SITHARAMAN SIGNALS OPENNESS TO DEBATE ON LTCG TAX, STT

FM-speak fires up markets

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, October 13

FINANCE MINISTER NIRMALA Sitharaman on Tuesday signalled openness to reviewing long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax and securities transaction tax (STT), saying she was keen to hear investors' views ahead of the Union Budget.

"So, these are things on which there's a lot of debate. It's healthy to have this debate, and I will be keenly hearing them," she said at a Bloomberg event here.

Her remarks helped spark a sharp market rebound, with the Sensex surging 1,109 points and the Nifty closing above 22,720, led by IT, financial and FMCG stocks.

"We are very close to the Budget, and the preparation for the Budget has started. It may not be the best time for me to say what I will or what I will not consider," Sitharaman said when asked about demands for LTCG tax relief.

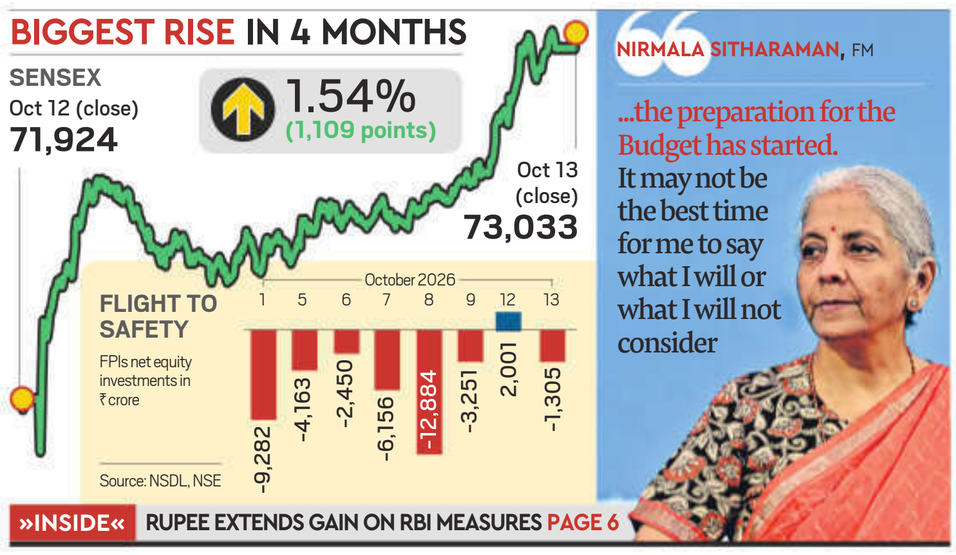

"So I'll tread cautiously on that, but of course, the long-term capital gains tax is something on which a lot of people have been commenting, both investors within India and also those who meet me occasionally outside."

Foreign portfolio investors (FPIs) and other market participants have sought lower capital gains tax rates and higher exemption limits to make Indian markets more competitive. They have also questioned the rationale for levying STT alongside capital gains tax.

SBI Research on Tuesday urged the government to consider measures to retain short-term equity flows for longer, including extending the holding period to two to three years and abolishing LTCG tax on equities. The debate comes amid sustained foreign selling. FPIs withdrew ₹1.64 lakh crore from the secondary market in H1FY27, with outflows intensifying in October.

The Union Budget 2024-25 revamped the capital gains tax regime, effective July 23, 2024.

MDR rollout deferred

● NPCI delays Oct 15 deadline to avoid Diwali disruption

KSHIPRA PETKAR & ANEES HUSSAIN
Mumbai/Bengaluru, October 13

THE NATIONAL PAYMENTS Corporation of India (NPCI) on Tuesday deferred the implementation of merchant discount rate (MDR) on select Unified Payments Interface (UPI) transactions until after Diwali, offering relief to retailers during the peak festive shopping season. The revised implementation date will be notified separately, NPCI said in a statement following a meeting of its UPI and Services Steering Committee.

"Keeping in mind the festive season, MDR on select Person-to-Merchant (P2M) UPI transactions shall be implemented immediately post Diwali at a date to be notified separately," it said.

The decision comes ahead of the October 15 deadline originally set for the rollout of the revised MDR framework, which had raised concerns among retailers about the timing of the transition. Earlier, NPCI had said the implementation timeline would give acquiring banks, payment aggregators and fintech applications adequate time to upgrade their billing systems.

Noel, son move HC with caveats

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, October 13

TATA TRUSTS CHAIRMAN Noel Tata and his son Neville Tata have filed caveats in the Bombay High Court and the Mumbai City Civil Court in connection with the ongoing dispute involving trustees Venu Srinivasan and Vijay Singh, according to filings available on the eCourts website.

The caveats, filed on October 7, name Noel and Neville Tata as caveators, and fellow trustees Srinivasan, Singh, Darius Khambata and Bhaskar Bhat as caveatees.

A caveat is a legal filing seeking to ensure that no order is passed in a matter without first notifying the caveator and giving them an opportunity to be heard.

Noel and Neville Tata had earlier filed similar caveats with the Charity Commissioner of Maharashtra after Srinivasan and Singh lodged complaints alleging governance lapses and irregularities in trustee appointments. Both complaints specifically name Noel and Neville Tata.

Legal experts said that when trustees file caveats in a dispute involving other trustees, all trustees may need to be named as parties.

India does not grow at anyone's cost: PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 13

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi said India's economic growth was anchored in strong fundamentals, financial resilience and a sustained reform drive, pitching the country as a global economic and technology power that seeks to help other nations prosper rather than grow at their expense.

"We do not grow at anyone's cost. We grow with the world, and for the world," he said on Tuesday, arguing that India's expanding economic and technological capabilities could help address global challenges at a time of geopolitical tensions, supply-chain disruptions and growing competition over strategic resources.

IMF raises India's FY27 growth outlook to 7%

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, October 13

THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY Fund (IMF) on Tuesday raised its forecast for India's GDP growth in the current financial year by 60 basis points (bps) to 7%, becoming the latest major global organisation to upgrade the view on the country's economy. Since last month, several global organisations such as the Asian Development Bank and Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development raised India's growth projections.

The World Bank and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) both last week raised India's GDP growth projection for FY27 to 7.1%. India remains among the fastest-growing major economies, the IMF said in its latest World Economic Outlook. "This reflects stronger-than-expected momentum, supported by resilient domestic demand and robust services activity," the Fund said.

The IMF also raised the GDP growth forecast for FY28 by 30 bps to 7%. The Indian economy had grown 7.8% in FY26 and in the April-June quarter of FY27.

India stands out among emerging market economies with upward revisions, which reflects sustained momentum, the IMF said. Faster growth this year also reflects growing evidence of stronger growth potential supported by favourable demographic dynamics, a large and expanding domestic market, and continued structural reforms, the IMF said.

The IMF projected CPI inflation in India to average 5% in FY27 and then moderate to 4.4% in FY28. The Fund's inflation forecast is lower than RBI's, which last week raised its inflation projection by 20 bps to 5.2%. CPI inflation rose to a near 2-year high of 5.54% in September.

The Fund also saw India's current account deficit (CAD) widening to 1.5% of GDP in FY27 from 0.7% in FY26. The CAD is seen easing to 1.3% in FY28, as per IMF's projections. Economists see India's CAD widening this financial year because of a higher energy import bill caused by the surge in global crude oil prices and large foreign portfolio investment outflows.

Global forecasts

The Fund raised the global growth projection by 10 bps to 3.1% for 2026, while it left the forecast unchanged for 2027 growth at 3.4%. "Two major transformative forces—geopolitics and technology—are reshaping the global economy, with their short-term impact gradually coming into view and their longer-term impact still largely unknown," the IMF said.

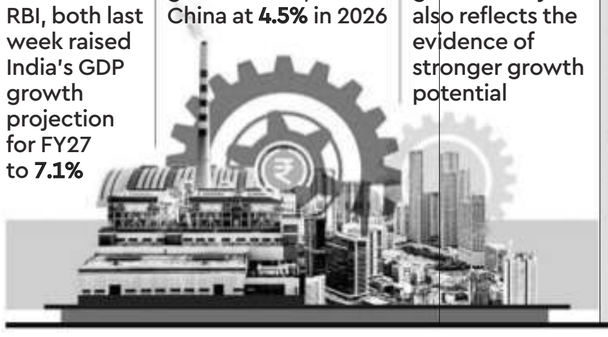

Growth in advanced economies is expected to slightly rise to 2.1% in 2026 from 2% in 2025. The latest growth forecast for advanced economies is 40 bps higher than the July projection.

"Outcomes remain uneven within the group: Net energy exporters are partly cushioned by favorable terms-of-trade effects, whereas net energy importers experience a more pronounced drag from higher energy prices unless their economies are lifted by technology-related activity," the IMF said.

In the US, growth is projected at 2.3% in 2026, unchanged from the July forecast, while Euro Area growth forecast for the current calendar year was raised by 20 bps to 1.1%. China is seen growing 4.5% in 2026, 10 bps slower than previously projected and also slower than the 5% growth seen in 2025.

- The World Bank and the RBI, both last week raised India's GDP growth projection for FY27 to 7.1%
- US is projected to grow at 2.3%, while China at 4.5% in 2026

No plan to reduce import duties on pulses: Official

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, October 13

THE GOVERNMENT IS unlikely to reduce import duties on pulses whose prices have firmed up due to perceived supply constraints. "Despite the threat of El Nino, domestic Kharif crop prospects have not been significantly impacted, while there is ample global supply. So we are not contemplating cutting duties on pulse imports currently," Nidhi Khare, secretary, department of consumer affairs, told FE.

The comments came amid reports that the government was considering cutting import duties on a few pulse varieties. Khare said there has not been an unusual rise in retail prices of pulses as the government continues to follow a stable import policy.

In November 2025, the government imposed a 30% import duty on yellow peas, ending duty-free imports of the pulse variant from December 2023. In March 2025, a 10% import duty on lentils was imposed and these levies have been extended till the end of FY27. To boost domestic supplies, the government extended the duty-free import policy for key pulses — pigeon pea (tur) and black matpe (urad)—until March 31, 2027.

NIDHI KHARE, CONSUMER AFFAIRS SECRETARY

Despite El Nino's impact, domestic Kharif prospects have not been impacted. We are not contemplating cutting duties on pulse imports currently

Khare said the government is closely monitoring the supply situation despite some rise in prices of certain pulse variants. Retail inflation in the 'pulses' category was 4.68% year-on-year in September 2026.

To ease domestic supplies, the government's buffer stocks of pulses would be released into the market in a calibrated manner to curb price rises. The government aims to offload pulses once the sowing of rabi crops is completed, Khare said.

Current buffer of pulses has risen to a record 4.5 million tonne (MT), which will be used to curb price rises in case of any shortfall in Kharif output and forthcoming rabi or winter crop prospects. The current stock exceeds the buffer norm of 3.5 MT. Area under pulses variants including tur, urad and moong in the kharif season increased marginally from the previous year to 11.71 million hectares, while the productivity of some pulse variants, especially tur is likely to be impacted, trade sources said. Sources said that to curb the spike in pulse prices, the government may consider applying measures like stock declaration by private entities, as done for other commodities including sugar and wheat.

India imports about 18%-20% of its annual pulse consumption—tur, urad, masoor (lentils), yellow peas and Bengal gram – from Canada, Russia, Brazil, Myanmar and Africa.

Average retail prices of major pulse variants – tur, gram and urad – increased to ₹129.61/kg, ₹91.14/kg and ₹124.15/kg on Tuesday, according to the price monitoring cell of the Department of Consumer Affairs. This represents an increase of 12%, 5% and 9%, respectively, compared to the previous year.

India may need to add up to 150 GW coal capacity by 2035

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, October 13

INDIA MAY NEED to add 105–150 GW of coal-based power capacity by 2035, higher than the earlier plan to add 97 GW by 2035, as electricity demand rises sharply and weaker hydropower output increases the need for round-the-clock generation, Central Electricity Authority Chairperson Ghanshyam Prasad said.

The earlier plan envisaged adding about 97 GW of coal capacity from the March 2023 base, taking the country's coal-based capacity to around 307 GW by 2034-35. Prasad has now indicated that the additional requirement from that 2023 base could rise to 105 GW or even 150 GW if demand continues to grow at the current pace.

"Initially we targeted around 97 GW, now probably it will go up to 105 GW or even 150 GW from the reference date of 2023, which means that demand is growing and as it grows we need stable supply resources to meet this demand as well," Prasad said at the India Energy Summit organised by the Indian Chamber of Commerce (ICC).

The reassessment comes amid a sharp increase in electricity consumption this year. Prasad said daily demand has been running around 45,000-50,000 MW higher than last year, while a weaker monsoon has reduced hydro generation and increased dependence on coal-fired plants.

In September, country's electricity shortage reached 560 million units or kilowatt-hours (kWh), the highest since August 2023. Coal-fired generation rose 13.3% year-on-year (y-o-y), while hydro generation fell 20%. The heavier reliance on thermal stations has also increased pressure on fuel availability.

"Fuel is again, we are very much concerned about the enhancement of the fuel supply to these power plants because the stock is depleting almost every day," Prasad said. He added that sustained demand has also reduced the opportunity to shut generating units for scheduled maintenance.

Prasad, however, made clear that higher coal capacity would not mean slowing renewable additions.

"The renewables will continue to grow at the pace which we wanted and probably higher than what we wanted," he said. More than 50 GW of renewable capacity is expected to be added annually, after around 50 GW was added last year.

REASSESSMENT AMID RISE IN DEMAND

- The earlier plan envisaged adding 97 GW of coal capacity from March '23 base, taking India's capacity to 307 GW by 2035

- The reassessment comes amid a sharp rise in electricity consumption this year
- Coal-fired generation rose 13.3% while hydro generation declined 20%
- Weak monsoon has reduced hydro generation, raised dependence on coal-fired plants

Rail freight traffic rises 4.1% in H1

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, October 13

THE FREIGHT MOVEMENT in Indian railways rose 6.1% year-on-year (y-o-y) to 135.35 million tonne (MT) in September, driven by higher transportation of food grains, coal and industrial goods. Freight revenue increased 9.3%, or ₹1,266 crore, from a year earlier to an estimated ₹14,912 crore, the railways ministry said on Tuesday.

