on December 23, 2024, two green hydrogen Centres of Excellence have been established through IIT Kanpur-HBTU Kanpur and IIT-BHU-MMMUT Gorakhpur. The state has approved and disbursed ₹50 crore for each centre.

UP now wants its cooperation with Yamanashi to expand to joint research, pilot projects and commercial ventures. Companies including NTPC, BPCL, Torrent Power, Hygenic, and L&T have shown interest in green hydrogen projects.

Pharma sector begins FY27 strong, margins face pressure

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, August 19

THE PHARMA SECTOR has started FY27 on a strong footing, but margins of leading drugmakers are likely to come under pressure from elevated input and logistics costs, weak US generics demand and tighter regulatory scrutiny, India Ratings (Ind-Ra) said. Revenue growth of the 15 pharma companies tracked by the ratings agency was in the high teens in the first quarter of FY27, aided by acquisitions and currency benefits.

Domestic industry sales grew 11.5% year-on-year (y-o-y) during the quarter, marking the fifth consecutive quarter of double-digit growth. The expansion was driven by chronic therapies, new product launches and growing traction in the anti-diabetic segment.

For the full financial year, Ind-Ra expects the domestic pharma market to grow by around 10%, July sales growth of 12.1% points to broad-based

Domestic industry sales grew 11.5% y-o-y during the quarter, marking the fifth consecutive quarter of double-digit growth demand, supported by pricing, volume expansion and new products. The agency said rising incidence of chronic diseases and accelerating adoption of GLP-1 drugs should support the industry's longer-term growth trajectory. GLP-1 medicines are used to treat diabetes and obesity, with several generic versions becoming available in India since March this year.

"The US growth is likely to remain under pressure due to the absence of gRevlimid—an oral medicine used to treat specific types of blood cancers—and continued pricing headwinds. Regulatory scrutiny and oversight may delay key product approvals from impacted sites.

Despite near-term cost pressures led by geopolitical issues, Ebitda (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation) margins should remain healthy, supported by a favourable product mix, currency factors, and pass-through mechanisms. Strong balance sheets and liquidity will continue to support inorganic growth," said Nishith Sanghvi, director (corporate ratings) at Ind-Ra.

US generics remain a weak spot for the sector. Revenues of the 13 companies tracked by the agency declined 8% y-o-y in Q1FY27, weighed down by continued pricing pressure and product-specific challenges.

Govt unveils drive to clear port congestion

IN A MAJOR move to ease mounting maritime supply-chain bottlenecks, the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) has ordered a mandatory, high-priority drive to clear long-pending containers clogging major Indian ports.

The special clearance drive, which will continue till October 31, covers unclaimed, uncleared, seized and confiscated cargo lying at port facilities. By liquidating this trapped inventory, the tax authorities aim to free up vital storage space, reduce logistics costs and make more containers available for Indian exporters.

The move comes as several Indian ports, particularly major infrastructure hubs along the West Coast, grapple with heavy container congestion. Port yards and inland container depots (ICDs) are operating close to capacity, delaying the handling and onward movement of both incoming and outgoing cargo. —FE BUREAU

Banks are not constrained in providing more credit

Upper-layer guidelines have been issued, yet there has been a lack of clarity over one company's qualification for several years. This is leading to speculation. What is the RBI's position?

We are not changing any regulations. This is an operational issue, and we would not like to comment on questions specific to an individual regulated entity.

Despite efforts to strengthen fraud detection and prevention, bank frauds remain a concern. What are the biggest gaps the RBI sees in banks' fraud-prevention systems, and what more needs to be done?

Technology is changing the nature of fraud. Cyber fraud, unauthorised access and attacks on payment systems are becoming increasingly sophisticated. Banks and regulated entities therefore need to strengthen their early-warning systems and increase the use of analytics.

We also need to be more proactive rather than reactive. Because the nature of fraud is changing so rapidly, this must be a continuous effort rather than a one-time exercise. Finally, regulated entities will have to make greater use of technology while also building stronger human capabilities to effectively prevent and reduce such frauds.

There was a lot of chatter about Mythos, but things seemed to have calmed down within a few months. Has the focus shifted?

While we may not be talking about it all the time, we are working on it with our regulated entities and other stakeholders.

The engagement includes building the capabilities of regulated entities, using technology and increasing customer awareness. It also involves giving them suitable guidance for improvement through our directions, regulations and inspection notes.

Flipkart in talks with 300 eateries for delivery pilot

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, August 19

FLIPKART IS IN advance discussions with about 300 restaurants in Bengaluru for the pilot of its food delivery business. The e-commerce major is targeting to go live in the city in one to two months, according to multiple restaurant owners who are part of the pilot.

Sources indicate that the list includes large local eateries as well as quick-service restaurant chains with a pan-India presence. The offerings will be across price points.

The discussions are being held by Flipkart directly, without an intermediary. An initial proposal to enter the category was discussed with the National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI), but the conversation did not progress beyond that, the people said, adding that Flipkart may take those discussions forward before a pan-India expansion.

FE had reported in July that Flipkart had decided to build a standalone food delivery app rather than launch as a buyer-side application on the government-backed Open Network for Digital Commerce (ONDC), a route that requires it to sign up merchants and build a delivery ecosystem on its own.

The commercial terms have shifted since the conversations began in February.

Flipkart was initially offering a commission of 10-11% to restaurants with matching offline prices on the platform and a plan to run the service without discounts. The commission and the price-matching mandate remain but the app is now expected to carry discounts, people aware of the discussions added. Discounts in the food delivery industry are funded either by the platform or by the merchant.

In Flipkart's case, the burden will vary by ticket size. On orders below ₹149-199, the discounts will be funded by the restaurants, the people said. On orders above ₹199-249, the burden will be shared, with the split varying by order value.

The terms are expected to change depending on the results of the pilot, they added.

"A large portion of restaurants that are part of the pilot see that demand is higher in the value range. So it'll be important to figure how discounting works for this pilot to be successful. Our push is for a platform that is fully independent of discounts and advertising fees," said a person who heads operations at a large Bengaluru restaurant chain part of the pilot.

Discussions are also on around keeping listing and discovery free of advertising fees and paid promotions, with rankings based purely on customer reviews and ratings, though this has not been settled, the sources said. Advertising revenue from restaurants is among the fastest-growing and highest-margin income streams for the incumbent platforms.

A rollout in one to two months out would place the pilot in the September-October window, more than six months after Flipkart's food delivery plans were first reported in February.

FE had previously reported that building an independent marketplace is expected to take longer, as it requires onboarding restaurants, developing technology infrastructure and creating a delivery ecosystem from scratch.

KKR picks up minority stake in BookMyShow

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 19

MUMBAI-BASED ENTERTAINMENT ticketing platform BookMyShow has secured a minority investment from global private equity major KKR. The funds will be used to accelerate the expansion of its live entertainment business, as the company seeks to tap India's rapidly growing entertainment market.

The two companies signed definitive agreements on Wednesday for the transaction but did not disclose the financial details. The deal is subject to customary regulatory approvals.

The latest investment will support BookMyShow's next phase of growth as it scales its live entertainment business and deepens its full-stack offering across the country, it said. KKR joins investors such as Accel Partners, Elevation Capital and TPG, who've backed the firm since its inception.

In August 2024, Zomato parent Eternal announced its acquisition of Paytm's entertainment and ticketing business for ₹2,048 crore as it expanded its "going-out" offering through District.

The deal made Eternal a direct rival to BookMyShow across movies, events and other entertainment categories.

■ Latest investment will support BookMyShow's next phase of growth

■ Financial terms of transaction not disclosed

MyShow has grown from an online movie ticketing platform into a broader entertainment company spanning cinemas, live events and experiences.

Its live entertainment arm, BookMyShow Live, handles everything from talent acquisition to production and promotion, and has brought acts including Coldplay, Ed Sheeran, Guns N' Roses and Justin Bieber to India.

While FY26 financial numbers are not available yet, the firm's revenue rose 30.7% to ₹1,869.3 crore in FY25 from ₹1,429.9 crore in FY24, according to Tracxn data.

Net profit rose 77.1% to ₹192.4 crore in FY25 from ₹108.6 crore a year earlier.

Akshay Tanna, partner and head of India private equity at KKR, said the firm sees BookMyShow playing a role in advancing India's ambitions to become a global entertainment hub, citing the company's technology and consumer reach. Ashish Hemrajani, founder and chief executive of BookMyShow, said the timing of the investment comes as the company expands its entertainment footprint. The deal adds BookMyShow to KKR's India private equity portfolio, which includes Medcover India, Lighthouse Learning, Vini Cosmetics, Healthcare Global Enterprises, Darwinbox and Rebel Foods.

It also joins the firm's global media and entertainment investments, including ByteDance, Epic Games and Simon & Schuster.

Aventus Capital advised BookMyShow on the transaction, while Trilegal acted as legal counsel.

Zepto revises free delivery limit to ₹199 from ₹149

FE BUREAU
Bengaluru, August 19

QUICK COMMERCE PLATFORM Zepto has hiked the minimum order value for free delivery to ₹199, up from ₹149. In case of high demand, the minimum order value has jumped to ₹299.

The move marks the completion of a steady retreat from the aggressive fee waivers the company used to gain market share last year.

Orders below the applicable threshold attract a delivery fee of ₹30.

Handling fees remain waived, in line with the company's stated position that it will not reinstate them.

The ₹199 threshold brings Zepto in line with Eternal-owned Blinkit and Swiggy's Instamart, both of which have the same threshold, erasing the pricing advantage Zepto held through most of last year.

FE was the first to report each stage of the fee waiver and its subsequent unwinding. In November 2025, Zepto launched its "All New Zepto Experience", removing delivery, handling, rain and surge fees on orders above ₹99, then the lowest free delivery threshold in the market.

FE reported on January 8

FEE RESET

■ Threshold goes up to ₹299 during peak demand

■ ₹30 delivery fee for orders below the applicable threshold

■ Handling fees remain waived that the company had raised the threshold to ₹149, an increase of more than 50%.

In March, FE reported the move to ₹199 as part of a wider cooling of the sector's fee war.

Instamart had ended its above-₹299 waiver programme in January, while Blinkit more than doubled its handling fee to ₹11 from ₹5.

On June 5, FE reported that Zepto had begun linking the threshold to demand, pushing it to ₹299 in some locations and during peak hours—a mechanism similar in effect to the surge pricing the company had made a point of eliminating seven months earlier.

The higher threshold is aimed at improving contribution margins on small baskets and nudging up average order values. The recalibration comes as Zepto's listing plans have been pushed back.

Company paused IPO plan last month

The company paused its IPO plans at the end of July after domestic mutual funds indicated they were willing to value it at only $2.5-3 billion, much lower than the company's expectations.

Zepto is now in talks to raise about $105 million from existing investors through a pre-IPO placement at a valuation of $4-4.2 billion. The company had cash of ₹5,681 crore and no debt as of March 31.

Zepto did not respond to a request for comment by the time of going to press.

AI deployers move beyond models, taking on IT services

POULOMI CHATTERJEE
Bengaluru, August 19

EVEN AS LARGE IT services and consulting firms grapple with the challenge of scale while evolving into AI-ready players, a growing number of boutique AI deployment firms are emerging as contenders in the enterprise AI market. Much like in the US, in India too such companies are winning deals as they help businesses deploy AI effectively at scale.

Last week, the engineering team behind online marketplace Cars24, led by Head of AI Jayesh Gupta, launched Deployment Inc. This AI deployment firm will employ Forward Deployed Engineers (FDEs) to help enterprise clients across sectors reorient systems around AI agents. Together with co-founder and former xAI engineer Aayush Gupta, and fresh capital of $5 million, the entity intends to hire 50 FDEs within a month to jumpstart operations.

"Deployment Inc is a Cars24-backed company that emerged from a problem we had already spent years solving internally," Gupta said. He pointed out that while powerful AI models are now widely accessible, the more difficult challenge is deployment. This calls for connecting AI to real enterprise data and existing systems, redesigning workflows, building evaluation frameworks and human escalation, and ensuring that frontline teams actually adopt the technology.

Cars24, which is also an OpenAI Select Partner, encountered the challenge itself while building and deploying AI agents across customer support, vehicle inspections, lending, document workflows and internal operations.

The integration eventually produced solid measurable out-

CONTENDERS GAINING GROUND

■ Boutique AI deployment firms gaining ground as enterprises struggle to move AI from pilots to large-scale implementation

■ Cars24 team enters fray: Head of AI Jayesh Gupta's team has launched Deployment Inc with $5 mn in fresh capital comes — support turnaround time reduced from 32 hours to 30 minutes, AI handles more than a million minutes of customer conversations each month and vehicle inspection time was cut from 50 minutes to 25 minutes across 1,00,000 inspections per month, with the same engineering team delivering three times the output. "Deployment Inc is an extension of that execution capability," he added. Similarly, a couple of weeks ago, Amsterdam-based AI startup Wonderful launched its India operations, promising to deploy AI at scale and targeting large enterprise clients across BFSI, telecom, healthcare, retail and media. The one-year-old startup will set up teams with deployment strategists, GTM specialists and FDEs. At the opening of its Mumbai office, co-founder and CTO Roey Lalazar said Wonderful had plans to compete against the monopoly held by system integrators. To this end, the firm is hiring "hundreds" of FDEs. "Industry statistics show that nearly 87% of AI pilots fail. For us, once a customer reaches the pilot stage, the likelihood of it becoming a paying production customer is close to 100%," Lalazar said. He added that IT services firms attempting AI transformation programmes have shown some instances of success in solo use cases but rarely on a large scale. Besides the massive scope in the Indian enterprise segment, added complexities in local businesses also present themselves as the ideal ground for the FDE model to prove itself.

