Beyond the milk pouch, dairy firms chase margins

INDIA'S DAIRY INDUSTRY is moving beyond its traditional volume driver—liquid milk—as firms seek higher margins from cheese, paneer, yoghurt, ghee, ice cream and protein-rich products. Rising health awareness, urbanisation and convenience-led consumption are raising this shift. However, intense price competition and limited pricing power are keeping basic milk products a relatively low-margin business for the firms, writes Viveat Susan Pinto. PAGE 5

LOWER SUBSIDY, TIGHTER SPENDING TO OFFSET REVENUE LOSS

Fiscal deficit on course despite West Asia crisis

PRASANTA SAHU
New Delhi, August 23

WITH A BETTER assessment of the impact of the West Asia crisis on the economy and lower-than-anticipated subsidy pressures, the Centre is hopeful of containing the fiscal deficit at around the Budget Estimate (BE) of 4.3% of GDP for FY27, despite the revenue loss from the recent cut in petrol and diesel excise duty, sources said. The government's confidence stems largely from a sharp moderation in the additional fertiliser subsidy requirement, which had emerged as a major fiscal risk after the West Asia war broke out 27 days after the Budget for FY27 was presented on February 1. The additional requirement, initially estimated at ₹2.7 lakh crore over and above the Budget provision of ₹1.71 lakh crore, subsequently fell to ₹2.5 lakh crore, then ₹1.7 lakh crore and is now estimated at less than ₹70,000 crore as global fertiliser prices have moderated sharply.

“Hopefully, the additional fertiliser requirement would be ₹30,000-40,000 crore this year,” an official said. The additional requirement will be met partly through the ₹1 lakh crore Economic Stabilisation Fund (ESF), which was created from unspent balances of the previous year to meet the fiscal impact of the Pay Commission award in FY28. The ESF has provided the government with a fiscal buffer following the West Asia shock. Importantly, any drawdown from the fund will not add to the FY27 fiscal deficit since the corpus had already been reflected in the FY26 fiscal deficit. The ₹10,000-crore aviation turbine fuel (ATF) price stabilisation fund created from the ESF corpus also did not result in any drawdown, providing another cushion to the government.

Chandra's directorship in legal grey zone

URVI MALVANIA & JYOTSNA BHATNAGAR
Mumbai/Ahmedabad, August 23

LEGAL OPINION IS divided over whether N Chandrasekaran can continue as a director on the Tata Sons board after the holding company's AGM was adjourned without transacting business, adding fresh uncertainty to a leadership transition already underway.

The August 18 AGM was adjourned for want of quorum after Sir Ratan Tata Trust (SRTT), barred from holding meetings by the Maharashtra Charity Commissioner, could not nominate its representative. The agenda included the renewal of Chandrasekaran's directorship.

At the heart of the debate is whether his directorship continues until a valid AGM is

IN A QUANDARY

■ Chandrasekaran's Tata Sons directorship is in legal limbo after August 18 AGM was adjourned without transacting business

Legal experts are split: Some see litigation risk for director due to retire by rotation; others see an impasse

■ The question is consequential as the chairman must by law be a board director

■ Tata Sons may need to approach the RoC or NCLT if deadlock persists, clouding the transition held, or whether his status as a director liable to retire by rotation creates a legal vulnerability because the meeting that was to consider his renewal could not proceed. The question matters because the law is clear that a company's chairman must be a director on its board.

“The question of the tenure status of retiring directors in the absence of a timely AGM remains a grey area under the Indian corporate laws. Courts have taken divergent views: one line of authority holds that directors cannot benefit from their own failure to convene meetings, while another prioritises business continuity and management stability,” a partner at a leading law firm said.

“The practical consequence is that any director whose tenure depends on the AGM faces legal uncertainty and potential litigation risk until the meeting is eventually convened,” the partner added.

Other experts take a more definitive view: the adjournment does not automatically end Chandrasekaran's directorship. “The adjournment has created a governance impasse, not a vacancy. Since the AGM was inquorate owing to the restrictions placed on SRTT by the Charity Commissioner, Mr Chandrasekaran's directorship continues pending a validly constituted adjourned AGM,” said Krishna Dutt, founder and managing partner at Argus Partners.

SpaceX puts Starlink India supply-chain hiring in gear

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, August 23

SPACE X IS BUILDING a supply chain team for its Starlink satellite communications business in India, even as the company awaits final regulatory clearances to begin commercial operations in the country.

The Elon Musk-led company has posted multiple openings in Bengaluru across supply chain engineering and sourcing and planning, signalling a focus on building supplier capabilities and preparing the hardware ecosystem needed for Starlink's operations.

The hiring comes as Starlink awaits regulatory approvals to begin commercial services in India. The company has already secured a licence to provide satellite broadband services and established ground infrastructure, but the final regulatory go-ahead remains pending.

SpaceX currently has at least four relevant openings in Bengaluru, including three supplier development roles and a global supply manager position.

Sarvam's $10-bn AI gamble faces the frontier test

POULOMI CHATTERJEE

NEWLY MINTED AI unicorn Sarvam's ambition to build a foundation model comparable with the latest offerings from OpenAI and Anthropic is no longer constrained only by money. The company has raised around $350 million cumulatively, including an extended $75 million Series B round from Nvidia in August, and co-founder and CEO Pratyush Kumar believes $10 billion invested today could take Sarvam to the current AI frontier by Independence Day next year. The harder question, experts say, is whether Sarvam can remain at the frontier as the benchmark keeps moving.

“The gap is actually not as big as it looks. If we were to invest $10 billion today, we could reach the frontier by Independence Day next year,” Kumar said earlier this month. Such an investment would give

SBI eyes doubling biz in 4 years: Setty

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 23

STATE BANK OF India's total business could potentially double to around ₹200 lakh crore by 2030, when the bank celebrates its platinum jubilee, Chairman CS Setty said.

SBI's total business—the aggregate of its loans and advances and deposits—crossed the ₹100-lakh-crore mark in the second quarter of the last financial year and stood at ₹110.01 lakh crore at the end of June 2026. “We don't have any milestone, but if you take the current growth rate, I think we should be around ₹170-180 lakh crore, or maybe reaching ₹200 lakh crore. That would be another important milestone,” he told PTI in an interview.

Setty said SBI's growth is closely linked to the performance of the Indian economy.

If the economy continues to expand at 7-8% annually, the bank's balance sheet has the potential to grow 11-12% a year, he said.

“For a bank of our size, scale is imminent, and it is fully intertwined with what is happening in the Indian economy,” the SBI head said.

Medical tourism startups await their funding cure

Bengaluru, August 23

INDIA'S GROWING APPEAL as a medical-tourism destination is spawning a new layer of startups that manage everything from hospital selection and medical consultations to visas, travel, accommodation and post-treatment care. However, despite rising foreign patient flows and rapid growth reported by some companies, the segment has attracted only $9.28 million across 18 funding rounds, highlighting the challenge of building a venture-scale business around an asset-light service model.

According to Tracxn, India has 122 medical-tourism startups. Vaidam Health, backed by 4CE Ventures, receives around 18,000 inquiries and serves more than 500 patients globally every month, with patients from over 150 countries having used its services. “Our overall revenue has grown as we have increasingly focused on high-ticket and complex cases rather than patient volumes alone,” Pankaj Chandna, co-founder, Vaidam Health, told FE. The Medical Travel Company is currently handling about 1,000 patients a year and is targeting 2,000 by the end of this year. CureMeAbroad has more than 21,500 patients using its services each month for part of their treatment journey, including researching options, comparing hospitals and getting matched with doc-

Fertiliser firms bet big on specialty nutrients

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, August 23

MAJOR FERTILISER MANUFACTURERS, including Deepak Fertilisers, Coromandel International and SML, are gradually expanding capacity to produce non-subsidised, crop-specific soil nutrients that offer higher nutrient-use efficiency and better absorption. Farmers have increasingly adopted these “specialty fertilisers” over the past few years for crops such as fruits and vegetables, cotton, sugarcane, soyabean and wheat. Their nutrient-use efficiency can exceed 80%, compared with much lower efficiency for heavily subsidised conventional fertilisers such as urea. Over the past four to five years, Deepak Fertilisers has launched several crop-specific nutrient baskets for cotton, sugarcane, fruits and vegetables, including NPK-plus products, micronutrients, soil condition-

India and Japan target AI, semicon collaboration

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 23

INDIA AND JAPAN are positioning the manufacture of critical technology and supply chain resilience at the centre of their bilateral agenda, as Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal leads India's largest-ever business delegation to Tokyo, Nagoya, and Osaka starting Monday. The engagements are expected to accelerate joint manufacturing initiatives and help build resilient supply chains in next-generation industries—spanning semiconductors, artificial intelligence, clean energy, and advanced automotive design—aligning Japan's technology leadership with India's industrial scaling targets, according to a statement. The mission kicks off in Tokyo, where Goyal will host sessions on semiconductors, AI, and foreign institutional investment alongside a high-level roundtable with Keidanren (Japan Business Federation), representing over 1,500 major Japanese enterprises. The minister will also hold bilateral talks with his Japanese counterpart, Minister of Economy, Trade and Industry (METI) Akazawa Ryosei, to frame bilateral mechanisms for joint production and technology transfer. To move beyond policy discussions and secure ground-level industrial investments, the 200-plus member delegation will also visit Nagoya, Central Japan's manufacturing core. joined by the Central Japan Eco-

Commerce secy to visit South America

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, August 23

COMMERCE SECRETARY RAJESH Agrawal will be in South America starting Monday with first stop in Chile to hold talks on resolving remaining issues in the proposed Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) between the two sides. The visit will also take him to Argentina and Brazil for meetings of the forums that meet periodically to discuss trade related issues. The visit will last from July 24 to July 28. “The trade agreement with Chile is in advanced stages. There are few issues that need resolution so both sides are trying to find a common ground on those,” a senior official said. The two countries have held four rounds of formal negotiations on the CCPA with the last meeting held in New Delhi last December. Trade talks were temporarily paused following Chile's December elections, which saw Conservative leader José Antonio Kast assume the presidency on March 11. The pause was because the new government also wanted to reevaluate the contents and status of negotiations and after that exercise they are also keen to move ahead with the talks, the official added. He said the differences remain on the issue of market access and critical minerals trade.

conomic Federation (Chukeiren) and the Nagoya Chamber of Commerce and Industry, the delegation will target deep integration with Aichi Prefecture's automotive and high-grade steel manufacturers. The tour concludes in Osaka with an Investors and Business Roadshow focused on expanding Japanese footprints across electronics, industrial machinery, and clean energy production in India. Japan remains one of India's most critical partners in foreign direct investment and technology integration. Officials emphasize that this four-day push is designed to move beyond traditional trade to establish co-development hubs, secure strategic material supply routes, and build future-ready manufacturing networks.

● THE FISCAL CONNECT

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman interacting with West Bengal Finance Minister Swapan Dasgupta in New Delhi on Sunday.

● PRATIK AGARWAL, CHAIRMAN OF RESONIA AND SERENTICA RENEWABLES & MANAGING DIRECTOR AT STERLITE ELECTRIC

‘₹1.2-lakh crore capex planned over next 4 years’

Serentica Renewables and Resonia plan to invest ₹1.2 lakh crore as capex over the next four years, on the back of ₹40,000 crore already invested. The group is also evaluating an entry into HVDC and power electronics, Pratik Agarwal, chairman of Resonia and Serentica Renewables and Managing Director at Sterlite Electric told Saurav Anand. Excerpts:

How will the ₹1.2 lakh crore be invested? Serentica plans to add 4 GW of renewable capacity annually and build a 6,000-MWh battery portfolio while Resonia is targeting ₹20,000-40,000 crore of new transmission orders.

What is the immediate opportunity for Resonia?

The important opportunity ahead is the ₹1-1.5 lakh crore of transmission bidding pipeline. The orders are expected to be awarded anytime starting next week. We expect to secure around 10-20% of this pipeline, depending on pricing and the margins. That would translate into ₹20,000-40,000 crore of fresh project wins. We are deliberately targeting fewer, technically complex projects rather than chasing volumes. We currently have 16 projects with an asset value of about ₹45,000 crore. Around 40% of this portfolio is operational or close to becoming operational, while the remaining 60% is under construction. Serentica has crossed 3 GW.

What is the new growth run-rate? Our plan is to add approximately 4 GW every year. At that pace, we should comfortably exceed the earlier target of 17 GW by 2030. Serentica has already signed contracts for around 9 GW of renewable capacity, representing investments of approximately Rs 50,000 crore. We intend to remain focused on developing and supplying renewable power rather than entering solar-module or battery manufacturing.

How large a business will battery storage be for Serentica?

We commissioned our first 200-MW battery capacity in Bikaner last week. Based on existing contracts and projects at advanced stages, we plan to have around 6,000 MWh of battery capacity over the next two to three years. The idea is to integrate wind, solar, batteries and the national grid to offer what we call “thermal mimic power”

Tax experts downplay Mauritius treaty fears

SHUBHAM RANA
New Delhi, August 23

THE MAURITIUS CABINET'S ratification of a 2024 protocol to its tax treaty with India, introducing the Principal Purpose Test, has sparked investor concerns over broader scrutiny, though experts say it creates no new anti-abuse powers. The protocol to the Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement (DTAA) with India introduces a new anti-abuse provision, raising concerns that Indian tax authorities may gain heightened powers to scrutinise investors from Mauritius.