In the first half of FY27, the transporter moved 833.7 MT of goods, up 4.1% from a year earlier. Revenue from carrying goods grew at a slower pace of 3.7% during the same period, according to the ministry.

Within the commodity basket, food grain loading recorded the strongest growth among major categories by rising 25% y-o-y. Clinker, a key raw material used in cement manufacturing, grew 20% while domestic container traffic increased 10%.

Coal, which accounts for roughly half of the railways' total freight loading, rose 9% y-o-y in September. Daily coal supplies to power plants increased 11.6% to 443 rakes from 397 a year earlier, the ministry said. A rake is a group of goods wagons pulled by a train engine.

"Freight loading during the first six months of the financial year also registered sustained growth, reflecting continued demand for rail transportation across major sectors of the economy," the ministry said.

The monthly trend shows that freight loading growth has fluctuated in recent months. In July, loading rose 9% y-o-y to 141.3 MT, before growth slowed to 5.4% in August, when volumes stood at 137.9 MT. September growth marked a modest recovery in the annual growth rate, although the total volume was lower than the preceding two months.

The faster growth in September freight revenue compared with loading suggests that earnings increased more quickly than the volume of goods transported. This trend was also visible in August, when freight revenue rose 6.27%, outpacing the 5.4% growth in loading, according to the railways ministry.

PETROLEUM EXPORTS TO AFRICA GROW AT US, EUROPE'S EXPENSE

INDIA'S EXPORTS OF petroleum products to Africa grew 141% to around $10 billion in April to August this financial year, while shipments to America remained flat and those to Europe contracted 15% to $5.4 billion. Exports of petroleum products to Asia grew 38% to $14 billion during the period. Asia accounts for 40% of India's petroleum exports, followed by Africa at 28%. Overall shipments of petroleum products grew 38% to $35 billion during the period.

Rising inflation, weak monsoon cloud rural economic outlook

- Data hint at a moderation in demand

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, October 13

THE RESILIENT CONSUMPTION demand in the economy seems to be facing a growing challenge from a weak rural sector. Analysts feel that a deficient monsoon, rising inflation and slowing wage growth are apparently dampening consumer sentiments in rural India, even as the festive season has begun.

A few high-frequency indicators already show incipient signs of demand moderating in rural India—rural inflation is rising faster, wage growth has slowed, and youth unemployment remains high.

"Several indicators are showing that things are on a fragile footing for rural demand. Rising inflation, ongoing pass through of higher input costs, and high youth unemployment are likely to have a tempering effect on demand," said Kanika Pasricha, chief economic advisor, Union Bank of India.

According to data from Labour Bureau, rural wage growth among men slowed down considerably in July-August to just over 3% from above 16% in the first quarter of FY27. The slowdown among women was even starker, with nominal wage growth slowing to less than 4% in July-August from over 21% in April-June. That implies real wage growth being flat or in the negative territory.

Inflation, meanwhile is beginning to get uncomfortably high. All-India retail inflation rose to a 23-month high of 5.54% in September, with rural inflation at 6.08% sharply higher than urban inflation of 4.88%.

Inflation in rural areas has been higher than urban India for the last eight months but the divergence in September was the highest since June 2024. Behind this divergence is the higher weight of the food basket in rural CPI compared to urban CPI. Food and beverages have a 42% weight in the rural CPI basket, significantly higher than 30.3% for urban CPI.

Food inflation rose to a series high of 7.74% in September, with food prices 8.06% in rural areas and 7.18% in urban areas, reflecting high burden from food price increases in rural areas.

"I expect rural inflation to rise above 7% by the end of the year because of higher food inflation with some states seeing drought conditions," said Radhika Piplani, chief economist, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

Rainfall in the southwest monsoon was 12.6% below normal in 2026, one of the weakest rainfalls in over a decade. Spatial distribution was also skewed, with Karnataka, Maharashtra, and Andhra Pradesh—having formally declared drought in several parts of their states. Telangana and Rajasthan are also assessing drought conditions.

Lower-than-normal rainfall this year has also resulted in lower reservoir levels, which can impact rabi sowing, which means farm stress is likely to continue, Piplani said.

There are already signs of rural demand slowing down. "A deficient monsoon is likely impacting rural economic performance. September tractor factory-gate sales fell by around 20%yoy, suggesting some stress in farm-linked demand," economists at ICICI Securities Primary Dealership said in a report. "Moreover, factory-gate two-wheeler sales have slowed down to around 11%yoy in the last two months down from average 21% growth in the previous four months," they said.

According to data from the Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations, tractor sales fell 12.6% month-on-month in September "on a monsoon that failed in parts and a festive calendar that this year sits later."

Rural consumer sentiment has been slowly weakening this year. According to the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) latest Rural Consumer Confidence Survey (RCCS), households became more pessimistic about the general economic situation, employment scenario, prices, and their own incomes, while they expect spending to continue rising.

The Current Situation Index under the RBI's bi-monthly survey has declined for six consecutive rounds, while the Future Expectations Index has been falling for four straight rounds.

Rural households' perception of inflation was also higher than actual inflation. Their perception of current inflation rose to 6.8% in September, 70 basis points higher than July and the highest since January 2025. Households' one-year-ahead inflation expectation increased to 7.9% in the latest survey round, the highest since July 2025.

"Inflation expectations are surging, which suggest we are going to have a long-interest rate cycle," Piplani said. The RBI's Monetary Policy Committee hiked the repo rate by 25 basis points to 5.5%, and economists expect the policy rate to rise to up to 6% by the end of this financial year.

Higher inflation and higher interest rates don't bode well for consumption, Union Bank's Pasricha said.

Hyundai lines up $15.5-bn India investment by 2032

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, October 13

Hyundai Motor Group Executive Chair Euisun Chung calls on Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi on Tuesday

SOUTH KOREAN AUTOMOTIVE major Hyundai Motor Group on Tuesday committed $15.5 billion in investments in India till 2032, as it looks to expand manufacturing capacity, build local research and development (R&D) capabilities and strengthen the country's position as a global export and automotive technology hub.

The seven-year investment plan will cover Hyundai Motor India and Kia India, besides supplier development and emerging mobility businesses.

The announcement follows a meeting between Hyundai Motor Group Executive Chair Euisun Chung and Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi on Tuesday. "India remains one of Hyundai Motor Group's most important and strategic markets globally," Chung said, adding the investment reaffirmed the group's commitment to the country for the next 30 years and beyond.

The group will establish a dedicated investment entity in India to coordinate capital deployment across its automotive ecosystem, identify local partners and facilitate strategic collaborations with suppliers. Manufacturing expansion at Hyundai Motor India and Kia India will be a key component of the plan, with the group aiming to support higher volumes and increase parts localisation.

Around $700 million is earmarked for R&D infrastructure, including a vehicle testing track. The group plans to expand its Indian R&D centre, develop local technical talent and establish a more comprehensive research system to accelerate next-generation automotive technologies. The investment will also extend to future mobility businesses, including electric vehicle charging infrastructure, end-of-life vehicle recycling and specialised automotive financing. Hyundai Motor Group intends to support high-potential startups and develop new mobility services alongside its core vehicle business.

Hyundai Motor Group currently has an annual manufacturing capacity of more than 1.4 million vehicles in India, comprising 824,000 units at Hyundai's Chennai facilities, 170,000 units at its Pune plant and 431,000 units at Kia's Anantapur facility. Pune's capacity is scheduled to be scaled up in phases. The group's combined passenger vehicle market stands at 18.8% at the end of FY26, with Hyundai Motor India accounting for 12.6% and Kia India 6.2%.

The group has not clarified how much of the $15.5-billion commitment represents fresh investment over and above Hyundai Motor India's previously announced plan to invest ₹45,000 crore between FY26 and FY30. It has also not disclosed the annual investment schedule, additional capacity to be created or the number of jobs expected from the expansion.

HCLTech's growth outlook improves, but risks remain

POULOMI CHATTERJEE
Bengaluru, October 13

HCLTECH'S RECORD DEAL bookings and rapidly growing artificial intelligence (AI) business are strengthening its medium-term growth prospects, but the pace at which these translate into revenue remains uncertain amid subdued discretionary spending and weakness in its software business.

The IT major's strong September-quarter performance has improved visibility for FY28, though its largely unchanged organic growth outlook for FY27 suggests that a broad-based recovery is still some distance away. HCLTech shares rose as much as 8.42% during Tuesday's trading before closing at ₹1,326 on the BSE.

Jefferies sees HCLTech among the few large IT services firms offering more than 5% constant-currency revenue growth visibility in FY28. Its steady margins should also support the firm's 20-25% valuation premium over TCS and Infosys, the brokerage said. The assessment reflects the potential for large-deal ramp-ups and AI-led engagements to sustain growth over the medium term.

HCLTech reported net new bookings of $3.3 billion in the September quarter, including the recently announced $1.14-billion deal with Mercedes-Benz. First-half bookings were the strongest the company has recorded. Motilal Oswal said demand remained healthy towards the end of the quarter, although discretionary spending and the broader operating environment remained fluid.

ICICI Securities said operating leverage, employee restructuring benefits and higher-margin AI revenue had aided the performance, but expected margins to remain rangebound as the company prioritises investments for growth.

Amazon Pay bets on credit, turns to small towns

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, October 13

MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS of Amazon Pay's transactions across UPI, wallet and credit now happen outside the Amazon ecosystem, and over 75% of its users come from Tier 2 and Tier 3 cities, CEO Vikas Bansal said. The company now wants to recasts itself as a broad financial platform and place its next bet on credit with a focus on small towns, he added.

The shift is not recent, he said, but the perception that Amazon Pay is mainly a way to check out on Amazon has stuck, and the company now wants to educate consumers otherwise. Amazon Pay is live with more than 10,000 online and offline merchants. "We're playing more in the large merchant space today. We haven't yet focused on going to smaller merchants," he added.

From the start, the aim was to be a financial platform offering credit, insurance and savings alongside payments, Bansal said. Consumers appear ready for that. Three in four urban Indians now use a financial feature inside their payment app, and 52% would prefer a single app for payments, investment, insurance and credit, according to How Urban India Pays 2026, a survey of 5,149 consumers across 100 cities by Pahlé India Foundation and Amazon Pay, launched on Tuesday.

VIKAS BANSAL, CEO, AMAZON PAY INDIA

"We're playing more in large merchant space today. We haven't yet focused on going to smaller merchants"

Credit is where the company is pushing hardest. Some 64% of urban Indians have never applied for digital credit through an app, and while 88% are aware of credit products, only 31% use them, the report found. That is the gap Bansal wants to close. "Can I go and serve these customers that are not served today," he added.

The barrier is trust. Consumers rate their payment app 3.98 out of 5 for making payments but only 3.10 for borrowing, and 51.5% said they would borrow through their app if fraud protection were guaranteed, the report found.

● GAUTAM SINGHANIA, CMD, RAYMOND GROUP

'Governance, management, compensation are better and cleaner after demerger'

Raymond is entering a new phase, with its lifestyle, real estate and engineering businesses operating independently and pursuing own growth agenda. For Raymond Group Chairman and Managing Director Gautam Singhania, the priority is to unlock shareholder value, expand capacity and build world-class businesses. In an interview with Viveat Susan Pinto and Raghavendra Kamath, Singhania outlines the group's road map. Excerpts:

Raymond has announced a brownfield expansion in Andhra Pradesh alongside a larger manufacturing unit. What is driving the move?

Obviously, there is demand. We are putting up the Andhra Pradesh facility, but we needed capacity immediately. The Andhra unit will come up in about a year, so we are setting up this brownfield facility to meet demand. Once the new facility comes up, we will integrate the operations.

Raymond has moved from a conglomerate structure to three separate businesses. What is your ambition for them over the next five years?

It is a shared value-creation opportunity following the demerger of lifestyle and realty from Raymond. When you are a holding company, there is a holding-company discount that exists... Better governance, management and compensation structures — everything is much cleaner. Each company has its own balance sheet and growth opportunities. I want to see exponential shareholder value creation for each company.

But many see Raymond moving back towards a conglomerate structure through automotive components, aerospace and defence? Your thoughts...

These are B2B businesses... It is a completely different strategy from men's fashion under the lifestyle business. In aerospace, we continue to increase business with our partners and find new customers. It is a growing business... The Andhra facility is about consolidating automotive component operations into one state-of-the-art facility. Defence is a completely different world and I see it as a huge opportunity.

How are you approaching the defence business?

Defence and aerospace offer an opportunity to build on our engineering heritage and participate in India's advanced manufacturing ecosystem. Credibility must be earned through precision, quality, reliability, and execution. We will build on existing capabilities, deepen customer relationships, and pursue higher-value, technologically sophisticated opportunities with discipline.

"IT IS A SHARED VALUE-CREATION OPPORTUNITY FOLLOWING THE DEMERGER... THERE IS A HOLDING-COMPANY DISCOUNT THAT EXISTS (AS WELL)"

What governance measures are strengthening the group's resilience amid market volatility?

Resilience comes from how an institution is designed and governed. Separating our businesses gives each clearer priorities, dedicated leadership and visibility into performance, capital requirements and risks. We believe in strong boards, management accountability, financial controls, risk oversight and disciplined capital allocation. Businesses must anticipate geopolitical developments, changing consumer behaviour, technology shifts and supply-chain disruptions through scenario planning and strong information flows. Our philosophy is to combine entrepreneurial freedom with institutional discipline: decentralise execution, strengthen accountability and never compromise on governance.

Mumbai redevelopment is attracting developers. Where do you see the opportunities and challenges?

There is a lot of opportunity in Mumbai... If Mumbai gets redeveloped, you can imagine the size and scale at which it will happen. Infrastructure is coming to support it, so it is a great place to be from a business perspective.

How do you divide your time across your three businesses?

My engagement centres on strategic priorities, material decisions, leadership development and long-term value creation rather than day-to-day operations. My conviction in all three businesses is strong, but expressed differently... The objective is to give each business the freedom to shape its future while creating long-term value.

McCain Foods tops up India bet

● Acquires frozen potato business of Falcon Agrifriz

FE BUREAU
Ahmedabad, October 13

CANADIAN MULTINATIONAL COMPANY McCain Foods on Tuesday said it has entered into an agreement to acquire Falcon Agrifriz Foods' frozen potato processing business in Gujarat.