"Most domestic companies here run on a fragmented mix of modern APIs, legacy databases, and manual operations. Off-the-shelf foundation models cannot deliver value on day one," Neil Shah, Co-founder and Vice President of Research at Counterpoint Research, said.

"Firms like Deployment Inc. and Wonderful treat AI adoption as an operational overhaul rather than a software subscription. In a cost-sensitive and operationally complex market like India, bridging the gap between raw models and measurable ROI will allow these agile firms to capture high-value digital transformation budgets over traditional IT consultancies," he added.

Others pointed out that this ability to build custom AI applications is a much bigger threat to software firms such as SAP and Oracle than to IT services firms. "There are several examples of well-funded AI deployment startups outside India like HangTen Systems. But there are also early-stage enterprise AI application solution startups that are building full-stack applications in a specific sector," Gaurav Vasu, founder & CEO at Uneath Insights, said.

Aviator ML's insolvency petition will not proceed. Seven other insolvency petitions filed against SpiceJet by aircraft lessors will now be heard afresh by the tribunal.

SpiceJet welcomed the order, calling it a positive step towards resolving its outstanding matters with creditors and lessors. "SpiceJet welcomes the order of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), which has disposed of the petition filed by Aviator ML as withdrawn. The seven other claims will now be heard afresh in accordance with due process," the airline said. "We view the order as a positive step towards resolving the outstanding matters and remain committed to working closely and constructively with our partners to find mutually acceptable solutions," it added.

LTTs signs $75-mn deal with global tech firm

FE BUREAU Bengaluru, August 19

L&T TECHNOLOGY SERVICES (LTTs) on Wednesday announced that it has bagged a five-year contract valued at over $75 million to deploy its Engineering Intelligence (EI) capabilities for an undisclosed global tech enterprise client. In an exchange filing, the engineering services firm shared its plans to help the client accelerate development of AI-led solutions for its customer portfolio through infused AI capabilities across its end-to-end product development and engineering lifecycle.

Under the initiative, LTTs will cover all areas including product engineering, software development, testing, validation, sustenance engineering, platform operations and related digital engineering services, for the client. The Gujarat-headquartered firm will also enable the "creation of a dedicated engineering centre for technology and digital functions," leveraging its full-stack of EI solutions.

Nelco's direct-to-device satcom set for 2028 launch

OJASVI GUPTA New Delhi, August 19

INDIA WILL BE among the first markets for Nelco's direct-to-device (D2D) satellite connectivity as the Tata Group-backed satellite communications provider plans to launch commercial services by early 2028. The company will also look to begin operations in other South Asian markets like Bangladesh and Sri Lanka as it expands beyond its core satellite connectivity and capacity-reselling business.

Nelco Managing Director and CEO P J Nath said the opportunity in the D2D market is large, adding over time D2D can become a significant part of the satellite communications ecosystem.

"D2D technology allows a satellite to communicate directly with an ordinary smartphone, vehicle sensor or IoT device," Nath said. He added it is widely seen as satellite communication's next major growth segment after fixed geostationary broadband and, more recently, low-earth-orbit constellations.

WHAT IS D2D TECH

- D2D technology allows a satellite to communicate directly with an ordinary smartphone, vehicle sensor or IoT device

- Over time D2D can become a significant part of the satellite communications ecosystem
- Potential applications across smart agriculture, connected vehicles, maritime safety and remote monitoring, where terrestrial networks may not always be available

- It is widely seen as satellite communication's next major growth segment after fixed geostationary broadband and, more recently, low-earth-orbit constellations

Nelco has recently acquired a minority stake in Lunar Holdco for ₹191.2 crore ($20 million). Lunar brings to the table satellite mobile connectivity solutions under the Elveo Mobile brand. The strategy is to team up with mobile operators rather than compete with them or sell services directly to consumers. The D2D model will remain predominantly B2B and B2G.

The investment in Lunar is a strategic one. "We don't want to be just a reseller this time. We want a far bigger and deeper engagement, a strategic partner, not a distributor," Nath said, adding that the investment also gives Nelco a route to expand beyond India into other markets.

The company, currently operates in the geostationary (GEO) satellites and expects low Earth orbit (LEO) to create new markets rather than simply displace its existing business.

In India, there have been delays in opening up LEO services in India.

Nelco sees potential applications across smart agriculture, connected vehicles, maritime safety and remote monitoring, where terrestrial networks may not always be available. While the company plans to build a presence across South Asia, it expects D2D to become a significant growth opportunity over the next five to 10 years as more devices come online.

Skoda bets big on sedans despite SUVs' rising graph

AKBAR MERCHANT Mumbai, August 19

SKODA AUTO INDIA is targeting 22-25% growth for the Slavia with its upcoming facelift, despite the segment shrinking significantly in recent years. "Sedans has been a body style which has defined the Skoda brand. It's been our strength, it's been our identity," said Ashish Gupta, brand director, Skoda Auto India.

The Slavia has sold close to 80,000 units in India since launch and commands around 30% of the sedan segment. The model contributes 18-20% of Skoda's overall portfolio sales. "The Slavia does around 1,200 cars for me a month, which is a substantial portion of my portfolio. And with the facelift, I'm targeting a 22 to 25% growth," Gupta said.

The sedan is the second-best seller in its segment, behind Volkswagen Virtus, which averages around 1,400 units a month. Hyundai Verna and Honda City are the other key rivals.

The facelifted Slavia will go on sale by early October. The brand has also unveiled plans to introduce the Superb diesel and also announced another lot of limited-run Octavia RS for India.

Apart from sedans, Skoda has expanded its SUV portfolio with the Kushaq, Kylaq and Kodiaq, but continues to see sedans as central to its brand identity and product strategy. "We are among the few brands globally right now who still have a very huge sedan and successful sedan portfolio," Gupta said. "That is why the sedan's body style is important for us as Skoda as a brand."

The company is also looking to build on the success of the Kylaq, which Gupta said reflected lessons from its earlier experience in India. The compact SUV was positioned in the right segment, offered at competitive price points and equipped with features demanded by customers.

"You have to keep pace with the speed of the market and there are no ifs and buts about it," Gupta said. "With the Kylaq we took those learnings on board and did a lot of things right."

While Skoda remains open to expanding its SUV portfolio, Gupta said decisions would depend on development timelines, feasibility and the value the products can offer.

The company is also expanding its retail footprint, targeting 200 cities by the end of the year. It currently has around 190 cities and 340 touch points, with 55-60% of sales coming from tier-II and tier-III towns.

Skoda is preparing to introduce CNG, which Gupta described as its "first focus" among alternate powertrains, particularly for the Kylaq. It is also evaluating larger products for diesel and exploring opportunities to export India-made Slavia and Kushaq to global markets.

India eyes supply-chain gains after Google Pixel's China exit

ASHUTOSH MISHRA & OJASVI GUPTA New Delhi, August 19

GOOGLE'S PLAN to move Pixel smartphone production out of China by 2027 could give India a fresh opportunity to move up the electronics value chain, beyond assembling phones to making the components and sub-assemblies that go into them. But India will have to contend with Vietnam, which has a deeper and more established electronics supply chain.

According to reports, Google plans to shift Pixel production out of China as part of efforts to diversify its supply chain. The company has been expanding manufacturing in both India and Vietnam, with Vietnam taking on high-end Pixel development and production.

For India, the real opportunity could lie in components such as display and camera modules, multi-layer and high-density interconnect (HDI) printed circuit boards, passive components, lithium-ion cells and mobile enclosures, industry experts said.

"India has already demonstrated that it can become a

MOBILE HUB

- Google plans to shift Pixel production out of China as part of efforts to diversify
- The company has been expanding manufacturing in both India and Vietnam

■ Vietnam, with its more established electronics supply chain, is a strong competitor global-scale electronics assembly and export base. The next logical step is to deepen domestic value addition by building the component and sub-assembly ecosystem," said Colonel Suhail Zaidi (Retd), director general, Manufacturers' Association for Information Technology (MAIT).

The push comes as India builds capacity in these segments. The latest approvals under the Electronics Components Manufacturing Scheme (ECMS) have taken the total to 106 projects across about 30 product categories and 15 states, with projected investment of ₹69,548 crore.

India already has a sizable smartphone export base, though a large part of it is assembly. Smartphone exports reached about $30 billion in calendar 2025, making phones the country's largest individual export category, according to government data.

Google has also been scaling up exports from India. Its manufacturing partners exported about 350,000 Pixel handsets in 2024 and another 250,000 units in the first five months of 2025, with Malaysia and Thailand among the destinations, according to the latest available data.

The tech giant began manufacturing Pixel phones in India in 2024 and has since expanded production through partners including Foxconn and Dixon Technologies.

Vedanta invested over $1 billion in net-zero drive in last five years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA New Delhi, August 19

MINING MAJOR VEDANTA on Wednesday said it invested more than $1 billion in net-zero transition initiatives in the last five financial years, with renewable energy, lower-carbon fuels, energy efficiency and technology-led interventions driving its decarbonisation efforts.

This covers investment in financial years 2021-22 to 2025-26.

As part of this transition, the group's renewable energy utilisation went up 52% year-on-year to 4 billion units in 2025-26, equivalent to the annual electricity consumption of around 30 million Indian households.

Vedanta now has nearly 2,000 MW of installed and contracted renewable energy capacity and is targeting 2.5 GW round-the-clock renewable energy capacity by 2030.

These initiatives, alongside other decarbonisation interventions, helped avoid approximately 36 million tonnes of carbon dioxide equivalent emissions since FY2021, while greenhouse gas emissions intensity across the group's metals and mining production declined by approximately 14% from the 2020-21 baseline, the company said in a statement.

India has set an ambitious target of 500 GW of non-fossil fuel-based power capacity by 2030, alongside its broader ambition of meeting 50% of its energy requirements from renewable sources and achieving net-zero emissions by 2070.

CENTRAL BANK IN WAIT-AND-WATCH MODE, SHOW MPC MINUTES

Policy rates may need recalibration: RBI Guv

● But prefers to await greater clarity on persistence of elevated prices

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 19

RESERVE BANK OF India (RBI) Governor Sanjay Malhotra said policy tightening may be warranted if higher food, fuel and other input prices lead to a broad-based rise in inflation and de-anchor inflation expectations.

“Any evidence of these risks materialising may need policy tightening,” Malhotra said, according to the minutes of the August Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting, released by the RBI on Wednesday.

Malhotra, however, said he would prefer to wait for greater certainty on the persistence of elevated prices before recalibrating the policy rate. The MPC, at its August meeting, kept the repo rate unchanged at 5.25% for the fourth consecutive time and retained its neutral stance.

Several MPC members also indicated that a rate hike could become necessary during the year if oil prices and other external headwinds persist and inflationary pressures intensify.

“The scope for any further easing does not seem to exist at the current juncture. Instead, given that the headline inflation is projected to peak to a level as high as 5.9% in Q3 of 2026-27, a case for a hike may emerge during the course of the year,” said RBI Deputy Governor Poonam Gupta.

MPC member Ram Singh also flagged the need for policy action if conditions deteriorate.

We need to be watchful ... evidence of risks (of high food, fuel prices) materialising may need policy tightening

I judge it appropriate to await evidence of a pickup in demand and generalisation of price pressures...

“If external shocks worsen or the second-round price effects spread widely, we should be able to swiftly adjust policy to protect macroeconomic stability,” he said. External member Saugata Bhattacharya said the growth-inflation dynamics would need close monitoring to determine the appropriate time to recalibrate the policy rate. “I judge it appropriate to await evidence of a further pick-up in aggregate demand and generalisation of price pressures before taking the next policy action. Another factor which needs to be tracked are the levels of real interest rates.”

While all MPC members voted to maintain the status quo on the policy rate, their comments reflected a cautious approach amid a highly-uncertain environment.

“The shift in the distribution towards higher inflation numbers warrants a careful vigil. One must look out for the extent of generalisation and risk of inflation expectations getting unanchored before contemplating any rate hike,” MPC member Indranil Bhattacharyya said. The August policy was guided by a wait-and-watch approach, even as the RBI raised its FY27 GDP growth forecast to 6.7% from 6.6% and lowered its inflation projection to 5% from 5.1%.

Despite the conflict in West Asia disrupting supply chains, heightened global uncertainty and an erratic monsoon, the Indian economy performed better than expected in the first quarter of FY27 and is expected to remain resilient, Malhotra said.

Gupta emphasised the role of crude oil prices in determining the future course of monetary policy. While the April policy had assumed an average oil price of $85 a barrel and the June policy $95 a barrel, she said the current situation warranted a modest revision.

