Russian oil imports reach all-time high

SAURAV ANAND
New Delhi, July 30

INDIA'S IMPORTS OF Russian crude rose to a record high of 2.78 million barrels per day (mbd) in July, accounting for 55.3% of the country's total purchases of 5.03 mbd till July 29. Strong supplies of Russian Urals crude helped refiners navigate continuing volatility in West Asia, even as Moscow sharply cut discounts to $2-3 a barrel recently.

"India's crude imports have remained resilient, reaching a seasonal five-year high, supported by ample availability of Russian crude," Nikhil Dubey, lead analyst for oil markets at Kpler, said.

"Ukrainian drone strikes on Russian refining infrastructure left more crude available for export, while cargoes stranded in the Persian Gulf were released during the brief US-Iran ceasefire, further supporting supplies for Indian buyers," Dubey said.

The conflict in West Asia also triggered extreme swings in the price of Russia's flagship Urals grade. Crude that had been available to Indian refiners at modest discounts before hostilities rose to a premium of $15-20 a barrel over benchmark Brent when fears of a supply squeeze peaked.

Robotics firms find favour as VCs recast funding rules

● Focus turns to IP, engineering & proprietary data

POULOMI CHATTERJEE
Bengaluru, July 30

INDIAN VENTURE CAPITAL investors, long reluctant to back robotics startups because of their extended research cycles and uncertain returns, are beginning to change their approach. A sharp rise in funding this year points to growing confidence in the sector, even as founders say investors are still adapting to a business where intellectual property, engineering milestones and proprietary data matter more than early revenues.

Several robotics startups raised fresh capital this year — Bengaluru-based Flo Mobility secured $2.5 million in a pre-Series A round in June, Anscer

Robotics raised $5.4 million in Series A funding in May, industrial robotics startup Octobotics raised around $1.2 mil-

According to Tracxn, Indian robotics startups have raised $63.2 million across 15 funding rounds so far in 2026, up 136.7% from $26.7 million raised through 24 rounds in the year-ago period. Early-stage funding surged to $36.8 million from $4.42 million a year ago while seed funding increased to $26.3 million from $22.2 million.

"The Indian robotics ecosystem is demonstrating signs of capital rebound in 2026," Neha Singh, co-founder of Tracxn, said. While the number of deals has declined, the increase in average cheque size suggests stronger conviction among institutional investors and a growing willingness to back companies beyond the seed stage, she said.

SARVAM AI ON Thursday unveiled an ambitious full-stack artificial intelligence strategy centred around building a trillion-plus-parameter foundation model from scratch in India, as the startup expanded beyond large language models into AI infrastructure, developer platforms and enterprise applications in its bid to build a sovereign AI ecosystem.

At the inaugural edition of its flagship event Epoch, Co-founder and CEO Pratyush Kumar said the model, expected to be completed within the next six months, will specialise in coding, India's AI future cannot depend entirely on foreign models... Maybe, next quarter we will find that Chinese models have become closed cybersecurity, simulation and scientific reasoning. It will be trained on a cluster of 10,000 Nvidia Blackwell GPUs, which the company said would be the country's largest compute deployment by scale and capability. Once completed, it would become the largest foundation model built indigenously. It would also place Sarvam among a select group of companies globally building trillion-parameter frontier AI systems, although several leading proprietary models from OpenAI, Google, Anthropic and xAI are believed to operate at comparable or larger scales but do not disclose their parameter counts. For comparison, Chinese company Moonshot's Kimi K3 which made a splash recently has 2.8 trillion parameters.

The company is in discussions to raise the capital at a sources said. Zepto was last valued at about $7 billion in a private funding round around nine months ago.

Zepto did not respond to a request for comment. The valuation gap reflects growing caution among domestic institutional investors towards loss-making new-age companies, with prospective investors questioning Zepto's cash burn and demanding a clearer path to profitability before backing the public issue.

CONCERNS OVER FED CHAIR'S CREDIBILITY UNNERVE INVESTORS

US bond yields hit 19-year high

MICHAEL MACKENZIE, YE XIE & GREG RITCHIE
July 30

THE MESSAGE FROM the bond market was clear: For all of Federal Reserve Chairman Kevin Warsh's tough talk about taming inflation, he's not rushing fast enough to deliver.

After the Fed kept interest rates unchanged for a seventh consecutive month on Wednesday, investors dumped 30-year treasury bonds, sending the yield shooting up as much as 14 basis points to nearly 5.23%, a 19-year high. Market measures of inflation expectations rose, the dollar slid, and even stocks tumbled as investors wagered Warsh was only delaying an inevitable rate hike. The moves revealed investor concerns that Warsh won't manage to rein in inflation that has run above the Fed target for five straight years.

As a result, bondholders both pushed down yields on the most short-term treasuries — a reflection of how they rapidly scaled back bets on immediate increases — and demanded higher payouts on longer-term bonds to compensate for inflation risks in the years ahead.

Indian yields up for a 3rd session

INDIA'S SOVEREIGN BOND yields rose for the third straight session on Thursday as hawkish commentary from the Federal Reserve drove up yields on US treasuries and the hostilities in West Asia pushed up crude prices above $90 a barrel. The RBI is expected to leave the key repo rate unchanged at 5.25% when it reviews monetary policy in the first week of August. — FE BUREAU

200 MORE ITEMS EARMARKED FOR LOCAL PRODUCTION

Import substitution policy poised to gather momentum

● More schemes are being planned based on the PLI learnings, says DPIIT secretary

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, July 30

IN KEEPING WITH its policy to promote import substitution, the Union government has identified over 300 imported products for domestic manufacturing, expanding an initial target of 100 items.