The company did not reveal the transaction value, but said that the acquisition builds on McCain's recent investment in India, including the completion of a Canadian dollar 135 million (around $95 million) expansion of its existing operations in Gujarat, creating jobs for 110 full-time employees and 150 contract workers. "India continues to be a priority growth market for McCain Foods," said Pierre Danet, regional president, Asia Pacific and South Africa at McCain. "This acquisition reflects our confidence in the Indian market and builds on nearly three decades of continued investment in our people, local operations and agricultural partnerships," he added.

FESTIVE PULSE-IV
RETAILERS

Shoppers are back, but margins feel the squeeze

● Pent-up demand and a shift from travel to products are lifting sales, even as retailers absorb higher costs

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, October 13

INDIA'S FASHION AND value retailers are heading into the peak shopping season far more confident than they were a few months ago. Trends over Onam and Ganesh Chaturthi suggest consumers are returning to purchases they had put off during a soft patch.

Devarajan Iyer, chief executive and executive director of Lifestyle India, expects Navaratri and Diwali to be better than in recent years, pointing to steady demand through the June and September quarters. "The demand trend is consistent. We had a good quarter one and quarter two, so I expect even the festive period and quarter three should be consistent with Q1 and Q2," he said. Sales, he added, are growing in strong double digits, with same-store sales growth in high single digits.

Gautam Singhania, chairman and MD of the Raymond Group, does not see the recent rise in interest rates as much of a dampener. "I think that will settle down. The signs are good and demand trends are encouraging for Dussehra and Diwali," he told FE.

According to Datum Intelligence, urban spending sentiment is at its strongest in more than three years, with nearly half the shoppers it polled planning to spend at least 10% more than last year. The season is also longer: Onam to Chhath stretches across 80 days this year, against 52 last year.

A recent survey by the Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI) found 52% of members expect festive sales to beat last year's, and another 30% expect them to hold steady. "The seasons have been slow for some time now," said Rahul Mehta, CMAI's chief mentor and managing director of Creative Garments, adding that families are expected to return to the shops this year. With the economy growing and geopolitical disruptions largely contained in India, he described conditions as "less negative than feared".

Indian wear such as salwar suits, churidar and kurta is expected to lead, followed by kidswear. Strong bookings at CMAI's recently concluded National Garment Fair have added to manufacturers' confidence ahead of the festive and wedding season.

Iyer offers another reason for the resilience: consumers may be diverting discretionary spending from travel to products. Higher airfares, energy costs and geopolitical uncertainty have made travel costlier and, at times, less appealing this year, which could be helping apparel, electronics, food and other categories.

Company numbers broadly support that view. Trent's standalone revenue rose 23% year-on-year to ₹5,788 crore in the September quarter despite an unfavourable base. V-Mart Retail's revenue grew 18% to ₹953 crore, and its same-store sales growth of 3% rises to 11% once adjusted for the shift in the festival calendar. V2 Retail's revenue climbed 28.4% to ₹905 crore, with festival-adjusted same-store sales up 0.5%.

Baazar Style Retail was the outlier, with revenue down 10% to ₹478 crore and same-store sales down 25%. But Durga Puja has moved entirely into the December quarter this year, so October and November will give a clearer read on underlying demand.

The recovery is not uniform, however. "While there is latent demand after multiple quarters of a slowdown, retailers remain cautious," said G Chokkalingam, founder of Equinomics Research, noting that growth at retailers such as Trent comes amid broader demand that is still uneven. Manufacturers have also built up inventories in anticipation of a strong season, and the question is whether these will sell at full price or need discounting.

The biggest risk is to margins. Higher oil prices have pushed up transportation, manufacturing and energy costs. Iyer expects apparel prices to rise 6-8% eventually, but said retailers are trying to delay or limit increases until after the November peak.

Mehta said retailers and brands are willing to accept thinner margins rather than raise prices sharply and risk hurting demand. About 54% of respondents to the CMAI survey are absorbing higher costs through lower margins, while roughly 35% are raising prices.

That leaves retailers with an attractive but narrow window. If pent-up demand, festival buying and the shift away from travel lift volumes substantially, higher throughput could cushion the squeeze. If shoppers respond mainly to discounts, revenue growth may come more easily than profit growth.

For now, the season looks better than expected at the start of the year. The real test will come once the festival calendar normalises: whether consumers are buying more because they have a greater appetite to spend, or simply because they had postponed their purchases.

Navi Mumbai shift for int'l flights put off till March '27

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, October 13

ADANI AIRPORTS HAS decided to defer the partial shifting of international flights from Mumbai airport to Navi Mumbai till the next summer schedule, starting in March 2027, following detailed discussions with airline representatives on Tuesday, according to sources.

With Adani Airports Holdings (AAHL) set to start renovation of the Mumbai airport's Terminal 1 (T1) next year, airlines were asked to cut 33% of their international flights or shift them to Navi Mumbai airport by October 25, also the start of the winter schedule.

Following opposition from the operating airlines, Mumbai airport had informed them that the implementation of the plan would be deferred by a few weeks.

Both Mumbai and Navi Mumbai airports are part of AAHL. Mumbai airport is operated by Mumbai International Airport Ltd (MIAL).

To discuss the transition plan, AAHL top leadership and other executives held discussions with the representatives of the Airline Operators' Committee (AOC) in the city on Tuesday.

This follows the stakeholders' meeting that was chaired by the Civil Aviation Secretary Samir Kumar Sinha on October 6 wherein it was decided that there would be discussions with the carriers on the transition plan.

At the meeting on Tuesday, it was decided that the partial shifting of international flights from Mumbai to Navi Mumbai airport would be deferred till the summer schedule that commences in March 2027, the sources said.

One of the sources said the entire renovation plan for T1 is likely to be deferred till the summer schedule.

"Jeet Adani and Arun Bansal met with the AOC of Mumbai airport today. They have assured the airline community of minimisation of disruption and have assured them of fully respecting historical slots allocations. They have further given a commitment not to disturb any slots for the winter schedule," a MIAL spokesperson said.

According to the MIAL spokesperson, a joint working group to work over the next two weeks to come up with a plan for implementation of redevelopment of ageing T1 infrastructure and that there was commitment from the airlines of supporting the redevelopment and traffic balancing to start from summer schedule.

The spokesperson also said that MIAL would provide full support ensured for any airline wanting to shift any operations to Navi Mumbai airport.

Another source said airlines are expected to start the transition of their international operations in a phased manner.

The final contours of the implementation of the transition plan will be decided at a meeting to be chaired by the civil aviation secretary on October 20, sources said. The sources also said that airlines have asked AAHL to provide the complete plan for the renovation of T1.

After the October 20 meeting, there will be another meeting between AAHL executives and airlines' representatives to sort out any pending issues on October 28, they said.

The MIAL spokesperson said at the meeting on Tuesday, both teams agreed to have a follow up meeting on October 28 and till then, it would engage with each airline's network and slot teams.

Mumbai International Airport, one of the busiest in the country, has two terminals — T1 and T2. T1 handles domestic operations, while international flights operate from T2. The vacated international departure slots at T2 will facilitate the transition of domestic traffic from T1.

SLOT PROTECTION

- Airlines were asked to cut 33% of international flights from October 25
- At present, a total of 46 airlines operate 770 weekly international flights from T2
- Redevelopment will raise Terminal 1 capacity from 15 million to 20 million passengers annually
- Adani Airports says 91% of Mumbai airport passenger traffic will remain unaffected

Zoho freezes salary hikes, cites AI costs, uncertainty

- Company working hard to avoid mass layoffs, says Vembu

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, October 13

ZOHO, WHICH EMPLOYS more than 19,000 people globally, will skip its annual pay increases this year as rising costs and an uncertain business outlook amid the rapid adoption of artificial intelligence (AI) weigh on the software-as-a-service (SaaS) industry.

"The business outlook for software is uncertain and AI has raised costs dramatically with a massive fourfold increase in server prices which we need for data centres, AI usage increasing rapidly, leading to much higher expenses, which we are trying to control," Zoho Founder and Chief Scientist Sridhar Vembu said in a post on X.

Ongoing geopolitical challenges have added to the business uncertainty, Vembu said, adding that the company has cut its marketing budget and informed employees that there would be no usual annual pay increases this year. "I have apologised for not being able to avoid this," he said. Vembu said the company was working hard to avoid mass layoffs, even as the outlook for software jobs remained grim. "We have not been growing our employee count for 18 months now," he said. Most employees understand the situation, he added, as the company works to reinvent itself. "We are in the middle of reinventing ourselves. The next 3-5 years will decide how our reinvention has worked."

Vembu has previously linked the slowdown in hiring to rising costs associated with AI and data centre infrastructure. "The money that would have gone to new employees is now going to AI and data centre costs," he said in August. Speaking at the company's annual event Zoholics last month, Vembu said memory chip prices had risen sharply due to AI demand, pushing up server prices even for traditional data centres that do not use AI or graphics processing units. He said Zoho was responding by manufacturing its own servers to retain some of the margins otherwise going to vendors.

"So far we have resisted the raising of prices, but I cannot rule out the fact that we may raise prices because we cannot hold on for much longer," he warned. Vembu has also warned that AI could put a wide range of jobs at risk. "At this point, I would assume that most 'intellectual jobs' are at risk. That includes much of software," he said in a separate post on X on Monday.

HC turns down SpiceJet's plea for more time to deposit ₹144 cr

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, October 13

THE DELHI HIGH Court on Tuesday rejected a plea by SpiceJet and its managing director Ajay Singh seeking an extension to deposit ₹144 crore in an ongoing legal dispute with Kal Airways and its promoter Kalanithi Maran.

The court also turned down the airline's proposal to submit property papers for a property in Gurugram as an alternative to the deposit.

The development is a setback for SpiceJet, which had sought additional time to comply with the court's earlier directions requiring it to deposit ₹50 crore within 45 days and the remaining ₹94 crore within 90 days of the July 13 order.

While rejecting the application, the court observed that it might have considered accepting the property papers had SpiceJet first deposited the initial ₹50 crore. The observation underscores the importance the court attached to compliance with its earlier directions before considering an alternative form of security.

Mumbai, October 13

ADANI ENTERPRISES (AEL), the flagship company of the Adani Group, and Jabil, a global engineering, supply chain and manufacturing company, have signed a non-binding memorandum of understanding (MoU) setting out the framework for a proposed 50:50 joint venture to manufacture and assemble artificial intelligence (AI) and data centre equipment in the country.

The MoU follows the June 2026 announcement of Adani Group and Jabil's intent to establish a strategic alliance to develop an AI and data centre infrastructure manufacturing ecosystem in India.

The joint venture would manufacture and assemble AI racks, servers, storage and networking equipment used in data centres. The racks would house high-performance computing systems for AI applications and other digital services.

The portfolio would also include equipment required to power and cool these systems, including power distribution units, liquid-cooling systems and transformers, Adani Group said in a release

Gautam Adani, chairman, Adani Group, said, "Our proposed joint venture with Jabil marks a strategic step towards this future, combining Jabil's world-class engineering and manufacturing capabilities with Adani's integrated strengths in energy, infrastructure and data centres to help build the physical backbone of the global AI economy."

Mike Dastoor, chief excutive officer, Jabil, said: "The signing of this MoU is the next step forward in our shared efforts to establish a scaled AI infrastructure manufacturing platform in India, a market we believe will become increasingly important for both domestic and global AI infrastructure demand."

Sony bets on content in South push

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, October 13

SONY PICTURES NETWORKS India (SPNI), which is entering the highly competitive southern entertainment market, is looking to monetise content through a platform-agnostic strategy while continuing to bet on the relevance of linear or traditional television.

"There is no empirical data (on the decline in linear TV viewership), and cord-cutting is happening in a very small percentage," Rajaraman Sundaram, chief content officer – south regional, SPNI, said ahead of the launch of Sony VIZHA, a Tamil general entertainment channel. Sundaram attributed younger consumers' shift towards streaming platforms partly to gaps in the content available to local-language audiences, particularly in terms of cultural and emotional relevance. Sony VIZHA will adopt a platform-agnostic approach, allowing audiences to discover and consume content across television, streaming and social media.

BARCLAYS PLANS INDIA ADVISORY RETURN ON IPO BOOM

Barclays Plc is preparing to restart its equity capital market business in India after nearly a decade, capitalizing on a surge in share sales in one of the world's busiest markets for fundraising. "That's one important product missing in our otherwise very strong wholesale banking offering," Pramod Kumar, CEO of Barclays India, said at a Bloomberg event in New Delhi. A return would allow the bank to compete for underwriting mandates as the pipeline for initial public offerings stays strong after two straight years of unprecedented deals. Investment banks earned a record $417 million in IPO fees in India last year, according to data from LSEG.

Rupee extends gains on RBI measures

- Advances 50p to close at 95.28 against dollar

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, October 13

THE RUPEE EXTENDED its gains on Tuesday, supported by the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) additional tightening measures and likely intervention in the currency market. The unit gained 50 paise to close at 95.28 against the dollar—its highest level in a month—making it the best-performing Asian currency.

Late Monday, the RBI said that banks operating as IFSC banking units can offer non-deliverable derivative contracts to non-resident users only for the purpose of hedging. Further, it extended the scope of maintaining 20% foreign exchange risk reserve (FERR) to banks' own assets and liabilities.

"The FERR shall be applicable to all foreign exchange derivative contracts involving INR where the authorised dealer is purchasing foreign currency against INR," the RBI said. It added that reserves should be maintained in cash with the RBI on a daily basis and shall be maintained until the termination of the contract.

"The RBI came out with another circular, extending the curbs to IFSC. With the unwinding of positions, the spread between OTC (over-the-counter) and other markets widened. In addition, the oil prices also retraced a bit, supporting the currency," said Dilip Parmer, research analyst, HDFC Securities.

The RBI is believed to have intervened in both onshore and offshore markets through dollar sales, contributing to the rupee's appreciation, said market participants.

"With yesterday's (Monday) latest measures, the RBI may be moving aggressively to defend the rupee and find some ground, especially as it remains the weakest Asian currency. Further steps can be on the cards," Parmer said. He added that the rupee may find stability around 94.50–95.