“Based on current assessment of oil price futures, it would be reasonable to expect oil prices to average about $90 per barrel during the year, close to the level assumed in the IMF's WEO update of July 2026,” she said. MPC member Kumar highlighted the economy's resilience on the growth front, noting that bank credit growth reinforced the outlook for real GDP growth of 6.7% in FY27.

However, he cautioned that uncertainty continued to cloud several key monetary policy indicators. While the economy had so far absorbed the spillovers from the conflict with limited impact, strains were becoming increasingly visible, he said.

“We have to closely watch if and how inflation-related risks resolve — El Niño's effects on food inflation and global oil prices. As of now, it makes sense to retain all the maximum operational flexibility needed to respond to an evolving inflation trajectory,” Kumar said.

Attempts to defame CAS to invite stern action: Pandey

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, August 19

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE Board of India (Sebi) Chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey on Wednesday warned that any attempt to “defame” the newly introduced closing auction session (CAS) through manipulation will be dealt with sternly by the capital markets regulator.

Amid wide-ranging concerns expressed by market participants since CAS was introduced on August 3, Pandey said that Sebi's ability to catch manipulation in CAS is higher than under the older volume weighted average price system (VWAP) it replaces.

“We can catch hold of manipulation in CAS relatively easily. CAS is for transparency. And if anybody feels that they will manipulate CAS for defaming the new system, they are in danger,” Pandey told reporters on the sidelines of an

Sebi impounds ₹3.7-cr gains over manipulative CAS trades

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, August 19

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has impounded gains of ₹3.68 crore made by two entities, Copthall Mauritius Investment and Mansi Share and Stock Broking, through alleged manipulative trades during the closing auction session (CAS) on August 13, an options expiry day on BSE. The gains of both entities stood at ₹2.96 crore and ₹71.65 lakh, respectively.

In an ex-parte interim order, Sebi directed the entities to open fixed deposits in their names to credit the respective amounts and mark a lien in favour of the market regulator. It also barred them from securities market and CAS, and ordered depositories to ensure no debit was made from their demat accounts without Sebi's permission.

The manipulative trades came into Sebi's notice after BSE recorded three abnormal upward spikes despite being on a downward trajectory during CAS. The index moved from 77,661 to 78,023 (362 points), 77,708 to 77,841 (133 points) and 77,788 to 78,193 (405 points), within six minutes.

The transactions came under scrutiny as the entities placed buy orders above and sell orders below the reference price, contrary to the normal investor behaviour of seeking to buy low and sell high.

Sebi found that Copthall placed 32 buy orders for 3.17 million shares worth ₹66.57 crore, accounting for 99.91% of the total order value, and subsequently cancelled orders for 1.04 million shares.

Copthall also placed 108 of 165 limit buy orders worth ₹126.59 crore during a 12-second period, contributing to the second spike. It subsequently placed 32 buy orders worth 85.2% of the total order value across BSE stocks within 28 seconds, leading to the third spike before quickly cancelling them.

Sebi said Mansi Share and Stock Broking also contributed to the third spike by cancelling sell orders. It noted that due to these manipulative trades, Sensex closed at 78,080 instead of 77,840 on August 13, based on the movement in the Nifty.

Indian stocks least favoured in Asia: BofA

CHIRANJIVI CHAKRABORTY
August 19

INDIA HAS REPLACED Indonesia as Asia's least-preferred stock market in a survey of fund managers by Bank of America (BofA), signalling growing caution toward a market that's among the world's worst performers this year.

The lack of a clear AI exposure remains the key concern for Indian equities, with weak growth emerging as the next most important risk, according to the survey, which showed 32% of the respondents were net underweight on the nation. Lack of reforms and high valuations also emerged as reasons for the bearish outlook on Asia's fourth-largest equity market.

In contrast, sentiment improved for Indonesia, with 27% of the fund managers saying they were net underweight on the market, compared with 32% in July.

Taiwan and Japan remain investors' most-preferred regions. A total of 98 panelists

The survey findings align with a decline in Indian stocks over the past two weeks despite an improving earnings outlook, suggesting investors remain wary of the market even as its fundamentals strengthen.

growth from rising energy costs following the US-Iran war that triggered a rally in global crude oil prices.

With no sign of progress toward resolving the conflict, energy prices are climbing again, weighing on investor sentiment.

While the Nifty 50 has jumped 8% from a recent low in March, it remains the second-worst performing major market in Asia this year, having lost 8%. The benchmark index is on track to snap a historic run of 10 straight years of annual gains.

Meanwhile, the improvement in sentiment for Indonesia reflects the more than 20% rally in the benchmark Jakarta Composite Index from a June low, following the central bank's measures to stabilise the currency and fading fears of a downgrade to frontier-market status by MSCI Inc.

US PRESIDENT DELAYS 50% CANADA DUTIES FOR 3 DAYS, CANADIAN STOCKS SURGE

Trump pauses new tariffs on Canada

ALICIA DIAZ & JOSH WINGROVE

August 19

THE TRUMP ADMINISTRATION delayed 50% tariffs on billions of dollars of Canadian products for three days, saying the two sides had reached a tentative agreement to resolve a broader trade dispute that had plunged relations to a fresh low.

US President Donald Trump announced the decision less than two hours before the tariffs were set to take effect. He said on social media he was pausing the tariffs “based on the fact that Canada and the U.S.A., subject to the finalisation of documents, have a deal!”

A White House proclamation later said the duties were halted after Canada “expressed a commitment to remove the discriminations” on US autos, dairy and alcohol. And the US Trade Representative’s office said the deal includes “comprehensive market access for all American goods, economic security commitments, digital trade alignment” and other factors, without giving specifics.

Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney wasn’t as definitive, stopping short of saying they had a deal. Neither side said whether earlier sticking points such as auto tariffs and lumber will be resolved.

“Substantial progress has been made, although there is important work still to be done,” Carney said in a statement.

US President Donald Trump and Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney at the White House

“While we continue this work, Canada remains focused on building a stronger, more independent, and more competitive economy at home.”

The Canadian dollar was up 0.2% at 1.3876 per US dollar mid-morning in London.

Despite the uncertainty, the announcement signals progress in the tense relationship between two longstanding allies that conducted almost $900 billion of trade with each other last year.

Meanwhile, Canadian equities jumped Wednesday after US President Donald Trump said he would delay new 50% tariffs for three days and added that the two sides were close to a trade deal.

Canada’s benchmark S&P/TSX Composite rose 0.4%

at 12:50 p.m. in Toronto, after rising as much as 1%, with the materials and real estate sectors leading gains. Precious metals stocks including Agnico Eagle Mines Ltd and Barrick Mining Corp. were among the biggest advancers, while trade-sensitive shares including railways were also higher.

Trump had announced the tariffs in late July, justifying them by pointing to Canada’s retaliation against a barrage of tariffs last year, and it wasn’t immediately clear what concessions he’d won from the latest gambit. He has routinely backed off some of his biggest tariff threats when negotiations yield what are often modest concessions.

The White House had said it would put duties on a range of items from Canada — including hockey equipment, beer, milk and plywood — under Section 338 of the 1930 Tariff Act, which gives the president the power to impose duties of as much as 50% on countries deemed to discriminate against US commerce.

Google bets $12.2 bn on Marvell AI chips

BLOOMBERG

August 19

MARVELL TECHNOLOGY HAS agreed to give Alphabet’s Google rights to buy as much as $12.2 billion of its shares in exchange for purchasing chips.

Google will have to right to buy 59 million Marvell shares at a price of $206.58 apiece, Marvell said in a filing. Nearly 1.4 million of the warrant shares vest in the first year of the deal. The rest come over time in tranches, tied to every $500 million worth of chips that Google will buy from the company, the agreement says.

Marvell’s products will support Google’s tensor processing units, chips known as TPUs that have gained traction among firms using them to build, train and run AI systems. Google and other technology companies have been developing their own AI chips in part to reduce costs, with Nvidia’s leading AI accelerators going for tens of thousands of dollars each. Amazon.com is also among those working on their own semiconductors. Shares of Marvell jumped 14% on the news. They were up 7.6% at $232.42 at 10:30 a.m. in New York. Alphabet’s stock was little changed.

Investors have become increasingly concerned about “circular” deals and arrangements between tech companies, particularly among chipmakers and their AI customers.

AI boom lets Samsung up chipmaking prices by 15%

SAMSUNG ELECTRONICS HAS raised prices for some advanced contract chipmaking services by up to 15% for new orders, two people familiar with the matter said, as demand for AI chips tightens capacity in a business dominated by TSMC.

Demand from Chinese customers has been strong, but Samsung has been unable to meet all orders because it must serve US customers and reserve part of its capacity to support its own chip production, said the sources, who spoke on the condition of anonymity.

Chinese customers are among those accepting the steepest price increase, one of the sources said, underscoring how US curbs on exports of advanced chipmaking equipment to China have increased local firms’ reliance on overseas foundries. The price hikes mark a turnaround for Samsung’s foundry business, which has been a loss maker since 2022, according to industry estimates. The division has struggled to narrow the gap with Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing, even as Samsung reported record profits, driven by soaring prices for memory chips used in AI systems. Samsung raised prices in July for chips made using its 4-nanometre process, known as SF4, the sources said. Prices for SF4 customers in China and the US were increased 10% to 15% from previous month, while customers in Taiwan, home to TSMC, saw hike of 5% to 10%, according to sources.

Prices for wafers produced by its 5-nanometre SF5 process rose by 10% to 15%, while those for its older 8-nanometre technology rose by 10%, according to source. Samsung declined to comment as it does not provide details on operational matters.

Samsung produced 7% of global foundry revenue in Q1FY26, compared with more than 70% for TSMC, as per research firm Counterpoint.

However, demand for AI chips has booked up much of TSMC’s leading-edge capacity. Samsung expects advanced processes to account for more than half of foundry revenue this year, while AI and high-performance computing applications would make up more than 30%, up from 15% to 20% in late 2025.

Iran warns Gulf nations against US military aid

● UAE severs trade relations with Iran

AGENCIES

Tehran, August 19

IRAN’S ARMED FORCES warned Gulf countries against assisting the US military on Wednesday, hours after the United Arab Emirates announced it was suspending economic ties with Tehran following new attacks on shipping.

The Gulf is dotted with US military installations, including in the UAE, which said on Tuesday that Iran had fired two ballistic missiles at vessels off its coast.

Despite a recent lull in hostilities between the United States and Iran, the Strait of Hormuz—which Tehran has blockaded—remains a flashpoint, and attacks on commercial ships have continued. A framework US-Iran deal aimed at reopening the vital trade corridor collapsed, and although both sides recently said messages were being exchanged, US President Donald Trump on Tuesday insisted talks were off, taunting Iran with a social media post depicting the strait as a “New US territory”.

Iranian armed forces chief of staff Ali Abdollahi, according to the Mehr news agency,

TIES UNDER STRAIN

■ Iran accused of two missile attacks on vessels off its coast

■ Strait of Hormuz remains a flashpoint

■ Attacks on commercial continue

■ Gulf is dotted with US military installations warned “any assistance or facilitation provided to the aggressor US military amounts to participation in the US military operation”. The conflict broke out on February 28 with US-Israeli attacks on the Islamic republic, which retaliated with missile and drone strikes across the region.

Since the start of the war, many Middle Eastern countries have said they would not allow the US to use their territory as a launchpad for attacks, though Abdollahi cast doubt on those promises.

US stocks look to halt their three-day slide

US STOCKS ARE ticking higher Wednesday after the US Treasury Department said it will buy more US government bonds in a move that eased pressure on financial markets worldwide.

Strong profit reports for the spring from Estee Lauder, Target and other US companies are also helping to support the stock market. The S&P 500 rose 0.2% and is on track for its first gain in four days after setting its all-time high last week. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 220 points, and the Nasdaq composite was 0.3% lower.

The stock market has been under growing strain as worries about inflation, big government debts and other factors drive Treasury yields higher in the bond market.

Uber, Ola, Rapido...

DESPITE THE ADVISORY, all four apps continued to display prompts encouraging users to offer an amount over the stated fare while the apps were still searching for or matching a driver, the FE review showed. Queries sent to Uber, Rapido, Ola and Namma Yatri did not elicit a response.

On Uber, a rider booking an autorickshaw in JPNagar in Bengaluru at 8.44 am was shown a card headed “add extra to get a faster ride” on the ride-requested screen, with options of ₹30, ₹50 and ₹65 against a price of ₹259.75. In Mumbai’s Andheri West at 10.19 am, the same card appeared with options of ₹20, ₹30 and ₹40 against a price of ₹109.24. Both prompts said full extra amount goes to the driver concerned.

A review of Rapido’s app in Bengaluru at 8.45 am, showed it offering a slider headed “now you can set a price that works for you” at the booking stage. On an autorickshaw booking with a base fare of ₹113, moving the slider up in steps of ₹10 flagged a higher chance of getting a ride and moving it down flagged a lower chance. In Mumbai at 10.17 am on Wednesday, with the app searching for a driver against a fare of ₹91, Rapido displayed — “increase your chances by adding extra”, with options of ₹30, ₹40, ₹50 and ₹60.