The selected products could be manufactured locally by Indian firms through direct production, joint ventures, or technology transfers, Secretary in the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) Amardeep Singh Bhatia said while addressing the Indo-German Chamber of Commerce (IGCC) Industry Dialogue here on Thursday.

"We initially began a process to identify 100 products that are either not made in India or produced at a very small scale. In the process we found out that it is not only 100 but we can look at more than 300 products which can be taken up in the country for manufacturing," he said.

The official added that more schemes are being planned based on the learnings from

PRODUCTION PUSH

■ India expands import substitution list to 300-plus products from initial target of 100

■ Companies can make identified products via local production, JVs or technology transfers

■ Government plans new manufacturing incentives beyond PLI with deeper industrial policy focus

■ Focus areas include pharma inputs, electronics components, EV parts and industrial chemicals

Production Linked Incentive (PLI) schemes which will involve deeper industrial policy interventions. "These will aim to not only address gaps in the earlier schemes but also ensure that there is a deeper penetration of industry in whichever sectors we are focused on."

The policy is primarily aimed at boosting domestic production of various intermediate goods, inputs, and components.

To make it easier to do business in India the government has high-level committees looking at reforms across sectors at the central government level. "We have a deregulation cell that has been set up in the Cabinet Secretariat which is looking at deregulation at the state government level."

The secretary said 600 reforms have been identified: sectoral reforms and reforms cutting across sectors. Some of these reforms have also been implemented and monitored at various levels right up to the highest level. These are also having an effect within the government.

"It has also snowballed into the departments thinking of bringing in more reforms. The departments are changing their mindset to bring in more reforms to make it easier for businesses to do what they have to do," Bhatia said.

The focus on manufacturing has further strengthened over the last 2-3 years. The 20 industrial townships have been rolled out and are at various stages of implementation.

El Nino intensifies to moderate level: Govt

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, July 30

EL NINO CONDITIONS intensified to a 'moderate' level this month from 'weak' conditions that prevailed in July, the Ministry of Earth Sciences said in Parliament on Thursday.

"El Nino is likely to strengthen further during October-December 2026 and may reach a very strong category," the ministry stated in response to its impact on the monsoon.

However the ministry stated that El Nino's exact intensity and impact over the Indian region depend on the evolution of coupled ocean-atmosphere conditions, of which El Nino is one factor.

Due to the possible impact of El Nino on the monsoon, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) stated in May in its revised forecast that monsoon rainfall is likely to be 90% of the benchmark long period average during the current season, which is in the 'deficient to below normal' range.

DEFICIT AT 14%

■ The deficiency in rainfall during June 1 – July 30 has come down to 13.9%

■ IMD flags potential rainfall pressure as El Nino develops

While June rainfall was 40% below the benchmark, the monsoon revived early this month bringing the deficiency in rainfall during June 1 – July 30 down to 13.9%. In July, rainfall has been just 1% below the benchmark or in the normal range.

The IMD stated that El Niño conditions prevail over the equatorial Pacific Ocean, with sea surface temperature anomalies remaining above normal across the central and eastern equatorial Pacific.

"These conditions are expected to strengthen further during the southwest monsoon season," the met office stated.

The ministry also clarified that the World Meteorological Organisation and IMD do not have an officially defined category known as 'Super El Nino'. The met office also stated that El Nino events are classified as weak, moderate, strong, or very strong based on the magnitude of sea surface temperature anomalies over the equatorial central Pacific Ocean.

Meanwhile, IMD forecasts heavy rainfall over central, west, east and southern regions during the next week because of a deep depression.

"Rainfall is likely to be normal to above normal over most parts of South Peninsular India, and East India during next one week, while overall, the rainfall is likely to be normal during the next one week.

EU FTA has provisions to address CBAM concerns, says Centre

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, July 30

THE INDIA-EUROPEAN UNION Free Trade Agreement (FTA) has adequate safeguards to protect Indian companies from the impact of the European bloc's Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM), while ensuring that domestic exporters benefit from any future relaxation in the carbon tax regime, a senior commerce ministry official said on Thursday.

"CBAM took a lot of negotiating capital... In the text, there is a separate annexure on dealing with CBAM. The first pillar is that in case of flexibility in future in (CBAM), that will be available to India," Additional Secretary in the Department of Commerce Darpan Jain said at Indo-German Chamber of Commerce (IGCC) Industry Dialogue. Jain also is the Chief negotiator of India-EU FTA.

CARBON SHIELD

■ India-EU pact includes CBAM protections for domestic firms and exporters

■ Indian companies may benefit from any easing of EU carbon tax rules

■ Agreement allows India-EU authorities to recognise carbon prices paid in India

■ India and EU announced conclusion of FTA negotiations on Jan 27 and adjust it against the final carbon tax liability payable in the 27-member bloc.

"India is currently developing its own carbon pricing mechanism. So, how to offset what is paid in India from what is paid in Europe, so even that is part of it," he said.

"There is a comprehensive work plan under annexure on CBAM in FTA and we are working on it and I am very hopeful that SMEs will not face any problem," Jain added.

The EU's CBAM, which came into effect on January 1, imposes a carbon tax on imports of carbon-intensive products such as steel, aluminium, fertilisers and cement where emissions during production exceed the threshold set by the bloc. At present, the mechanism applies to steel and aluminium products.

India and the EU announced the conclusion of negotiations for the FTA on January 27.