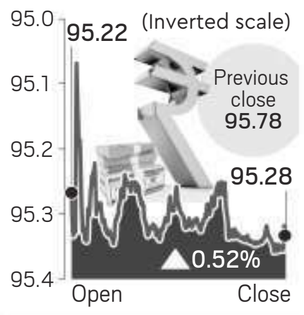

Sajal Gupta, head of currency and commodities at Nuvama Institutional Desk, said the dollar window to meet oil marketing companies' requirements removes a major source of demand from the spot market, which is supportive for the rupee. "However, the currency will remain under pressure from higher oil prices and continued FPI outflows unless genuine dollar inflows materialise."

On Saturday, the RBI announced a series of measures to stem the rupee's slide. These include a ban on rebooking cancelled foreign exchange derivative contracts, a sharp reduction in the limit for derivative trades without underlying exposure from $100 million to $5 million, stricter documentation requirements for banks, and introduction of a foreign exchange risk reserve.

The rupee is unlikely to strengthen beyond 94.50, and I expect it to trade in a 94–97 range in the near-term, with 97 likely to be defended given the RBI's adequate reserves, Gupta added.

IT stocks drive indices' rebound

- Sensex surges 1,109 points, best gain in 4 months

KISHOR KADAM
Mumbai, October 13

THE BENCHMARK EQUITY indices rebounded on Tuesday, led by a rally in IT stocks after strong results from TCS and HCL Technologies triggered buying in the sector. The Nifty IT Index surged 5.22%, recording its biggest single-day gain in 17 months (since May 12, 2025).

A decline in Brent crude prices and Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman's remarks that the government was willing to hear stakeholders' views on the removal of long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax also boosted investor sentiment.

Logging best gain in four months, the Sensex surged 1,109.10 points, or 1.54%, to close at 73,033.78, while the Nifty gained 358.60 points, or 1.60%, to end the session at 22,721.95. Both the indices emerged as the top performers in Asia.

In contrast, the equity indices in South Korea and Taiwan, a major beneficiary of the region's AI-led boom, were among the top losers, declining 5.46% and 1.95%, respectively.

"Indian equities advanced as stronger-than-expected technology earnings boosted confidence in corporate profit growth and lifted benchmark-heavy large-cap stocks," said Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Investments. Stability in the rupee and easing bond yields further supported sentiment, bringing financial stocks into focus.

"Indian equities are likely to extend their recovery in the near term, supported by improving sentiment following Sitharaman's remarks that the government is willing to hear stakeholders' views on removing the LTCG tax," said Siddhartha Khemka, head of research, wealth management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

Foreign portfolio investors sold shares worth ₹1,305.13 crore, while domestic institutional investors purchased shares worth ₹2,439.24 crore, according to provisional data released by the exchanges.

Investor wealth increased by ₹4.62 lakh crore, of which major IT companies contributed ₹1.29 lakh crore. The total market capitalisation on the BSE stood at ₹470.08 lakh crore.

The market breadth remained positive for the third consecutive session, with 2,518 gainers against 1,834 losers on the BSE.

Among sectoral indices, IT led the gains, followed by realty, consumer durables, financial services and PSU banks. Pharma was the only sector to end in negative territory, recording a modest fall.

Broader markets, however, underperformed the benchmarks. The Nifty Midcap 100 rose 1.06%, while the Nifty Smallcap 100 recovered sharply from early losses to end 0.11% higher.

IT companies occupied the top four spots in the Sensex pack. HCL Technologies led with an 8.3% rise, followed by TCS (up 6.6%), Tech Mahindra (up 4.9%) and Infosys (up 4.4%).

Sebi extends relief on IPO issue size by six months

KUSHAN SHAH
Mumbai, October 13

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has extended the relaxation for issuers of initial public offerings (IPOs) by allowing them to change the issue size without additional compliance till March 2027.

The decision, communicated to the Association of Investment Bankers of India (AIBI) through an email, has been taken following volatility and uncertainty in the market due to the West Asia conflict.

The extension will allow issuers to make changes to their issue size without filing fresh draft documents with the regulator. All issuers whose IPOs open on or before March 31, 2027 will be eligible for this extension.

The decision was taken by the regulator following representations from AIBI highlighting the challenges faced by issuers and merchant bankers in revising the size of fresh issues during the IPO process.

Sebi has specified that book running lead managers can only file revised offer documents with updated fresh issue size if the main objective of the issue remains unchanged and bankers comply with all relevant regulations.

Bankers will be required to conduct adequate due diligence and ensure that the revision is appropriately justified, along with issuing a public addendum informing investors and market participants about the change in the issue size.

Sebi notifies PMS rules

Sebi has notified the portfolio management services (PMS) framework, allowing portfolio managers to invest in IPOs, primary market debt issuances, and a wider range of overseas securities, while introducing a separate route for them for investing in mutual funds, reports PTI.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Portfolio Managers) Regulations, 2026 will become effective from April 1, 2027.

RBI aims to curb speculative activity, one-sided bets: Guv

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, October 13

THE RESERVE BANK of India tightened forex rules after finding that a large share of trades were being cancelled on the same day, with nearly one-third of transactions being closed on the day they were initiated, Governor Sanjay Malhotra told Moneycontrol in an interview on Tuesday.

He said recent measures are aimed at curbing speculative activity and one-sided bets. Malhotra reiterated that the RBI intends to ensure orderly movement in the foreign exchange market, rather than defending or targeting any specific level for the rupee.

"The primary purpose of our forex markets is to meet and hedge underlying foreign exchange requirements. Unlike equities, where participants can take a view on share price movements, forex markets are intended primarily for those with a genuine hedging requirement," Malhotra said.

The high number of same-day cancellations indicated that much of the activity was likely speculative, rather than driven by genuine hedging requirements, he added.

The RBI governor said the measures were intended to curb speculative trading and should not be interpreted as capital controls. He added that markets appeared to be overly pessimistic about the rupee.

Sanjay Malhotra, Governor, RBI

Despite external headwinds, Malhotra expressed confidence in the resilience of India's economy. He said India's macroeconomic fundamentals remain very strong, adding that the country would emerge from the current episode in a stronger position.

The governor expects liquidity condition to normalise in the near term, saying it will be managed through the measures already implemented, alongside currency in circulation, foreign-exchange interventions and additional reserve requirements. He added that higher liquidity is unlikely to deteriorate credit quality or fuel inflation.

ICICI Life Q2 net profit climbs 25% to ₹374 cr

FE BUREAU
Chennai, October 13

ICICI LIFE INSURANCE on Tuesday reported a 25% year-on-year increase in its standalone net profit to ₹374 crore for the second quarter of FY27. However, net profit declined 3.1% sequentially from ₹386.18 crore in the April-June quarter.

Gross premium income rose 16% year-on-year to ₹14,255 crore. Total expenses of management increased 23% to ₹2,654 crore, while commission expenses rose 14% to ₹1,376 crore.

The insurer's annualised premium equivalent (APE) grew 15.6% year-on-year to ₹2,799 crore, driven by the growth in retail and group protection and annuity products. New business premium grew 25% year-on-year to ₹11,821 crore in the first half of FY27, while the value of new business (VNB) rose 22.3% to ₹1,283 crore. The VNB margin stood at 26%.

Market-linked products accounted for 45% of the insurer's product mix in H1FY27, followed by protection products at 23% and non-linked products at 18%. Annuity and group funds each contributed 7%.

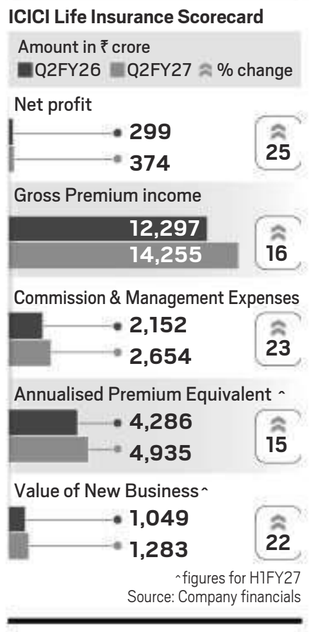

On Irdai's proposed commission reforms, the management said it expects the regulator would consider the role of credit life insurance in providing protection to lower-income groups. "Credit life is a protection product. It alleviates the stress of any asset repossession in case of the untimely death of the breadwinner, more specifically in low-income groups," it said.

Irdai last month released a consultation paper proposing tighter product- and channel-specific commission caps across life, health and general insurance. The draft proposed a sharp cut in first-year commissions on credit life products 2.5% of the premium, compared with the current average of around 8% and a maximum of 14%. Renewal commissions would be capped at 1%, against the current maximum of 38%. The proposed framework also seeks to prohibit banks and NBFCs from linking loan approvals to the purchase of insurance.

Shares of the insurer on Tuesday closed 4% lower at ₹447 on the NSE.

New-to-credit borrower share in 2W loans falls sharply: Report

KSHIPRA PETKAR
Mumbai, October 13

THE SHARE OF new-to-credit borrowers in two-wheeler (2W) loan originations has sharply declined to 39% in the first half of 2026, from around 60% in 2019, as more consumers enter the formal credit system through smaller-ticket loans before seeking vehicle financing, according to a TransUnion CIBIL report.

The report shows that borrowers with more than two years of credit history accounted for 43% of two-wheeler loan originations, an increase of six percentage points from 2019. Another 18% had less than two years of credit history.

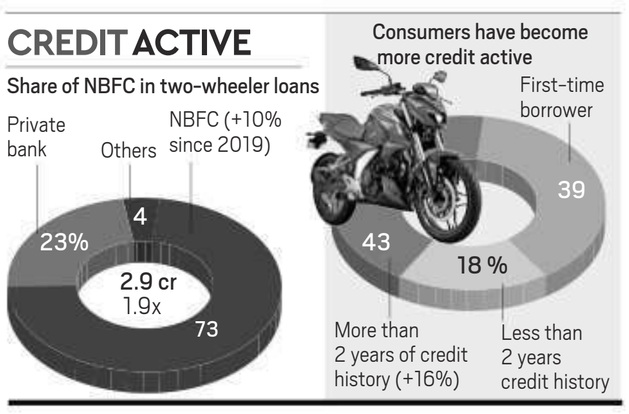

"Six out of 10 two-wheeler loans are availed of by established credit borrowers. Before opting for two-wheeler loans, they usually take a consumer durable loan," said Bhavesh Jain, managing director and chief executive officer, TransUnion CIBIL, at a press meet. He said consumer durable financing has increasingly become the first point of entry into the formal credit system.

The growing share of credit-experienced borrowers has coincided with an improvement in the asset quality. The 90-plus days past due delinquency rate for two-wheeler loans declined by 128 basis points to 1.4% in the fourth quarter of FY26, compared with 2019, even as the outstanding portfolio increased by 3.2 times.

A similar trend was observed in passenger vehicle financing, where delinquencies fell by 95 bps to 0.5%, while the outstanding loan portfolio grew 2.6 times since 2019.

However, the report highlighted differences in repayment behaviour across borrower categories. Among below-prime passenger vehicle borrowers, consumers graduating from two-wheeler loans to cars recorded a delinquency rate of 4.7%, compared with around 3.5% for repeat passenger vehicle borrowers.

CREDIT ACTIVE

The trend of declining new-to-credit participation is also visible in passenger vehicle financing, where only 10% of borrowers belonged to the category in the first half of 2026, compared with 19% in 2019.

The report says 62% of two-wheeler loan borrowers had two or more active credit relationships, while 21% were repeat 2W loan borrowers. Around 18% had prior consumer durable loan experience, while 16% had availed of gold loans.

The changing borrower profile is also creating opportunities for lenders to cross-sell financial products. Rahul Kotbage, head of research and consulting India at TransUnion CIBIL, said borrowers typically availed of another credit product within 12-18 months of taking a two-wheeler loan, highlighting opportunities for lenders to deepen customer relationships. The report found that 68% of consumers who originated two-wheeler loans in the second half of 2022 had taken another credit product by the second half of 2025.

US INFLATION EXPECTATIONS STABLE: WALLER

THE RECENT RISE in US bond yields reflects stronger economic growth rather than higher inflation expectations, which remain "well anchored", Federal Reserve Governor Christopher Waller said on Tuesday. Yields on 10-year US Treasury debt have climbed to 24-year highs in recent days, with analysts putting that down to concerns about war-driven inflation as well as ballooning government debt and massive investment in AI. "Inflation expectations are well anchored, so all of the build-up (in yields) is not coming from an inflation premium," Waller told a Bloomberg event in Mumbai. "That's not where it's coming from. So it is a factor of real growth."

GLOBAL SPACE ECONOMY EYES RECORD $100 BILLION IN 2026

SpaceX IPO sparks investment rush

LOREN GRUSH
October 13

INVESTMENT IN THE space economy is on track to exceed $100 billion for the first time ever in a given year in 2026, fuelled by SpaceX's blockbuster IPO, defence spending and space infrastructure.

The prediction stems from a new analysis of third quarter spending from Space Capital, an investment firm. On top of quantifying the sheer amount of investment, the report also notes that more space companies are reaching unicorn status than ever before.

"We all thought that 2021 was this crazy hot market," Chad Anderson, CEO, Space Capital, said, referring to the blank-check deal frenzy of the time. "It looks like a blip compared to what's happening now." To explain the surge, all roads lead back to SpaceX.

Anderson said SpaceX's record-setting IPO this summer may have led investors to revalue other space companies, viewing them as more essential than they might have before.

However, SpaceX is having an impact beyond its IPO. The company's intention to sunset its Falcon 9 workhorse in the years ahead creates the threat of a rocket shortage that is fuelling investments in SpaceX alternatives.

Launch startup Stoke Space Technologies, for instance, recently announced that it had raised $1 billion to fuel development of a larger variant of its reusable Nova rocket. SpaceX's largest rival, Blue Origin, also raised at least $10 billion in its first external fundraising in the company's 26-year history.

"This is the best thing to happen to the launch industry in a decade," Anderson said. "This is how the second, third and fourth position companies come about. The scarcity is driving the market to adopt additional solutions."

Space Capital's report also notes that the investment is being bolstered by high demand for space assets from the US government's defence department, and from sovereign nations looking for their own satellite networks and other space infrastructure to fuel economic growth. However, the free-flowing money does carry risk for companies. Firms are raising money at high valuations that don't often add up, Anderson says, especially if they've built their business models around an uncertain variable.