Ola displayed the message “improve your chances of quick ride confirmation!” with buttons for ₹20, ₹30, ₹40 and ₹50, and a field to enter an add-on amount. The screen was identical in HSR Layout in Bengaluru at 9.53 am and in Juhu in Mumbai at 10.20 am.

Namma Yatri, in Bengaluru at 9.49 am, showed a row headed “offer additional fare” on the driver-search screen, with options of ₹20, ₹30, ₹50 and a custom amount against a stated fare of ₹348, each paired with a enthusiastic emoji.

The prompts are not new, and neither is the scrutiny. Namma Yatri was the first in India to introduce advance tipping, and Ola, Uber and Rapido followed. The practice drew government attention in May last year, when Union Consumer Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi described advance tipping as “unethical and exploitative” and said nudging users to pay in advance for faster service amounted to an unfair trade practice.

Namma Yatri had said at the time that the feature was voluntary and appeared only after the request had gone out to drivers and none nearby had accepted within about 20 seconds, comparing the payment to Tatkal charges on the railways. Rapido had said what it ran was not tipping but pricing flexibility, with riders able to move the price up or down at booking.

The August 11 advisory closes off that route, barring any feature, prompt, message, add-on, payment option that creates the impression, directly or indirectly, that paying more may improve ride confirmation, driver acceptance, driver allocation, waiting time or quality of service, before a journey is completed.

Omani waters replacing Hormuz as Gulf oil artery

LATEST VESSEL MOVEMENTS, however, underline the volatility. Ship tracker MarineTraffic data showed Hormuz crossings at just three on August 16, rising to 12 on August 17 before easing to 10 on August 18. By comparison, Bab-el-Mandeb recorded 45, 30 and 46 crossings on the respective days.

Kpler describes Hormuz as “neither fully open nor fully closed.” Outbound non-Iranian oil flows had collapsed below 300,000 bpd during the war before recovering above 5 mbpd, but continued attacks and intermittent stoppages have prevented a return to stable pre-war shipping patterns.

The share of sour crude, represented by Oman and Dubai grades, rose to 25.06% in August from 20.60% in July, while the sweet crude share fell to 74.94% from 79.40%. Greater availability of Gulf barrels through Omani waters could provide Indian refiners additional sourcing flexibility as Russian flows moderate.

That flexibility, however, is coming alongside higher acquisition costs. Brent rose further to $91.81 a barrel on August 19, up 0.87% from the previous day. The benchmark has gained 2.90% over the past month and 37.36% from a year earlier.

Gulf producers are simultaneously trying to reduce dependence on Hormuz. Saudi Arabia is making heavier use of its East-West pipeline towards Yanbu, while the UAE continues exports through Fujairah. Kpler estimates the two routes are rerouting around 4 mbpd. Persian Gulf liquids reaching global markets are currently around 9-10 mbpd, including 7.5 mbpd of crude, still well below the 15.8 mbpd seen before the war.

The broader supply cushion also remains thin. Kpler estimates that crude movement during the 60-day US-Iran peace deal window averaged 6.1 mbpd against the 15 mbpd Hormuz handled in 2025, leaving a shortfall of around 550 million barrels. Indian crude inventories were near 100 million barrels, with the report warning that without restored Gulf flows, feedstock could tighten again in the fourth quarter.

For India, the emerging equation is, therefore, increasingly tied to how much Gulf crude can keep moving through Omani waters and at what insurance and freight cost, as refiners seek to preserve supply flexibility amid lower Russian availability and a renewed tilt towards Middle Eastern barrels.

Govt to tweak, extend infra viability schemes

UNDER THE VGF scheme, economic-sector projects may receive up to 40% of their capex as grant, with equal contributions from the Centre and the state concerned. For social-sector schemes in healthcare and education, the maximum of 80% capex is shared equally between the Centre and states. The government also provide up to 50% of operational expenditure for five years after the commercial operation date as a VGF grant.

Infrastructure projects may not always be commercially viable due to long gestation periods and limited financial returns. To overcome these challenges, VGF is provided.

Overall, to date, 67 projects with a total project cost of ₹45,802 crore have received final approval under the VGF scheme, with VGF of ₹7,682 crore approved and disbursal of ₹4,847 crore already completed.

Meanwhile, the government plans to extend more assistance to states under the IIPDF scheme to prepare a pipeline of PPP projects for execution. In addition to the assistance, the Centre provides to states for expenses incurred on transaction advisers or consultants, it will also offer the option of providing full support for project management units in states that seek such assistance, sources said.

The Department of Economic Affairs (DEA) has identified the IIPDF scheme as a mechanism through which project sponsoring authorities can source funding to cover PPP transaction costs, thereby reducing the impact of costs related to procuring transaction advisers on their budgets.

In January 2026, the Centre launched a PPP project pipeline for FY26-28, covering 852 projects across central ministries and states, with a combined infrastructure investment exceeding ₹17 lakh crore.

The comprehensive pipeline consolidates planned initiatives across key sectors, including transport, energy, water resources and urban infrastructure, reflecting a sustained policy push to leverage private capital and expertise to accelerate India’s growth agenda.

Gujarat allows 12-hour workday at Micron unit

AFTER BEING THE FIRST state in the country to introduce a dedicated semiconductor policy offering comprehensive incentives and support for the industry, Gujarat is now building an ecosystem around it and encouraging industries that supply materials to the semiconductor industry.

Till date, Gujarat has secured six major projects approved under the India Semiconductor Mission, attracting investments of nearly ₹1.4 lakh crore. The projects are expected to generate around 50,000 direct and indirect employment opportunities, reinforcing Gujarat’s position at the centre of India’s emerging semiconductor manufacturing ecosystem.

Micron Technology’s Sanand facility is expected to play a key role in the company’s global manufacturing network. The first phase of the project will include more than 500,000 square feet of cleanroom space, including one of the world’s largest single-floor semiconductor assembly and test cleanrooms. The facility is expected to assemble and test tens of millions of semiconductor chips in 2026, with production capacity projected to scale to hundreds of millions of chips annually from 2027.

Semiconductor manufacturing differs from conventional factory operations because production processes run continuously in highly controlled cleanroom environments. Chip assembly and testing involve sophisticated automated equipment operating around the clock, making uninterrupted production critical for efficiency and product quality, according to a government statement.

Twelve-hour shifts are a globally accepted operational model across semiconductor manufacturing facilities. The longer workday reduces the number of shift changes, minimises cleanroom entries, improves equipment utilisation and enables continuous production, the statement added.

“The relaxation reflects the state’s commitment to accelerating industrial development, expanding economic activity and creating new employment opportunities while supporting industries of strategic national importance, particularly the semiconductor sector,” Kantilal Amrutliya, minister of state for labour, skill development and employment, said.

Resetting Bangla ties

Delhi must step up engagement to ensure that Dhaka has a stake in our growth story

INDIA'S EFFORTS TO reset its frayed ties with Bangladesh exemplify the strategic challenges and opportunities of its neighbourhood first policy. Navigating the recent regime changes is far from easy although India has had a modicum of success in this regard. A diplomatic chill has descended on our relationship with the Tarique Rahman-led administration in Bangladesh, which assumed office in February. Tough conditions are attached to his maiden visit on India's invitation, which has been pending since February. There is another invitation for Rahman to attend the BRICS summit as chair of the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation. The controversial virtual media interaction of the deposed former Prime Minister, Sheikh Hasina, in New Delhi earlier this month triggered stiff riders that India extradite her and other criminal figures to create a more "propitious environment" for Rahman's visit.

To be sure, India insists it has nothing to do with Hasina's press conference but to no avail. She has been living in the country after she fled Dhaka following the collapse of her government in August 2024. Hasina has been convicted by the International Crimes Tribunal, a domestic war crimes court, for committing crimes against humanity for the brutal crackdown on the student-led anti-government protests. India has stated that it is examining Bangladesh's request for extraditing her in line with established processes. This has, in fact, become the precondition for Rahman's visit after Hasina announced at the presser that she plans to return home in December to put the country on the "right track" by restoring democracy despite all the risks she faces. The announcement of a political comeback of sorts while remaining in exile in India was not exactly music to the ears of Bangladesh's new leadership.

Regime changes in the neighbourhood are highly challenging to navigate. Besides the growing role of China — with its cheque-book diplomacy — there is the need to address Bangladesh's desire to seek more autonomy in its relationship with India. Rahman has forcefully stated that neither Delhi nor Rawalpindi but Bangladesh First is his credo to strengthen long-standing ties with India. Dhaka is ready to move forward without being inhibited by the past but there is a need to address issues that result in gains for the common people. Rahman looked forward to advancing ties based on dignity, equality, mutual trust, and respect. The people-to-people dimension of this relationship thus assumes greater importance. India is also willing to put the past behind for a "positive, constructive, and forward-looking relationship". India wants — as much as Bangladesh — to reboot bilateral relations on a stronger footing.

A fresh beginning is imperative to seize the opportunities of being neighbours who share rivers, railway networks, energy infrastructure, and a 4,000-km-long border. Bangladesh is also India's largest trading partner in the region with a share of 37.5% in total two-way trade. Bangladesh indeed is important for India to better connect its north-east region. The regional connectivity measures in place ensure that new transportation and energy infrastructure seamlessly link Nepal, Bhutan, the north-east region, and the Bay of Bengal. Leveraging regional connectivity is to the advantage of Bangladesh and India. Whatever differences there are between both nations, these can be resolved only through dialogue between the top leaderships rather than through tough preconditions. Rahman's visit could well be the harbinger of the reset.

At least he's trying

Maharashtra Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Tukaram Mundhe says the Vimal "Elaichi" ad appears to be a surrogate promotion of a product prohibited in the state. So notices went out to brand endorsers Shah Rukh Khan, Ajay Devgn, and Tiger Shroff. "Nobody is going to be spared," Mundhe said. "Whether rural or urban. Those who sell, those who possess, those who process, those who manufacture, it is applicable to all."

He was just doing his job but in one fell swoop he became the talk of the town. Surrogate advertising is not allowed in India, but it is all around us. The regulation is pretty clear. The Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA) explicitly banned surrogate advertising under guidelines issued in June 2022. An ad is deemed a surrogate if it uses the same brand name, colour scheme, layout, or collateral associated with a restricted product. Under Section 53 of the Food Safety and Standards Act (2006), people or corporations involved with publishing misleading food advertisements face a penalty of up to ₹10 lakh. Self-regulatory agencies like the Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI) actively penalise brands and issue notices to celebrities endorsing these sneaky product promotions.

Regulation has been in place for about two decades now, but who cares? The worst offenders are pan masala and alcohol brands. Vimal, Pan Bahar, and Kamla Pasand routinely flex their cardamom, mouth fresheners, and "pan masala minus tobacco" products with advertisements featuring popular actors such as Amitabh Bachchan, Saif Ali Khan, Hrithik Roshan, and even Pierce Brosnan. Brosnan inconceivably featured in an advertisement for pan masala brand Pan Bahar in 2016. Die-hard fans were outraged to see a former James Bond actor promoting a product associated with health risks. Following a huge backlash, Brosnan said he was "deeply shocked and saddened" by the campaign. He claimed the company had deceived him and that his contract involved promotion of an all-natural breath freshener or tooth whitener that didn't contain tobacco or any other harmful ingredient.

Alcohol brands are craftier still. More often than not, they have an eponymous packaged water or soda brand which you might not find on the shop shelves but most definitely in flashy advertisements. In newspapers, on television, on the cricket field. Kingfisher (water, calendar), Imperial Blue (water, soda), and Haywards (soda plus drinking water) all follow this strategy. Some have gone a step further. Bacardi, for instance, has Bacardi Blast music CDs. Some sponsor major music festivals and sundry cultural events where their logos and other brand collateral are displayed prominently on caps, t-shirts, and event decor.

But Mundhe might want to widen the net. Indian cricketers have also had a long history of surrogate advertising. Rohit Sharma, the former captain of the India national cricket team, has been the face of Royal Stag, a brand synonymous with whisky. Jasprit Bumrah has endorsed Royal Stag since 2019 and has appeared in its multimedia and AI-driven recent campaigns alongside Sharma, Surya Kumar Yadav, and rapper Badshah. Virat Kohli is the ambassador for Royal Challenge, a whisky brand that advertises via its mineral water and energy drinks.

And that association goes a long way back. Sunil Gavaskar and Virender Sehwag have both appeared in ads for Kamla Pasand. Kapil Dev, the captain of India's 1983 World Cup-winning team, has also appeared in Kamla Pasand advertisements. Net net, Mundhe might have stirred up a hornet's nest.

Surrogate advertising is a beast that is difficult to tame, especially now. Traditional television and print rules are still easier to track but social media posts by influencers with mammoth followings and even the sporadic drops by celebrities are difficult to keep tabs on. Local enforcement for global internet platforms has its own set of problems. Industry bodies like ASCI have no teeth and the CCPA faces many procedural hurdles when processing complaints against big brands.

But, to borrow from Internet idiom, at least he's trying.