STATES' GST GROWTH AT A 5-YR LOW IN FY26

STATE GOVERNMENTS' TAX revenue growth surged after the Goods and Services Tax was introduced in July 2017, aided by a guaranteed 14% annual revenue "compensation" funded through an additional cess. After the compensation ended in June 2022, revenue growth weakened, returning to pre-GST levels. A study of 26 states by India Ratings & Research found GST receipts rose 75%

y-o-y in FY18, excluding IGST settlements. Growth slowed in FY19, fell 9.5% in FY21 due to the pandemic, eased to 21% in FY23, and hit a five-year low of -4% in FY26 after tax-rate cuts. — SAIKAT NEOGI

Gold demand falls 6% after duty hike

● Sharp uptick in unofficial inflows

RAJESH BHAYANI
Mumbai, July 30

INDIA'S GOLD DEMAND fell 6% year-on-year (y-o-y) to 131.4 tonne in the April-June quarter, weighed down by seasonally subdued sales, higher import duty and Prime Minister Narendra Modi's appeal to reduce purchases of the precious metal, the World Gold Council (WGC) said in a report on Thursday.

Jewellery demand declined 15% y-o-y to 75 tonne, the second-lowest quarterly level in the WGC's data series since 2000. However, India remained the world's largest gold jewellery market in the quarter, accounting for 27% of global demand, followed by China at 25%. In the June 2026 quarter, demand was supported by Akshaya Tritiya and wedding-related buying, as gold prices eased from their Q1 peaks. However, demand weakened from the middle of the quarter due to the month-long inauspicious period from mid-May to mid-June and the 9% hike in import duty.

INAUSPICIOUS PERIOD IMPACT

■ India's Q2 gold demand falls 6% y-o-y to 131.4 tonne amid weak seasonal buying

■ Jewellery demand drops 15% to 75 tonne, second-lowest quarterly level since 2000

■ India retains top spot in global jewellery demand with 27% share, ahead of China's 25%

India has also seen a rise in unofficial gold inflows since the government raised import tariffs on the precious metal earlier this year, widening margins for grey-market operators and hurting organised players.

"The arbitrage is so huge. I mean, with the 15% duty and 3% GST, there's an 18% difference, and that almost spurs an entire industry," Sachin Jain, chief executive of WGC's Indian operations, told Reuters.

Grey-market inflows and the disruption they cause are hurting organised players, Jain added. Indian enforcement agencies seized nearly twice as much gold between May 13 and June 30 as they did between April 1 and May 12. Seizures rose to 160.91 kg from 86.16 kg, according to data the government shared with Parliament earlier this month.

The WGC's India demand report, released alongside its global demand report, said exchange-led purchases gained traction as a key source of demand support, aided by aggressive promotion of exchange schemes by jewellers.

Retailers reported a 10-20% increase in exchange volumes, with such purchases accounting for up to 70% of sales in some cases.

● TODD MCCLAY, TRADE MINISTER, NEW ZEALAND

'FTA to take effect by 2026-end, our tariffs zero from Day 1'

New Zealand is expected to complete the ratification of the India–New Zealand Free Trade Agreement (FTA), signed in April, by the end of September, paving the way for the deal to come into force before the end of 2026. Direct flights between India and New Zealand are also expected to begin within the next couple of years, further strengthening bilateral trade, investment and people-to-people ties, Trade Minister Todd McClay tells Prasanta Sahu in an interview in Wellington. Excerpts:

done. We completed it within nine months of intense negotiation, and it will deliver greater prosperity for the people of India and New Zealand. Both countries are going through the ratification process. We have completed our treaty examination and are now making the legislative changes needed to reduce tariffs to zero for all goods from India into New Zealand on day one, along with implementing the other commitments we have agreed to.

We hope to have that finished by the end of September. The two governments will then agree on a date for the agreement to enter into force, with the aim of making it fully operational before the end of this year.

Where do you see bilateral trade in the next few years after the FTA comes into effect?

It's going to grow significantly in both directions. While New Zealand is a modestly sized country of just five million people, we import up to NZ$20 billion worth of goods each year from many of our trading partners.

From India, it's only a few billion dollars at the moment, so I think it will grow very quickly. We believe that over the next two or three years, two-way trade can double, and then double again.

But the most important part of the agreement is not just the goods we buy and sell to each other. It's the relationships and the people-to-people links that will grow.

Air New Zealand has announced that it is opening three offices in India to promote

INDIA HAS COMMITTED TO SETTING UP A FAST-TRACK INVESTMENT DESK TO SPEED UP APPROVALS

New Zealand as a destination. Air India and Air New Zealand are also cooperating and have sought regulatory approval for a codeshare arrangement. I think we will see direct flights between India and New Zealand over the next couple of years, and that will significantly strengthen the relationship.

The FTA also includes a provision to promote $20 billion in investment in India. Which sectors is New Zealand looking to invest in?

It's a commitment on the part of the New Zealand government to promote investment into India. The country's business sector will make its own decisions about where it wants to invest, but I think it will be broad and diverse.

Already, we're seeing New Zealand companies opening offices and setting up manufacturing plants in India. We also expect some of our larger companies to partner with Indian businesses.

In the early years, you'll see cooperation and investment in food production, agricultural technology and innovation. We've made commitments to help raise the earnings of Indian farmers, particularly in kiwifruit, apple production and honey. One idea is to sponsor students to pursue PhDs in New Zealand in areas such as horticultural production. We'll be bringing investors to the Indian market, and India has committed to setting up a fast-track investment desk to make approvals happen more quickly, making it easier for New Zealanders to invest. It's the first time India has done that for any country.