IMF flags risks to global economy from AI and war

DAVID LAWDER & ANDREA SHALAL
Bangkok, October 13

INVESTMENT BOOM

- IMF sees global growth at 3.1% in 2026 and 3.4% in 2027
- Risks to outlook include ending of AI boom and growing debt levels

THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY Fund (IMF) on Tuesday flagged significant growth and financial stability risks from a potential ending of the AI investment boom, growing debt levels and a prolonged Middle East conflict.

The IMF forecast global growth at 3.1% for 2026, a slight uptick from a 3.0% forecast in July as still-strong AI infrastructure investment offset higher oil prices caused by the war in West Asia.

The latest World Economic Outlook report, released in Bangkok during the annual meetings of the IMF and World Bank, also predicts 3.4% growth in 2027, but that is based on assumptions that the Strait of Hormuz reopens by March and shipping conditions return to the pre-war situation by October 2027.

A more protracted war that kept oil prices above $130 through the first quarter of 2027 would cut growth next year by half a percentage point, the IMF said.

AI correction

In another downside scenario, the IMF said that a steep drop in AI investment could lead to a sharp fall in asset prices, ultimately cutting global GDP by 1.1% by 2028, including a 1.8% drop in US output.

"We now have an economy that is standing on one leg, the AI leg," IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva told a Bretton Woods Committee event. "What if it wobbles What if there is disappointment and that leads to potentially a more difficult environment"

The IMF emphasized similar risks in its separate Global Financial Stability Report, warning policymakers needed to avoid "complacency" in guarding against a potential pullback in AI investment and stock valuations.

The concerns highlighted in Bangkok also include AI-driven cybersecurity risks.

QUARTERLY SCORECARD

Citi posts 40% surge in profit

CITIGROUP'S THIRD-QUARTER profit rose 40% compared to a year earlier, helped by stronger investment banking revenue and transactions with multinational companies as well as higher wealth management earnings.

Trading profits gained only 2% over a year ago and fell 27% against the previous quarter, mainly due to a drop in equity trading revenue.

Citi's investment banking revenue increased 9% from a year ago to $1.35 billion but fell 13% over the previous quarter as equity and debt underwriting activity slowed.

Profit increased to $5.25 billion, or $2.85 per share, in the three months ended September 30, the third-largest US lender reported on Tuesday. This compares with $3.8 billion, or $1.86 per share, a year earlier. But the bank's net income was 10% lower in the third quarter compared to the second.

Goldman Sachs beats Q3 estimates

GOLDMAN SACHS BEAT third-quarter profit estimates, as dealmaking remained steady and volatile markets tied to West Asia conflict lifted its equities revenue, sending its shares up 3.6% in early trading. The Wall Street giant, however, posted lower fixed income, currency and commodities revenue, in line with the Q3 trends at rivals JPMorgan Chase and Wells Fargo. The bank's FICC business has been choppy this year.

US equity markets were volatile during the quarter, driven by the Federal Reserve's interest-rate hike, rising fuel costs and a selloff in chip stocks.

—REUTERS

JPMorgan misses profit estimates

JPMORGAN CHASE fell short of quarterly profit estimates for the first time in nearly three years as market volatility and an uncertain economic outlook dampened dealmaking and reduced bond market trading activity in recent months. Earnings from the largest US bank underscored how uncertainty over interest rates, soaring energy prices and geopolitical tensions shaped the quarter.

—REUTERS

Wells Fargo beats profit estimates

WELLS FARGO BEAT Wall Street estimates for Q3 profit, but lower-than-expected net interest income and revenue sent the fourth-largest US lender's shares lower. Big bank earnings have started off mixed after a volatile quarter, roiled by the conflict in Iran, higher oil prices and a global bond-market selloff.

Wells Fargo's earnings beat was driven by robust growth in loans, but NII—fell short of expectations.

Netflix to air FIFA World Cup 2030 in Spain

DAVID LATONA
October 13

NETFLIX HAS SECURED the rights to broadcast the 2030 World Cup in Spain, which is co-hosting the tournament, and Andorra. It would be Netflix's first broadcast of a major men's international tournament in Spain, the company said. The 2026 World Cup was aired there by national channel TVE. California-based Netflix did not disclose financial terms.

Under the deal, one game per matchday will be free to watch in Spain. Netflix will also offer a national free-to-air channel which will broadcast a package of matches that includes all of Spain's games, both semi-finals and the final. Netflix did not name the channel.

TVE declined to comment on whether it would be interested in purchasing a package of matches.

Spain, which won the World Cup in North America this year, will co-host the 2030 edition with Portugal and Morocco, although Argentina, Paraguay and Uruguay will stage inaugural matches marking the tournament's 100th anniversary.

Uruguay hosted the first World Cup in 1930.

Spain's state-owned television network TVE broadcast the Spanish national team's matches during this year's tournament, while private platform DAZN, which distributed Mediapro's pay-TV World Cup channel, showed all 104 games. —REUTERS

India does not grow at anyone's cost: Modi

ADDRESSING THE BLOOMBERG New Economy Forum here, Modi cited the 7.8% economic growth recorded in the April-June quarter, foreign-exchange reserves exceeding $700 billion and reforms spanning taxation, insolvency and labour laws as evidence of India's resilience. "In a world filled with uncertainty, India offers the assurance of reliability and stability," he said.

The economic growth-fastest by any large economy-"is taking place on a strong foundation," he said.

The remarks come as India seeks to attract investment, expand its manufacturing base and strengthen its position in global supply chains amid efforts by governments and companies to diversify production and reduce strategic dependencies.

Modi framed India's rise around what he called the principle of "Power to Empower", arguing that the true measure of economic and technological strength lay not in the ability to control others but in creating opportunities for them.

"Today, technology is power. Data is power. Knowledge is power. Innovation is power," he said. "But the real question is not who possesses power. Rather, the question is how that power is being used." He highlighted India's digital public infrastructure, affordable mobile data, digital payments and direct transfers of government benefits as examples of technology widening access to economic opportunities. Modi said the same digital payments ecosystem used by street vendors was available to large businesses, describing it as an illustration of inclusive technology.

India is also sharing its digital public infrastructure expertise with partner countries, particularly in the Global South, he said, citing the open-source CoWIN platform developed during the Covid-19 pandemic.

Modi presented the initiative as part of a broader effort to make India's technological capabilities available beyond its borders. The PM said India's startup ecosystem had expanded from a few hundred ventures before 2014 to more than 250,000, with nearly half based in smaller cities and towns. He also said more than 45% of startups had at least one woman director or partner, arguing that innovation was reaching a wider pool of entrepreneurs.

On poverty reduction, Modi said India had lifted 250 million people out of poverty over the past decade, pointing to technology-enabled welfare transfers and the government's digital identity and payments infrastructure as contributors to more efficient delivery of public assistance. He, however, warned that globalisation was increasingly exposing countries to strategic vulnerabilities as supply chains, energy, critical minerals, payment systems and technology became instruments of geopolitical pressure.

"Things that once connected the world are now being turned into weapons," he said, calling for greater trust and cooperation among countries facing disruptions and intensifying strategic competition.

MDR rollout deferred

UNDER THE PROPOSED framework, an MDR of 0.4% will apply to eligible P2M UPI transactions above ₹2,000, subject to a cap of ₹300 per transaction. Person-to-person transfers and payments to small merchants will continue to attract zero MDR. The revenue from the charge is intended to support investments in cybersecurity infrastructure, AI-driven fraud detection and encryption upgrades, among other measures.

An industry source said the MDR rate would remain unchanged when the framework is implemented after Diwali. Retailers welcomed the deferment, saying that the original deadline would have disrupted operations during one of the busiest trading periods of the year.

"The festive quarter is the single most important trading window for apparel retail. UPI has become the default payment mode at the store counter, and any change in the cost of accepting it directly affects checkout practices, reconciliation and consumer experience," said Santosh Katariya, president of the Clothing Manufacturers Association of India (CMAI).

Introducing the charge midway through the festive season would have forced retailers to reconfigure billing and accounting systems and brief store staff at a time when customer footfall was at its peak, he said.

"Deferment avoids this and gives the trade time to prepare," Katariya said.

Kunal Jhunjhunwala, founder of airpay, said the additional time would help merchants, particularly those handling high-value transactions, understand the proposed charges and prepare their systems in consultation with payment partners.

"As the new date approaches, clear communication across banks and payment providers will help merchants and customers move through this transition with confidence," he said.

Siddharth Mehta, co-founder and chief operating officer of Kiwi, said implementing the framework on October 15 could have created unnecessary uncertainty during the peak shopping season.

"The long-term sustainability of UPI is important, but so is getting the transition right," he said.

Trade bodies, however, have called for changes to the proposed framework before the revised implementation date is announced. The CMAI has urged the government and NPCI to reassess the ₹2,000 threshold in light of its impact on apparel and other discretionary retail. It has also called for expanding the exemption for small merchants beyond the existing monthly transaction limit of ₹1 lakh, and introducing a graded MDR based on business size and ability to absorb the cost.

CMAI has further sought adequate advance notice to allow retailers to make the necessary changes to their payment systems, along with a post-implementation review to assess whether small retailers continue to accept UPI payments.

The Retailers Association of India (RAI) has proposed a fixed fee instead of a charge linked to transaction value. Meanwhile, the All India Mobile Retailers Association (AIMRA) wants merchant-to-merchant transactions excluded from the framework. The All India Consumer Products Distributors Federation (AICPDF), which represents more than 400,000 FMCG distributors, has suggested a phased rollout of MDR, starting at 0.1% and rising gradually to 0.4%. It has also sought a higher exemption threshold and clarity on whether GST would be included in the transaction value used to calculate the charge.

"CAIT supports digital payments, but the system must remain affordable and sustainable for merchants, especially small businesses," said Praveen Khandelwal, secretary general of the Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT). A survey of 7,497 enterprises by India SME Forum found that nearly 48% of respondents would pass on the charge to customers through higher prices, while almost 32% would encourage cash payments. The forum has urged the government to use the deferment to safeguard micro and small enterprises operating on thin margins.

FM-speak fires up markets

IT SIMPLIFIED TAXATION across asset classes. It raised short-term capital gains tax on specified listed equities, equity-oriented mutual funds and business trusts from 15% to 20%, and LTCG tax from 10% to 12.5%. The annual LTCG exemption threshold was increased from ₹1 lakh to ₹1.25 lakh. "Two years ago, we had brought all asset classes similarly, and people thought I was increasing the tax. I wasn't increasing the tax; I was bringing all of them to be at par with one another, so that an investor is not speculating as to which one gives them greater leverage," Sitharaman said.

She also acknowledged the debate over STT and its coexistence with capital gains tax. STT is levied at 0.1% on both purchases and sales of listed shares in delivery-based transactions.

However, any LTCG tax relief would carry revenue implications. Capital gains tax collections have risen sharply in recent years, from just over ₹26,000 crore to ₹1.29 lakh crore in FY25. Annualised collections are now estimated to exceed ₹1.5 lakh crore.

The government has previously defended capital gains tax as a "necessity in terms of equitable collection of taxes". Reintroduced on equities in 2018, LTCG tax has emerged as an elastic revenue source, with collections outpacing growth in national income, salaries and business income. Officials had also cited rising inequality to justify the levy.

"The Finance Minister's willingness to openly debate long-term capital gains tax and STT is a welcome signal. Listed equity gains in India bear LTCG at 12.5%, layered over STT, a cumulative burden that competing hubs such as Singapore and Hong Kong do not impose through capital gains tax on listed shares," said Naitik Doshi, director, Nangia Global.

"Any rationalisation, whether through LTCG relief, STT calibration or parity across asset classes, would improve post-tax returns, deepen domestic participation and make India more attractive to foreign investors," he added.

The BSE Sensex gained 1,109.10 points, or 1.54%, to close at 73,033.78, its biggest single-day rise in four months. It touched an intraday high of 73,045.67. The NSE Nifty rose 358.60 points, or 1.60%, to settle at its day's high of 22,721.95, recording its strongest single-day rebound in over two months.

CURRENCY SUPPORT

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman

I'm sure there are efforts which the RBI would take further to make sure that the rupee doesn't become too volatile

Connecting financial dots

Consolidating financial information will empower savers, but transparency shouldn't be at the cost of data privacy

THE RESERVE BANK of India's (RBI) move to bring bank deposits into the consolidated account statement (CAS) issued by Securities and Exchange Board of India-regulated entities fills a glaring gap in how Indians see their savings. Combined with interoperability among non-banking financial company-account aggregators, it promises a single, more useful picture of financial holdings without tying customers to one platform. RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra aptly called deposits the "missing piece" of the CAS at the monetary policy press conference. The benefit goes beyond convenience. People cannot manage, transfer, or bequeath assets they have lost sight of. For senior citizens especially, a consolidated view of deposits, mutual funds, and other investments could make financial planning simpler and help families identify forgotten accounts. The proposed December 31 rollout deserves support, provided ease of access is matched by control over access.

The scale of unclaimed financial assets makes the case compelling. A December 2025 government release estimated unclaimed bank deposits at roughly ₹78,000 crore, insurance proceeds at ₹14,000 crore, mutual fund balances at ₹3,000 crore, and dividends at ₹9,000 crore. Together, these exceeded ₹1 lakh crore. The government's "Your Money, Your Right" initiative seeks to reunite citizens with these assets, but tracing scattered holdings remains difficult. A CAS that includes deposits could make omissions more visible and prompt customers to update nominees, consolidate accounts, and alert their families. It will not, by itself, identify every rightful claimant or release unclaimed funds. Nor should it be confused with a comprehensive inheritance solution. Nevertheless, better visibility is an essential first step towards preventing today's savings from becoming tomorrow's unclaimed assets.

The risk is that a reform intended to empower savers becomes a powerful tool for profiling them. A consolidated statement can expose balances, investment choices, and financial habits in one place. Banks, insurers, brokers, and advisers may have legitimate reasons to seek access, but they also have commercial incentives to mine this information for cross-selling. Consent, therefore, cannot be reduced to a hurried click on a screen. It must be informed, specific to a stated purpose, limited in duration, and easily withdrawn. No intermediary should be able to demand blanket access to an entire portfolio as the price of an ordinary service. Nor should data obtained for one transaction quietly be reused for marketing, credit scoring, or unrelated products. Interoperability will widen consumer choice only if it prevents lock-in rather than multiplying the number of institutions able to harvest personal information.