The aim of the protocol is to align the India-Mauritius DTAA, signed in April 1983 and amended by a protocol in May 2016, with global Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (BEPS) anti-abuse provisions. The protocol introduces the Principal Purpose Test (PPT), under which tax authorities can deny treaty benefits where obtaining the tax benefit was one of the main purposes of a transaction. The introduction of the PPT has raised concerns over whether Indian tax authorities could gain sweeping powers to challenge DTAA benefits claimed by Mauritius investors. “In practical terms, it gives tax authorities a stronger tool to address treaty shopping, while genuine investors should not be denied benefits merely because they have invested through Mauritius,”

INVESTOR CONCERNS

■ Mauritius Cabinet ratifies PPT; experts call scrutiny fears overstated, unfounded

■ The PPT does not disturb the grand-fathering of investments made before April 1, 2017

■ The government should provide clarifications on applying the anti-abuse framework

■ The objective should be to protect India's tax base said Manish Garg, partner-tax, AKM Global. Tax experts said the revised treaty does not create a new anti-abuse powers and that the fears are unfounded. Instead, it provides a treaty-based route alongside the existing General Anti-Avoidance Rule (GAAR). “The Mauritius protocol should not be viewed as giving Indian tax authorities a blanket power to deny treaty benefits. The Principal Purpose Test is an internationally accepted BEPS anti-abuse standard, aimed primarily at treaty shopping,” Garg said. According to EY India Tax Partner Maadhav Poddar, what changes is the route and not the existence of scrutiny. “Previously, a Mauritius-routed investment could be challenged through GAAR, through reference to the Approving Panel. PPT allows the issue to be raised under the treaty itself,” Poddar said. Even with the new route, a tax officer's PPT determination will not be final, Poddar said. “Taxpayers retain the regular appellate remedies before tribunals and courts, and in cross-border cases can access the Mutual Agreement Procedure, through which the Indian and Mauritian authorities can jointly review a disputed determination.” While the introduction of the PPT aligns the treaty with global standards, its purpose-based and fact-intensive nature does create uncertainty for genuine investors, particularly where tax considerations formed part of the rationale for choosing Mauritius, Garg said. The Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) has clarified that the PPT is prospective and does not disturb the grandfathering of investments made before April 1, 2017. Experts said the government should provide clarifications on applying the anti-abuse framework to genuine funds, foreign portfolio investors and holding structures.

Govt weighs supply-profile tweaks for stalled RE bids

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, August 23

THE GOVERNMENT IS looking at changes in the supply profile of stalled renewable energy projects within the tariffs already discovered, including the addition of battery storage, to help nearly 42 GW of auctioned capacity secure buyers, Renewable Energy Secretary Santosh Kumar Sarangi has said.

Developers are already adding battery energy storage systems (BESS) to plain-vanilla solar projects to make them more attractive to distribution companies that increasingly want electricity beyond daylight hours. The shift is significant as standalone solar projects account for around 17-18 GW of the capacity yet to find off-takers, while another 14-15 GW was awarded at relatively high tariffs. “We have asked all the REIAs to look for ways in which discoms will be able to buy this, and if necessary, some changes in the profile also could be experimented within the rates

POWER PACKED

■ The shift is significant as standalone solar projects account for around 17-18 GW of capacity yet to find off-takers

■ The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission's July 2026 regulations provide a penalty-free exit route discovered,” Sarangi said at the BNEF Summit. He said developers were adding battery storage to vanilla solar bids to make them “more palatable” to discoms. However, the government does not expect every stalled project to find a buyer. “A lot of those vanilla solar bids are not going to be sold,” Sarangi said. “If there is a requirement, there will be cancellation, but that is not our first option,” he added. REIAs will continue trying to secure buyers before moving towards cancellation. For projects that remain unviable, the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission's July 2026 regulations provide a penalty-free exit route. Sarangi said developers that had furnished bank guarantees for connectivity can exit without forfeiting those guarantees. Plain solar projects and some hybrid bids where price discovery was high are likely to be the most vulnerable. Developers could either exercise the exit option or, eventually, REIAs may have to cancel such bids. “The backlog is going to whittle down,” Sarangi said. The push towards storage also comes amid rising curtailment as rapid solar additions create large daytime surpluses. About 11% of solar generation during the hottest months this year was curtailed. India's transmission system could not absorb more than 8 billion kWh during April-June, even as 63 billion kWh reached the grid. Nearly 21 GW of renewable projects have only part-time grid access, making them more exposed to curtailment.

NFRA names 948 non-filing firms

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, August 23

THE NATIONAL FINANCIAL Reporting Authority (NFRA) has listed 948 audit firms that have not filed mandatory NFRA-2 annual returns for the reporting period FY25. The list largely comprises smaller and mid-sized audit firms rather than the large audit companies. The provisional list takes into account filings made up to August 15, 2026. NFRA said that the firms who have already submitted their returns or completed their filings can inform the regulator. The annual return is required under Rule 5 of the NFRA Rules, 2018, and the original deadline for filing the NFRA-2 return for FY25 was November 30, 2025. However, NFRA said the filing window continues to remain open to provide additional time to audit firms. The NFRA-2 return provides the regulator with information on audit firms and their audit engagements, including details of companies audited, audit and non-audit fees, partners and employees, network affiliations, disciplinary proceedings and quality-control policies. This information helps NFRA monitor audit firms in the country and assess compliance with auditing and reporting standards. NFRA's non-filer lists have changed significantly as audit firms subsequently file their returns. For FY23, 856 firms were on the list as of March 20, 2025. For FY24, the number fell from 905 on March 10 to 785 by March 20. For FY25, it declined from 1,314 on April 30 to 948 by August 15.

Rules on availing agri subsidies amended after flaws detected

HARIKISHAN SHARMA
New Delhi, August 23

ALMOST TWO MONTHS after an investigation by IE revealed a Union Minister and a serving Central government secretary's kin availing subsidy for their cucumber farms, the Centre has amended the 'Scheme Guidelines of Commercial Horticulture and Cold Storage Schemes' of the National Horticulture Board (NHB). It has revised the definition of 'family' - bringing within its ambit the subsidy applicant's spouse, father, mother, sons and daughters - and has made holders of constitutional posts, serving ministers, MPs, MLAs, mayors, district panchayat chiefs and government employees ineligible for financial assistance under NHB schemes. The NHB, an autonomous body under the Ministry of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare, amended the scheme rules on August 21. "With a view to rationalise financial assistance, ensure equitable distribution of benefits, prevent duplication of subsidy, and make the implementation of the Schemes more transparent and effective, following amendments in the Scheme Guidelines shall be applicable with immediate effect," read a circular issued by the NHB. The scheme - Development of Commercial Horticulture through Production and Post-Harvest Management of Horticulture Crops - is aimed at promoting commercial farming of horticultural crops on a large scale. The crops under the scheme are three types of vegetables - capsicum, cucumber and tomato; and eight varieties of flowers including rose, lily, and chrysanthemum. The scheme offered a subsidy of 50%, capped at ₹1 crore per family, of the project cost.

Centre pushes states to speed up PNG adoption

THE PETROLEUM MINISTRY has asked states and Union Territories to provide district-level administrative support to accelerate the shift of households from LPG to PNG, seeking appointment of nodal officers to coordinate with gas distributors and OMCs. In an August 21 letter to state chief secretaries, Petroleum Secretary Neeraj Mittal said PNG, as a safer, cleaner and more efficient cooking fuel, has an important role in advancing India's energy transition while reducing the logistics burden associated with LPG distribution.

"PNG brings a more efficient cooking fuel, playing a critical role in advancing the country's energy transition objectives. Its accelerated adoption contributes to reducing the logistics burden associated with LPG distribution and improving utilisation of CGD infrastructure created via substantial public and private investment," Mittal said in the letter.

The ministry is seeking district-level intervention as it moves to implement a regulatory framework aimed at preventing households from retaining both LPG and PNG connections in areas where piped gas is available.

The push for faster adoption of gas piped to households for cooking purposes, called PNG, follows the disruption to India's LPG supply chains during the West Asia crisis earlier this year.

LPG was among the fuels most exposed to the conflict because India imports a large share of its cooking-gas requirement, with much of those supplies coming from Qatar, Saudi Arabia, the UAE, and Kuwait and moving through the Strait of Hormuz.

The disruption forced the government to prioritise domestic LPG supplies, with commercial and industrial consumers facing restrictions before supplies were progressively restored. India has since moved to diversify its LPG sourcing, including higher purchases from the US and Algeria, as it seeks to reduce its exposure to disruptions in Middle Eastern supplies.

Piped natural gas, by contrast, proved considerably more resilient during the crisis, particularly for domestic household consumers.

Domestic PNG supplies received priority allocation of domestically produced natural gas, insulating the segment from much of the disruption that affected imported LPG and LNG cargoes.

TO REIN IN the sharp rise in retail onion prices, the government may start offloading onions from its buffer stock in the open market, Consumer

Affairs Secretary Nidhi Khare said. "Looking at the recent rise in prices, we are preparing to start Kanda Express for the bulk transportation of onions by rail from buffer stocks kept in Maharashtra to key consuming centres across the country," Khare told FE. She said there were sufficient stocks with both the government and farmers to meet demand in coming months. According to the Department of Consumer Affairs, the average retail price of onions rose to ₹41.64 per kg on Saturday, up 45% from a year earlier. Retail prices have risen by more than 19% over the past month, while prices in Delhi-NCR have crossed ₹55 per kg.

Mumbai slot squeeze speeds up cargo shift to Navi Mumbai

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, August 23

A SQUEEZE ON ad-hoc slots at Mumbai's Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport (CSMIA) is accelerating the shift of dedicated freighter operations to Navi Mumbai International Airport (NMIA), with more cargo operators expected to move services over the next few weeks. Adani Airport Holdings, which operates CSMIA, has started denying slots to some ad-hoc cargo operators for services from late August, sources said. The development is expected to push more freighter operators towards NMIA, which is seeking to estab-

'Unlikely to achieve 100% EV deliveries by 2030'

Eternal, formerly Zomato, is re-evaluating its target of making 100% of its deliveries electric by 2030, as financing, charging infrastructure and the pace of delivery-partner growth make the transition harder than anticipated. Anjali Ravi Kumar, chief sustainability officer, speaks to Anees Hussain about the challenges and the policy support needed. Excerpts:

EV penetration in delivery has remained around 10% despite growth in absolute numbers. Are you still confident of achieving the 100% target by 2030?

We are re-evaluating the goal. We have found the transition to be far more challenging than we imagined. There are several reasons. On the ground, faith in the technology is not at the level where we can confidently say this is going to transition to 100% by 2030. Delivery-partner growth has also outpaced expectations, with more part-timers coming into the system.

So, we are now thinking of maintaining a multiple of what is on the roads. Our internal and other estimates put EV penetration on-road at about 6%. Our own EV penetration is crossing 12%. So, we are already at twice the level on public roads. We are pulling the EV industry forward.

Delivery was expected to be an easy case for electrification. What is holding it back?

Financing remains a challenge. More than 50% of India needs a loan to buy a two-wheeler, and such loans are not easy for delivery partners, many of whom lack the paper-work or credit history required to qualify. The absence of an EV resale market is also holding back financiers.

There is also uncertainty over whether products available today can deliver their advertised range under the heavy usage patterns of delivery riders. Then there is infrastructure. Until battery-swap and charging stations become as common as petrol pumps, range anxiety will not disappear quickly.

How has electrification progressed in quick commerce?

Logically, we should be powering all our warehouse deliveries through EVs. It has not happened because permissions are difficult to obtain. To install a charging or battery-swapping station at a dark store or warehouse, you need an increase in sanctioned load capacity as power usage rises substantially. These permissions have not been easy to obtain in many cases.

Given that many barriers are outside the platform, what has Eternal been able to influence directly?

We probably have the largest number of EV ecosystem partnerships. We work with battery-as-a-service and charging players. We show delivery workers charging and battery-swap points on the delivery app. Almost all rental players also have their fleets listed, allowing a partner to see the vehicle available, its price and location. We run an annual EV bazaar before the festive vehicle-buying season, introducing delivery partners to new models. We collaborate with OEMs and give EVs as gifts to high-performing partners. We do not earn commercially from these initiatives.

Will a policy intervention focused specifically on delivery help?

There is no doubt about it, and it needs to happen at multiple levels. It is not just about bike models or cheaper batteries. It is about real estate and power distribution, whether the physical infrastructure exists to keep these vehicles charged and whether permissions can be obtained to build it. It is also about who will lend delivery workers the money to buy an EV.

Lamborghini holds off India dealership expansion

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, August 23

LAMBORGHINI IS NOT looking to expand its dealership network in India for now, even as it sees continued demand for its high-performance cars and prepares to bring the limited-run Revuelto SV to the market.

The Italian supercar maker believes its existing network is adequate for the size of the Indian market, while high taxation continues to constrain its growth potential.

"We are not thinking now to expand the dealer network, we think that we are there where we have to be," Federico Foschini, chief marketing and sales officer, Automobili Lamborghini SPA, told FE.

Lamborghini's India sales stood at 111 units in 2025, marginally lower than 113 units in 2024, while its super SUV segment grew 17%. Nearly 800 Lamborghini cars are now on Indian roads.

Converting growth into profitability remains a challenge for Suzlon

● Record growth meets rising costs and a slowing wind market

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, August 23

SUZLON ENERGY IS making a statement with stronger order book, record deliveries and a wider renewable energy play. However, it is now facing a familiar challenge in a different form: How to convert rapid growth into sustainable profitability.

While revenues rose 45% in Q4FY26 and 22.5% in Q1FY27, the Ebitda margin fell to 15.5% in the June quarter from 19% a year earlier, as the company incurred higher costs while investing in its next phase of expansion.

The margin pressure comes even as key operating metrics have strengthened. Suzlon delivered 506 MW in Q1FY27, its highest-ever first-quarter deliveries, despite supply chain and logistics disruptions caused by geopolitical tensions in West Asia. The disruptions deferred an estimated 10-20% of deliveries, which the company expects to recover in the coming quarters, group CEO Ajay Kapoor said during the earnings call.

Installations more than doubled to 269 MW from 117 MW in Q1FY26, while realisations increased to ₹6.3 crore per MW from ₹5.6 crore, helped by a higher EPC mix. Analysts, however, see the decline in margins as an evidence of the trade-off Suzlon is making between growth and profitability.

An email sent to the company on the subject did not elicit any response.

The company has come a long way from the losses it had incurred between FY20 and FY22. Revenue has grown at a 34% CAGR since FY20, while FY26 profit rose 52% to ₹3,159 crore.

The company is now using that recovery to invest in

■ Under Suzlon 2.0, the company aims to transform it from a wind turbine maker to a broader renewable solutions provider

what it calls Suzlon 2.0, a strategy aimed at transforming it from a wind turbine maker into a broader renewable energy solutions provider spanning wind, solar, battery energy storage systems and international markets.