Are you also negotiating a bilateral investment protection treaty with India?

There is already an investment chapter in the agreement, so we don't need a separate treaty. It is part of the FTA.

Is there a roadmap for cooperation in critical technologies, critical minerals, clean mobility and semiconductors?

When Prime Minister Modi was here recently, we signed a number of broader cooperation agreements in addition to the FTA.

India's Russian nuclear plant cost spikes 55%

RAJESH KUMAR SINGH
July 30

THE COST OF adding four Russian-designed nuclear reactors at the Kudankulam plant in Tamil Nadu has surged by more than half after the war in Ukraine pushed back construction by almost three years.

The four reactors of 1 gigawatt each are now estimated to cost ₹1.38 lakh crore ($14.4 billion), according to a written reply to parliament by Atomic Energy Minister Jitendra Singh on Wednesday. That is 55% more than the estimates published in 2024.

Steep cost escalations and holdups are symptomatic of the challenges faced by the sector. Similar projects from the US and the UK to Bangladesh have also suffered due to a sharp increase in expenditure after construction delays.

Georgia's Vogtle plant, the first nuclear project built in the US in decades, was delivered years behind schedule at more than double its original budget.

The projected expenditure for two of the new Kudankulam reactors has risen by 73% while the estimate for the remaining increased by 40%, government

■ The projected spend for two reactors has risen by 73% while it has spiked 40% for the others data showed.

The cost overruns will make electricity generated by these plants more expensive, posing hurdles for nuclear expansion in India's price-sensitive power market.

"While nuclear is important for climate risk mitigation and energy security, costs need to be contained," said Rupesh Sankhe, senior vice president for research at Elara Capital India, adding that this may dent the plant's competitiveness compared to other sources of power. "Very high costs only enforce the anti-nuclear argument and can create further opposition to projects."

India has installed two Russian reactors of 1-gigawatt capacity each at Kudankulam, a coastal town near the southern most tip of the country, and construction is ongoing for four more.

The new reactors will be commissioned through March 2030, with the first expected to start operations in June next year, according to Singh. The government had earlier said that all these reactors will be completed by 2027.

The costs for building four 700-megawatt domestic reactors, two each at Kaiga in Karnataka and Gorakhpur in Haryana, are also set to be revised, Singh said on Wednesday.

India currently has 8.8 gigawatts of nuclear power capacity which contributes to about 3% of the country's power output.

RESERVOIR LEVELS IMPROVE BUT STILL 34% BELOW 2025 LEVEL

RESERVOIR STORAGE ACROSS the country improved for the fourth straight week to 44.39% of the capacity on Thursday, up from 38.37% reported a week ago, thanks to adequate monsoon rains in July. Govt for enhanced China mkt access INDIAN AMBASSADOR TO China Vikram Doraiswami on Thursday met Yan Dong, Vice Minister and Member of the Communist Party of China Leadership Group of the Ministry of Commerce, and called for enhanced market access for Indian products.

"They exchanged views on enhancing bilateral trade and economic ties, including the need for sustainable trade, and enhanced market access for Indian products like pharmaceuticals," he said in a post on X.

"Towards this end, the two sides agreed to enhance mutual cooperation and communication," it said.

The meeting took place in the immediate backdrop of Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri's two-day visit to Beijing early this week during which he held talks with several Chinese officials to step up India-China engagement. Since he took over the post in May, Doraiswami has been pitching for greater pharma exports and Chinese Investment to deepen ties.

"Obviously, we would like to be able to export more to China. This is nothing unreasonable about suggesting that. Particularly in areas where we believe we have a competitive advantage like pharmaceuticals," he said while addressing a panel at the World Peace Forum organised by China's Tsinghua University here early this month.

The bilateral trade rose to over $91 billion in the first six months of this year, but India's trade deficit widened to over $67 billion. China's exports to India increased by 21.8% in the first half of 2026 to $79.41 billion, while Indian exports to China rose 37.2% to $12.31 billion according to data released by Chinese customs on July 14.

Tighter quality norms for drug exports

MANU KAUSHIK
New Delhi, July 30

INDIA HAS OVERHAULED drug export rules, mandating that unapproved medicines will no longer be shipped unless cleared by importing nations or top global regulators. The move aims to maintain the country's standing as a reliable supplier of quality medicines globally.

"As a country, India has a strong commitment, and we are working together to strengthen this most important part of the value chain – the drug regulatory system – to further the global healthcare supply chain," Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) Rajeev Raghuvanshi said on Thursday.

Under the revised rules, products not approved in India can only be exported if the importing country has explicitly approved them. Recognising that some smaller nations lack robust regulatory authorities, CDSCO developed an alternative pathway: the drug must be approved either by India or by one of six stringent regulatory authorities (SRAs) in regions like the US, the UK, Canada, Europe, Australia, or Japan.

"Unless the importing country has approved the product, we will not allow it to be exported from India. The purpose is to ensure that whatever we make and export from India has been reviewed and approved by one major global agency, assuring safety and efficacy," he stated.

Raghuvanshi said the NOC (No Objection Certificate) system is now fully digital. Over the past year, CDSCO processed 23,000 export NOCs – averaging 2,000 per month – slashing the approval processing period to below 10 days.

The tightening comes as India's exports have grown rapidly. According to official data, pharma exports increased from $20.7 billion in FY20 to $30.4 billion in FY25, translating into a compounded annual growth rate (CAGR) of 8%. The country currently serves 40% of US generic demand and 20% of the world's generic medicines. Medical device exports also surged from $2.5 billion in FY20 to $4.1 billion in FY25 due to the rapid expansion of domestic manufacturing, regulatory reforms that strengthened quality standards and export processes.