The RBI must make these protections enforceable before the new framework goes live. Data minimisation, strict retention limits, auditable consent trails, independent security checks, and meaningful penalties for misuse should be non-negotiable. Institutions should face clear obligations to report breaches promptly and compensate customers where failures cause harm. Reports of sensitive customer records surfacing after a breach involving a public sector bank employee's laptop underline why cybersecurity cannot be an afterthought. Equally important are accessible grievance mechanisms, especially for older customers who may struggle to challenge unauthorised access. Regulators must also clarify who is accountable when information moves across banks, aggregators, and other intermediaries. The measure of success should not be how much customer data the financial industry can access, but how much better citizens can understand and protect their wealth. A genuinely consolidated financial statement should strengthen the individual's ownership of information, not dilute it. Transparency is valuable only when accompanied by trust. That must guide implementation from day one.

When economics lost its swagger

THE ECONOMICS GRADUATES of my generation had a certain air of superiority over their counterparts studying history or political science. In the royal combination of humanities and social sciences, economics was the subject that came with the added advantage of mathematics. And that, apparently, made all the difference.

During my college days, history, political science, and economics were the preferred combination for students who wanted to study the world, understand power, and make sense of society. But there was an unwritten hierarchy even within this combination. Those majoring in economics often seemed to regard themselves as a cut above the rest. They had equations, graphs, and models to explain why things happened, while the rest of us had to contend with historical narratives, political arguments, and the occasional philosophical detour. Economics was the physics of the social sciences, or so its practitioners liked to believe. The presence of mathematics lent it the aura of a hard science, complete with the promise that human behaviour, markets, and even entire economies could be understood through a set of elegant equations. The fact that the economy occasionally refused to behave as predicted was perhaps treated as a minor inconvenience, much like a lab experiment that had not quite gone to plan.

There are signs, however, that this intellectual swagger is losing some of its edge. Consider the Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences over the past few years. This year, Robert Hall and Michael Woodford have been recognised for developing macroeconomic models that improved the ability of governments and central banks to stabilise economies. Their work puts the decisions of households and businesses at the heart of understanding economic fluctuations.

In 2024, Daron Acemoglu, Simon Johnson, and James Robinson won for their work on how institutions shape prosperity. The 2023 prize went to Claudia Goldin for advancing our understanding of women's labour-market outcomes. Go back a little further and Richard Thaler's 2017 award recognised the integration of psychological insights into economics.

RISHI RAJ
rishi.raj@expressindia.com

These are not all examples of behavioural economics in the strict sense. But they do suggest that the discipline's centre of gravity is wider than mathematical elegance or the assumption that individuals always behave rationally. History, institutions, psychology, and the decisions people make under uncertainty have all claimed their place at the table. Even the latest award, while firmly rooted in economic modelling, reminds us that the economy is ultimately made up of people making decisions, often with incomplete information and imperfect foresight. A household may not spend more just because interest rates fall; a business may not invest simply because a spreadsheet says it should.

This is not to suggest that mathematics has become redundant or that economists should surrender their models to the historians and political scientists they once looked down upon. Mathematical models remain indispensable, just as data and empirical testing are essential to understanding economic relationships. But the financial crisis of 2008, among other shocks, exposed the limits of treating the economy as a system that could be neatly captured by a single framework. Human beings are not particles in a physics experiment. They learn, panic, imitate one another, change their minds, and respond to what they think others will do. Sometimes, individually sensible decisions produce collectively disastrous outcomes.

The challenge for economics is not to abandon the search for patterns, but to recognise that its predictions rest on assumptions about behaviour and circumstances. Perhaps, the old college hierarchy needs a rethink. The economics graduate can still bring equations to the argument, but the history student might explain how we got here, while the political science student points out who holds the power to change things.

The economy, after all, has never belonged to economists alone. And if the Nobel committee's choices are any indication, the discipline is increasingly willing to acknowledge as much. The macho mystique may be fading, but economics could emerge the better for it.

DISTRIBUTION RETHINK

MAKING INSURANCE AFFORDABLE IS THE FIRST STEP TOWARDS SABKA BIMA, SABKI RAKSHA

IRDAI returns to its first duty

SUMIT AGRAWAL
MS SAHOO
Respectively Managing Partner, Regstreet Law Advisors, and former Sebi officer; and former Chairperson/Member of IBBI, CCI, and Sebi

LIFE INSURERS PAID more to policyholders who surrendered than to those who held policies to maturity: ₹2.33 trillion in surrender payouts, against ₹2.23 trillion in maturity benefits. Only 48% of life policies survived five years, compared with 71% of policies bought online, without an intermediary. This suggests many policyholders are walking away from cover they no longer find worthwhile, forgoing often accrued benefits to cut future losses.

The long title of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority Act (IRDA), 1999, states its objectives: "to protect the interests of holders of insurance policies, to regulate, promote and ensure orderly growth of the insurance industry". The sequence is not accidental. The Sabka Bima Sabki Raksha Act, 2025, has reinforced this mandate. Section 40(2A) of the Insurance Act, 1938, empowers the regulator to specify limits on commission, remuneration, or reward in any form, and their disclosure, "in the interest of the policyholders". IRDAI's September 23 consultation paper, "Recalibrating Economics of Insurance Distribution", is the first major exercise of that responsibility.

What sets it apart is candour. In 2023, IRDAI removed the commission limits and allowed insurers flexibility within board-approved policies and overall expense ceilings. The paper concludes that the experiment has not delivered. The expense ratio of private general insurers increased from 29.6% in FY23 to 32.1% in FY26. For private life insurers, it has risen from 18.9% in FY23 to 20.2% in FY26. The paper notes that board approval of commission policies was often a formality. IRDAI has acknowledged the shortcomings, made the analysis public, and attached outcome parameters to its objectives. That is accountable regulation.

The numbers are stark. From FY23 to FY25, new business premium sourced through life insurance corporate agents grew 28%, while distributor remuneration grew 125%, absorbing 27% of first-year premium. Premium routed through general insurance brokers grew 37%, while their commission grew 173%. Commission on motor third-party insurance, a mandatory product, rose from 4.3% to 22%. Meanwhile, general insurance grievances rose 75% over the same period. Further, across general and life insurance, 63% of complaints disposed of through Bima Bharosa in 2025-26 were resolved in favour of policyholders, and of those who remained dissatisfied and approached the Ombudsman, 75% received relief.

Excess distribution cost is borne through higher premiums in general insurance and lower returns in life insurance. As the cost of insurance rises, demand falls; when distribution commissions grow faster than premiums, policyholders may reduce their cover or opt out altogether. This explains, in part, the fall in life insurance penetration from 3.2% in FY22 to 2.7% in FY25, even as commissions continued to grow. A distribution model that makes insurance increasingly expensive risks defeating the very objective it is meant to serve: "Sabka Bima, Sabki Raksha".

> A policy surrendered early, a product sold because it pays more to the seller, or a mandatory cover carrying a distribution cost does little to advance the policyholder's interest

The proposals follow from this diagnosis. Commission is redefined to cover every payment to a distributor, by whatever name, preventing rewards and foreign trips from escaping the cap. Mandatory and near-mandatory products, such as third-party motor cover and insurance bundled with loans, carry nil or nominal commission. Open-architecture distributors face lower caps than tied agents, so that customer choice is not converted into an auction for shelf space. Compulsory bundling with loans is prohibited, and volume-linked incentives for bank and non-banking financial company staff are banned. Every policy is tagged to the person who sold it, mis-selling incidents placed on public record, and commissions clawed back. Expense ceilings fall over five years to 12.5% of premium for life insurers and 20% for general insurers, with cost audits to verify the numbers.

Critics argue that caps regulate the quantum paid, not the conduct they reward, and that the pre-2023 regime merely drove payments into disguised expense heads. The objection is fair as history but misses what is different this time. An all-inclusive definition of commission, mandatory cost audits, board certification on both sides, and restrictions on outsourcing to related parties close many of the earlier escape routes. The test now is enforcement, not design.

The direction is right. Four refinements would make it stick. First, the savings must reach the policyholder. The paper caps what insurers pay, but does not require that savings be passed on. A nil commission on third-party motor cover lowers no premium unless the tariff is revised; otherwise, it widens insurers' margins. Lower acquisition costs in life insurance should show up in surrender values and returns. Insurers should disclose how reduced distribution costs have benefitted policyholders. Premia for direct buyers should be correspondingly lower, similar to the direct plan for mutual funds.

Second, reward persistence, not merely the sale. The proposed increase in renewal commission begins only from the sixth policy year, by which time more than half of policies have been discontinued. A part of first-year commission could instead be deferred and vested against persistency over a meaningful period, with claw-back on early lapse. This would align the distributor's interest with the policyholders'.

Third, move towards transparency. The paper acknowledges that specific caps would be less necessary if commission were disclosed in the policy document or paid by the customer as a fee. The National Pension System already works this way, with capped and disclosed charges, including a separate persistency charge. Caps should be a bridge to disclosure, not a destination.

Fourth, sequence and stabilise. The expense glide path begins in 2027-28, while the caps may arrive before Bima Sugam and the Public Insurance Registry are fully operational. The commission regime has moved from caps to discretion in 2023 and is now moving back. IRDAI should commit to a stable framework, reviewed against the outcome parameters it has set.

Comments close on October 25. Beneficiaries of the old order will press for softer caps and a longer glide path, and some calibration may be warranted. The IRDA Act now requires the regulator to publish its response to public comments; that discipline should explain what is accepted and why.

A policy surrendered early, a product sold because it pays more to the seller, or a mandatory cover carrying a distribution cost does little to advance the policyholder's interest. IRDAI's proposed recalibration puts the policyholder back at the centre. It is the condition for the next phase of growth: a market where insurance is bought, not merely sold.

The spectre of 100 to the dollar

JAMAL MECKLAI
CEO, Mecklai Financial

Reversing the leads and lags will certainly help, but until the market sees sound economic policymaking the rupee will stay under pressure

FOR SEVERAL DECADES, successive RBI governors have trotted out the "we don't target any level for the rupee and just try to manage its volatility" story about its FX policy. It has always worn thin given the RBI's actual market behaviour, but as the rupee approaches the frightening three-digit mark, this explanation has turned into something of a (bad) joke.

Just last week, a (very smart) businessman in Delhi told me that with the 2029 election not far off, there is no chance that the government will allow the rupee, which is within touching distance of 100, to get to the three-figure mark—this was his justification for leaving some of his foreign currency borrowings unhedged. This was certainly a persuasive argument, till last weekend's draconian virtual closing of the FX market.

To be sure, taking USD 8-9 billion a month of oil demand out of the market will certainly give the rupee a breather. Again, the introduction of foreign exchange risk reserve (FERR) on banks of 20% on any import hedges would also slow down importer purchases since the premiums would move sharply higher. [Incidentally, this is operationally identical to a suggestion made on July 8 this year by a friend of mine, Srinivas Varadarajan, an MD at Deutsche Bank, who said the RBI should impose additional cash reserve ratio (CRR) on import hedges as a way to reduce the leads (importer covering) and lags (export realisations), which were one of the largest forces pushing the rupee lower. It made sense to me and I forwarded the article to several senior people at the RBI, including the governor, and wrote about it in a column in mid-August.]

Srinivas had pointed out that a significant part of the huge excess demand for dollars was not simply the result of an imbalance of supply and demand but rather of the eagerness of importers to hedge since they believed the rupee was always going to fall, and, correspondingly, exporters to hold back for the same reason. Between April 2024 and June 2026, the leads and lags added up to an "excess" demand of around USD 185 billion, large enough to turn into a self-fulfilling prophecy. Most people plan for the rupee to fall by 3-4% a year, but if the cost of hedging were substantially higher than that (with the new policy) it would make no sense to cover imports, although it would definitely increase nervousness in treasuries across the country.

> As the RBI governor pointed out, the rupee is starkly undervalued from a real effective exchange rate perspective and, indeed, from any number of on-the-ground cost comparisons

All of this, together with the hard squeeze on speculation (ban on rebooking of cancelled contracts, reducing the limit for estimated exposure hedging, and the increase of CRR to 99% daily, squeezing bank liquidity to further reduce trading positions), will likely strengthen the rupee in the short term—it is reported that the rupee was about 0.5% stronger on the non-deliverable forward over the weekend.

But this is certainly not a sustainable approach. Firstly, it is important to recognise that despite the huge "success" of the foreign currency non-resident (FCNR) deposit scheme, the usable reserves (that is foreign currency assets) are now just USD 615 billion; deducting the RBI's forward book (increased substantially by the swaps undertaken on the FCNR inflows) of about USD 200 billion effectively brings it to around USD 415 billion, which is just about six months' imports. This would classify our external account as quite "fragile", which is likely to further reduce India's attractiveness to global investors.

Again, the restrictions on the market will also weigh on global investors who are, in any case, not particularly comfortable with the stability of India's policymaking on several issues that concern them. Thus, and despite the fact that our equities are now very cheap in USD terms, it is hard to see inflows picking up any time soon. Further, the generalised geopolitical nervousness augurs against investing in an increasingly fragile country.

On the other hand, as the governor pointed out, the rupee is starkly undervalued from a real effective exchange rate (REER) perspective and, indeed, from any number of on-the-ground cost comparisons. The REER is around 90, which means at an equilibrium level today the rupee should be around 88 or 89 to the dollar. But markets are about supply and demand and sentiment and don't particularly care about model-based valuations.

Reversing the leads and lags (through the FERR) will certainly help, but until the market sees sound, sensible economic policymaking, without the usual "rah-rah", it looks like my old friend, the rupee, will stay under pressure. Perhaps 100 to the dollar could well be on the cards and my friend in Delhi will need to review his business plan.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Rupee defence

Apropos of "Defending the rupee" (FE, October 13), a stable rupee is important, but defending it through market intervention alone cannot provide a lasting solution. The RBI must balance exchange-rate stability with the need to preserve forex reserves. Persistent pressure on the currency also reflects India's dependence on imported energy, capital flows, and geopolitics. While curbing speculative activity may offer temporary relief, excessive curbs could affect genuine businesses that need to hedge their currency exposure. India should thus strengthen exports, attract stable long-term investment, and diversify its energy sources. Greater transparency in forex markets and prudent management of external borrowing would also help. A resilient economy, rather than an artificially strong currency, is the soundest defence of the rupee.