The company is investing in new manufacturing capacity, technology platforms and prototypes, while also building a project development business. Analysts said these upfront investments, along with the higher EPC mix and geopolitical disruptions, have contributed to the near-term margin compression.

A key part of the strategy is the DevCo model, under which Suzlon plans to invest about ₹500 crore to acquire land, secure transmission connectivity and complete early-stage project development before partnering with customers for execution.

Kapoor said the model has already secured more than 600 MW of orders within four months. Suzlon aims to quadruple renewable sales to 10 GW and expand renewable energy assets to 70 GW by FY31.

It is also evaluating opportunities in Europe, Australia, Latin America and Southeast Asia, while identifying a more than 20 GW serviceable solar asset base around its existing service locations.

Within wind, repowering could provide another significant opportunity. Kapoor estimates India's repowering potential at nearly 25 GW, with a large part of the country's installed fleet commissioned 10-20 years ago using smaller turbines and lower hub heights. Newer platforms can generate substantially more power from the same sites, making replacement of ageing turbines commercially attractive. Suzlon expects to secure confirmed repowering orders in India by the end of FY27 and is also looking at Europe and Australia.

The broader tender environment is also turning more favourable for wind. Solar had dominated renewable auctions earlier, but its share has declined as tenders increasingly seek round-the-clock and firm, dispatchable renewable power, often requiring wind as part of hybrid projects. Suzlon's order inflows stood at about 1 GW in YTD-FY27, compared with 0.8 GW a year earlier, taking its order book to 6.1 GW. About 84% of the book comprises PSU and commercial and industrial orders, according to ICICI Securities.

The bigger question, however, is whether the market can grow fast enough to support Suzlon's ambitions. Nuvama expects India's wind industry could plateau at 8-10 GW over the next two-three years and estimates Suzlon's annual execution may stabilise at around 3-3.5 GW in FY27-28.

Its FY31 targets are therefore likely to be back-ended.

Shift in Hexaware's AI treatment boosts revenue

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, August 23

A CRYSTAL BALL that scans a visitor's hand and prints a tarot card, software that lets people try on clothes virtually and a robot dog that suddenly stops responding to its operator may sound like entertainment. At Hexaware Technologies' AI Day 2026 in Chennai on Friday, however, the demonstrations were designed to illustrate a bigger shift: AI is moving beyond chatbots and screens to understand images, interpret physical environments and interact with machines.

The shift is already reflected in Hexaware's business. For the first time, the mid-tier IT services company disclosed that more than 50% of its revenue now comes from AI and AI-infused solutions. The company wants to increase that contribution through Zerovity, its AI-led platform aimed at reducing friction across software development and enterprise technology, including vulnerabilities, technical debt, backlogs, defects, tickets and licences.

One of the demonstrations showed how image recognition and natural-language processing could bring AI to workers who may not have technical expertise. A technician repairing a washing machine, for instance, could photograph the machine and send the image to an AI system, which could identify the problem and provide instructions on how to fix it. "Image recognition and natural-language processing come together to turn a complex application into something a non-technical worker can use," a Hexaware engineer said. The virtual clothing demonstration similarly showed how AI can interpret images and translate them into an interactive experience, while the tarot-card application was largely a playful use of the same underlying capabilities.

ILLUSTRATING A BIGGER TRANSFORMATION

■ More than 50% of its revenue now comes from AI and AI-infused solutions

■ The company is targeting the roughly $900-billion global SaaS market

■ Its immediate opportunity remains enterprise software

■ AI-led platform Zerovity aims to reduce friction across software development & enterprise technology

■ Moving beyond chatbots, AI interprets physical environments and interacts with machines

The robot dog demonstration pointed to a more serious implication of this convergence between software and the physical world. The machine was initially being controlled through a remote, before another engineer demonstrated how an attacker could potentially intercept the communication, gain access to the robot's camera and take control of its motors and other functions. As quadruped robots move into industrial and defence applications, such vulnerabilities could have consequences beyond data theft or software disruption. "Imagine if this happens in defence. If the enemy is sending robots and you are able to take them back and send them back to them — that is the kind of technology," a Hexaware official said. The company is not suggesting its demonstration represents a battlefield-ready system, but the experiment highlights how cyber and physical security could increasingly overlap.

A humanoid robot being controlled through a motion-capture suit offered another example of how AI and robotics could be combined for industrial applications. The suit converts human movements into data that can be mapped to the robot's joints, allowing the machine to replicate those movements.

For Hexaware, however, the immediate opportunity remains enterprise software. The company sees AI making it faster and cheaper for businesses to build customised software instead of relying on expensive or ageing SaaS products. CEO RSrikrishna said the company is targeting the roughly $900-billion global SaaS market, highlighting that customised software can now be built in weeks or months rather than years.

Legacy modernisation is another opportunity, particularly for enterprises dependent on Cobol. While estimates put the broader Cobol replacement market at around $1 trillion, Srikrishna said Hexaware sees $29-30 billion as addressable.

FPIs invest ₹23.5 K cr in equities in August

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 23

FOREIGN INVESTORS (FPIs) have accelerated buying in Indian equities this month, infusing ₹23,544 crores so far in August as improving quarterly earnings, a stable rupee and better market prospects lift sentiment.

The inflow comes after FPIs invested ₹20,200 crore in July, marking a sharp turnaround from four consecutive months of heavy selling and signalling renewed confidence in Indian equities.

FPIs had withdrawn ₹49,340 crore in June, ₹32,963 crore in May, ₹60,847 crore in April and a massive ₹1.17 lakh crore in March. Prior to this selling streak, they had invested ₹22,615 crore in February, according to CDSL data.

Despite the recent buying, foreign investors have remained net sellers in Indian equities in 2026, withdrawing around ₹2.3 lakh crores so far — exceeding the ₹1.66 lakh crore outflow registered during the entire 2025.

“The factors that are driving the FPIs back to the Indian market are: earnings growth revival as reflected in Q1 results, FPI withdrawal from

Former bureaucrat, diplomat, economist named to RBI Board

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
Mumbai, August 23

THE GOVERNMENT HAS appointed former Finance Ministry official Annie George Mathew, economist and management consultant Janmejaya Kumar Sinha and former diplomat Syed Akbaruddin as part-time, non-official directors on the Reserve Bank of India (RBI)’s Central Board for a four-year term.

The appointments were approved by the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet under Section 8(1)(c) of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934. “The appointments will take effect from the date of notification and will continue for four years or until further orders, whichever is earlier,” according to an order issued by the Department of Personnel and Training Saturday.

The three bring experience in public finance, economics, corporate strategy and international diplomacy to the RBI’s Central Board.

Mathew is a former Special Secretary in the Department of Expenditure, Ministry of Finance, and is currently a full-time member of the Sixteenth Finance Commission.

Sinha is a prominent economist and management consultant and has held senior leadership positions at the Boston Consulting Group.

Akbaruddin is a former Permanent Representative of India to the United Nations and a former spokesperson of the Ministry of External Affairs.

‘Current valuations good entry point for investors’

Madhu Nair, CEO, Baroda BNP Paribas Mutual Fund, shares his views on valuations in the Indian equity market, the outlook for foreign investor inflows and the sustainability of SIPs in an interview with Kushan Shah. Excerpts:

How do you look at valuations in the current market?

Valuations are comfortable. The price-to-earnings (P/E) and price/earnings-to-growth (PEG) ratios are much lower than their historical averages, especially in the large-cap space. We saw 20-25% year-on-year earnings growth in Q1 FY27. Due to the base effect, earnings growth may average 12-15% year-on-year for the rest of the fiscal, depending on how the West Asia conflict plays out. As around 75% of the earnings of BSE 500 companies are derived from domestic consumption, India is relatively insulated from the impact of geopolitical conflicts. I believe that this is a good entry point for investors with a five-year horizon, as investor returns can fare much better than earnings growth because of attractive entry valuations. Over the next five years, investors entering equity mutual funds now could be well positioned, as markets are coming out of a period of depressed earnings even as the outlook remains attractive.

How do you view the decline in investor interest in active large-cap schemes and increasing inflows into riskier categories such as mid- and small-cap funds?

While over 60% of active large-cap schemes outperformed their benchmarks last year, there is a belief among distributors that generating alpha consistently will be difficult in the category. As a result, they are advising investors to take passive exposure to large caps and active exposure to mid- and small-cap schemes for alpha generation. I think with the right stock selection and conviction on the part of the fund manager, it is still possible to generate consistent alpha in large-cap schemes.

That said, in any growing economy, mid- and small-cap companies will grow much faster. So, even with elevated valuations, greater alpha can be created in mid- and small-cap funds over the long term. It is also important to note that while large caps are trading below their average P/E multiples, valuations in mid- and small-caps have also moderated. While the Street narrative has favoured large-cap funds, returns have been better in small- and mid-cap funds.

How do you see mutual fund participation in the recently introduced closing auction session?

The closing auction session is a good global practice that aids price discovery. It has been only a few days since its introduction, and our operational mechanisms are still adapting to it.

There are some initial structural and operational issues — such as capturing spreads while the cash market is closed and the derivatives market remains active — that are affecting liquidity. As a result, mutual fund participation is still low. However, I believe that over time, mutual funds, being among the largest participants in the ecosystem, will increase their participation in the auction.

Do you see the high inflows into SIPs sustaining in the coming years?

There are two growth levers that make SIP inflows sustainable. The first is the increase in the mutual fund investor base, which leads to new SIP registrations. This will continue as financial awareness and market participation increase.

Investor behaviour, shaped by past experience, will also drive SIP growth. As investors see that SIPs provide a better investing experience during volatile periods compared with lump-sum investments, SIPs will grow exponentially.

Some investors who lack conviction may redeem early, but those who stay the course and create wealth will bring more investors into SIPs. I expect net monthly SIP flows to touch ₹40,000 crore in the next two years or so and, within my working lifetime, to scale to ₹1 lakh crore a month.

PUBLIC SECTOR LENDER Indian Bank expects its gold loan book to cross ₹1.5 lakh crore in the current financial year, supported by robust demand for the product.

“Gold loan is safe lending for banks...it is not a consumption loan, but mostly it is income-generating and also helps small businesses to grow. Last year, we saw very significant growth of 30% in the segment due to a jump in gold prices. It will be slower this year as there is a 30% decline in gold prices,” Indian Bank MD and CEO Binod Kumar told PTI in an interaction.

This growth would come from tonnage, he said, adding that the gold loan segment is likely to grow about 20%.

Currently, the gold loan portfolio is around ₹1.25 lakh crore, and the book should exceed ₹1.5 lakh crore during this financial year at the anticipated growth rate, he said.

Kumar further said that RAM (retail, agriculture, and MSME) constitutes 65% of the overall loan book while the remaining 35% is from corporate. The bank wants to maintain the ratio going forward, he said, adding that RAM has huge capacity for growth with a lot of opportunity in agriculture and MSMEs.

On the liability side, Kumar said the bank has witnessed CASA growth at 15.30%, with savings deposits growing by 13.54% and current account deposits by 26.33% during the first quarter of the current financial year.

The bank’s low-cost deposits, CASA (Current Account and Savings Account), are around 40%.

“CASA remains a challenge, but with the support of our staff, we expect to maintain progress. One encouraging development is the increased participation of branches,” he said.

● What is gold monetisation?

GOLD MONETISATION IS the attempt to convert privately and institutionally held gold into a formal financial asset. The macroeconomic challenge in India is that a large domestic gold stock coexists with repeated import demand. World Gold Council (WGC) research estimates household gold stock at 23,000-25,000 tonne. If even a small usable portion enters the formal system, it can support bullion supply, improve financialisation and soften import dependence over time. Under the Gold Monetisation Scheme of 2015, eligible depositors place gold with designated banks, after which the gold is assayed, refined and credited in a gold deposit account. The policy objective is not merely to give a return on idle gold. It is to mobilise household and institutional gold, use it for productive purposes and reduce long-term reliance on gold imports.

● How does the scheme work?

THE RBI FRAMEWORK permits deposits of raw gold such as bars, coins and jewellery, excluding stones and other metals. The minimum deposit is 10 grams. Deposits are routed through Collection and Purity Testing Centres, recognised mobilisation agents, refiners or designated bank branches. The gold is converted to standard 995 fineness. Interest accrues from the date of conversion into tradable gold bars or 30 days after receipt, whichever is earlier. The Scheme’s medium-term and long-term government deposits were discontinued on March 26, 2025.

UNLOCKING VALUE

Why gold monetisation needs a second chance

Monetisation of idle household gold remains relevant though the maiden version of the scheme did not find many takers. Any revival should be judged against the same core tests: depositor trust, operational simplicity, transparent valuation, and productive end-use, writes Ramkumar Subramanian

● To what extent did the scheme succeed?

IT SUCCEEDED IN creating a regulated mechanism, but not really in changing household behaviour at scale. The RBI framework creates the plumbing: KYC, assaying, valuation, deposit accounts, reporting, redemption and risk management. WGC research, however, characterised the amount mobilised as modest relative to India’s gold stock. This distinction is important. It is institutionally well-designed in parts, but behavioural adoption has remained the harder test.

● Why has adoption been difficult?

THE CORE OBSTACLE is trust. Many depositors compare gold deposit returns with rupee fixed deposits, although the economic exposure is different. Jewellery also carries emotional value, especially inherited pieces, and melting jewellery is a psychological barrier. Awareness has also been limited. World Gold Council research cites an India Gold Policy Centre household survey indicating that only 6% of households were aware of the scheme. A policy cannot scale if the customer does not understand it, trust it or find it convenient.

● Benefits of trying again

FIRST, MONETISATION CAN put idle gold to productive use. Second, it can deepen India’s bullion and financial markets by creating a formal chain involving banks, testing centres, refiners and jewellers. Third, it can support import substitution over the long term. Fourth, it can improve transparency in a market where physical gold often remains outside formal reporting channels. Finally, it can complement gold loans, gold-backed products and electronic gold receipts as part of a broader financialisation agenda.

● What are the challenges?