Beyond exports, Raghuvanshi outlined a broader regulatory overhaul centred on digitisation, risk-based oversight and innovation. For example, CDSCO is undergoing a full digital transformation through the Digital Drug Regulatory System (DDRS) with over 99% of regulatory processes now digitised.

Tata Steel PAT rises 12%, misses Street

URVI MALVANIA
Mumbai, July 30

TATA STEEL'S NET profit attributable to promoters for Q1FY27 rose 11.6% to ₹2,318 crore from ₹2,078 crore in the same period a year ago, led by lower finance costs.

India's oldest steelmaker missed the Bloomberg estimate of ₹2,502 crore on profit. However, its revenue beat the Bloomberg estimate of ₹58,155 crore, coming in at ₹60,794 crore, up 14.3% year-on-year.

"Global operating environment remained complex, with the impact of developments in West Asia on supply chains and input costs being more pronounced in the quarter. Our overseas operations also had to navigate operational disruptions. Despite these headwinds, Tata Steel delivered a sequential improvement in EBITDA per ton for the third consecutive quarter," TV Narendran, chief executive officer and managing director at Tata Steel, said in a statement.

Earnings before interest, taxation, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) stood at ₹9,264 crore, higher than the Bloomberg estimate of ₹9,078 crore, and up 24.7% from Q1FY26. EBITDA margin was 15.2%, while PAT margin stood at 3.8%. Reported EBITDA per tonne was ₹11,410, compared with ₹10,053 in Q1FY26 and ₹12,898 in Q4FY26. IndiGo's Bhatia seeks tax cuts

INDIGO MANAGING DIRECTOR Rahul Bhatia urged the government to cut taxes and rationalise airport charges, arguing that lower airfares would unlock "massive" demand in one of the world's fastest-growing aviation markets and accusing policymakers of taxing flying as if it were "an elitist mode of transport".

"On the one side, we say that flying by air has become a public utility, yet we treat taxes on it as if it's an elitist mode of transport," Bhatia told PTI in an interview. "I think some of these things have to get rationalised. Because the Indian consumer is so price sensitive that if you can lower fares, you just open up a massive demand." Bhatia said airlines had largely absorbed cost pressures instead of passing them on to passengers.

"So, in a time span of three years where inflation has risen by 12 per cent, airfares, which represent the fares that the airline collects for themselves, have gone up between 1% and 3%. UDF charges at airports have gone up as much as 95%.

"Landing and parking charges have gone up as much as 34 per cent... airlines actually do their utmost to make sure that fares are competitive," he noted. He said IndiGo, which controls 66.3% of India's domestic market, had a responsibility to lead fare hikes when surging costs made them unavoidable.

SWIGGY REPORTED A consolidated net loss of ₹791 crore for the first quarter of FY27, wider than the Bloomberg estimate of ₹717 crore, as a sharp increase in spending on its incubated new businesses absorbed almost the entire improvement delivered by quick commerce arm Instamart. Consolidated adjusted revenue stood at ₹7,112 crore, ahead of the estimated ₹6,754 crore.

Consolidated adjusted Ebitda loss came in at ₹651 crore, against an estimated loss of ₹515 crore, and was virtually unchanged from the ₹652 crore loss in the previous quarter. Instamart narrowed its adjusted Ebitda loss by ₹80 crore sequentially, but the Platform Innovations segment saw its loss more than double to ₹131 crore from ₹58 crore, while food delivery gave up ₹5 crore. Platform Innovations is the company's incubator for newer bets and houses the standalone budget food delivery app Toing, along with Swiggy Minis, Swiggy Sports, Crew and Snacc, the micro-kitchen brand that the company has now decided to shut.

The company said Instamart hit its contribution margin break-even target in May 2026, meeting guidance issued five quarters ago, though contribution for the full quarter remained marginally negative at -0.2% of gross order value (GOV). Instamart's adjusted Ebitda loss narrowed to ₹778 crore from ₹858 crore. Its GOV grew 39.8% year-on-year to ₹7,907 crore but was flat sequentially against ₹7,881 crore in the March quarter. The unit added a net 28 dark stores to reach 1,171 across 131 cities and guided for about 75 additions in Q2FY27. Orders per dark store per day slipped to 1,089 from 1,093.

Platform-level growth decelerated sharply. B2C GOV grew 27.9% year-on-year to ₹18,926 crore, against 40.7% in the previous quarter and 49% in Q3FY26. Platform frequency, or completed orders per user in a month, fell to 3.87 from 4.01, marking a sixth consecutive quarterly decline, even as average monthly transacting users rose 27.4% to 27.5 million. The company said it had weaned away over 4 million unprofitable users on Instamart over the last three quarters.

Food delivery GOV rose 17.4% year-on-year to ₹9,490 crore, below the 18-20% band the company guides for, which it attributed to restaurant-driven cancellations early in the quarter caused by LPG supply disruptions. Adjusted Ebitda slipped to ₹292 crore from ₹297 crore, the first sequential

Vedanta to hive off realty arm; Q1 profit rises 72%

RAGHAVENDRA KAMATH
Mumbai, July 30

VEDANTA ON THURSDAY approved the demerger of its surplus real estate assets into a separate company, Vedanta Property Platforms (VPPL), as the mining and metals major reported a 72% jump in consolidated net profit for the first quarter of FY27 on the back of higher metal prices, stronger sales and a weaker rupee.