THE FAILURE OF President Trump's superpower America to defeat a regional power like Iran, or to influence its ally, Israel, to stop its genocidal war in Gaza, largely explain why Saudi Arabia, Turkey, and Pakistan fear an unstable West Asia. This is the main reason why they signed the Mecca Joint Defence Agreement (MJDA) on August 7 after nearly a year of negotiations.

Wars have been fought in West Asia for nearly three years since the Hamas attack on Israel in October 2023. Israel has waged war in Gaza, invaded southern Lebanon, seized territory in Syria, and launched two air campaigns against Iran. Tehran has retaliated by turning its guns on countries having US bases, including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Bahrain, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Oman, Jordan, and Israel.

Although all three "Mecca countries" have Muslim majorities comprising more than 95% of their populations — and Sunni majorities — they have not entered into any kind of "religious" alliance against Christian-majority America, Shiite Iran, or Jewish-majority Israel. Turkey is a NATO ally, its military is the second largest, just after the US — and most of its arms come from Germany. Saudi Arabia is home to Islam's outstanding shrines and one of the world's top oil exporters. Pakistan is the only nuclear-armed member of the MJDA.

The MJDA states that an armed attack on one signatory would count as an attack on all, but it mentions no commitments or defence obligations, unlike NATO's Article 5. It cannot be an alliance because the three members lack integrated military planning, intelligence and defence industrial cooperation, and joint missile and air defences.

The MJDA is not primarily directed against Tehran, although Iran has bombed US bases in Saudi Arabia and some other West Asian countries. All three signatories are wary of Iranian power, but they also have reasons to prevent Iran's destruction or permanent isolation because that could empower Israel to dominate West Asia. Iran is actually the main counterpoise to Israel in the region. If it were defeated by the US and Israel, instability across the Gulf and Central and South Asia could prevail.

Nor is the MJDA anti-American, although Washington initially joined forces with Israel against Iran.

Saudi Arabia is an American ally; Turkey is member of NATO and has the second-largest military in the alliance, while Pakistan, an old ally, has made its diplomacy useful to the US in West Asia.

Essentially, the three Mecca countries wish to develop their individual capabilities so that they increase their clout to avert disastrous consequences of Israeli and American military actions.

In reality, they do not trust Washington either to restrain Israel or to prevent American power from being used by Israel in ways that destabilise their neighbourhood.

The signing of the MJDA follows nearly a year of negotiations, which followed America's initial strikes on Iran's nuclear facilities in 2025, soon after Trump 2.0 was inaugurated. Trump has steadily expanded America's use of military force against Iran's nuclear facilities.

Since the US and Israel attacked Iran on February 28 this year, Iran has struck back by firing on Saudi Arabia and other Gulf states having American bases, and by blocking their energy shipments.

The two noteworthy facts are that all three Mecca states have amicable ties with America, and good relationships with each other. Turkey is Pakistan's second-largest supplier of matériel — the largest is China.

China has invested economically in all three countries, and is the top trading partner of Saudi Arabia and Pakistan. The Saudi kingdom and Pakistan are on China's Belt-and-Road Initiative (BRI). Turkey's Europe-Central Asia-China "Middle Corridor" is linked to the BRI. However, the Mecca statement did not specify the commitments each had accepted and how far their agreement would bind them to any particular military action in each other's defence.

Saudi Arabia envisages the trilateral framework strengthening the three countries' collective diplomatic and defence

A pro-Israel Indian stance could add weight to any efforts by Islamabad to persuade Saudi Arabia and Turkey to take a more anti-India line

Model risk: Valves for the high bar

The depth of expertise isn't available at the scale that RBI's draft Guidance on Regulatory Principles for Model Risk Management demands

THE DRAFT GUIDANCE on Regulatory Principles for Model Risk Management, released by the RBI on June 24, requires every bank, NBFC, and co-op lender to govern every model it uses, likely prompted by the imminent spread of AI models. It is comprehensive, earnest, and up-to-date: one more notch in the RBI's push for technology adoption. It will also shape the course of AI adoption in Indian financial services, and possibly AI regulation in India more broadly. This makes its origins, intent, and likely outcomes, often at odds with intent, worth close scrutiny.

The draft's lineage is easy to trace. The chassis is American: SR 11-7 of 2011, the Fed's ur-text of model risk regulation, refreshed in April as SR 26-2. RBI, The possibly tracking it in near-real time, released its draft ten weeks later. The scope-expansion from credit models to everything, everywhere, all at once, is British, from the Bank of England's SS1/23. The lifecycle architecture is Canadian, from the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions' (OSFI) Guideline E-23. And the kill switches, human-in-the-loop mandates, and bias audits descend from the EU's AI Act, via the RBI's own FREEE-AI committee. As a survey of best practice, the draft is genuinely impressive; as regulation, it is furniture imported for a house not yet built.

Public reactions follow familiar lines: some hosannas, some angst born of a broad reading of the implications, and self-advertisements dressed up as opinion pieces from the compliance industry.

Under the draft, every model, from the credit-scoring engine down to the pricing spreadsheet Sharma-ji in the CFO's office guards like a family heirloom, must go through the wringer. For an NBFC deploying a frontier LLM for customer service, the to-do list turns onerous fast: some items are demanding but doable, others induce a "huh" and are well-nigh impossible for a small organisation, e.g. validating the model, securing contractual rights to technical documentation and audit access, and ensuring no "unexplained variation under similar inputs".

Beyond the difficulty of executing this list, the draft quietly assumes AI competence at every level of the organisation. This is a concerning assumption. The source regimes (the Fed, the Bank of England, OSFI) were built on doctoral-level quantitative talent: the Fed employs top PhDs, and the BoE confined its rules to a few sophisticated banks its specialist teams could engage with, and even they needed multi-year remediation plans. That depth of expertise is not available at the scale the draft demands, so the regime risks being supervised as paperwork and becoming paperwork. An examiner who cannot assess a validation substantively can only assess its documentation. Absent substantive change, the likely fix is consulting firms certifying everyone, at an avoidable systemic cost.

Deeper concern is the loss-facing pessimism running through the draft. The asymmetry is stark: AI-ML's many benefits go undiscussed, while the rare error takes centre stage. That over-emphasis means boards and management start by asking what can go wrong, and adoption slows. Add the arithmetic of time: frontier models iterate in months, while a compliance journey measured in quarters must restart at every update, so by the time a model clears the framework, it has been superseded. Indian financial institutions thus risk falling permanently a generation or two behind, not because the frontier is unsafe for balance enquiries, but because we will never have the money or people to push new technology through these requirements. Rules, too costly to comply with, do not produce safety; they produce abstinence, pretence, or paperwork.

The preceding is not to say the RBI is wrong to set the bar high. India's NBFC sector has its own history of stress building quietly inside black-box underwriting, and much of the retail base this draft protects has little capacity to contest an algorithm's decision. A regulator burned before has reason to prefer over-caution. The real question is not whether the bar should be high, but whether it can be met without a release valve.

The draft invokes the "Innovation over Restraint" sutra from its own FREEE-AI committee, but it mostly operationalises the restraint. The source regimes built in valves, e.g. phased scoping in Britain, negligible-risk exemptions in Canada, sandboxes in Europe. We risk importing their obligations without any of their valves. That, more than any clause, is the real risk: not that a chatbot occasionally gets a fact wrong, but that a generation of Indian financial innovation gets quietly priced out before it is born. Capital and talent go where rules are workable; if compliance costs more than the technology is worth, institutions will simply wait and call it prudence. And that may not be consumer protection so much as a slow, unintended strangulation.

None of this argues for abandoning model risk regulation but only for a few valves in the pipes before the concrete sets: a proportionate carve-out for low-risk, non-decisioning uses like a customer service bot, along the lines Canada and Britain already allow; a regulatory sandbox, of the kind the RBI has itself run for fintech, letting institutions pilot frontier models under supervision rather than clear impossible validation upfront; and a shared national testing facility, perhaps at an IIT or under the RBI's own Innovation Hub, so scarce PhDs validate once for many institutions instead of each pretending to validate alone.

Get even one or two of these into the final guidance, and the RBI can keep its hand exactly where it should be — on a kill switch poised over a malfunctioning model, not hovering over India's AI future. There is still time to add the valves before the ink dries: let Sharma-ji guard his spreadsheet, and let the customer get through before midnight.

Nobody need worry that the switch, when pressed, turns off the lights in the wrong room.

FCRA Bill: Regulate, don't penalise

"Tweak FCRA Bill" (FE, August 19) rightly argues that a stronger monitoring mechanism of foreign-funded organisations is necessary, but excessive regulatory discretion could undermine the legitimate work of civil society. We must also act firmly against dubious NGOs, including sham or related entities used for diversion of foreign funds, concealed transactions, or other regulatory abuse. However, such cases should be established through transparent investigation rather than broad administrative discretion. Genuine organisations doing credible work in education, health, humanitarian relief, and social welfare should not be penalised merely because their FCRA renewal is delayed or denied, particularly when assets created through legitimate funds may be affected. —Brij Bhushan Goyal, Ludhiana

Controversial law

The government's decision to send the controversial FCRA Bill to a joint parliamentary committee for scrutiny is welcome. Given the far-reaching implications of the proposed changes for civil society organisations, charities, and other institutions receiving foreign contributions, the Bill should not be rushed through Parliament. Particular attention is needed on provisions concerning the cancellation or surrender of FCRA registrations and the subsequent treatment of an organisation's assets. Regulatory enforcement is necessary, but it must not become a tool for arbitrary seizure of property or the disruption of legitimate public-service institutions. Surprisingly, while the government insists curbs on FCRA, it is silent on the black money used in elections to lure voters. —Gregory Fernandes, Mumbai

Beyond the model race

INDIA'S IT SERVICES EXPERTISE COULD MAKE IT A GLOBAL HUB FOR AI DEPLOYMENT

SUDHIR CHOWDHARY

THE AI MODELS are here. The harder part is putting them to work. For enterprises, that means adapting models to their needs, connecting them to existing systems and data, redesigning workflows, securing information, navigating regulations and integrating AI into thousands of everyday business processes. This is where India's decades-long leadership in IT services could give it a new advantage: becoming the world's AI deployment hub.

The biggest opportunity may not be in building the world's largest foundation models, but in helping global enterprises use them at scale. The country already has deep experience in implementing technology for global businesses, managing complex IT systems and solving the problems that arise when technology meets real-world operations. AI could give that expertise a new market and, potentially, a new business model.

India's technology industry is expected to reach about $315 billion in FY26. A HCLTech-Raconteur study of 500 enterprise decision-makers found that 90% said generative and agentic AI were transforming workflows, but only 18% reported substantial revenue gains. The gap between experimentation and business impact is where the next opportunities lie.

"Models are improving fast. But enterprises still run on legacy systems, fragmented data, policies, permissions, workflows and thousands of exceptions," says Abhinandan Jain, president—CX&global head of marketing, AIONOS. The difficult work increasingly begins after a company has selected an AI model—connecting it to the systems and processes that actually run the business.

That plays to one of the technology industry's traditional strengths. IT services companies have spent years integrating complex legacy systems, managing large technology estates and adapting global platforms to the requirements of industries such as banking, healthcare, manufacturing and retail. AI deployment will require many of the same capabilities, but with a new layer of intelligence built into them.

The opportunity extends well beyond implementation. Companies will need help selecting and adapting models, connecting them to proprietary data, building AI agents,

THE BIG SHIFT

■ The biggest opportunity for IT firms lies in turning AI into scalable outcomes

■ Enterprises need help integrating AI with data, systems and workflows

■ The next AI phase will shift from pilots to scaled deployment across enterprises

■ IT firms should build AI stacks at scale, spanning data and agentic layers

JASPREET BINDRA, FOUNDER, AI&BEYOND

AI is shifting IT services from selling manpower to delivering productivity and business outcomes at scale

ABHINANDAN JAIN, PRESIDENT—CX, AIONOS

The opportunity is to become the operating layer between AI and enterprises, not add more people

ATUL SONEJA, COO, TECH MAHINDRA

Indian companies need to invest in industry-specific IP, not just as accelerators that serve as point solutions redesigning workflows and putting governance around systems that can increasingly make decisions. For Indian technology providers, this opens the possibility of moving from being an army of technology workers to becoming the technology layer through which firms adopt AI.

Atul Soneja, chief operating officer, Tech Mahindra, describes this next phase as the "industrialisation of AI"—moving from pilots to scaled deployment. That distinction matters because an enterprise AI system needs to understand the context in which it is operating, follow company policies, access right information, work with existing applications and know when a human needs to intervene.

This could also create a new market for industry-specific AI. "Open models alone do not perform optimally in specific customer domains," Soneja says. Models need to be selected, trained and adapted to particular business environments, often with domain experts involved. That creates an opportunity for IT companies to build reusable intellectual property around sectors and workflows rather than simply configuring technology developed elsewhere.

There is another emerging opportunity: managing AI itself. As enterprises deploy thousands of AI agents across customer service, finance, HR and technology operations, they will need people to monitor those systems, evaluate their performance and deal with exceptions. Jain believes managing AI will soon be a job in itself.