THE PROCESS IS operationally complex. It requires purity testing, refining, valuation, custody, documentation, redemption discipline and grievance handling. Depositors may lose the specific jewellery since it is melted. Banks must manage gold price, liquidity and operational risks. If incentives are weak, banks may treat the scheme as an administrative obligation rather than a customer proposition. Poor execution could damage trust in formal gold products more broadly.

● Necessary tweaks in new version

A SECOND VERSION should start with what people are willing to monetise. Bars, coins, temple gold and institutional holdings may be easier first targets. The customer journey should be simple, with transparent valuation, clear timelines, digital tracking, standardised receipts and predictable redemption choices. Banks and jewellers should have clear responsibilities and service standards. The proposition should not be sold as a high-return investment but positioned as safe, regulated conversion of idle gold into productive capital.

● Should India do this again?

YES, BUT WITH modest promises and strong execution. The idea remains economically sound. The failure was not in the objective. The weakness was in translating policy intent into customer confidence. Gold Monetisation 2.0 should therefore be treated as a trust programme first and a deposit programme second. If India can monetise trust, it can monetise gold.

GENERATING ALPHA

Vikas Gupta, CEO, OmniScience Capital

Public sector banks offer the highest potential to generate alpha over the medium term.

Hybrid long-short SIFs beat broad market returns

ARBITRAGE SPREADS IN A VOLATILE MARKET WORK FOR THE NEW CATEGORY

SAIKAT NEOGI

AT A TIME when the broad market returns are muted, hybrid long-short specialised investment funds (SIFs) have managed to generate positive returns. These funds take equity exposure while using short positions and derivatives to manage downside risk.

Over a six-month period, the average returns of these funds is 4.8% against only 0.1% for Nifty 500. As of July-end, hybrid long-short SIFs account for 66% of the total ₹23,177 crore of assets under management of SIF.

They are suitable for investors with ₹10 lakh-plus investible surplus, moderate-to-high risk appetite and looking for differentiated strategies beyond traditional equity. Launched in October 2026 as a new investment category, they bridge the gap between traditional mutual funds and portfolio management services (PMS). These funds are gaining popularity mainly because of shorting and hedging strategies that were earlier confined to PMS with ticket size above ₹50 lakh.

Aditya Agarwal, chief investment officer, Avisa Wealth Creators, says unlike conventional equity funds that largely depend on markets rising, these strategies aim to generate returns from both stock selection and market/sector divergences. "This makes them particularly relevant in volatile or range-bound markets," he says.

Investment strategy of hybrid long-short SIFs

Every hybrid long-short SIF has to keep at least 25% in equity and 25% in debt, and the unhedged short side (using derivatives) cannot go above 25% of net assets. Inside those boundaries, there are four engines driving returns.

First, the debt allocation gives steady carry. Second, directional equity is the growth kicker. Third, the options overlay limit both upside and downside. And finally, the market-neutral bucket such as cash-futures arbitrage and event-driven bets around initial public offers, buybacks, or open offers act as enhanced drivers.

The long positions generate alpha while derivatives hedge market risk. "In a market that has been stuck in a range with plenty of volatility, covered calls are actually generating real income, and the volatility is keeping arbitrage spreads alive," says Sonam Srivastava, founder, Wright Research PMS.

Checklist for investing

Hybrid long-short SIFs should be a satellite allocation — to be added once the core portfolio is in place. Pedigree of the fund house, strategy, track record, fund manager and quantitative metrics are equally important.

Nirav R Karkera, head of research, Wby Groww, wealth management arm of Groww, says one must look at how much return was generated for the risk taken. "It is why volatility, beta, maximum drawdown and consistency matter more than headline numbers here," he says.

Education

New Zealand eyes India to boost international enrolments

THE COUNTRY AIMS TO BOOST TOP-OF-MIND AWARENESS AMONG INDIAN STUDENTS

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

WITH TRADITIONAL study destinations like the US, UK, Australia, and Canada tightening visa norms, capping student intakes, and shortening stay-back windows, New Zealand aims to capture growing interest from Indian students. In his first media interaction in India, Education New Zealand's (ENZ) new regional director for India and South Asia, Adrian Hirst, outlined a focused approach to building brand preference, accelerating student conversions, and tapping into high-demand academic disciplines.

Latest ENZ data shows international student enrolments in New Zealand touched 92,580 in 2025 — 11% increase over 2024, and 80% of the island nation's pre-Covid peak. China is the top source market at 34%, followed by India at 14%. University enrolments rose 14% to 38,025 students and school enrolments expanded 10% to 20,155. Regionally, Auckland hosted 55% of all foreign students, while regions like Canterbury (up 10%) and Waikato (up 19%) also saw growth.

Big 4 versus New Zealand

On the Big Four (UK, US, Canada, Australia) making it tougher for foreign students, Hirst said that New Zealand is pursuing sustainable attraction rather than relying on short-term spillovers. "It's definitely an opportunity, but we're not looking for an overnight hockey-stick

BOLD TARGETS

■ New Zealand's international student enrolments rose 11% to 92,580 in 2025, driven by higher education

■ India accounts for 14% of overall enrolments, making it the second-largest source market for New Zealand

■ NZ aims to double foreign education revenue from NZ$3.6 billion to NZ$7.2 billion

■ All of New Zealand's universities rank in the top 2% globally, driving 14% enrolment growth in 2025

kind of growth just because students are no longer able to easily go to those markets," Hirst said.

He added a key challenge is visibility. While students recognise New Zealand, it often lacks top-of-mind awareness despite all its universities ranking in the top 2% globally.

To convert that interest, ENZ is shifting focus towards defining quality beyond basic accreditation, emphasising critical thinking and practical skills designed to drive graduate employment outcomes.

Hirst said New Zealand can provide world-class education in fields such as agriculture, engineering, healthcare, and education. "Our universities are globally among the best in agriculture and agri-tech, engineering and resource management, as well as healthcare and education," he said. "In fact, nursing and teaching are high-demand sectors."

Our universities are globally among the best in agriculture and agri-tech, engineering, management, as well as healthcare, edtech.

The push aligns with the country's ambitious goal to double its international education revenue — from NZ$3.6 billion to NZ$7.2 billion (by 2034). While the target is steep, Hirst called it realistic.

NZ campuses in India

Unlike countries such as the UK, Australia, and the US — whose universities are setting up campuses in India — none of New Zealand's universities are present here yet. But Hirst noted discussions are underway, though institutions have yet to announce official plans. "ENZ's role remains facilitating introductions and opening regulatory doors for institutions to establish a presence," he said. "Through brand messaging and localised partnerships, New Zealand aims to turn growing regional interest into lasting value."

BITS PILANI'S WILP DEGREE

Earn while you learn

CAN THIS DEGREE MODEL RESHAPE THE WORKFORCE?

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

ON SUNDAY, BITS PILANI conferred degrees upon a record 15,153 working professionals — doubling its graduating class in a year. But the real story isn't the number; it is the shift in how young engineers and managers are building careers. "The era of quitting your job to get a master's degree is officially ending," said Prof PB Venkataraman, dean, BITS Pilani WILP.

The death of the career break

For professionals 2-4 years into their careers, trading a good salary for a full-time MTech or MBA can be a financial risk. But staying into their jobs without upskilling can carry the bigger risk of getting outdated — as the world is shifting fast towards electric vehicles (EVs), software-defined vehicles (SDVs), smart manufacturing, and AI.

"This is where WILP, short for Work-Integrated Learning Programmes, steps in," said Prof Venkataraman. "Unlike standard online certificate courses or recorded lectures (MOOCs), WILP embeds degree learning directly into a professional's full-time job."

How it actually works

WILP isn't a self-study course. It awards degrees (BTech, MTech, and MBA) with academic standards identical to on-campus BITS Pilani programmes, and unlike distance learning, it has a unique setup.

► Employer sponsorship: You cannot study on your own; admission needs to be via your employer. Prof Venkataraman said over 540 companies — including Tata Motors and Maruti Suzuki — sponsor or support employees, assigning internal workplace mentors.

► Workplace as a lab: WILP students don't solve problems in a classroom. Their daily company assignments solve real challenges for their employers, backed by 24x7 access to 121 virtual labs and 25 remote physical labs.

A diploma holder with two years of experience can stack credentials over seven semesters to earn a degree without taking a day off

► Physical hardware hubs: BITS has set up physical centres, such as EV/SDV labs in Pune, automotive electronics in Chennai, and smart manufacturing units in Bengaluru, and students also have to do campus immersions.

Minimum study time

Prof Venkataraman said that for diploma holders or young engineers entering the workforce early, the model offers a clear ladder — a diploma holder with two years of work experience can stack credentials over seven semesters to earn a degree without taking a single day of unpaid sabbatical.

Earn while you learn

As corporate India demands job-ready specialists over fresh theorists, work-integrated degrees are proving that learning and earning are no longer sequential chapters, but parallel tracks for long-term careers.

Distance must matter

Tighter rules for independent directors are fine, but the threshold can't become exclusionary

THE CORPORATE LAWS (Amendment) Bill, 2026, attempts a useful balancing act: ease the burden of routine compliance while tightening rules where corporate governance genuinely matters. Its proposal to strengthen the eligibility test for independent directors belongs firmly in the latter category. It would allow the government to prescribe a threshold below the existing 10% limit for transactions between a company group and the legal or consulting firm an independent director is associated with. It would also extend the assessment to the current financial year and require directors to satisfy independence criteria throughout their tenure. The changes recognise a basic truth too often obscured by formal designations: independence is not secured merely by calling a director "independent".

The present framework leaves room for relationships that comply with the letter of the law but weaken its purpose. A lawyer, consultant, or other professional may have no direct pecuniary relationship with a company, yet the firm in which that person is a partner or employee could derive substantial business from the company or its holding, subsidiary, or associate entities. Even when such transactions remain below 10% of the professional firm's turnover, their absolute value and importance to the firm may be considerable. A director in that position may remain technically independent while having strong economic reasons to avoid challenging management. Since the central function of an independent director is to question controlling shareholders and executives, protect minority investors, and bring objective judgement to the board, such dependence cannot be dismissed as a technicality. The proposed power to lower the threshold is therefore justified.

But the government should use that power with care. An excessively low uniform ceiling could disqualify experienced lawyers, accountants, and consultants whose knowledge would strengthen boards, even when their firms' dealings with a company are incidental and exert no meaningful influence on them. Large professional firms also operate through multiple practices and offices; a director may have neither involvement in nor financial benefit from a transaction handled elsewhere. A rigid numerical rule could consequently shrink an already limited pool of credible independent directors without necessarily improving independence. The threshold should be calibrated after consultation, differentiated where necessary and accompanied by reasonable transition provisions. Companies and directors must also be given certainty: frequent changes through subordinate rules would complicate appointments and succession planning.

More fundamentally, board independence is about economic dependence and behaviour, not labels or a single percentage. Numerical thresholds are useful because they create a clear minimum standard, but they cannot capture every relationship capable of influencing judgement. The reform should thus be reinforced by granular disclosure of commercial links between directors, their professional firms, and the entire company group — including the nature, value, and duration of assignments and the director's link with them. Nomination and remuneration committees should record why such relationships do not compromise independence, while shareholders should receive enough information to make their own assessment. Annual declarations should become a substantive review rather than a box-ticking exercise. The Bill's wider package — decriminalising procedural defaults, modernising meetings, and simplifying requirements for smaller companies — rightly distinguishes business facilitation from governance dilution. That principle should guide the independent-director provisions: reduce pointless compliance, but demand genuine distance wherever judgement and accountability are at stake. Independence must mean independence, without turning exclusion into a substitute for scrutiny. That is the balance the final law and its rules must strike.

● THE HUMAN FACTOR

Quiet quitting, loud management failure

A NEW REPORT on India's workplaces, by Gallup and the Institute of Directors, has produced a number that ought to have chief executives choking on their purpose statements. Only 23% of Indian employees are engaged, while 59% are not engaged. The latter group, we are told, are "quiet quitting": they meet the basic requirements of their jobs but are disinclined to contribute much by way of discretionary effort.

That is a lot of people doing precisely what the job description says, and not an inch more. It is also an expensive way to wait for a meeting to end. Gallup estimates disengagement costs India $351 billion, or about 9% of GDP, in lost productivity each year.

The figures invite the usual corporate response: find the offending employees and arrange a resilience workshop, complete with fruit and an exercise in which everyone writes one word describing how they feel. The more interesting diagnosis is that the problem is not primarily employee laziness or disloyalty. It is that too many people have stopped seeing a convincing connection between their work and the organisation.

The middle manager has the most difficult job in the building. Their bosses want transformation; their teams want work-life balance; HR wants engagement scores while Finance wants lower costs and Technology wants them to embrace AI. Meanwhile, everybody wants another meeting.

The numbers suggest managers are struggling with this assignment. Engagement among Indian managers fell from 39% in 2024 to 30% in 2025. Among individual contributors it fell from 24% to 19%. Managers are expected to translate strategy into daily life, clarify expectations, coach performance, recognise contributions, and explain why the latest reorganisation is somehow good news. They are also expected to attend meetings about reducing meetings.

Companies then make matters worse in a wonderfully predictable fashion. They take their best engineer, salesperson, or accountant, promote that person to manager and hand over a dozen human beings. The assumption appears to be that skill at selling insurance or writing code mysteriously confers skill at dealing with sulking, ambition, anxiety, rivalry, and the colleague who wants to know why somebody else received a 9% raise. It does not.

This is where the findings are more hopeful than their headline. Forty-one per cent of the members surveyed say managers should be selected for talent and role fit, rather than simply past performance. Forty-three per cent want teams in which colleagues support and rely on one another. An equal number call for better coaching, simpler technology, and less complicated processes.

These are not revolutionary demands. They are closer to a plea for the basics. Choose people who can manage people; give them time to do it and remove the administrative furniture that blocks the door. Tell employees what good work looks like, notice it when they do it, and explain decisions before the rumour mill does. It is not glamorous work, which is probably why it gets replaced by a dashboard, workshop, and a laminated card explaining the company's values again.