Diplomatic duplicity

Apropos of "Mr President, now you understand India," (FE, October 13), US President Donald Trump's decision to purchase Russian diesel while pressuring India to stop buying Russian oil epitomises diplomatic duplicity and hypocrisy. If Russian energy revenues allegedly finance Moscow's war against Ukraine, Washington's own transactions expose its glaring double standards. This demonstrates how Western powers subordinate professed principles to geopolitical expediency and commercial interests. India rightly resisted such coercive diplomacy, safeguarding its energy security and strategic autonomy. National interests cannot be sacrificed to appease Washington's shifting demands and self-serving moral posturing.

Quick commerce set for festive surge

BRANDS WILL BE ON THE QUI VIVE WITH AD RATES SET TO JUMP 30-40%

KARTIKAY KASHYAP

ACCORDING TO THE 2026 Festive AdEx report by Datum Intelligence, brands are expected to spend ₹2,200 crore on retail advertising on quick commerce platforms like Blinkit, Zepto and Swiggy Instamart this festive season. That would mark a 50% year-on-year increase in advertising spending and would constitute almost 19% of the ₹11,500 crore that brands are expected to spend on the overall commerce and retail media this season. In fact, commerce and retail media would likely be among the largest digital ad spending categories.

"Within digital media, q-commerce is currently the best platform where brands see the highest level of ROAS (return on advertising spend) and conversions," says Karan Taurani, EVP, media, retail, consumer discretionary & internet, Elara Capital.

The rising adoption of q-commerce has shot up the advertising rates on retail media by 30-40% during the festive season, data from Datum Intelligence suggests. "It is getting expensive because the inventory is limited—there are only a handful of players in the segment currently," says Satish Meena, founder, Datum Intelligence.

The question is, will brands get the big bang they are expecting from their advertising buck? Or will there be too much noise and wastage?

Experts say brands expect to get 5X to 6X returns on their ad spends on q-commerce this festive season. But here is the catch. Because brand visibility depends on in-app search placement, platforms often put a premium on certain slots and time windows. This forces brands to route 25-30% of their channel revenue back into platform ads just to stay top of mind, say media planners.

Mayank Shah, CMO, Parle Products, says the high cost of advertising on q-commerce will compel brands to pull back on offers and discounts, and premium products, which demand discretionary spending, will see the largest impact of this rising cost.

Betting big on q-commerce

- Q-commerce is likely to take 19% of the overall retail media spend during this festive season
- 35% of online retail buyers discover products they buy on quick commerce
- Brands get a return on ad spends of 5X to 6X on quick commerce, highest in digital media

Smaller and D2C brands will face the biggest challenge. "Only 20% of the brands on q-commerce make up 80% of the business. If the cost of presence on q-commerce continues to rise, brands that do not get a positive ROI will drop off," says Meena from Datum. "High ad expenses may become a challenge for marketing efficiency, especially during the festive season," says Shaily Mehrotra, co-founder & CEO, Fixderma and FCL.

Both good & bad news

Let's face it: Q-commerce is a big deal in India at the moment. According to a recent data released by RedSeer Strategy Consultants, estimated at $9 billion in the first half of 2026 (H12026), it makes up 22% of the total online retail gross merchandise value or GMV of $40.9 billion. RedSeer also estimates that there are more than 60 million monthly users on quick commerce in H1 2026.

Q-commerce applications are becoming the place where consumers discover many of the products they buy. The Datum Intelligence report mentions that 35% of online retail buyers discover products on q-commerce. Needless to say, brands will gravitate to the place where purchase intent is high.

According to reports, platforms like Blinkit, Zepto and Instamart deliver conversion rates of 3% to 8%. Because users mostly click on these apps when faced with some immediate need, the see-buy-delivered loop is really short.

As per media reports, q-commerce now accounts for 60-75% of the overall e-commerce sales for many FMCG players. They are using real-time inventory and location-based data to test new products—quick feedback cycles allow them to tweak discounts and bundle structures on the fly. "Especially during festive times, q-commerce adoption is high due to the convenience of fast delivery," says Parle's Shah.

Amit Relan, co-founder & CEO, mFilterIt, says brands will not necessarily spend less because the cost of advertising on q-commerce is high, they will become more creative and accountable. "Marketers are prioritising high-intent keywords, location-level demand and product availability, while also evaluating campaigns against incremental sales and ROAS," he says.

The high cost of visibility makes a brand like Fixderma mindful of how it allocates the marketing budget, focusing the spends on high-potential SKUs and placements. "We also track incremental sales to understand whether our investments are generating the desired impact," Mehrotra adds.

For the platforms, while the top-line numbers look attractive, net profitability remains some way off. Add platform commissions of 15%-25% to dark store listing fees, delivery costs and the discounts and profit margins erode quickly.

In the end, say experts, success on q-commerce will depend to a large extent on how much the brand has invested outside the q-commerce framework to build its equity and on offering competitive prices on the platform to be part of a customer's shopping basket.

JEEL GANDHI

FESTIVE SHOPPING IN India has always been social. What has changed is the shape of that sociality. It used to look like family trips to the market, shared wishlists, and advice from an older relative. Today it looks like a creator haul on Instagram, a product link dropped in a WhatsApp group, and a purchase decision made only after the people you trust most have weighed in. The journey is the same. The conversations around it have completely changed.

For Gen Z, the festive season is not a single peak moment. It's an extended series of celebrations, each one an opportunity to connect, discover, and share. The GWI and Snapchat Diwali Gen Z Study 2026 found that nearly 70% of Gen Z consumers see the festive season as multiple celebrations rather than one shopping occasion, with many beginning to plan well before the traditional Diwali window opens. So, the brands that treat Rakshabandhan, Onam, Navratri, and Diwali as one long connected season, with consistent touchpoints throughout, are already ahead of the ones still waiting for the Diwali brief to land in October.

What has shifted most fundamentally is how Gen Z moves from finding something to actually buying it. Creators help them discover. Friends, family, and trusted communities help them decide. A brand can win the discovery conversation and still lose the decision if the product story doesn't hold up when it gets shared in a private group chat. This is why the inner circle matters as much as the influencer.

The same study found that 41% of Gen Z plan most of their festive purchases in advance, while 40% combine planning with spontaneous decisions. Convenience, therefore, is not only about a smooth purchase. It is also about being present at the right time with a product story that is easy to understand, explore, and share. Brands that integrate product storytelling beautifully across the season can stay relevant to both the planner and the spontaneous buyer.

Every Holi, Onam and Navratri produces a surge of organic content. But look closely at what actually gets posted. It's the moments that felt personal, curated, and genuinely special. Not the national campaign. The intimate Onam sadya a brand made possible. The sibling experience that felt designed for exactly them. The opportunity isn't to sponsor a post about these moments. It's to host the gathering that creates them.

Festivals are lived both online and offline, but for Gen Z, they are also internet moments. The brands that understand this are turning massy, calendar-wide occasions into hyper-curated, creator-friendly experiences that young people can participate in. That could mean creating spaces where friends and families come together, bringing creators into the experience, or designing product-led moments that feel specific to the occasion.

That's when marketing stops being something a brand pushes out and starts being something people pull into their own feeds, stories, and conversations. The content then comes from hundreds of people, not one brand handle.

GLOBAL SPOTLIGHT

By the hands, for the hands

■ Campaign: Wear Your Best Life
■ Brand: Oura ■ Agency: Nice & Frank

AT A TIME when brands are experimenting with artficial intelligence (AI) to generate moments which are impossible to bring to reality, smart ring brand Oura has gone the other way.

As part of its new brand campaign, "Wear Your Best Life" the brand has released a new brand film used real hands wearing the Oura rings and built a miniature city using physical craft. The miniature city includes a nearly 20-foot city street, working miniature subway cars, a rooftop pool with real water, a skate park, hand-carved brick walls and a motorised miniature taxi. Oura also partnered with Lilach Chen—a creator known for pioneering "fingerbreaking" (finger breakdance). The ad highlighted the daily roitines of the characters ranging from hands stepping through tiny streets, diving into water, and navigating everyday moments.

The brand also stayed away from traditional health-tech marketing which often talks about one single definition of wellness. This new campaign presents a broader, more human view of health—one that makes room for individuality, personality, and the full range of lives people lead and goals they have.

TRADE WORRIES

The excess-capacity debate: What it means for India

India has joined a US-led initiative on excess capacity even as its own manufacturing faces US investigation. Ajay Srivastava explains the potential risks to Indian exports and why India must safeguard its industrial growth

16
ECONOMIES AGAINST WHICH THE US STARTED ITS EXCESS-CAPACITY PROBES IN MARCH 2026

INDIA SHOULD DEFEND ITS RIGHT TO EXPAND MANUFACTURING FOR DOMESTIC & EXPORT MARKETS

● What is excess capacity, and why is it a concern?

IN TRADE DISCUSSIONS, "excess capacity" refers to concerns that state subsidies allow a country's firms to produce and export large quantities at low prices, dominate global markets and hurt local industries and jobs in other countries.

Steel has been central to this dispute for decades. Concerns grew in 2015–2016, leading to the creation of the Global Forum on Steel Excess Capacity after the 2016 G20 Summit. In 2023–2024, the debate widened to electric vehicles, batteries, solar panels and foundational semiconductors.

● How is excess capacity assessed?

THE UNITED STATES and Europe look out for government support that encourages overproduction and harms their industries. Signs include cheap energy, land or loans; rising output despite weak demand; and firms continuing to produce despite losses and falling prices.

The US and Europe see China's aggressive subsidies and industrial policies as major causes of excess capacity and pressure on manufacturing elsewhere. But China's export strength also reflects investment in scale, innovation and efficient supply chains. Subsidies alone do not explain its dominance. The assessment must distinguish subsidy-driven overproduction from competitiveness based on scale, innovation and efficiency.

● What is China's response to this?

CHINA REJECTS THE US and EU argument. It says capacity should be assessed against global demand, including future clean-energy needs, rather than domestic demand alone. China attributes its manufacturing success to technology, efficient supply chains, large-scale production and strong competition. It says affordable Chinese products help the world shift to clean energy. It also accuses the US and Europe of double standards because they subsidise their own industries and have long produced for export.

● Which products are on the radar?

MAJOR PRODUCTS INCLUDE steel, aluminium, electric vehicles, solar equipment, batteries, foundational semiconductors, petrochemicals, other industrial chemicals, cement and glass. Countries have responded with anti-dumping duties, import quotas and carbon-border measures.

● What is the US probe against India about?

THE US STARTED excess-capacity probes against 16 economies including India, China, and the EU on March 11, 2026. Conducted by USTR under Section 301, these examine whether subsidies, government-backed expansion, market-access barriers and other policies have led to excess capacity that harms US commerce. Final findings are due by March 11, 2027. Possible outcomes include additional tariffs, import quotas or other trade restrictions.

The US notice identifies possible excess capacity or export surpluses in India's solar modules, petrochemicals, steel, textiles, health-related goods, construction materials and automotive products. It says solar-module capacity is nearly three times domestic demand and questions expanding steel and petrochemical capacity. India needs to show that its expansion serves domestic, export and future demand. Treating exports themselves as proof of excess capacity would undermine the basis of international trade. An adverse USTR finding could expose Indian exports to additional tariffs or other restrictions.

● What is the Oct 7 joint statement?

INDIA JOINED 14 other economies in a US-led initiative announced by USTR on October 7, 2026. It seeks joint action against government-supported over-production that distorts markets and threatens domestic industries. Its initial focus is automobiles and EVs, batteries, chemicals, foundational semiconductors and solar panels. The statement names no target country, although China appears to be the implied focus.

● Why does India's participation raise concerns?

THE US IS apparently taking contradictory steps: investigating economies over alleged excess capacity while asking some of them to cooperate on the same issue. India, the EU, Japan, Mexico and South Korea are both signatories of the statement and subjects of the Section 301 probes. Washington is seeking their cooperation while retaining the option of restricting their exports. Joining the initiative does not end US scrutiny.

India should ensure that cooperation protects its manufacturers and does not imply acceptance of US allegations. It should seek clear criteria for identifying harmful excess capacity and defend its right to expand manufacturing for domestic and export markets. Export growth should not automatically be treated as evidence of surplus capacity. The same scrutiny should apply to US subsidies, industrial policies and trade practices as to those of other countries.

10.	Trading in the equity shares /other securities of the Acquirers by IDC Member	Not Applicable
11.	Recommendation on the Open offer, as to whether the offer, is or is not, fair and reasonable	The IDC members have reviewed PA, DPS, DLOF and LOF issued by the Manager to the Offer on behalf of the Acquirers. The IDC members have also noted that the interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupee Four and Eighty-Two Paisa Only) per equity share has been computed at the rate of 10% p.a. on the Offer Price for delay of 440 days in receipt of prior approvals from the Reserve Bank of India ("RBI"). Upon review of the same the IDC members believe that the Offer Price of Rs. 44.82 (Rupees Forty-Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share, including an interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupees Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share, is in compliance with the provisions of Regulation 18(11) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. Accordingly, the IDC members believe that the Open Offer made to the public shareholders of Target Company (except parties to Share Purchase Agreement) is fair and reasonable.
12.	Summary of reasons for recommendation	The IDC has taken into consideration the following for making recommendations: a) The entire equity shares of JAFL are presently listed at BSE and CSE only. The total trading turnover in the equity shares of the Target Company on BSE, i.e., stock exchange having nationwide trading terminal, based on trading volume during the twelve calendar months prior to the month of PA (01.01.2024 to 31.12.2024) is 6.93%. Since, The Calcutta Stock Exchange Limited is non-operational, there has been no trading in the equity shares of the Target Company for last many years hence the total trading turnover is not ascertainable. Thus, the equity shares of JAFL are infrequently traded on both BSE and CSE within the definition of "frequently traded shares" under Regulation 2(1)(j) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. The equity shares of JAFL are currently under the Enhanced Surveillance Measure ("ESM"): stage 1 on the BSE. b) The Offer Price of Rs. 44.82 (Rupees Forty-Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share including an interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupees Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share, is higher than the fair value of the equity shares of Rs. 28.93 as determined through customary valuation methods, certified by an independent Registered Valuer in accordance with the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. c) The Offer Price of Rs. 44.82 (Rupees Forty-Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share including an interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupees Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share is higher than the negotiated price of Rs. 27/- (Rupees Twenty-Seven Only) per equity share paid by the Acquirers pursuant to the Share Purchase Agreement with the Sellers / Selling Shareholders. d) IDC Members confirm that neither the Target Company nor the Manager to the Offer have received any complaints till date from shareholders regarding the Open Offer, valuation price or valuation method. e) Based on the above the IDC is of the opinion that as on the date of this recommendation, the Offer Price of Rs. 44.82 (Rupees Forty-Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share,including an interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupees Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share offered by the Acquirers to the public shareholders of the Target Company, being the highest price determined in accordance with the Regulation 8(2) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations prima facie appears to be justified. Therefore, IDC recommends acceptance of the Open Offer made by the Acquirers at the Offer Price of Rs. 44.82 (Rupees Forty-Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per fully paid-up equity share, including an interest of Rs. 4.82 (Rupees Four and Eighty-Two Paise Only) per equity share, is fair and reasonable. However, IDC would like to the draw attention of the shareholders that the equity shares of the Target Company are presently trading on BSE at a price that is higher than the Offer Price. The shareholders are advised to independently evaluate the Open Offer via current share price and take an informed decision, before participating in the Open Offer.
13.	Details of Independent Advisors, if any.	None
14.	Any other matter to be highlighted	No

To the best of our knowledge and belief, after making proper enquiry, the information contained in or accompanying this statement is, in all material respect, true and correct and not misleading, whether by omission of any information or otherwise, and includes all the information required to be disclosed by the Target Company under the SEBI (SAST) Regulations.