The country's experience in BPO could prove useful here as well. BPO firms have spent decades dealing with the exceptions and edge cases that sit behind straightforward business processes. AI can handle predictable tasks, leaving people to deal with situations that require judgement, empathy or escalation. The combination could create a new model for enterprise operations rather than simply making existing processes faster.

The bigger shift, however, will be in how IT companies make money. "The real pivot is from labour arbitrage to intelligence arbitrage," says Jaspreet Bindra, founder, AI&Beyond. If AI enables providers to deliver more outcomes with fewer people, the industry will have to move away from selling manpower and hours towards selling productivity, business outcomes and reusable technology.

The transition will not be easy. Global capability centres are becoming sophisticated, AI-native firms are moving deeper into enterprise technology, and some businesses may build critical AI capabilities themselves. Indian IT firms will need to invest in domain expertise, AI engineering, governance and IP rather than rely mainly on workforce scale.

The opportunity, however, remains significant. India's large technology-services industry, engineering talent and experience with complex enterprise systems provide a strong foundation. The country may not build the biggest foundation models, but it could become the hub for deploying, integrating and making them useful in real-world businesses.

Turning context into value

EVERY TECHNOLOGY WAVE begins with a breakthrough, but value appears only when it works at scale. For enterprise AI, contextual understanding was the breakthrough. After years of learning the language of business, its next test is whether it can act reliably and create measurable impact.

The first phase of adoption rested on a simple assumption: the more information an AI system could absorb, the better its decisions would become. Companies connected AI models to documents, customer histories, transaction records and institutional knowledge. Feeding AI every possible input, a trend referred to here as "context-maxxing," became a proxy for intelligence.

That investment was necessary. AI must understand operations, intent, and business priorities before it can act responsibly.

But enterprise AI is now reaching an inflection point. Maturity will no longer be judged by how much context an AI system consumes, but by how dependably that understanding translates into action and whether those actions generate measurable business outcomes. The maturity journey extends from "context-maxxing" (what an AI can understand), through "execution-maxxing" (what it can reliably do) and, ultimately to "outcome-maxxing" (the business value it can deliver).

Context remains foundational, but maximising it is not the same as improving it. The key takeaway is that AI needs to know the right things. Excessive context can create conflicting signals, increase costs and distract systems from their objective. Real capability lies in identifying the smallest set of timely and relevant information needed to make sound decisions.

ANUJ BHALLA

Yet, choosing the right context solves only half the problem. Imagine an employee who knows every policy, customer, and process but never finishes any work. Many AI systems are still at this stage.

Value emerges when understanding leads to execution. In retail, AI that understands refund policies, purchase history, and fraud rules can process eligible refunds while escalating exceptions. In billing, it can resolve routine disputes, route approvals, and close cases. In supply chain operations, it can identify disruptions, recommend inventory reallocations, and alert teams before delays affect customers.

The pattern is consistent. AI must perceive the right context, reason over what matters, act within defined boundaries, and measure what changes as a result. A 2025 McKinsey survey found that larger organisations were more likely than smaller ones to have scaled AI. Yet only 39% of respondents reported any enterprise-level impact on Ebit (earnings before interest and taxes). In many cases, adoption is advancing faster than measurable value creation.

The future of enterprise AI will belong to organisations that master three capabilities: building rich contextual awareness, avoiding context dilution, and translating understanding into reliable execution. Context enables informed decisions. Execution turns decisions into outcomes. Outcomes create business value.

Together, this progression from context to execution and to outcomes represents the true maturity curve of enterprise AI and the standard by which its success will be measured.

Tripura steps up startup push

TRIPURA IS EXPANDING its startup ecosystem with the launch of the T-RISE portal, connecting entrepreneurs with mentors, investors and government agencies. The state has also partnered with HDFC Bank, Amazon.in and Zoho to provide startups access to financial services. Under its new policy, Tripura has received 185+ applications, approved 140 registrations and recognised 70 startups, with more than ₹2.72 cr provided via seed funding.

A smarter way to handle languages

FOR ENTERPRISE CONVERSATIONAL SYSTEMS, the challenge is not just identifying a language but knowing when a customer wants to switch. Bengaluru-based Blue Machines AI is addressing this with Floe, a context-aware language detection model that supports 1.1 Indian languages. The model is for voice and chat interactions and has shown less than 10 milliseconds of latency in company's internal production-scale tests.

● What exactly has Meta launched?

LAST WEEK, META released Muse Glimmer, a 30-billion-parameter AI model designed specifically for agentic tasks that can run locally on consumer hardware. Unlike AI models that depend on cloud servers to process requests, Glimmer can operate on a Mac or PC within a 24–32 GB memory envelope. The company has released the model weights under an Apache 2.0 licence, allowing developers to download, run, modify and build applications around it.

● Significance of the model running on a laptop

MOST ADVANCED AI models are run in large data centres because of the computing power and memory they require. Meta says a 30-billion-parameter model running at full precision would require more than 55 GB of memory. It has used quantisation to compress Glimmer's weights to around 4-bit precision, bringing the model below 20 GB and allowing it to run within a 24 GB or 32 GB memory envelope. Meta has tested the model on systems including Apple's M4 Max and M5 Max and Nvidia's RTX 5090. This means developers can potentially run the model locally without sending their data to an external cloud server or requiring a constant Internet connection. Glimmer can make a plan, call tools available to it, examine the results and continue working towards a goal.

MUSE GLIMMER

What Meta's new AI model means

Meta's release of Muse Glimmer has brought the debate over open-weight AI back into focus, with the company making a 30-billion-parameter model available to developers that can run on a laptop or a single consumer GPU. Rishi Raj explains what the launch means

● What does open-weight mean?

OPEN-WEIGHT MEANS Meta is releasing the trained parameters, or weights, of the AI model so developers can download and run the model themselves. The weights essentially contain what the model has learned during training. This is different from accessing an AI model through an API, where the company retains control of the model and users pay to send requests to its servers. With Glimmer, developers can take the model, run it on their own infrastructure and customise it.

FOOTPRINT OF GLIMMER ALLOWS IT TO RUN ON A LOCAL DEVICE

CHINESE COMPANIES HAVE RELEASED SEVERAL POWERFUL OPEN-WEIGHT MODELS, WHILE LEADING US DEVELOPERS SUCH AS OPENAI AND ANTHROPIC HAVE LARGELY KEPT THEIR MOST CAPABLE MODELS CLOSED

● Is open-weight the same as open-source?

OPEN-SOURCE IS A broader concept that involves making the underlying source code available for inspection, modification and redistribution under an open-source licence. An AI model can be open-weight without every element of its development being open. The company may release the weights and some of the software required to run the model without releasing all of its training data, training infrastructure or complete training process. In Glimmer's case, Meta is releasing the weights under the permissive Apache 2.0 licence, while also providing inference code and developer documentation.

Open-weight models can be downloaded and run by companies themselves, giving them greater control over data and potentially reducing dependence on cloud-based AI services. It also reflects the growing competition between US and Chinese AI developers. Chinese firms have released several powerful open-weight models, while leading US developers such as OpenAI and Anthropic have largely kept their most capable models closed.

● Zuckerberg's views about US policy

ZUCKERBERG IS SAYING that US companies face greater restrictions on areas such as training data and AI distillation than some foreign competitors. He wants the US to reduce what he calls this additional friction if American companies are to remain competitive in open-weight AI.

● What is AI distillation & why is it controversial?

DISTILLATION IS A technique in which a smaller model learns from the outputs of a much larger and more capable model. The aim is to transfer some of the larger model's capabilities into a smaller system that requires less computing power to operate. Meta says Glimmer was trained using outputs from its much larger Muse Spark model, followed by further training and reinforcement learning.

● Is Meta moving away from bigger AI models?

NOT NECESSARILY. THE company is doing both. Glimmer is designed to bring agentic AI to local devices, but Meta has also said it will release the weights of Muse Spark 1.2, its more advanced foundation model, in the coming weeks.

● What is the larger significance of Glimmer?

THE LAUNCH REPRESENTS a push to make AI less dependent on the cloud. If increasingly capable models can run locally, developers and businesses can potentially build applications where data remains on the user's device, while avoiding some cloud inference costs and connectivity requirements.

Vehicle finance sees segmented, diversified growth

BORROWER BASE EXPANDS

FE BUREAU
Chennai, August 19

INDIA'S VEHICLE FINANCE market is entering a phase of more segmented and diversified growth, with commercial vehicles and used cars emerging as key drivers, alongside a premiumisation trend in auto financing, according to CRIF High Mark's latest report, Wheels and Ambition: A Research Report on India's Vehicle Finance Landscape.

Commercial vehicle loans recorded a 20.1% five-year compound annual growth rate (CAGR), rising to ₹7.4 lakh crore in June 2026 from June 2021, while used-car loans emerged as the fastest-growing segment, registering a 26.2% CAGR to ₹1.3 lakh crore during the same period.

The used-car segment also saw its borrower base expand 2.4 times to 3 million, underscoring its growing formalisation and emergence as a mainstream credit segment. Its share of total vehicle financing increased to 0.7% from 0.5% over the five-year period.

Two-wheeler financing remains the largest borrower segment, with the borrower base increasing from around 23 million in June 2021 to 36 million in June 2026. The segment continues to attract new borrowers, with 80% of borrowers being new to the product. Its share of total vehicle financing remained stable at 1.1%.

Auto loans are also showing signs of a premium-led recovery, with average exposure per borrower growing at a 9.2% CAGR between June 2021 and June 2026. The share of auto loans above ₹15 lakh increased from 27.6% in Q1 FY25 to 29.8% in Q1 FY27, pointing to a shift towards higher-value vehicles.

FCNR(B) decision data-driven: Guv

THE OUTSTANDING forward leg would be shown as a contingent liability and remain an off-balance-sheet item.

On the rupee and the RBI's record net short forward-dollar position, Malhotra said the position remained "very manageable". It was primarily the result of swaps previously undertaken to infuse liquidity and the latest facilities intended to strengthen the balance-of-payments position.

"The exchange rate continues to be market determined. Our policy on intervention remains the same, which is to curb excessive volatility and any undue speculative activity," he said. The RBI remained committed to ensuring orderly financial conditions and orderly movements in the exchange rate, he added.

On monetary policy, Malhotra said domestic growth-inflation dynamics would remain the principal determinant of monetary policy, though global macroeconomic conditions and geopolitical developments would also be taken into account because of their impact on the Indian economy.

On risks from the monsoon and El Niño, the governor said the rainfall deficit was about 12.6% and net sowing was 2% lower than last year. However, food buffers were adequate and the government had been proactive in managing supply-side pressures. Agriculture had also become more resilient to monsoon-related uncertainty because of better farming practices, drought-resistant seeds and increased irrigation coverage. Malhotra also expressed confidence in the health of banks and non-banking financial companies. Banks had a capital-to-risk-weighted-assets ratio of nearly 18% and a liquidity coverage ratio of about 127%. Gross and net non-performing asset ratios stood at 1.7% and 0.4%, respectively. "As of now, we do not see any vulnerability in any particular sector," Malhotra said.

On the RBI's move towards principle-based regulation, Malhotra said its approach was to make regulation proportionate to the risks and capabilities of regulated entities. Although regulations continued to combine rules and principles, the RBI was increasingly moving towards a principle-based framework.

J&K important part of India: Gor in Srinagar

NAVEED IQBAL
Srinagar, August 19

IN A STRONG endorsement of New Delhi's long-standing position on Jammu & Kashmir, US Ambassador Sergio Gor, who was in Srinagar Wednesday on his maiden visit to the Valley, described J&K as "an important part of India" and signalled that Washington would review the situation in the Union Territory to downgrade and ease travel warnings for US citizens.

Gor met Chief Minister Omar Abdullah at his Gupkar Road residence, marking the first standalone visit to the Valley by a serving US Ambassador since the abrogation of Article 370 in August 2019. In January 2020, Kenneth Juster, the then Ambassador, had visited the Valley as part of a government-facilitated delegation of foreign envoys.

Stating that he was "thrilled" to be in the Valley, Gor said, "This is an important part of India. I am here, visiting for the first time. It's an incredibly beautiful place."

He is expected to travel to Ladakh Thursday.

He said he had "a very warm, very cordial" meeting with the chief minister. "We have some follow-ups that we hope to take back to Washington and back to Delhi. We look forward to building this relationship."

Bangladeshis among 9 killed in Kolkata fire

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Kolkata, August 19

NINE PEOPLE, INCLUDING a four-year-old child, were killed and six injured when a fire swept through a five-storey building housing several hotels in central Kolkata on Wednesday, with several Bangladeshis among the dead, prompting the government to order a statewide fire-safety audit.

Officials of the state government and the Bangladesh Deputy High Commission initially said five of the deceased were Bangladeshis, including a woman and a child.

However, sources at the Bangladesh mission later said the number of Bangladeshis killed in the blaze had risen to seven, adding that an official statement would be issued on Thursday morning.

The blaze at Shikha Inn on Mirza Ghalib Street, near the New Market area, came barely 48 hours after another hotel fire in Tarapith killed nine people, putting the safety standards of the state's hospitality sector under renewed scrutiny.

Fire and Emergency Services Minister Kaushik Chowdhury said the fire brigade received the call at 2.07 am and began rescue operations a minute later. Five fire tenders were deployed and around 80 people were rescued. Yet the speed of the response could not compensate for the building's lack of escape options.