The strongest insight is that disengagement is not treated as an employee attitude problem for HR to repair. It is evidence about how an organisation is run. Employees notice how promotions are decided, whether leaders explain difficult choices, and whether the values poster survives contact with a budget meeting.

The findings deserve serious attention because they connect engagement to ordinary management decisions. They do not promise that a happier workforce will solve everything. They say that clarity, trust, recognition, development, and sensible role design make performance more likely. That is less exciting than a culture initiative, but considerably more useful. The good news is that employees do not need to be persuaded to care harder. They need better reasons to care. Managers need the authority and support to create those reasons. This may require fewer slogans, better decisions, and, in extreme cases, cancelling a meeting.

MYTHOS EMBARGO: INDIA MUST INVEST IN SOVEREIGN AI CAPABILITY FOR CYBERSECURITY

weaknesses autonomously, at a speed no human team can match. The barrier to entry has crumbled — you no longer need a room full of experts to mount a sophisticated attack. As Anthropic's own threat reporting warns, people with minimal technical skill can now direct AI to do the heavy lifting.

There is a subtler shift too, one that defenders often underestimate. Security teams have long triaged flaws by severity. Typically, a "critical" bug under the global Common Vulnerability Scoring System scale is patched in a day or two while dozens of "low severity" ones sit in a backlog for weeks. That assumed a human attacker would go for the obvious hole. But AI is patient and tireless, and can chain individually minor weaknesses into a devastating attack. This is the digital equivalent of an unlocked window, a spare key under the doormat, and a broken latch, each trivial on its own, but together enough to let an intruder walk into the vault. The old scoring system no longer captures the real risk.

Three forces are converging. First, the models have crossed a capability threshold — Mythos was pulled precisely because it was too good at offensive security. Second, these capabilities are dual-use by nature — the model that finds a vulnerability to fix can exploit it too. And third — the point India cannot ignore — the most powerful tools sit in a handful of American and Chinese labs, and governments have shown they will restrict access when it suits their national interest. Washington switched Mythos off overnight and Beijing is weighing its own curbs on overseas access to China's leading models. In this new world, cyber capability is national power.

The defensive playbook is clear but the hard part is execution and urgency. Start with the basics — most breaches, Bank of Baroda included, still begin with human error and sloppy architecture. Systems must be designed so that a single compromised laptop or email account cannot lead to the crown jewels — the databases holding citizens' personal data. This is well-understood engineering; what's missing is the discipline to enforce it everywhere.

Next, use India's vast talent pool. Our many talented engineers can use the same tools as attackers to find and patch flaws first. India should launch competitions to harden the open-source software our critical systems depend on, and pay real bug bounties. US programmes like "Hack the Pentagon" offer cash and have put more than $29 million into AI cyber-challenge

India has world-class engineers, a vast digital public infrastructure to protect, and a narrow window to act

UPI is public infrastructure. Fund it like one

ROUHIN DEB ASHWIN SETHI

Respectively Chief economist, Chief Minister's Secretariat, Assam; and Founder, Chadorkart.com

If keeping the rail free produces benefits for consumers, merchants, banks, and the state that exceed the cost of supporting it, public funding is not a bailout

THERE IS NO dispute that UPI costs money to run. Banks and payment companies spend on technology, cybersecurity, fraud prevention, and the infrastructure needed to process billions of transactions. But the growing demand for a merchant discount rate (MDR) rests on a questionable premise: UPI must pay for itself through every transaction it enables.

UPI's great innovation wasn't just technological; it was to separate the payment rail from the tollbooth. That choice helped turn a payment product into ubiquitous digital infrastructure. Before putting the tollbooth back, policymakers should ask whether keeping UPI free creates more economic and social value than it costs?

Banks and payment companies are right that growth in UPI volumes brings costs: servers must scale and stay available, fraud must be contained, and cyber defences must constantly improve. Yet the demand for MDR looks at only one side of the ledger. UPI has also created enormous indirect economic value for the very institutions being asked to support it.

For banks, the migration from cash to UPI deepens customer engagement, expands digital transaction history that supports better fraud detection and credit decisions, and reduces ATM and cash handling costs. For payment platforms, it has created extraordinary consumer and merchant distribution, opening opportunities for merchant services, lending, insurance, and other value-added offerings.

The industry is quick to put a price on processing a UPI transaction, but rarely puts a price on the customer engagement, distribution, and financial intelligence that the same transaction and its data help create. A payment rail need not monetise every transaction to be commercially valuable.

The government has also been one of UPI's biggest beneficiaries. The shift from cash reduced the RBI's currency printing and logistics costs, improved traceability, and supported formalisation of the economy. The government once justified zero MDR partly on these savings, which now should not disappear from the calculation simply because UPI has succeeded.

Digital financial footprints also make previously invisible economic activity more legible. Revenues can no longer be underreported at the retail level because of UPI's audit trail — reducing leakage and strengthening tax collection. These benefits are difficult to capture in the narrow calculation of transaction-processing costs — but these are the real policy, governance, and public returns.

UPI should be viewed as digital public infrastructure whose returns extend far beyond the revenues it directly generates. Governments routinely spend thousands of crores on roads, airports, metros, and other infrastructure because the commerce, connectivity, and productivity they enable justify the investment. We do not ask whether every kilometre of road pays for itself. We ask what economic activity that road makes possible. UPI deserves the same lens.

If keeping the rail free produces benefits for consumers, merchants, banks, and the state that exceed the cost of supporting it, public funding is not a bailout but an infrastructure investment.

There is a flaw in how the MDR debate is framed. UPI's costs are driven principally by the number and complexity of transactions — not simply by the rupee value of a payment. Sending ₹10,000 does not necessarily require ten times the infrastructure of sending ₹1,000, yet an ad valorem MDR rises automatically with the value of transaction. That raises a basic question of proportionality. If the incremental infrastructure burden of a higher-value UPI payment is not proportionately higher, why should the charge be? Any levy needs a transparent, independently verifiable estimate of the ecosystem's incremental cost.

There is also an important distinction between the public payment rail and the commercial businesses built on top of it. Aggregators and gateways have direct commercial relationships with merchants and can charge for genuine value-added services — payment orchestration, reconciliation, analytics, fraud management, settlement solutions, and enterprise integrations. Keep the rail free and let businesses monetise the value they build on top of it, with competition setting the price.

The objective is not to prevent the payments industry from making money. It is to ensure all layers make money by adding value and innovation rather than by taxing volume.

The government should resist the false choice between an unsustainable free UPI and a universal MDR. There is a third path: preserve zero MDR on the core UPI rail while building a transparent funding compact for the ecosystem.

First, commission and publish an independent assessment of the true incremental cost of UPI — separating UPI-specific expenses from tech infrastructure that banks and payment firms would maintain anyway. Second, set those costs alongside a serious estimate of UPI's social and economic returns: lower dependence on cash, financial inclusion, formalisation, easier access to formal credit, and the productivity gains of instant interoperable payments. Third, government support should be targeted and accountable: incentives linked to measurable outcomes such as uptime, fraud reduction, rural and small-merchant acceptance, and grievance resolution.

Banks and payment companies should continue to bear a proportional share of the cost in recognition of the benefits they derive from the ecosystem.

UPI has become one of India's most consequential pieces of economic infrastructure precisely because paying became almost frictionless. Its success should not now justify changing the feature that helped create it. The demand for MDR is therefore not a claim that the system is unviable. It is a claim that indirect returns are no longer enough, that parties who benefit enormously from the free rail would now prefer to also earn directly from it. That is a legitimate commercial preference, not a public policy justification.

India's great UPI innovation was to separate the payment rail from the tollbooth. The next phase of policy should focus on making that rail sustainable, not on putting the tollbooth back.

Aviation vulnerabilities

"A hedge that can save our skies" (FE, August 22) rightly draws attention to the vulnerability of Indian airlines to volatile fuel prices. Fuel is a major operating expense, and a sudden price rise can quickly erode already narrow margins. Sensible hedging could offer airlines greater cost certainty and help them plan fares and capacity more responsibly. However, it should not become another source of speculative risk. Airlines need clear risk limits, professional treasury management, and transparent disclosure of hedging policies. Regulators and industry bodies could also develop practical guidelines and encourage better financial risk management. With India's aviation sector expanding rapidly, resilience must accompany growth. A prudent hedge can protect not only airline finances but also passengers from sudden fare increases.

AI in decision-making

Apropos of "AI as decision-maker: Consent not enough" (FE, August 22), while the AI system has capabilities in processing massive volumes of data, generating codes in minutes, it lacks human and emotional connect. Leaving all critical choices entirely to AI could cause newer legal, ethical, and operational risks which organisations can't even imagine. SBI proudly announced underwriting ₹1 lakh crore in MSME loans by using AI. Sifting through digital footprints like GST filings and credit scores while eliminating the role of relationship managers leads AI to make decisions based on data. It fails to consider practical constraints which humans alone can analyse, navigate, and resolve. AI must serve as a decision-support tool, rather than as a sole decision-maker.

Looking at the bigger picture

AS OTT POSES THREAT TO CINEMA, CHAINS ARE LOOKING AT SPORTS, EVENTS & CONCERT SCREENING AS A REVENUE STREAM

CHRISTINA MONIZ

SPEAKING AT THE company's Q1 FY27 earnings call, Ajay Bijli, managing director of PVR INOX, said the cinema chain is widening its alternative content strategy to include sports screenings, concerts and stand-up comedy shows. He noted that 64,000 people watched the recent FIFA World Cup final in PVR INOX cinemas across the country, despite the post-midnight kick-off time.

Cinépolis India also recorded nearly 100% occupancy in some of its cinemas for football games featuring Brazil and Argentina. Ashish Misra, head of commercialisation, Cinépolis India, says that while movies remain the core of the company's business, sports and concert screenings contribute 3-5% of its revenues today.

"This content is growing well, although it is growing from a smaller base. Our Club Cinépolis data, covering over 1 crore members, shows us which cities index strongly towards alternate programming, so we programme where the demand actually is," says Misra. Besides ticketed programming, corporate screenings and bookings are also seeing growing demand, filling auditoriums during the lighter dayparts.

While these offerings are still niche, there is significant headroom for growth. A FICCI-EY report projects that the organised live events business will grow from ₹14,500 crore in 2025 to ₹19,600 crore by 2028. Misra says cinemas are well poised to capture a good chunk of this business since it already has the right infrastructure and F&B offerings in place.

With revenue from traditional movie exhibition business impacted by the growing adoption of OTT platforms, alternative content could be valuable for multiplexes. Santosh N, managing partner, D and P Advisory, says these could prove to be meaningful supplementary revenue streams, particularly because cinemas have high fixed costs and underutilised screens during non-peak hours or periods of weak film releases. "These events can generate ticket revenue as well as incremental F&B and premium pricing. The average ticket price for non-movie offerings typically is higher than the movies, indicating that audiences may be willing to pay a premium for differentiated experiences," he says.

They could potentially also boost advertiser revenues, which are currently around 7-8% of cinema earnings. Stand-up comedy, live sports screenings and other event-led programming can bring in highly engaged audience cohorts, says Sachin Gupta, country head for in-cinema advertising business at UFO Cine Media Network. "For brands, this creates opportunities beyond conventional movie advertising, including contextual integrations, on-screen branding and experiential activations. Advertiser interest in such opportunities is growing, especially when the content has a strong audience affinity," he notes.

Beyond movie ticketing, cinema chains already earn a substantial 30-35% from F&B offerings. But Vibhor Gauba, associate partner, KPMG India, notes these revenues are dependent on the actual footfalls, which are also dependent on the success of the movies. Some chains are now leveraging their F&B offerings by foraying into corporate events, birthday parties and brand activations. "The major challenge, however, remains in positioning each location as an entertainment destination rather than just a cinema hall," he says.

Niharika Bijli, lead strategist, PVR INOX, says while metros are important drivers, there is also strong interest from tier-II cities. "Gen Z and younger audiences are important for fandom-led content such as anime and K-pop, but the opportunity is much broader. Sports, music and cultural programming bring together audiences across age groups," she sums up.

Camel: Facing the test of time

KARTIKAY KASHYAP

SOME CHILDHOOD MEMORIES never fade. The shading pastels, the water and poster colours and the ubiquitous yellow and black geometry boxes have been an inseparable part of the growing-up years of every student. "Long before 'branding' became a corporate buzzword, Camel understood that in a commodity category like stationery, the identity is the moat," says Asparsh Sinha, managing partner, Open Strategy & Design. "The camel and the distinct yellow-and-black livery signalled a clear, differentiated point of view from the very start."

Founded as Dandekar & Co. in 1931 by DP Dandekar and GP Dandekar to manufacture ink powders and tablets, the ₹800-plus-crore brand now offers more than 2,000 art and stationery products and is majority-owned by Japan's Kokuyo Co. Ltd since 2011. As the company expanded its product lines beyond ink into art materials and stationery, it also rebranded as Camlin, a portmanteau of 'Camel' and 'ink'. It was incorporated as a private limited company in 1946, to take over the business of Dandekar & Co before partnering with the Japanese stationery giant to become Kokuyo Camlin Ltd.

When Camel launched its first product there was hardly any brand operating in the stationery market, which stands at ₹39,000 crore currently and is on course to hit ₹60,000 crore by 2032. "The Camel brand had a monopoly in the space," says Sanjeev Shukla, business advisor, Vinusto.in.

The company achieved real growth when it entered the art and craft market. In the 1960s, Subhash Dandekar, son of founder Digambar Dandekar, saw that artists were struggling for good art material and decided to tap into this unorganised market. Subhash travelled to Glasgow to study colour chemistry and upon returning, established a laboratory dedicated to formulating colours tailored for the Indian market. The move helped transform Camlin into a leading producer of high-quality art supplies. By 1988 the company was selling two distinct product lines — craft tools like brushes, paints, colour pencils under the brand Camel and functional tools like pens, pencils, erasers, geometry tools and boxes under the brand name Camlin.

To stay connected with its core consumers, Camlin in the 1970s started the All India Camel Colour Contest, which gave lakhs of students from across the country a platform to showcase their talent. "This helped build a community around artists and students," says Ambi Parameswaran, branding veteran & founder, brand-building.com.