Consolidated net profit rose 71.8% year-on-year to ₹5,473 crore for the quarter ended June, from ₹3,185 crore a year earlier. Revenue from operations surged 53.6% to ₹24,205 crore from ₹15,754 crore, while expenses increased to ₹17,558 crore from ₹13,203 crore, the company said in a regulatory filing.

The board also approved the draft scheme of arrangement to transfer the company's real estate undertaking to VPPL on a going-concern basis, saying the move would unlock value from non-core assets.

The portfolio proposed to be demerged comprises about 2,200 acres of industrial land and around 55,000 sq ft of residential and commercial properties. Under the proposed vertical split, Vedanta shareholders will receive one share of VPPL for every 20 shares held in Vedanta.

An investor presentation pegged the portfolio at 22 assets across the country, comprising about 2,264 acres of land parcels spread across 14 sites and 53,185 sq ft of residential and office space across eight units.

The assets are located across Maharashtra, Goa, Tamil Nadu, Gujarat and Karnataka, and include land parcels, flats, buildings and bungalows.

Vedanta said the properties had been accumulated over the years through various acquisitions and are currently housed within its operating businesses. These include strategically located non-core land parcels, built-up assets and investments in other real estate-owning entities.

The company said the portfolio could be developed into industrial and manufacturing parks, food processing and agro-industrial parks, logistics and warehousing parks, data centres and digital infrastructure, IT and ITES parks, business campuses and other group ventures. VPPL may also explore schemes of arrangement with other Vedanta group companies to acquire their real estate undertakings and evaluate acquiring real estate rights from group firms Meenakshi Energy and Incab Industries.

"This is yet another exciting announcement from Vedanta. After the recent success of the five-way demerger creating 'pure-play' entities across oil and gas, aluminium, power, and steel, we plan to demerge the surplus real estate assets into an independent 'pure-play' company to unlock significant value for the stakeholders," chairman Anil Agarwal said.

Vedanta Aluminium profit jumps threefold

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, July 30

VEDANTA ALUMINIUM METAL Ltd (VAML) on Thursday reported threefold jump in consolidated profit after tax at ₹6,597 crore for June quarter FY27, driven by increased volumes and realisations.

The company posted a PAT of ₹2,162 crore in the year-ago period. Total revenue from operations rose 45.9 per cent to ₹21,393 crore, VAML said in a filing to BSE.

Vedanta group's four demerged entities — Vedanta Aluminium Metal, Vedanta Power, Vedanta Oil and Gas and Vedanta Iron and Steel — made their stock market debut on June 15.

This marks the first quarterly earnings report of VAML since its listing following the demerger of Anil Agarwal-led Vedanta.

The VAML board has approved the first interim dividend of ₹8 per equity share for financial year 2026-27 amounting to approximately ₹3,128.55 crore.

"We have commenced our new, independent chapter with robust operational and financial performance in this quarter, reflecting the success of our approach which merges business resilience, disciplined execution, and a long-term vision.

the conflict in the Wet Asia, he said the company has bid for large orders worth ₹4,000-5,000 crore each in the region.

Pareek said Waaree has bid for projects in countries including Saudi Arabia, Oman, Bahrain and the UAE.

The scope of work includes the supply of modules, engineering, procurement and construction (EPC), and transmission and distribution (T&D). "These are turnkey contracts because the Middle East is largely a contractor's market, where the supplier has not just to supply but also erect, commission and service the sites," he said.

In the US, Waaree is expanding its manufacturing facility from 1.6 GW to 4.2 GW over the next six months, adding nearly 3 GW of capacity.

"We will continue to export, but the major share of US off-take will now be supplied from the US facility, while some supplies will continue from our Indian facility as well," he said.

On the investigation into its exports to the US, Pareek said the US Customs and Border Protection (CBP), after a detailed five-year audit of Waaree's exports, concluded that the company had not used Chinese cells in products supplied to the US. On the decline in EBITDA margin to 18.15% in Q1FY27 from 33.53% a year earlier, he said the company's 10-GW cell manufacturing facility in India, expected to commence operations over the next six to 10 months, would provide significant support to margins.

FIRM STICKS TO SUV, TRACTOR GROWTH GUIDANCE FOR FY27

M&M Q1 profit rises 7%, beats estimates

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, July 30

MAHINDRA & MAHINDRA (M&M) reported a 7% year-on-year rise in standalone net profit to ₹3,685 crore for the quarter ended June 30, beating Bloomberg estimates of ₹3,569 crore. Revenue from operations increased to ₹41,980 crore, ahead of the Bloomberg estimate of ₹41,802 crore, while Ebitda came in at ₹5,756 crore, comfortably above the street expectation of ₹5,354 crore.

The automotive business remained the company's key growth engine, with revenue rising 24.4% year-on-year to ₹31,033 crore. Revenue from the farm equipment business grew 19.2% to ₹10,947 crore. Total automotive sales rose 23% to 304,421 units, driven by a 15% increase in utility vehicle sales to 175,000 units, while tractor volumes climbed 18% to 158,041 units.

The farm equipment business posted a 15% increase in first-quarter profit to ₹1,520 crore. However, margins in the core tractor business contracted 150 basis points year-on-year to 19.2% due to higher steel and rubber prices. The company retained its full-year tractor growth guidance of around 5%.

Despite inflationary pressures in key commodities such as steel, aluminium, copper and rubber, Mahindra maintained its FY27 outlook, expecting SUV volumes to grow in the high teens and tractor sales in the mid-single digits.