INDIA bloc vows to reclaim Jantar Mantar

Resistance against 'vote theft' to continue: Oppn

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 13

THE OPPOSITION INDIA bloc on Tuesday vowed to fight unitedly for the 'restoration of democracy' in the country and bring to justice those responsible for 'vote chori', with senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi asserting that political resistance would continue.

The opposition leaders along with civil society members got together at Gandhi's residence to discuss the future strategy of their protest against Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and 'vote chori'. They also discussed the denotification of Jantar Mantar as a designated site for holding protests, with Gandhi saying "we are going to challenge the decision".

Opposition leaders have already taken to the streets through a series of protests and have knocked at the doors of President Droupadi Murmu and the Supreme Court of India by filing a joint petition against alleged irregularities in electoral rolls. Gandhi stressed that irrespective of the role institutions play, political and people's resistance will continue and triumph. The assertions were made after INDIA bloc leaders and MPs, some members of the civil society and student organisations attended a gathering over tea hosted by Gandhi at his 5, Sunehri Bagh Road residence.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress Parliamentary Party (CPP) chairperson Sonia Gandhi, Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and opposition leaders, including Tejashwi Yadav and Manoj Jha of the RJD, Mahua Maji (JMM), Harendra Malik, Anand Bhadauria and Mohibullah Nadvi (SP), D Raja and P Sandosh Kumar (CPI), AISA chief Neha Bora, Sagarika Ghose and Mahua Moitra (TMC), were among those in attendance. Civil society members Prashant Bhushan and Yogendra Yadav attended the event as well.

Addressing reporters jointly, INDIA bloc MPs vowed to continue the fight against alleged 'vote chori' in a united manner.

"We are all standing here together as one. As I said yesterday, there are no parallel protests, there is one singular protest and the protest has one mission — 'restoration of democracy in India'. Democracy has been destroyed in this country, the election system has been destroyed, the Constitution has been torn up and thrown away. We are fighting together to restore democratic rule," Rahul Gandhi said, flanked by party chief Kharge and other INDIA bloc leaders.

"The one method of expression of democracy was Jantar Mantar, and now, the government has decided that Jantar Mantar can no longer be used to express democratic feelings. Well, we are going to challenge that idea," the former Congress chief said.

"The people who have done this — Modi, who is the main architect, Amit Shah, who is the implementer, Gyanesh Kumar and others — they need to understand that the net is closing around them. It is not going to be so simple that you can destroy the Indian Constitution and get away with it," he said.

He also referred to "a lady who is hiding right now in Dehradun" as one of those behind 'vote chori'. He did not name anyone.

Asked about the opposition leaders moving court, Gandhi said the leaders have extreme respect for the Supreme Court, for the Chief Justice of India and for the judicial system. "They have a role to play, we hope they will play that role, but, we are also political people and no matter what happens, no matter which institution plays a role, or does not play a role, political resistance will continue, people's resistance will continue and it will triumph," Gandhi added.

Shah to Oppn: Be ready for 'crushing defeat' in 2029 polls

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 13

IN HIS FIRST remarks on the ongoing protests for the resignation of CEC Gyanesh Kumar and scrapping of SIR, Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday lashed out at Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and the opposition, saying they should be prepared once again for a 'crushing defeat' in 2029 as people of the country are with the BJP, NDA and Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

In a hard-hitting statement, Shah also said that the kind of 'negative politics' the Congress has been engaged in will not benefit it as it needs to connect with the public and cited the opposition party's dismal performance in the recent bypolls and local body elections in several states.

"Ever since you became the principal leader of the Congress, and later its president, and now the Leader of the Opposition, the Congress party has continuously lost elections," he said.

"You need to engage in introspection. You cannot win the trust of the country's people through fabricated media events and echoes of lies," he said, adding that the Congress is on a losing spree for decades now.

"I want to ask Rahul Gandhi ji directly: Is this the result of the SIR? The SIR started only after 2024," Shah said.

Criticising Gandhi, the Home Minister said people of India know his plans of "getting infiltrators registered as voters".

"I want to tell Shri Rahul ji and his associates to prepare themselves once again for a crushing defeat in 2029. In the 2029 general elections, the NDA is going to win with a resounding majority, and the Congress is going to face defeat for the fourth consecutive time."

"The people of this country are with Narendra Modi ji, with the BJP, with the NDA. You cannot deny this truth," he said.

Shah's remarks come amid ongoing agitation by opposition parties and the Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) this month on the SIR issue.

FIR against Das, Ranka, after Jantar Mantar breach

DELHI POLICE HAS filed an FIR against Cockroach Janta Party (CJP) leaders Saurav Das, Ashutosh Ranka and its other members for allegedly trespassing into the Jantar Mantar area without authorisation, officials said on Tuesday.

A police source said FIR sections include breach of a peace bond the three leaders signed earlier. The action came hours after the activists entered the heavily barricaded protest site and raised slogans demanding CEC Gyanesh Kumar's resignation. Das, Ranka and a few other CJP members were detained early Tuesday after they allegedly entered the area in defiance of prohibitory orders. According to the outfit, around 11 of its members were detained. A police officer said the detained protesters were taken to Jaffarpur Kalan Police Station in Dwarka district.

CJP founder Abhijeet Dipke described the outfit's action as a reclaiming of Jantar Mantar and asserted that the denotification of the protest site would not deter the agitation. PTI

Noel, son move HC with caveats

HOWEVER, EXECUTIVES CLOSE to the developments maintained that Khambata and Bhat continue to support Noel and Neville Tata, and that their inclusion as caveatees is purely procedural. The filings are understood to have followed legal advice obtained by the trust.

"The position of Mr Khambata and Mr Bhat on the ongoing matters remains unchanged," a Tata Trusts spokesperson said.

Recently, Khambata and Bhat joined Noel and Neville Tata in signing a letter to Singh and Srinivasan challenging concerns raised over the governance of the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust (SDTT). The letter was seen as an indication that both trustees continued to back Noel Tata.

Srinivasan and Singh filed their complaints with the charity authorities in the last week of September. Noel and Neville Tata subsequently filed caveats with the Charity Commissioner's office covering all seven trusts that hold stakes in Tata Sons.

On October 5, the Charity Commissioner informed Noel Tata and SDTT by email about the complaints and gave them until October 12 to respond.

SDTT subsequently sought an extension and was granted another week, until October 19, to submit its response. The caveats in the Mumbai courts were filed on October 7, as the trust was preparing its response to the Charity Commissioner.

Legal experts said that since Srinivasan and Singh had specifically named Noel and Neville Tata in their complaints, filing caveats in their individual names would help protect their interests by ensuring they have an opportunity to be heard before any ex parte orders are passed.

BLOOMBERG NEW ECONOMY FORUM

Tata Group's chip bet not tied to near-term returns: Chandra

● Stresses demand over the pursuit of cutting-edge tech

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, October 13

PM Narendra Modi during the Bloomberg New Economy Forum in New Delhi on Tuesday ANI

TATA SONS CHAIRMAN N Chandrasekaran on Tuesday said the group's investments in semiconductors should be judged by their strategic importance to India rather than the financial returns they generate over the next two to three years, as the country is seeking to build domestic chip manufacturing capabilities and become part of global supply chains.

"Whether we will get it right and meet the numbers in two years or three years, it's not the point. The point is that chips are going to be fundamentally required for domestic consumption," Chandrasekaran said at the 2026 Bloomberg New Economy Forum. He, however, cautioned against investing in advanced manufacturing technologies without assessing market demand and commercial viability.

"You cannot be reckless and say that I am going to be putting a 2 nanometre chip (plant). It's just not going to work. So, we need to also see where the demand is," he said, underlining the need to balance long-term strategic objectives with financial sustainability. He added that investments must generate sustainable employment over the long term.

Chandrasekaran said India was well placed to develop its semiconductor manufacturing capabilities, given its talent pool, large domestic market and potential to participate in global supply chains.

However, building the ecosystem would require partnerships with global players to access technologies, as well as careful planning to meet the sector's energy requirements. "We are in a beautiful spot in India, because we have the talent, we have the domestic market, we can play a part in every global supply chain," he said.

Tata Electronics, a group company, is setting up a semiconductor fabrication plant at Dholera in Gujarat in partnership with Taiwan's Powerchip Semiconductor Manufacturing Corporation, with an investment of around ₹91,000 crore. The proposed facility will manufacture chips for applications spanning automobiles, mobile devices, consumer electronics, artificial intelligence and industrial segments. The group is also developing a semiconductor assembly and test facility in Assam with an investment of around ₹27,000 crore.

The investments form part of the Tata group's broader push into advanced manufacturing, electronics and battery technologies. Chandrasekaran said the strategy drew from the group's history of investing in sectors it believed would be critical to the country's future industrial development, even when the returns were not immediate.

He cited founder Jamsetji Tata's vision for steel and hydroelectric power, with the group's steel plant coming up in 1907 and its hydroelectric power business following in 1911. The same philosophy, he said, informs the group's current investments in semiconductors and other emerging sectors. "If you design it on the belief that it's needed for India, it's needed for mankind, and for the process, it will get right," he said.

He said that advanced manufacturing would remain important even as conventional manufacturing faced pressures. Further, he stressed that businesses needed to invest in capabilities that would be essential in the long run without losing sight of commercial viability.

'Investment calls getting tougher now'

ADITYA BIRLA GROUP Chairman Kumar Mangalam Birla said multiple global crises have made investment decisions tougher for his metals-to-retail empire that generates over a third of its business overseas. "You either grow or you go down; you can't stay in a state of equilibrium," Birla said at the Bloomberg forum. "We've been constantly investing as well in our existing and in new businesses because you you can't stop growing."

Global businesses face a volatile environment marked by unpredictable US tariff and trade policies, West Asia war, as well as shifting demand across major economies and sectors. The Aditya Birla Group operates across 41 countries and generated $72 billion in revenue in the year ended March. As of June, it derived 42% of its sales from outside India. The Mumbai-based conglomerate's businesses include metals firm Hindalco Industries, cement maker UltraTech Cement, non-bank lender Aditya Birla Capital and retailer Aditya Birla Fashion and Retail. —BLOOMBERG

Nilekani brushes aside AI jobs apocalypse fears

● 'Demand for IT services will grow'

POULOMI CHATTERJEE
Bengaluru, October 13

INFOSYS CO-FOUNDER and Chairman Nandan Nilekani has dismissed predictions of artificial intelligence (AI) triggering widespread job losses, stating that the technology will increase the need for IT services companies as enterprises undertake complex transformations. Calling forecasts of mass unemployment hogwash and disaster marketing, Nilekani said the adoption of AI across businesses would be a gradual process, creating new roles even as it automates existing tasks.

Speaking at the Bloomberg New Economy Forum, Nilekani's comments came a day after International Monetary Fund (IMF) Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva warned that AI's impact on the global economy would resemble a slow-moving tsunami, with fresh graduates particularly vulnerable as the technology takes over routine, repetitive tasks. The IMF has estimated that 40% of jobs globally could eventually be augmented, downgraded or eliminated by AI. Nilekani, however, said that such predictions underestimated the complexity of enterprise transformation and the time required to implement new technologies.

"The requirement for companies like Infosys and others is actually more than ever because enterprise transformation is a very complex task," he said. Companies would need help to fundamentally reimagine their businesses using AI, reskill workers and build new capabilities. Drawing a parallel with cloud computing, Nilekani said technology adoption across enterprises takes years because of legacy systems, change management and organisational structures. "If you think about cloud transformation, it started 20 years ago and it's still not that ubiquitous," he said, adding that work for system integrators would grow gradually over a much longer period than currently assumed.

Nilekani acknowledged that coding in its traditional form was being automated, but said it accounted for only around 30% of a business process. Governance, defining business requirements and management constituted the remaining work, creating scope for new roles around supervising AI agents, understanding client requirements and collaborating with enterprises to implement change. His argument was that automation of individual tasks would not necessarily translate into the elimination of entire jobs or a corresponding decline in demand for technology services.

Beyond the IT services industry, Nilekani sees AI creating opportunities for small businesses, which he believes could become an important source of future employment.

'AI on exam day could end paper leaks, frauds'

INFOSYS CO-FOUNDER Nandan Nilekani on Tuesday proposed a radical shift in the country's examination framework, suggesting the use of AI to generate question papers on the day of the exam to eliminate the risk of paper leaks.

Speaking at the Bloomberg event, Nilekani said: "Question papers create an economic incentive for them to be sold. So, the way to solve this is to really have a massive bank of questions, and only at the last minute generate the question paper for that day, and therefore the question of 'a' question paper goes away, and there's no economic incentive for that. That's one way to think about how to solve this."

Nilekani also emphasised the urgent need to transition toward a nationwide Computer-Based Testing (CBT) model. AGENCIES