Camlin faced its first major challenge around 2008, when the Raveshia family-owned DOMS brand began to flex its muscles with a wide range of products and rapid launches. Over the next decade or so, DOMS surpassed traditional competitors including Kokuyo Camlin in scale and pencil market share, eventually becoming India's top stationery brand by 2024-25, as per reports.

The brand that singlehandedly created a category from scratch now faces a range of challenges. There is severe margin compression driven largely by rising input costs. There is fierce competition from organised and cheap unorganised or imported alternatives. Then there is the famous price sensitivity of the Indian customer. "Stationery today is also about design and self-expression. So the brand will need to make itself contemporary without losing the familiarity that makes it so loved," Rutu Mody Kamdar, founder, Jigsaw Brand Consultants, sums up the task ahead for Camlin.

CAR REVIEW: BMW X1 LONG WHEELBASE

The sheer joy of being driven

'SHEER DRIVING PLEASURE' IS BMW'S SLOGAN; THIS CAR HITS DIFFERENTLY

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

BMW'S ENTRY-LEVEL SUV has grown up — quite literally. The X1 Long Wheelbase (LWB), launched on Friday priced at ₹49.9 lakh (ex-showroom), shifts its focus entirely towards practical family hauling and rear-seat luxury, instead of 'Sheer Driving Pleasure' — BMW's decades-old global slogan developed around the fact that its cars are almost ultimate driving machines.

What's new?

Visually, the X1 LWB retains the bold, boxy stance of the standard model, but its side profile is noticeably stretched. Up front, the kidney grille is flanked by adaptive LED headlights that wrap neatly into the wings.

The headline, however, is all about the rear seat. Stretched to 4,616 mm with a 2,800 mm wheelbase (108 mm over older X1), the X1 LWB delivers rear space that rivals the bigger X3. Rear passengers get 109 mm more knee room, 15 mm longer seat cushioning, and backrests that recline up to 28.5 degrees. Unlike the electric iX1 LWB — which has a flat floor — this petrol model has a tall transmission tunnel that restricts legroom for the middle passenger.

The cabin remains driver-focused and feature-packed. Highlights include a 9 sq-ft panoramic glass roof, BMW's Curved Display running Operating System 9, as well as a 12-speaker Harman Kardon system. However, there are compromises up front: you lose the extendable under-thigh support and lumbar controls found in the standard wheelbase car.

By trading raw speed for segment-leading rear seat space, it's an SUV for those who prefer to be driven. 'Sheer Driving Pleasure' can take the backseat

BABY BIMMER

■ Entry to this stretched luxury SUV starts at a competitive ex-showroom price of ₹49.9 lakh

■ The 2,800-mm wheelbase adds a full 108 mm of extra rear-seat legroom

■ Output has jumped to 156 horsepower from its upgraded 1.5-litre 3-cylinder TwinPower turbo petrol engine

■ It can accelerate from 0-100 km/h in 9.3 seconds (but that is slower than Audi Q3's 7.3 seconds)

■ Overhead sits a massive 9 square feet panoramic glass roof, that heated up in the north Indian summer punch of the 2.0-litre 4-cylinder rivals like the Audi Q3, which does the 0-100 km/h in just 7.3 seconds.

If you love driving, you might also notice that the X1 LWB doesn't have steering-mounted paddle shifters, and the gear selector has the city-focused L (Low) mode, instead of the powerful S (Sport) mode.

The X1 LWB drives well, but it isn't a track weapon. With 50:50 weight distribution and accurate steering, it is tuned for composure, and handles broken roads well and keeps body roll controlled during sudden lane changes or sharp corners.

Verdict

The BMW X1 LWB is no longer about lap times, but is an executive lounge that is priced well. By trading raw speed for segment-leading rear legroom, it's a luxury cruiser for those who prefer to be driven. 'Sheer Driving Pleasure' can take the backseat.

BaaS, Syros EV key to reviving Korean EV sales

VIKRAM CHAUDHARY

IN THE FIRST half of 2026, Korean automakers Hyundai and Kia operated on the periphery of India's electric vehicle market, delivering a combined total of just 4,693 units in a total market of 150,000 units (merely 3% share). But new pricing and new models could lead to a turnaround in the second half of the year.

Hyundai's main offering, the Creta Electric, registered modest H1CY26 sales of 2,181 units, with monthly dispatches slowing down to 244 units by June. But in July, Hyundai introduced the Battery-as-a-Service (BaaS) ownership model, under which the entry price of the car dropped to ₹10.99 lakh (ex-showroom), plus battery usage fee of ₹3.9 per km, directly matching the price point of competitors like the Maruti Suzuki eVitara.

Kia India, which sold 2,471 EVs in H1CY26 (the Carens Clavis EV), launched the Syros EV in late July, priced from ₹13.5 lakh (or ₹7.99 lakh under its own BaaS structure).

With deliveries of the Syros EV starting in July, the model gives Kia a second high-volume EV alongside the Carens Clavis EV. Coupled with Hyundai's revised BaaS pricing strategy for the Creta Electric, both Korean carmakers are expected to record stronger sales in H2CY26.

CANADA JOINS TWO COUNTRIES FIGHTBACK IN THE FACE OF US TARIFFS

Canada retaliates as Trump tariffs trigger escalation

PROMIT MUKHERJEE & BHARGAVACHARYA
Ottawa, August 23

CANADA WILL IMPOSE tariffs on some US goods in retaliation for 50% levies ordered by President Donald Trump on Canadian products, Prime Minister Mark Carney said on Saturday, after trade talks collapsed between the two neighbors.

The "dollar for dollar" tariffs on imports of US steel, electronics and other products, to take effect on September 8, mark a further worsening of relations between the longtime allies and major trading partners.

The two countries failed to reach a trade deal late on Friday, with each side blaming the other for derailing three days of intensive negotiations. The breakdown complicates the future of a US-Mexico-Canada

MIKE CARNEY, PRIME MINISTER, CANADA

We take this step reluctantly. It will raise costs and reduce choice for Canadians, hit innocent US companies, and make it harder for the two countries to work together free-trade pact.

Trump's new tariffs hit sectors including wine, furniture, dairy products, cement, clothing, fishing rods and hockey equipment, covering some $20 billion of Canadian exports to the US. These duties do not exempt Canadian products under the three-nation trade deal, which has shielded most Canadian exports to the US in the last 18 months.

"We got attacked," Carney says "Canada will match Washington's new tariffs dollar for dollar in order to protect Canadian workers, farmers, families, and businesses," Carney told a press conference.

"You're at war when you get attacked. We got attacked," Carney said when asked a question about whether Canada was engaged in a trade war.

Carney is one of the few global leaders to retaliate against US tariffs and has pledged to forge new trade and military alliances, despite Canada's dependence on the US for nearly 70% of its exports.

U.S. Trade Representative Jamieson Greer called the breakdown "a missed opportunity for Canada to partner with the US," saying no new talks were planned with Canada.

"We're moving forward with measures that respond to Canadian retaliation," Greer told Fox News. "They've always had the best deal, and they still would have an even better deal, but they didn't want that."

South Korean traders chase 40% coupons

A HISTORIC STOCK selloff has driven South Korea's retail investors toward complex structured products as the risk-loving cohort continues to look for ways to boost returns.

Equity-linked securities dangling annualised coupons of 40% to 50% have attracted renewed interest from mom-and-pop traders. Sales rose to more than a three-year high in July, led by notes tied to Samsung Electronics and SK Hynix.

The boom comes as regulators moved to curb frenzied retail demand for single-stock leveraged exchange-traded funds, which were blamed for amplifying market swings during the benchmark Kospi's 22% plunge last month. This suggests that one of the biggest market routs in recent memory has done little to dampen retail appetite for risk, but altered the products they choose to pursue.

The recent drawdown appears to have created an attractive entry point for ELS products, which offer coupons as long as the underlying stock

Equity-linked securities dangling annualised coupons of 40% to 50% have attracted renewed interest from mom-and-pop traders

Alibaba plans $10-bn HK share placement

CHINESE TECH GIANT Alibaba on Sunday launched a HK$80-billion ($10.2 billion) share placement to fund artificial intelligence-related development. A deal by the Chinese e-commerce and cloud computing giant would mark the largest-ever primary follow-on offering by a Hong Kong-listed company.

It would rank as the world's third-largest primary follow-on share sale this year after offerings from Alphabet and Intel.

The company said it intends to use 100% of the net proceeds from the placement to invest in its "full stack" AI capabilities, a category that includes chips, infrastructure and the development and deployment of AI models. A term sheet reviewed by Reuters showed Alibaba planned to sell 710 million ordinary shares at HK$112.70 a share. That represented a 3.6% discount to its most recent closing price.

In its announcement for the $10.2 billion share placement, Alibaba did not reveal additional details on its investment plans by category of its planned AI-related investment. It did not comment beyond its regulatory disclosure.

Alibaba's net profit for the quarter fell 75% from a year earlier as it ramped up its AI-related capital expenditures. "In order to be able to capture that future growth, we first need to make these capex investments to build out the necessary compute capacity," CEO Eddie Wu said. The company's share offering has been met with strong demand from investors, including sovereign wealth funds, two people familiar with the deal said. —REUTERS

US memo offers best path to end conflict, says Iran's prez

IRAN'S DEFENDED a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with the US as the best way out of a stalled war. Meanwhile, the new head of the Islamic Republic's top security body warned, in a more forceful tone, of retaliation if neighbouring countries support US threats to further sanction Tehran.

Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian defended a recent memorandum of understanding as the best way for the country to move beyond what he described as a situation of "neither war nor peace."

In a speech published by state-run IRNA early on Sunday, he said members of Iran's supreme national security Council believed the memorandum represented the best possible agreement based on what he described as dignity, wisdom and the national interest. "There is not a single provision in this agreement that amounts to capitulation," Pezeshkian said. "The supreme leader sets the policies, and we will follow that path." The deal known as the MoU that US President Donald Trump signed in June set an ambitious 60-day deadline for ending the war with Iran and reaching an accord on its nuclear programme.

That period ended last week, but the two sides remain far apart, with no signs of compromise on the crucial issue of reopening the Strait of Hormuz, vital to global shipping.

Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian

Pezeshkian also linked the agreement to Iran's economic prospects, saying the country could not attract investment in this stalled phase.

"Capital and money are extremely sensitive to risk," he said. "We have to remove this risk from the country."

Nearly six months into the war with the United States and Israel, the Iranian economy is suffering under sanctions and a naval blockade.

Meanwhile, the hard-line new leader of Iran's Supreme National Security Council warned Tehran's neighbours against joining the new US effort to hurt Iran's economy.

"If (Trump) wants to do something, we will retaliate in a seismic manner," Mohsen Rezaei said in an interview with that aired on Saturday. Rezaei was named this month as part of senior appointments widely seen as hardening Tehran's political and military stance. His interview with IRIB is his most extensive public statement since then.

Rezaei said Iran would target oil-shipping routes out of the Persian Gulf—alternatives to the Strait of Hormuz — if neighbours join what he described as the economic war against Iran. —AP

Pak army chief heads to Tehran

PAKISTAN'S ARMY CHIEF Asim Munir will visit Tehran on Monday to continue efforts to bring peace and security to the region, Iran's foreign ministry spokesperson Esmaeil Baghaei said on Sunday. Pakistan has taken on a mediator role in negotiations between Iran and the US aimed at ending the war which began with US and Israeli strikes on Iran in February. Two Pakistani government sources confirmed Munir's visit to Reuters.

China 'committed' to Iran talks with tensions rising

CHINA SAID IT continues to support a diplomatic end to the US-Iran war, in a delayed statement released shortly before the US is set to unveil measures to punish Tehran's economic partners. "China is closely monitoring the situation in West Asia and is actively committed to promoting peace talks," Vice Foreign Minister Miao Deyu said at talks with Iran's Deputy Foreign Minister Kazem Gharibabadi in Beijing on Aug. 17, according to a statement.

China's Ministry of Foreign Affairs didn't previously disclose the meeting and provided no explanation for the time lag in making it public almost a week later.

The timing is notable because it comes a day before US Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent is set to unveil a plan designed to shift the conflict from tit-for-tat strikes across West Asia to full-blown economic isolation.

Earlier this week, US President Donald Trump threatened Iran and its trading partners after months of military strikes and a maritime blockade failed to force Tehran to capitulate. —BLOOMBERG

Fiscal deficit to stay near 4.3% despite West Asia

THE CENTRE HAD originally pegged the FY27 fiscal deficit at 4.3% of GDP. The ratio, however, effectively rose to 4.5% following the introduction of the new GDP series, which reduced the size of the economy. Officials are nevertheless hopeful of keeping the deficit close to the original Budget target by using available fiscal buffers and containing expenditure.

On the revenue side, the ₹10-per-litre cut in excise duty on petrol and diesel is estimated to cost the exchequer ₹1-1.4 lakh crore in FY27, although this could be partly offset by higher receipts from export levies on petrol, diesel and ATF. The government is also looking to strengthen non-tax revenues through disinvestment and asset monetisation.

Against the Budget target of ₹80,000 crore from disinvestment and asset monetisation, actual receipts could exceed ₹1 lakh crore, helped by an acceleration in disinvestment and likely proceeds from the strategic sale of IDBI Bank. This could partly offset the revenue loss from the fuel duty cut.

On the expenditure side, the government is reappraising centrally sponsored and central sector schemes to contain spending where possible, while protecting capital expenditure. Officials said stricter enforcement of spending norms and just-in-time release of funds directly to implementing agencies could also prevent funds from being parked unnecessarily.

Based on spending trends over the past couple of years and tighter monitoring, the Centre could potentially save up to ₹2 lakh crore through better expenditure management. These savings could be reprioritised towards additional expenditure requirements without materially weakening the fiscal position.

The government's ability to keep the deficit around 4.3% will therefore depend on a combination of lower subsidy pressures, ESF support, higher non-tax receipts and tighter expenditure management. While the West Asia crisis has added to fiscal risks, officials believe these buffers should allow the Centre to absorb the shock without compromising its commitment to capital expenditure.