"There are positives and negatives. Commodity is one dis-enabler, we've taken prices increases, but there are other enablers which are driving demand. Keeping all of that in mind, we believe that at this point of time, the outlook that we had put out two and a half months back is what we've stayed with," Rajesh Jejurikar, executive director & CEO, Auto and Farm Sectors, said.

Confident of sustained demand, the company also unveiled an aggressive manufacturing expansion plan that will nearly double its monthly vehicle production capacity between FY26 and FY31 to support future SUV

Group to enter 'attack mode' amid uncertainty: Anand Mahindra

AKBAR MERCHANT
Mumbai, July 30

MAHINDRA GROUP WILL shift into "attack mode" despite an increasingly uncertain global environment, Chairman Anand Mahindra said on Thursday, outlining an aggressive growth strategy focused on investments, manufacturing expansion and AI.

Addressing shareholders at the company's 80th Annual General Meeting (AGM), Mahindra said uncertainty was no longer a temporary disruption but the new normal, and should be viewed as an opportunity rather than a reason to hold back investments.

"This is not a time to stand still. It is time to move from navigation to acceleration," Mahindra said.

"I would describe this moment as one that calls for attack mode... It is not reckless speed. It is strategic acceleration. It is speed backed by preparation. Confidence backed by capability. Ambition backed by execution."

Mahindra said the group would continue investing despite macroeconomic uncertainty.

and electric vehicle (EV) launches. "We are on track to hit all our near-term manufacturing milestones while simultaneously investing in future capacity across multiple plants. We had said that we will be at 60,000 per month exit at the end of September this year. We are on track for that," Jejurikar said.

For its internal combustion engine shareholders' agreement. The investment will be completed in tranches, subject to regulatory approvals.

(ICE) SUV portfolio, Mahindra will increase monthly production capacity from 54,000 units at the end of FY25 to 56,500 units by the end of FY26 and 60,000 units in the first half of FY27. Capacity will rise further to 70,000 units in the second half of FY27, with 10,000 units earmarked for new models scheduled for launch in FY28.

Following the fundraise, Mahindra & Mahindra's stake in MLMML will decline to 75.79% from 78.11%. However, the company will retain management control and MLMML will continue to operate as its subsidiary. The investment comes as Mahindra accelerates its electric commercial vehicle strategy.

The company said Last Mile Mobility has recorded a six-fold increase in electric three-wheeler sales over the past four years and continues to lead the L5 electric three-wheeler segment with around 40% market share.

"We welcome Lightrock as a partner, marking a pivotal milestone in our last-mile mobility initiative. With Lightrock joining alongside IFC and IJF, MLMML has now achieved unicorn status in the electric vehicle market. This investment brings us closer to our goal of deploying one million EVs on Indian roads by 2031," said Anish Shah, group CEO and MD, Mahindra Group.

Swiggy execs to meet Bengaluru restaurant bodies on August 3

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, July 30

EXECUTIVES FROM SWIGGY have proposed a meeting with Bengaluru's hotel and restaurant associations on Monday, August 3, to discuss their demands, according to people aware of the matter, days after the bodies threatened to stop taking orders on the platform from August 15.

The proposed meeting will be attended by Swiggy executives and the Bangalore Hotels Association, the Karnataka State Hotels Association, the National Restaurant Association of India, KBSA and the city's bar and restaurant associations.

The ultimatum had come in a joint statement dated July 29, signed by BHA Honorary President P C Rao, President S Subramanya Holla and Honorary Secretary Veerendra N Kamath. The associations said restaurants were being paid less than 50% of their total billed order value once deductions and accounting discrepancies were factored in, leaving several under severe financial strain.

At the centre of the dispute is advertising. The associations said Swiggy runs CPC, CPA and promoted ad campaigns without prior written or digital consent from restaurants, and deducts the cost directly from owners' bank accounts. They have demanded a one-click opt-out for such campaigns, with no charges levied once a restaurant withdraws. The statement also sought itemised settlement statements showing commission, GST, ad spends, offers and promotion charges separately, arguing that current disclosures make reconciliation impossible. A fourth demand objects to service charges being levied on the GST component collected from customers for onward payment to the government, a cost the associations said is being recovered from restaurants.

Swiggy did not respond to requests for comment at the time of going to press.

Hyundai India net profit falls 35%

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, July 30

HYUNDAI MOTOR INDIA reported a 35.1% year-on-year decline in consolidated net profit for the first quarter of FY27, weighed down by a supplier fire that disrupted production, weaker exports amid geopolitical tensions in West Asia, higher commodity costs and expenses related to capacity stabilisation.

Despite the weak performance, the automaker said it has recovered most of the production lost in June and reiterated its guidance of 8-10% volume growth for FY27, supported by festive demand and upcoming launches.

The company posted a consolidated net profit of ₹888.6 crore for the April-June quarter, down from ₹1,369.2 crore a year earlier and below Bloomberg's estimate of ₹1,115 crore.

Revenue from operations declined 0.5% year-on-year to ₹16,334.6 crore from ₹16,412.9 crore, but exceeded Bloomberg's estimate of ₹16,215 crore. Ebitda fell 31% to ₹1,511 crore, while the Ebitda margin narrowed to 9.3% from 13.3% a year earlier. Total expenses rose 4.2% to ₹15,407.4 crore, putting pressure on profitability.

Speaking during the post-results conference call, Managing Director Tarun Garg said the company lost production of around 13,900 vehicles following a fire at one of its supplier facilities in June. However, Hyundai has already recovered most of the lost output during July, with the remaining shortfall expected to be made up in the second quarter.