- Substantial portion of our revenue from operations is from our top 10 customers (which accounted for 62.61%, 83.89% and 55.70% of our total revenue from operations for the Fiscal Year ended March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024). Loss of any such customers or reduction in business or demand from such customers will have a significant adverse impact on our business and results of operation.
- We are dependent upon few suppliers for the material requirements of our business. Further, we do not have definitive agreements or fixed terms of trade with most of our suppliers. Failure to successfully leverage our relationships with existing suppliers or to identify new suppliers could adversely affect our business operations.
- Any disruptions to the supply, or increases in the pricing, of the raw materials and finished products that we procure, may adversely affect the supply and pricing of our products and, in turn, adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.
- Our revenues are significantly dependent on certain geographical regions, and any adverse developments in these regions could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- Our success is dependent on our relationship with our customers, and we do not, generally enter into long term purchase contracts. This exposes us to risk emanating from the inability to retain our established customers as our clients.
- If we are unable to effectively manage or expand our sales and service network or pursue our growth strategy, our business prospects, financial condition, and results of operations may be adversely affected.
- We require certain approvals, licenses and permits for our operations, and failure to obtain or renew them in a timely manner may adversely affect our business.
- Our manufacturing operations are concentrated in Maharashtra, exposing us to regional and local risks. Any significant disruption in this region could materially and adversely affect our manufacturing operations, business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.
- Our Statutory Auditor have included certain qualifications in the Annexure to the Auditor's Report for financial statements pertaining to F.Y. 2022-23
- Our net cash flows have been negative in some years in the past. Any negative cash flow in the future may affect our liquidity and financial condition.

DISCLAIMER STATEMENT OF INDIA RATINGS AND RESEARCH PRIVATE LIMITED: India Ratings & Research Private Limited ("India Ratings") is a Credit Rating Agency registered with the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) under Section 12 of the SEBI Act, 1992. In this capacity, India Ratings undertakes ratings of listed and proposed to be listed instruments that fall under the regulatory oversight of SEBI. In addition, in line with Regulation 9(f) of the SEBI (Credit Rating Agencies) Regulation, 1999, India Ratings rates financial instruments falling under the purview of other Financial Sector Regulators (FSR). Instruments which come under the purview of other FSRs do not come under the overall governance of SEBI. Issuers/Users/readers of this document are, therefore, cautioned to know the risks involved in dealing in such instruments. Such instruments can carry Liquidity and Price Risk which pertains to how saleable a Security is in the market. If a particular Security does not have a market at the time of sale, then the Investors' investments may have to bear an impact depending on its exposure to that particular Security. It is not possible to predict if, and to what extent, a secondary market may develop in the debt securities or at what price the debt securities will trade in the secondary market or whether such market will be liquid or illiquid. The more limited the secondary market is, the more difficult it may be for holders of the debt securities to realise value for the debt securities prior to redemption of the debt securities. If the debt securities are unlisted, then the ability of the Investors to resell or trade them may be limited, leading to liquidity and price risk on the debt securities. The returns from a particular asset class may underperform returns from other asset classes. The changes in government policy in general and changes in taxation may impact the returns to investors. There can be external risks arising out of geopolitical situations which can lead to volatility in/impact the performance of the individual securities. Issuers/Users/readers are advised to note that SEBI's investor protection mechanisms and SEBI's grievance or dispute redressal mechanisms are not applicable to ratings assigned by India Ratings that fall under the purview of other FSRs. Should you have any grievance with instruments under the purview of other FSRs, please write to info@indiaratings.co.in. For any grievance with instruments under the purview of SEBI, please write to investor.grievances@indiaratings.co.in. Further, India Ratings relies on information obtained from multiple sources and there may be instances where the information is not accurate/incomplete, despite efforts been taken to verify the same. Ultimately, the issuer/its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to India Ratings and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its rating, India Ratings relies on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings can be affected by future events or conditions that may not have been anticipated at the time a rating was issued or affirmed. It needs to be noted that ratings are not a recommendation or suggestion, directly or indirectly, to you or any other person, to buy, sell, make or hold any investment, loan or security or to undertake any investment strategy with respect to any investment, loan or security of any issuer. Credit Ratings do not comment on the adequacy of market price, the suitability of any investment, loan or security for a particular investor (including without limitation, any accounting and/or regulatory treatment), or the tax-exempt nature or taxability of payments made in respect of any investment, loan or security. The Rating Agency shall neither construed to be nor acting under the capacity or nature of an 'expert' as defined under Section 2(38) of the Companies Act, 2013. India Ratings does not provide any financial, legal, auditing, accounting, appraisal, valuation or actuarial services in any manner. A rating should not be viewed as a replacement for such advice or services. Investors may find our ratings to be important information, and India Ratings notes that you are responsible for communicating the contents of this letter, and any changes with respect to the rating, to investors.

Our failure to secure new projects, delays in project execution or payments, or any reduction in government spending or change in government policies may adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

3. Customer Concentration Risk – Significant Dependence on Top Ten Customers: We are dependent on our top ten customers in respect of our business. Our top 10 customers contributed to 97.96%, 98.25% and 95.90% of our revenue from operations during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Any loss of any major customer may adversely impact revenue of our business. Any decrease in demand from such customers, the loss of such customers or our inability to diversify our customer base could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.
4. Order Book Risk - Uncertainty in Execution and Realisation: Our Order Book may not necessarily translate into future revenue in its entirety. Details of our Order Book, for Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively are as follows:

(in ₹ million)

Particulars	Fiscal 2026	Fiscal 2025	Fiscal 2024
Order Book*	9,386.53	4,796.73	7,077.65

*Our Order Book comprises of the potential revenue from unexecuted portion of the projects that have been awarded to us, which is exclusive of applicable taxes.

As on June 30, 2026, our Order Book was ₹ 10,050.55 million. There can be no assurance that the revenue anticipated in our Order Book will actually be realized as revenues or, if realized, will be realized on time or result in profits. Our contracts are subject to cancellation, termination, or suspension at the discretion of the customer and may be subject to change in the scope of services. We have also faced instances of short closure/termination of projects, delay in obtaining RoW and extensions in completion of project milestones, and have paid liquidated damages of ₹0.90 million, ₹8.52 million and ₹42.07 million during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Any such delays, short closures, cancellation, payment default or failure to execute projects as planned could adversely affect our cash flow position, revenues and/or profit.

5. Geographical Concentration Risk- Concentration of Revenue in Select States: Our business is relatively concentrated in the States of Bihar, Jharkhand, Goa, West Bengal and Madhya Pradesh, which contributed more than 70.00% of our revenue from operations for Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024.

Name of State/ Union Territory	Fiscal 2026		Fiscal 2025		Fiscal 2024

Bihar	780.50	32.35	671.02	37.27	666.29	43.27
Madhya Pradesh	83.68	3.47	310.00	17.22	76.73	4.98
Goa	358.64	14.87	113.86	6.32	236.99	15.39
Jharkhand	231.08	9.58	279.83	15.54	204.40	13.27
Delhi	73.61	3.05	123.83	6.88	60.19	3.91

Odisha	92.97	3.85	59.15	3.28	55.06	3.58
West Bengal	418.15	17.33	157.92	8.77	213.73	13.88
Andaman and Nicobar Islands	2.12	0.09	12.26	0.68	9.17	0.60

Total	2,412.48	100.00	1,800.66	100.00	1,539.82	100.00

This regional concentration subjects us to risks including regional slowdown in infrastructure activities or reduction in infrastructure projects, changes in laws, policies and regulations and the political and economic environment, and perception by potential customers that we are a regional contractor, which may hamper us from securing contracts in other regions and competing for large and complex projects at the national level. While we strive to geographically diversify our project portfolio and reduce our concentration risk, we cannot assure you that adverse developments associated with the region will not impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

6. Contractual Risk – Delays May Result in Liquidated Damages, Penalties and Invocation of Bank Guarantees : We could incur losses under our project contracts and services contracts with our customers or be subjected to disputes or contractual penalties, liquidated damages as a result of delays or failures to meet contract specifications or delivery schedules. We may be unable to obtain approvals for extension in meeting delivery schedules. We paid an amount of ₹ 0.90 million, ₹ 8.52 million and ₹ 42.07 million towards liquidated damages during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024. Imposition of such penalties or liquidated damages may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.
7. Contingent Liability Risk – Potential Financial Obligations: Our contingent liabilities stood at ₹ 1,008.66 million, ₹ 926.62 million and ₹ 751.46 million as at March 31, 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. As of March 31, 2026, total contingent liabilities were equivalent to 64.97% of our Net Worth, of which bank guarantees accounted for ₹ 894.94 million and statutory tax matters for ₹ 95.13 million, the latter representing approximately 6.13% of Net Worth. Our Company has not made any provision in its books for these contingent liabilities. If any of our future contingent liabilities become actual liabilities, our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations may be adversely affected.
8. Cash Flow Risk - Fluctuating Cash Flows: Our Company has fluctuating cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024. We had negative cash flows from operating activities of ₹ 2.47 million and ₹ 353.78 million during Fiscals 2026 and 2025, respectively. Fluctuating cash flows could materially impact our ability to operate our business and implement our growth plans and could materially and adversely affect our cash flows, business, future financial performance and results of operations.

Our cash flows for the periods indicated are set out below:

(in ₹ million)

Particulars	Fiscal 2026 (Consolidated)	Fiscal 2025 (Standalone)	Fiscal 2024 (Standalone)
Net cash flow from/(used in) operating activities	(2.47)	(353.78)	82.05
Net cash flow from/(used in) investing activities	(234.40)	(14.09)	(39.20)
Cash flow from/ (used in) financing activities	261.14	342.77	(39.93)

9. Supplier Concentration Risk - Dependence on Key Suppliers: We are dependent on our top ten suppliers for supply of materials. Details of expenses incurred on suppliers during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 are as follows:

(in ₹ million, except otherwise stated)

Particulars	Fiscal 2026		Fiscal 2025		Fiscal 2024
	Amount	As a % of total purchase	Amount	As a % of total purchase	Amount	As a % of total purchase
Expenses incurred on supplies from top ten suppliers	362.86	67.92%	505.04	69.23%	338.72	72.48%

The loss of one or more key suppliers for any reason, such as an inability to negotiate acceptable purchase terms, dispute, suppliers' adverse financial changes, could negatively impact our business, operations, and financial conditions. While we have not faced any instance of disruption of procurement of materials that led to any material adverse impact on our business and operations during Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, we cannot assure you that such instances will not occur in the future and we will not lose any major supplier in the future.

10. Liquidity Risk – Delays in Customer Payments: We are engaged with Government Customers, typically, it takes longer time to receive payments from Government Customers despite clear payment milestones in the agreements. It leads to longer trade receivable cycle. The outstanding trade receivables as on Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 are as follows:

(in ₹ million, except otherwise stated)

Fiscal 2026		Fiscal 2025		Fiscal 2024
Outstanding trade receivables	As a % of total purchase	Outstanding trade receivables	As a % of total purchase	Outstanding trade receivables	As a % of total purchase
1,567.70	64.98%	804.13	44.66%	580.41	37.69%
Trade receivable days in proportion of revenue from operations
237		163		138

Note: The trade receivable provided herein exclude Unbilled Revenue.

Delays or defaults in payments from customers could adversely affect the recoverability of our trade receivables, cash flows and working capital requirements. Legal action to enforce contractual obligations may be challenging and may not result in a favourable or timely outcome, which could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

11. Working Capital Risk - High Working Capital Requirements: We have ongoing working capital requirements for purchase of materials and execution of performance securities for our projects. Our working capital gap increased from ₹454.11 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹1,569.24 million in Fiscal 2026, primarily reflecting higher trade receivables and unbilled revenue. Any shortage in working capital may restrict our ability to provide collateral, secure letters of credit, bank guarantees or security deposits and bid for new projects, and could adversely affect our business operations and financial flexibility.

12. Regulatory Risk - Right of Way (RoW) dependency: Our projects require Right of Way (RoW), and delays in obtaining RoW, including due to failure of the principal employer to acquire land free of encumbrances or delays in our facilitation of the process, may result in project delays, cancellation, changes in scope, payment delays or disputes. We have experienced one instance of inordinate delay in securing RoW for our Malda TE-NTPC Farakka via Khejuriaghat OFC route project in West Bengal, awarded on October 22, 2018, for which the principal employer has still not obtained RoW. Recurrence of such delays could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Advertisement giving details of notice of special resolution for varying the terms of any contract referred to in the prospectus or altering the objects for which the prospectus was issued

Corporate Identification Number (CIN) -U24231TG2001PLC036043

Name of the company- SAI PARENTERALS LIMITED
Registered office address- Plot No. 39, 5th Floor Lavanya Arcade, Jayabheri Enclave, Hyderabad, Telangana, 500032

Notice is hereby given that by a resolution dated 11th August, 2026 the Board has proposed to vary the objects of which prospectus dated March 28th, 2026 was issued in connection with issue of 1,04,28,288 equity shares at an issue price of Rs. 392/- per equity share aggregating to Rs. 409 Crores Only.