SpaceX puts Starlink India supply-chain hiring in gear

THE SUPPLIER DEVELOPMENT roles span different areas of hardware manufacturing. One is focused on injection moulding, another on radio-frequency (RF) integration, while a third is specifically tied to Starlink.

These roles involve working with external manufacturers to ensure they can produce components to SpaceX's specifications, improve manufacturing processes and quality, and build capacity for high-volume production. The company's job descriptions indicate that supplier development teams work across engineering, manufacturing and procurement, including assessing suppliers and resolving production issues.

The move also comes days after Musk renewed his pitch for Starlink in India, positioning the service as a way to address connectivity gaps in underserved and rural parts of the country.

The latest hiring indicates that SpaceX's preparations for Starlink's India rollout extend beyond regulatory and commercial requirements to the physical supply chain needed to support the service.

Sarvam's $10-bn AI gamble faces the frontier test

"THE CHALLENGE IS therefore not merely capital, but research depth, compute availability, training efficiency and ability to attract a very small pool of world-class researchers," according to Jaspreet Bindra, co-founder and CEO of AI&Beyond. Sarvam could plausibly get close to today's frontier within a year, he said, but matching the frontier of that time would be considerably harder because global AI labs would have moved ahead.

This makes the availability of frontier-level researchers another critical variable. Pramod Gosavi, senior principal at Bay Area-based VC firm Blumberg Capital, said Sarvam would need to attract researchers from abroad, as Chinese AI companies have done.

But not everyone sees talent as the primary constraint. Pratyush Choudhury, co-founder at early-stage AI VC fund Activate, said compute and data remain bigger limitations. "Once you have enough compute, you will attract the right talent with ease," he said. Researchers, he added, are unlikely to stay if they lack the infrastructure needed to experiment and train increasingly large models.

Data itself is also becoming a more complicated advantage. For foundation models, it is not only the volume of material available on the Internet that matters, but also usage data showing how people interact with AI systems. Such data can be used to fine-tune models and improve their performance, Choudhury said.

The question, therefore, is whether Sarvam needs to win the general-purpose AI race at all. Experts said the company's more defensible opportunity could lie in areas where global models remain less suited to Indian requirements. These include multilingual and voice applications, government and citizen services, regulated industries requiring data sovereignty, and enterprise systems that need to understand Indian documents, workflows and cultural contexts.

"I don't think that Sarvam needs to beat GPT or Gemini at everything," Bindra said. Sarvam already works across 22 Indian languages and is expanding enterprise deployments beyond pilots. Kyndryl India CTO Sreekrishnan Venkateswaran said Sarvam and BharatGen models were increasingly being used by clients requiring Indic-language capabilities in sectors such as banking, financial services and insurance and telecom.

This could make sovereign AI a bigger commercial opportunity than trying to build the world's best general-purpose model. "If Sarvam can make AI cheaper, open, sovereign, and multilingual, that is a defensible gap," Bindra said.

Sarvam has also brought in Devendra Chaplot, a founding member of Mistral AI and Thinking Machines Lab, as an adviser for its planned trillion-parameter frontier model. The company's biggest model is still months away, leaving the outcome uncertain.

The frontier race, however, remains relatively young. "A couple of years ago, we were completely confident that India couldn't be a player in the AI foundation layer," Rishi Bal, CEO of BharatGen, said. The narrative has now shifted to whether India can compete at the global frontier. For Sarvam, the bigger test will be whether $10 billion can buy not just the infrastructure to reach that frontier, but the research capability and data advantage needed to stay there.

1. Risk of Non-Recoverability of Leasehold Capital Expenditure: The Net Proceeds include ₹413.61 million towards capital expenditure for establishing 319 New Centres, all on leased premises with tenures of 11 months to 3 years. Immovable fit-out capex constitutes approximately 30–37% of total capex for Company Learning Centres and Company Learning Centres in partnership with Licensed Professionals and under 9% for School Collaboration Centres. Immovable capex is specific to leased premises and cannot be transferred or repurposed if a lease is not renewed, is terminated, or if a centre is closed or relocated, which may adversely affect our profitability, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

The composition of movable and immovable capital expenditure incurred at our centres is set out below:

2. Risk of Delays and Execution Challenges in Establishing New Centres: The Company intends to expand 319 New Centres (190 Company Learning Centres, 121 School Collaboration Centres, 3 Centres of Excellence and Research and 5 Upskilling Academies) across India over Fiscals 2027–2029, all on leased premises. Each centre requires site identification, lease negotiation, regulatory approvals, fit-outs, clinical professional recruitment and may take 8–12 months to achieve breakeven. Any delays, cost overruns, failure to identify suitable leased premises, or third-party contractor lapses may result in time and cost overruns and may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

3. Financial Risk - History of Losses and Negative Cash Flows: Our Company has faced losses in the past and may incur losses in the future, which may adversely impact our business and the value of the Equity Shares. Additionally, we have had negative cash flows in the past including negative cash flow from operating activities of ₹ 19.41 million and from investing activities of ₹ 61.83 million in Fiscal 2026, and may continue to have negative cash flows in the future. Any future losses or negative cash flows may adversely affect our business, financial condition and value of the Equity Shares.

Our cash flows for the periods indicated are set out below:

(in ₹ million)

Particulars	Fiscal 2026 (Consolidated)	Fiscal 2025 (Standalone)	Fiscal 2024 (Standalone)

Cash flow from Financing activities	60.37	49.01	10.37

4. Human Capital Risk – Dependency on Clinical Professionals: Our ability to deliver services depends on recruiting, training and retaining qualified clinical professionals and personnel, including psychologists, speech-language pathologists, occupational therapists, special educators and behaviour therapists. As of March 31, 2026, the Company had a total 521 permanent employees and 19 consultants, of which 340 are full time clinical professionals (including psychologists, therapists, and special educators). Limited availability of such professionals, competition for talent, attrition, disputes or increased compensation demands may adversely affect service quality, scaling, costs and financial results.

Employee count and attrition data for all employees is set out below:

6. Risk of Dependence on Leased Premises and Lease Renewals: Our Registered Office, Corporate Office, 91 out of 136 centres in India and all newly acquired US centres operate from premises not owned by us. Lease amount paid till March 31, 2026 was ₹ 46.61 million. Net Proceeds of ₹144.45 million and ₹101.31 million are proposed for lease payments for existing India and USA centres respectively. Our landlords may not renew leases on favourable terms, may fail to maintain required approvals, or may default on obligations, any such event could disrupt operations and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The number of leased centres in India and lease amount paid for each centre type is set out below:

Sr. No.	Centre Type	No. of centres	No. of leased centres	Lease Amount paid till March 31, 2026 (in ₹ million)
1	Company Learning Centres and Company Learning Centres with Licensed Professionals	123	78	41.69

	Total	136	91	46.61

7. Risk of Delay or Deviation in Utilisation of Net Proceeds: The proposed utilisation of Net Proceeds towards the Objects of the Issue is based on management estimates and has not been appraised by any bank, financial institution or independent agency. We have not entered into definitive agreements, including lease arrangements, for the New Centres. Quotations obtained from vendors are subject to validity periods and revision. Any variation in the utilisation of Net Proceeds requires shareholders' approval by special resolution under Sections 13(8) and 27 of the Companies Act, 2013. Failure to obtain such approval, or any delay in doing so, may adversely affect execution of the Objects and our results of operations.
8. Risk of Ineffective Brand Awareness and Marketing Expenditure: We propose to utilise ₹102.08 million from the Net Proceeds towards brand awareness and inclusive outreach programs, to be deployed over three Fiscals (FY 2027–2029) through ATL, BTL and Medical-Backed initiatives. Our past marketing expenditure has been modest; marketing costs constituted 2.49% and 5.47% of total other expenses for Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2025 respectively. Social stigma associated with NDDs and limited awareness in semi-urban and rural markets may limit the effectiveness of such outreach, resulting in lower-than-expected enrolments at New Centres. Any failure of brand awareness expenditure to generate commensurate increase in revenue could adversely affect our ability to achieve the targeted returns from Object and may adversely affect our business and financial performance.

The table sets out the details of our marketing cost as a percentage of total other expense incurred for the periods indicated below:

1. Revenue dependence on sale of gold jewellery: Our revenues have been significantly dependent on sale of gold jewellery, which accounted for 92.33%, 94.58% and 93.96% of our revenue from operations, for the Financial Years 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Accordingly, any factors adversely affecting our sales of gold jewellery, such as, an increase in international gold prices, higher import duties or regulatory restrictions, decline in consumer discretionary spending, shift in consumer preferences to alternatives, etc. may negatively impact our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.
2. Negative operating cash flows in the past: We have experienced negative cash flows from operating activities of ₹3,977.62 million and ₹180.02 million in Fiscal 2026 and in Fiscal 2024 respectively, due to lower customer enrolment towards the Company's jewellery schemes and increased settlement of trade payables and cannot assure you that we will not experience negative cash flows in future periods. Negative cash flows may adversely affect our financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

Particulars	Fiscal 2026 ₹ in million	Fiscal 2025 ₹ in million	Fiscal 2024 ₹ in million
Net cash (used in) / generated from operating activities	(3,977.62)	2,887.31	(180.02)

3. Risk related to customer advances: We receive advances from our customers under various schemes introduced by us. The amounts received in the schemes amount to more than 10% of our revenue from operations for the respective financial periods. Inability to appropriate such advances received from customers under jewellery purchase schemes may adversely impact our revenues and results of operations and future profitability.

These Karigars who are on the rolls of our Company and Asita, manufactured 79.11%, 80.66% and 79.78% of our total products available for sale for Fiscal 2026, Fiscal 2025 and Fiscal 2024, respectively. Further, we have entered into short term agreements with 296 Karigars (as of March 31, 2026), on a non-exclusive basis, for manufacture and supply of jewellery. Our Company is dependent on these Karigars for manufacturing our products and any disruptions at our Manufacturing Facilities, or loss of these Karigars or failure of these Karigars to adhere to the relevant quality standards may have a negative effect on our reputation, business and financial condition.
5. High working capital requirement: Our business requires a substantial amount of working capital for operations including for financing the purchase of raw materials. We intend to continue growing by setting up new stores (including inventory requirements) and increase our focus on sale of jewellery. 6. Dependence on top three suppliers of raw materials: We are dependent on our top three suppliers of raw materials who have contributed 58.03%, 67.20% and 66.98% in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively of our total cost of raw materials. We typically procure gold through purchase orders and do not enter into any long-term agreements with our suppliers. In the event our suppliers are unable to provide us the required quantity of raw materials, or if we are unable to find alternate suppliers at commercially acceptable terms, our ability to manufacture our products in a timely manner will be adversely affected leading to an adverse impact on our business, results of operations and financial condition.
7. Usage of brand "Lalithaa" and payment of Brand Ambassador fees: Our business is significantly dependent on the reputation and awareness of our brand, "Lalithaa". Any failure to maintain our reputation, enhance our brand recognition or increase positive awareness of our products, it may be difficult to maintain and grow our consumer base, which could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, results of operations, business and growth prospects. Further, our Promoter received brand ambassador fees of 0.30% of revenue in Fiscal 2024; this arrangement has since been terminated.
8. Geographical concentration risk: As of March 31, 2026, we operate 61 stores in 51 cities across Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Telangana and Puducherry. As of March 31, 2026, we have 23 stores in Andhra Pradesh, 20 stores in Tamil Nadu, 7 in Karnataka, 10 in Telangana and 1 in Puducherry. The geographic concentration of all (100%) our stores in the southern regions of India heightens our exposure to adverse developments related to competition, economic downturn and demographic changes in these regions, which may adversely affect our business prospects, financial conditions and results of operations.
9. Seasonal Fluctuation Risk: In India, the demand of jewellery is mainly driven by weddings, festivals, birth and the harvest season. We have historically experienced certain seasonal fluctuations, reflecting higher sales volumes during festival periods and other occasions such as Akshay Tritiya, Durga Puja, Dhanteras, Diwali, Poila and Baisakh. Any slowdown in demand for our jewellery during peak seasons or failure by us to accurately anticipate and prepare for such seasonal fluctuations could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.
10. Competition Risk: We operate in highly competitive and fragmented markets, and our market share may get adversely affected due to competition in these markets which is based primarily on market trends, pricing and customer preferences. We face competition from both the organized and unorganised sectors of the jewellery retail business, including online marketplaces. Competitors may have significant advantages such as stronger distribution networks, brand recall, promotional offers for customers, technical and financial capabilities. Consequently, we may not be able to compete successfully in the future against our existing or potential competitors, or we cannot assure you that our business and results of operations will not be adversely affected by increased competition in the offline and online channels.

11. Risk related to jewellery designs and continuous innovation: We have an in-house jewellery designing team of fifteen members responsible for introducing new and innovative designs for our jewellery. Our in-house design team comprises of managers and skilled professionals consisting of CAD (Computer-Aided Design) designers who work on digital design, 3D modelling, and renderings while our manual designers bring traditional concepts to life through hand-drawn sketches. In the last three Fiscals, our Company has spent ₹10.42 million, ₹9.63 million and ₹4.55 million, respectively, on designing activities. We change our jewellery designs on a regular basis and do not register such designs under the Design Act, 2000. The inability of new designs or new jewellery lines to gain market acceptance or our inability to cater changing customer preferences could adversely affect our brand image, our business and financial condition.

THE BIG IDEA
YES MADAM

The home salon fix

Aditya Arya, co-founder and CEO, Yes Madam

A PERSONAL PROBLEM LED TWO BROTHERS TO RETHINK HYGIENE, TRANSPARENCY AND EARNINGS IN AT-HOME BEAUTY SERVICES

S SHANTHI

BEFORE STARTING YES Madam, Aditya Arya had spent nearly a decade in the Merchant Navy. Entrepreneurship, however, had always been at the back of his mind. The trigger came when his wife and his elder brother Mayank Arya's wife developed skin irritation after using at-home salon services. When the brothers began investigating, they found a larger problem: customers had little visibility into the products being used. Premium products were often transferred from bulk bottles, leaving questions around authenticity, freshness and hygiene.

The brothers spent the next few months speaking to customers, salon owners and beauty professionals and visiting salons to understand how the industry worked. They saw a gap on both sides. Customers were paying for premium services but had limited control over the products used and often encountered inconsistent hygiene standards. Beauty professionals, meanwhile, were working long hours for monthly incomes of around ₹10,000-12,000, with limited scope to increase their earnings.

The research also helped the brothers decide what they did not want Yes Madam to become. They were not looking to simply replicate a neighbourhood salon at customers' homes. The idea was to create a more structured service, where the customer knew what was being used and professionals had a clearer way of earning more. This meant standardising products, pricing and service delivery while building a network of professionals who could be trained and deployed across locations.

That became the basis for Yes Madam, an at-home beauty and wellness platform that connects customers with trained professionals for services such as salon treatments, while using single-use, monodose products to improve hygiene and product transparency.

In December 2016, the brothers started with a small shop in Gaziabad. Aditya had to make a difficult career choice. "They were concerned because I was leaving behind a stable career in the Merchant Navy, where I was earning around ₹8-10 lakh monthly," he said. But he believed the industry needed to change. "I knew that stepping away from a stable career was going to come with major challenges, but I also believed that the biggest rewards come from taking the biggest risks."

The launch itself was anything but polished. There was no app and no booking on day one. Aditya and Mayank distributed pamphlets in residential societies, put up canopies and spoke to residents themselves. Their initial bookings came largely from family, friends and nearby societies. Aditya's wife, Garima, handled calls and wrote appointment details in a diary. "As bookings gradually increased, those diary pages started filling up," he said.

The early customer acquisition was deliberately local because the founders first needed to prove that people would trust an unfamiliar brand with a service that was traditionally bought from a salon. They used society-level activations, personal calls and word-of-mouth rather than spending heavily on marketing. It was also a way to learn directly from customers about pricing, preferred services and their concerns around hygiene. That feedback helped shape the service before the company began investing more heavily in technology and expansion.

The manual process eventually gave way to a website and then a technology platform, but the underlying proposition remained the same: make an often opaque service more predictable for customers while improving the economics for professionals.

The approach has since produced a business that has grown without external capital for most of its journey. Yes Madam posted operating revenue of ₹195 crore in FY26 and has delivered 100% year-on-year (y-o-y) growth for three consecutive years while remaining profitable. The company raised its first institutional round only this year, a ₹50 crore Series A from Info Edge's recently launched growth fund, led by Sanjeev Bikhchandani.

For the founders, raising capital was not the starting point but a consequence of building the business. "We believed in proving the business model first rather than chasing funding early on," Aditya said. The company now competes with players such as Urban Company and fulfils over 350,000 bookings a month across more than 55 cities.

Its network has grown to more than 10,000 service professionals, who earn an average monthly net income of around ₹30,000. The top performers earn ₹50,000-60,000 a month. The organisation, which began with one employee, now has more than 1,000.

The larger bet, therefore, was not simply to take salon services to customers' homes. It was to standardise an informal and fragmented service around three things the founders felt were missing: transparency for customers, consistency in delivery and better earning opportunities for professionals. The business has taken nearly a decade to reach scale, but the original idea has remained largely unchanged.

Gavaskar, Kapil join 19 former captains urging medical care

The captains urged Pakistan government to allow the medical board, to complete an assessment of his health

FORMER INDIA CAPTAINS Sunil Gavaskar, Kapil Dev and Dilip Vengsarkar are among 21 former international captains who have appealed to Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif for proper medical treatment and welfare of jailed former Prime Minister and World Cup winning captain Imran Khan.

The move has been initiated by former Australia captain Greg Chappell and marks the second letter by former international captains seeking humane treatment and proper medical care for the 73-year-old Khan.

The captains, in their letter (published on social media), urged the Pakistan government to allow the medical board directed by the Supreme Court, including Imran's personal doctors, to complete an independent assessment of his health, particularly his reported loss of vision in the right eye.

The letter said the captains "did not seek to adjudicate Pakistan's domestic legal processes but believed that ensuring a court-ordered medical process was completed was a basic matter of decency".

Crude, US-Iran conflict to drive mkts: Analysts

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 23

CRUDE OIL PRICES and developments in the US-Iran conflict will remain the primary factors influencing stock market movements this week, according to analysts.

"Investors will closely monitor the Jackson Hole symposium, particularly comments from the US Federal Reserve Chairman, for indications on the future trajectory of interest rates. US GDP estimates, durable goods orders and consumer confidence will also provide important clues on the strength of the US economy and the Fed's policy outlook," Ajit Mishra "SVP, Research, Religare Broking, said.

On the domestic front, investors will track rupee movement, foreign institutional flows and domestic liquidity conditions, he added.

"Global markets head into the coming week with investor attention centred on three key themes: the Federal Reserve's policy trajectory, Nvidia's quarterly results and the unresolved US-Iran conflict.

"Against a backdrop of volatile long-dated Treasury yields, Fed Chair Kevin Warsh's address at the Jackson Hole symposium will be closely scrutinised for clues on how the central bank is weighing persistent inflation risks against signs of a softer labour market ahead of its September policy meeting," Ponnudi R, CEO of Enrich Money, an online trading and wealth tech firm, said.

Crude oil remains the other major external risk, he said. "The 60-day US-Iran agreement expired without a lasting settlement, leaving the Strait of Hormuz at the centre of an unresolved confrontation and normal energy flows through the region disrupted," Ponnudi added.

"After two weeks of correction in the Nifty, Indian equity markets could consolidate, with marginal recovery expected in the near term. Key monitorables include Brent crude prices, which are anchored above $90/barrel and geopolitical developments," Siddhartha Khemka, Head of Research, Wealth Management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said.

Bullion set to shine next week

Gold and silver prices are expected to retain their upward momentum next week, though profit-taking at higher levels may temper the rally as investors await key US inflation data, analysts said.

US Core Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) inflation and GDP figures will be the key triggers for bullion. Developments surrounding West Asia geopolitics, particularly the US-Iran peace deal and reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, will also remain in focus, they added.

"In the coming trading session, we expect bias to remain positive, but some profit-taking cannot be ruled out," Pranav Mer, senior vice president, EBG - Commodity & Currency Research, JM Financial Services, said.

On the domestic front, gold futures for October delivery gained ₹7,932, or 5.13%, to close the week at ₹1.62 lakh per 10 grams on the Multi Commodity Exchange (MCX).

Silver for September delivery surged ₹10,673, or 4.52%, to settle at ₹2.46 lakh per kilogram. "Gold remained firmly positive this week, gaining more than 5% to close near ₹1.62 lakh per 10 grams on the MCX," Jateen Trivedi, VP Research Analyst - Commodity and Currency, LKP Securities, said.

The rally was supported by renewed buying interest in bullion, softer bond yields and improving liquidity conditions, he added.

Apple trims Siri, Vision Pro jobs to prioritise AI development

MARK GURMAN
August 23

APPLE IS CUTTING jobs across teams responsible for the Siri digital assistant and the Vision Pro headset, part of an effort to focus on new devices and artificial intelligence.

Apple is also laying off employees in its Intelligent Systems Experience, a team within its software engineering organization responsible for some of the AI features on its devices, according to people with knowledge of the matter.

As part of the changes, the company is largely shutting down a Vision Pro team focused on gaming for the headset and reducing the size of a unit responsible for producing the device's immersive video content, said the people, who asked not to be identified because the personnel moves haven't been announced. Altogether, the cuts affect more than 200 people, with about 100 positions eliminated from the Vision Pro organization and another 100 from the Siri and software teams.

In a statement, Apple acknowledged that it was including opportunities to apply for other roles at Apple."

The Siri reshuffling is tied to an upcoming AI-infused version of the assistant, which is built on a new technical architecture. That shift requires a change in the necessary expertise, prompting the company to eliminate a small number of existing roles, reallocate resources and create new positions supporting the updated Siri. The changes to the Intelligent Systems Experience team reflect an effort to reorganize work on AI-powered capabilities. As more groups bring AI functions to apps, features and services, Apple is realigning teams to match priorities and accelerate development.

2. Our Planned Projects (where less than 1.00% construction has been completed) constitutes 75.96% of our Development Network and completion of such portion is subject to various risks and uncertainties: As of May 31, 2026 out of our Total Network of 58.58 msf, our Development Network constituted 30.03 msf (51.26% of our Total Network). Further, our Planned Projects, where less than 1.00% of construction has been completed, constitutes 75.96% of our Development Network. The completion of our entire Development Network is subject to various risks and uncertainties, including construction delays, increasing construction costs, regulatory challenges, design modifications shifts in market conditions, financing limitations, and ongoing geopolitical tensions in the Middle East etc. These risks could create substantial unanticipated delays and expenses and, in certain circumstances, prevent the initiation or completion of expansion or development as contemplated or at all, any of which could materially and adversely affect us.

3. Revenue contribution of Largest, Top 3, Top 5 and Top 10 customers was 11.12%, 20.96%, 28.14% and 42.60% in Fiscal 2026: Our revenues are significantly dependent on our top 10 customers (identified based on their revenue contribution in Fiscal 2026). Our largest, top 3, top 5 and top 10 customers contributed 11.12%, 20.96%, 28.14% and 42.60% respectively in Fiscal 2026. Loss of any of these customers or a significant reduction in their lease commitments could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

4. 35 out of 45 assets have been acquired during or after Fiscal 2025: We have acquired a significant portion of our assets in our network from our Promoters and other sellers in Fiscals 2025 and 2026. Prior to Fiscal 2025, our Total Network comprised ten assets. All the other assets in our network were acquired by us during or after Fiscal 2025. Further, the Proforma Financial Information included in Prospectus is for illustrative purposes only to illustrate the impact of the acquisitions as if such transactions had been implemented with effect from April 1, 2023 (i.e., the beginning of the reporting periods covered) or the date of incorporation of the relevant entity, whichever is later. 5. Title defects in relation to the land on which our assets are located: There may be various legal defects and irregularities in the title to the land or development rights, restrictions on rights to use, public interest/rights, or other interests relating to the land on which our assets are located. There are title-related issues and uncertainties affecting certain of our assets namely Horizon Industrial Park MWC, Horizon Industrial Park Chakan V, Horizon InCity Okhla I, Horizon InCity Pimpri, Horizon InCity RP Bagh, Horizon InCity Virugambakkam, Horizon InCity Yashwantpur, Horizon InCity Okhla II, Horizon InCity Kirtinagar, Horizon InCity Chromepet, Horizon InCity Narela, Horizon InCity Sahibabad I, Horizon InCity Nagpur, Horizon InCity Vashi and Horizon InCity Gurgaon and Horizon Industrial Park Dobbaspur I. Further, the title of some of our assets may be subject to certain subsisting encumbrances. As a result, we may not be able to assess, identify or address all the risks and liabilities associated with the land.

6. Total borrowings of ₹68,843.41 million (as of March 31, 2026, on a restated basis) which will reduce to ₹46,343.41 million, subsequent to the repayment/prepayment from Net Proceeds: As of March 31, 2026, our total borrowings, on a restated basis was ₹68,843.41 million and net external debt was ₹42,422.24 million and our total equity was ₹58,587.40 million. Our total debt to total equity ratio, on restated basis, was 1.18x, 5.95x and 5.25x as of March 31, 2026, 2025 and 2024 respectively. We intend to utilize ₹22,500.00 million of the Net Proceeds towards the repayment/prepayment of a portion of the outstanding borrowings availed by our Company and the Identified Subsidiaries, a significant portion of which have been utilised for refinancing erstwhile borrowings. The table below sets out the anticipated impact on our indebtedness position and certain key ratios on a restated basis.

7. Capital Intensive Operations: We operate in a capital-intensive sector that requires significant amount of capital expenditure to acquire land, develop and maintain our assets. Our capital expenditure towards purchase of investment properties, property plant and equipment, CWIP and asset acquisition was ₹15,697.72 million, ₹15,458.53 million and ₹5,225.72 million in Fiscal 2026, 2025 and 2024 respectively. We may not be able to secure funding for such capital expenditure in a timely manner or at all. We cannot assure you that the capital expenditure we incur will generate the expected returns.

8. Geographical concentration: We are dependent on our operating assets in the cities of Delhi-NCR, Chennai (Tamil Nadu), Bangalore (Karnataka) and Pune (Maharashtra), which contributed to 79.00% of our restated revenue from operations, for Fiscals 2026, respectively. Adverse conditions in these cities, including but not limited to natural disasters, labour shortages or strikes, transport or logistics disruptions, power outages, changes in the policies of the local governments in these cities could materially disrupt our and our customers' operations, impair our ability to develop, lease, and operate assets.

9. Land scarcity Risk: Our ability to identify and acquire large contiguous land parcels (50-100 acres) for our industrial and fulfillment centers is a vital element for growing our business and the supply of land in key urban regions, including but not limited to Delhi-NCR, Mumbai, Chennai, Bangalore and Pune is limited and subject to competition (Source: JLL Report). Additionally, land that is available is often classified as agricultural land, requiring conversion of land use before development, which may involve regulatory hurdles, time and cost (Source: JLL Report). Any inability to secure such parcels in a timely and cost-effective manner may adversely affect our ability to expand and execute projects at scale.

10. Dependence on contractors for construction of our assets: Out of our total network of 58.58 msf, our Development Network constitutes 30.03 msf (51.26% of our Total Network), on which we are undertaking capital expenditure for construction activities. We engage independent contractors for the construction of our assets (as of May 31, 2026, we had over 40 independent contractors) and any failure on their part to perform their obligations could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects. Work orders from the top 10 contractors as a percentage of total work orders issued during the year constituted 28.02%, 18.97% and 21.96%, on a proforma basis and 27.24%, 6.03% and 13.89%, on a restated basis, in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 respectively. If a contractor fails to perform its obligations satisfactorily or within the prescribed time periods regarding an asset, or terminates its arrangement with us, we may be unable to complete the construction of the asset within the intended timeframe and at the intended cost.

11. The price to earnings ratio is not calculable, both on restated and proforma basis, given that we have incurred losses in Fiscal 2026 and thus the diluted EPS for Fiscal 2026 is negative.