In pursuance of the said resolution, further notice is hereby given that, for approving the said proposition, a special resolution is required to be passed by way of postal ballot or at a meeting of the shareholders.

The details regarding such variation/alteration are as follows:

1) Particulars of the terms of the contract to be varied (or objects to be altered)-
(Rs. in million)

S. No.	Original objects of the IPO as stated in Prospectus	Amount raised	Amount utilised as on 30.06.2026	Unutilized IPO proceeds	Amount/ Details of variation in objects
1	Capacity expansion and upgradation of manufacturing facilities	1,107.95	68.05	201.56	Rs.838.34 million shall be utilized towards acquisition of 60% Equity Shares in Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited
2	Establishment of a new R&D Centre	180.23	0	180.23	Rs.180.23 million shall be utilized towards acquisition of 60% Equity Shares in Prathyak Laboratories Private Limited

2) Particulars of the proposed variation/alteration-

- By utilising Rs.838.34 million, out of the Rs.1,107.95 million originally allocated towards Object 1, for the acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited.
- By utilising Rs.180.23 million, originally allocated towards Object 2, for the acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Prathyak Laboratories Private Limited.

3) Reasons/justification for the variation-
Object 1: Capacity expansion and upgradation of manufacturing facilities:
The Government of Telangana vide G.O. Ms. No. 27 dated 22.11.2025 has introduced the Hyderabad Industrial Lands Transformation Policy (HILTP) with the objective of facilitating the phased relocation of manufacturing industries from the Core Urban Region of Hyderabad to newly developed industrial clusters located outside the Outer Ring Road (ORR). In view of these policy developments, the Company considered the regulatory position regarding approvals for further upgradation of manufacturing facilities located within the identified areas while evaluating its future manufacturing expansion plans.

In parallel, the Company undertook a comprehensive technical, financial and regulatory feasibility assessment to evaluate more efficient strategic alternatives to the proposed upgradation of its existing sterile injectable manufacturing facilities. Based on this assessment, the Company identified the development of a new state-of-the-art sterile injectable manufacturing facility outside the Outer Ring Road (ORR) as a more sustainable and strategically advantageous alternative for achieving the underlying objectives disclosed in the Prospectus.

During this strategic evaluation, the Company identified an opportunity to acquire a controlling 60% equity stake in Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited, which, is constructing a state-of-the-art critical care injectable manufacturing facility at Gummadiala, Hyderabad, designed to meet international regulatory standards including EU-GMP and USFDA.

Object 2: Establishment of a new R&D Centre:
The Company proposes to acquire a 60% equity stake in Prathyak Laboratories Private Limited (“Prathyak”). Prathyak has established pharmaceutical R&D organisation at Genome Valley, Hyderabad. The proposed acquisition will provide the Company with immediate access to an existing R&D facility, experienced scientific personnel, specialised research capabilities and an ongoing product development pipeline. Instead of setting up a new R&D Centre from the ground up, the Company proposes to acquire an established R&D platform that is expected to achieve the same objectives in a shorter timeframe and with lower execution risk.

4) Effect of the proposed variation/alteration on the financial position of the company-
The proposed variation will not result in any increase in the total amount of the IPO proceeds proposed to be utilised for the respective objects. The Company proposes to utilise Rs.838.34 million, out of the amount originally earmarked for capacity expansion and upgradation of manufacturing facilities, towards the acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited. Similarly, Rs.180.23 million, originally allocated for establishment of the Research and Development (R&D) Centre, will be utilised towards the acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Prathyak Laboratories Private Limited.

Accordingly, the proposed variations do not involve any additional utilisation of the IPO proceeds beyond the amounts originally approved by the shareholders. Instead, it changes the mode of implementation of the approved objectives by utilising the allocated funds for acquiring controlling stakes in established businesses that are expected to achieve the same strategic objectives.

5) Major Risk factors pertaining to the new Objects-
a) The proposed acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited is subject to execution of definitive agreements, receipt of statutory and regulatory approvals, fulfilment of customary conditions and completion of the transaction. Any delay in these processes may impact the proposed implementation timeline. Since the manufacturing facility is currently under development, there may be delays in construction, installation of equipment, validation activities or receipt of regulatory approvals required for commencement of commercial production. Following completion of the acquisition, the Company will also undertake integration of the operations and systems of Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited with its own. The continued involvement of the existing promoters, who will retain a 40% equity stake, is expected to support a smooth transition and continuity in project execution.

Further, as disclosed under Risk Factor No. 13 on pages 45 and 46 of the Prospectus, the operations at Unit 1 and Unit II are proposed to remain suspended until the commencement of commercial operations at the manufacturing facility of Saiacriti Pharma Private Limited.

b) The proposed acquisition of a 60% equity stake in Prathyak Laboratories Private Limited is subject to execution of definitive agreements, completion of due diligence, receipt of statutory and regulatory approvals, fulfilment of customary conditions precedent and completion of the transaction. Any delay in satisfying these requirements may impact the proposed implementation timeline. Following completion of the acquisition, the Company will integrate Prathyak's operations, management systems, quality processes and business functions with its own. Effective integration will be important to realise the expected benefits of the acquisition. The Company will also be dependent on retaining Prathyak's experienced scientific personnel and technical expertise, which are integral to its research and development capabilities and ongoing product development programmes.

6) Names of Directors who voted against the proposed variation/alteration- None
Any interested person may obtain the copy of the special resolution along with the explanatory statement free of charge at the registered office of the company or at the office of its Company Secretary Ms. Shivali Aggarwal at the registered office of company or visit the website of the Company <https://www.saiparenterals.com/> for a copy of the same.

APEX COURT SEEKS AFFIDAVIT IN THREE WEEKS

Institutionalise NTA reforms, what steps taken so far: SC to Centre

ANANTHAKRISHNAN G
New Delhi, August 19

UNDERLINING THE NEED to “institutionalise” the National Testing Agency (NTA) and its reforms, the Supreme Court on Wednesday asked the Centre to file an affidavit, within three weeks, on the action taken to implement the recommendations of the earlier expert committee headed by former Isro chairman K Radhakrishnan and the recent task force under Infosys co-founder Nandan Nilekani.

Citing the example of the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC), Justice PS Narasimha, presiding over a two-judge bench, said the NTA, too, should become “a vibrant institution like that.” “Take the UPSC for example. Over a period of time, regularly, they are conducting exam after exam foolproof, which means they have institutional memory, institutional expertise. We want this institution (NTA), if it has to be entrusted with the obligation of conducting exams year after year, to ensure that it also upgrades itself and remains a vibrant institution like that,” he said.

The bench, which included Justice Alok Aradhe, was hearing petitions seeking restructuring of the NTA in the wake of the NEET-UG paper leak.

A man offers refreshments to youths to break an indefinite hunger strike following the decision to cancel recruitment examinations, in Ranchi, Jharkhand, on Wednesday

“We are informed that the Nandan Nilekani committee, which has been constituted to recommend end-to-end reforms focusing on leveraging advanced technology like AI and blockchain to strengthen security and integrity in examinations, has convened a meeting to consider various recommendations... We direct the Secretary to file an affidavit indicating in detail the steps that have been taken to implement the suggestions made by the Radhakrishnan committee, as reflected and nuanced by the Nandan Nilekani committee. This affidavit, containing all details and indicative timelines, shall be filed within a period of three weeks from today,” the court said in its order.

Justice Narasimha said the Nilekani committee must “review the recommendations of the Radhakrishnan committee” and improve upon it if necessary.

“Why we are saying this is, the reason is this: You can’t get into this — one committee gives recommendations, and then lock, stock and barrel, we leave it, and another committee starts. And then, yet another committee starts. There must be some continuity... Let the new committee go into the recommendations made by the Radhakrishnan committee,” he said, adding that Radhakrishnan could also be made a part of the new committee.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, who appeared for the Centre, said he had already spoken to the government on this.

Justice Narasimha pointed out that there were two more committees, before the Radhakrishnan committee, and added that the recommendations must not remain on paper but “must translate into action.” The bench, which perused a progress report filed by the Centre through Mehta, said it is “concerned about the institutionalisation of the Agency (NTA) with all necessary infrastructure, manpower and other technological capabilities.”

“Maintaining the integrity of the exams is what we are concerned about... how do we institutionalise? You have to train and prepare the personnel for times to come, not just for one examination, (put in place) candidate-friendly arrangements, grievance mechanism... Then strengthening physical and intellectual capacity. This is the most important,” Justice Narasimha said. He underlined the need to secure office premises and operational infrastructure.

The court also pointed to the need to ensure digital security, saying that technology keeps changing with every exam.

Connected TV audience grows threefold since 2022: Report

CHRISTINA MONIZ
Mumbai, August 19

CONNECTED TV (CTV) growth in India has reached a scale that is compelling advertisers to rethink their marketing plans for the medium.

According to a report by WPP Media and The Trade Desk, with research conducted by Ormax Media, the country’s CTV households grew threefold since 2022 to reach 62-65 million homes this year, which translates to 207 million viewers.

One CTV impression now reaches an average of 2.5 people, considering that over 80% of the viewing happens with family or others while only 19% watch alone. The growing trend of shared watching is driving brands to now reassess reach, frequency and household impact.

The report, titled The Connected TV Era, also notes that rural CTV viewership saw a notable 110% year-on-year growth. Small towns grew 55% and mini-metros 46%, against 21% in metros, clearly

BY LEAPS & BOUNDS

■ CTV households reached 62-65 mn homes this year

■ Audiences grew by 55% in small towns, 46% in mini-metros and 21% in metros

■ Gen Z viewers spend 3.1 hours a day on CTV compared with 4.3 hours a day on mobile indicating that the next phase of growth is likely to come from mass adoption. This could change the medium’s premium, urban positioning over the next few years.

That said, the report notes that the platform still holds a lot of potential in targeting premium audiences. Among all the CTV users surveyed, 83% seek more information after seeing an ad, rising to 89% among premium viewers. The premium urban audience of 21 million over indexes across categories such as travel, financial services, home furnishings and shopping memberships, making this cohort valuable to advertisers seeking high value consumers. The implication for advertisers therefore is that CTV is capable of delivering premium audiences and national reach.

The most sought-after Gen Z viewers consume CTV content across two screens, spending around 3.1 hours a day on the medium, compared with 4.3 hours on mobile.

These audiences watch a range of programmes from web series and sports to movies on CTV, challenging the mobile-only perception among most media planners.

Fresh pain for US green card seekers

SAGAR KULKARNI
Washington, August 19

IMMIGRANTS SEEKING GREEN cards or permanent residency in the US will face fresh hurdles as the Trump administration has expanded the definition of “public charge” to deny applications to those availing benefits such as Medicaid, food stamps or any subsistence aid from the government.

The new rule finalised by the US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) comes into effect from September 18 and will also hit Indians seeking green cards.

An earlier rule only considered two types of public benefits as grounds for denying a green card application: cash assistance for income maintenance and long-term institutionalisation at the government’s expense.

“To make public charge inadmissibility determinations, USCIS officers will consider the five statutory factors and any other factor relevant to assessing the alien’s likelihood at any time of becoming a public charge, including the alien’s receipt of means-tested public benefits, such as cash assistance for income maintenance, housing assistance, food stamps, financial aid for college, or any other similar benefit,” an official statement said.

The guidance follows the Department of Homeland Security’s decision to rescind the 2022 Biden-era public charge regulations. The final rule was announced on July 16 and published in the Federal Register on July 20.

It will apply to Forms I-485 seeking permanent residence or adjustment of status that are postmarked or electronically submitted on or after September 18.

The new rule allows USCIS officers to count age, health, family status, finances, educational background, and even the use of public benefits by an applicant’s dependents, regardless of that dependent’s status, against that applicant’s chances for approval.

Jharkhand protesters halt strike on 26th day

STUDENTS PROTESTING AGAINST alleged irregularities in Jharkhand recruitment exams on Wednesday suspended their 26-day agitation and gave a 2-day ultimatum to the state government to resolve issues.

The announcement comes a day after the JMM-led government issued notifications cancelling 22 recruitment exams and ordering a probe into 23 others conducted by the state public service commission and an outsourced agency since 2014.

“We are now suspending the strand giving a two-month ultimatum to the government to resolve the issues and conduct a fair probe into recruitment exam irregularities,” said a leader of the JPSC-JSSC Reforms Manch.

The Manch, which led the students’ agitation at Jaipal

Singh Munda Stadium here, said three protesters — Rupesh Kumar Pal, Savita Kumari, Rahul Kranti — ended their 15-day fast on Wednesday.

Manch leader Ravindra Paswan said, “The 26-day protest by students forced Jharkhand government to cancel 22 recruitment exams and launch a probe into 23 others.” Spokesperson Piyush Kumar Singh said if issues remain unresolved, they would be forced to relaunch a massive agitation.

“We urge Chief Minister Hemant Soren to initiate stringent measures to check recurrence of job exam irregularities,” he said, and demanded withdrawal of FIRs against protesters of the August 10 march to the assembly and reinstatement of whistleblower of job exam anomalies Santosh Kumar Mastana to the finance department.