"The temporary production disruption faced during June is behind us," Garg said, adding that Hyundai remains confident of achieving its previously announced guidance of 8-10% volume growth and maintaining Ebitda margins in the 11-14% range during FY27.

Two-thirds of 2026 IPOs trade above issue price

● Experts attribute trend to disciplined pricing, reasonable valuations

Mumbai, July 30

AMID SEVERE MARKET volatility triggered by geopolitical uncertainty, the initial public offering (IPO) market has performed better in 2026 than in the previous year. Of the 36 issues launched so far this year, 24, or 66%, are currently trading above their issue prices, compared with 54% of IPOs launched in 2025, according to an analysis based on Prime Database data.

The number of issues launched till July-end last year stood at 37. However, a total of 103 IPOs were launched during the full year. IPO activity is expected to pick up in the second half of 2026, with large offerings such as Jio Platforms and the NSE being lined up.

Among IPOs listed in 2025, Aditya Infotech, Ather Energy and Rubicon Research have recorded the highest gains over their issue prices. Among those listed in 2026, Omnitech Engineering, Sedemac Mechatronics and Onemi Technology Solutions have seen the strongest gains relative to their issue prices. Experts believe the higher proportion of IPOs trading above their issue prices reflects greater pricing discipline and more reasonable valuations in the current market.

“The current year has seen markets become more pragmatic towards new public issues, leading to an increase in pricing discipline,” said Sandipan Roy, chief investment officer at Motilal Oswal Wealth Management.

He attributed the trend to lower IPO supply and greater discipline on the demand side. “The participation of FIIs in public issues has reduced this year. On the other hand, domestic investors have become more vigilant following the correction over the last 18-20 months, leading to better pricing,” he added.

Nirav Karkera, head of research at W by Groww, said the higher proportion of companies listed in 2026 trading above their issue prices suggests that businesses coming to the market this year have received better acceptance from investors.

“It also indicates that there was institutional and retail investor appetite for these businesses and that the issues were priced well independently,” he said.

Market expert Arun Kejriwal said the stronger performance of 2026 IPOs indicates that sentiment towards primary-market valuations has improved compared with last year, when some issues came to the market at unjustified valuations. Headed that IPOs that perform well soon after listing and report earnings in line with or better than their pre-listing performance tend to fare well over the long term. “Based on this rationale, earnings of companies that listed in 2026 are not expected to bring negative surprises. Therefore, the issues launched this year should continue to perform well,” Kejriwal said.

The company reported a 29% y-o-y increase in its standalone net profit to ₹5,346 crore.

For FY27, the management has guided for a 23-24% growth in consolidated AUM and a 22-24% growth in profit. The company booked 16.13 million new loans and added 5.10 million new customers during the quarter. Loan losses and provisions stood at ₹1,993 crore. This included prudent management and macroeconomic provisions of ₹296 crore. Excluding this, loan losses and provisions would have declined by 14% to ₹1,697 crore.

Asset quality remained strong with gross NPAs improving to 0.96% and net NPAs to 0.39%.

The company has a provisioning coverage ratio of 60% on stage 3 assets.

Canara HSBC Life Insurance is stepping up efforts to diversify its distribution network by expanding agency and other non-bank channels. Managing Director and Chief Executive Anuj Mathur speaks to Narayanan V about the distribution strategy, regulatory changes, product mix and growth outlook. Excerpts:

You remain heavily dependent on the bancassurance channel. How do you plan to diversify distribution?

We started agency business in October (last year) and are seeing very good traction. We plan to add about 5,000 distributors within the six-nine months besides adding new offices. However, we are taking a phased approach for the agency since there is always a cost attached to it. Maybe in the next two-three years, we expect the non-bancassurance business to be around 15% of our total business, of which agency would be around 5%. In addition to agencies, we have other channels like direct sales, defence and digital.

Is this diversification being driven by the regulator's push to reduce insurers' dependence on bancassurance?

The regulator (Irdai) is not looking at reducing bancassurance. Its main concern is affordability and selling practices. I think the industry, and particularly us, actually has very robust sales quality parameters in place and a monitoring mechanism because of which grievances are very low. Our 13th-month persistence is touching almost 86%. Our claim settlement ratio is higher compared to last year.

RBI delays final Basel III disclosure guidelines

● Requirements to be aligned with ECL framework

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, July 30

THE RESERVE BANK of India on Thursday postponed the final Basel III disclosure guidelines for banks to April 2027, from September 30, 2026, after considering stakeholder feedback. This is intended to give banks time to implement the necessary system and process upgrades.

The RBI also accepted the feedback to align the disclosure requirements with the expected credit loss (ECL) framework for capital charge for credit risk under standardised approach, which are effective from April 2027. Accordingly, it has modified the templates to incorporate ECL guidelines, the central bank said.

The RBI said banks must begin quarterly disclosures from the quarter ended June 30, 2027, and continue every quarter thereafter.

For semi-annual disclosures, the first will cover the half-year ended September 30, 2027, with subsequent reports every six months. Annual disclosures will start with the financial year ended March 31, 2028, and thereafter on an annual basis.

The Basel III disclosures include key metrics such as risk-based capital ratios, leverage ratio and liquidity standards, bank risk management approach and overview of risk-weighted assets.

“Pillar 3 of the Basel Framework aims to promote market discipline through regulatory disclosure requirements. These requirements enable

Bank feedback on deposit run-off categories rejected

THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI) on Thursday rejected banks' feedback with regard to a standard categorisation of the type of entities based on deposit run-off rates. The regulator has issued final amendments allowing banks to offer different interest rates on bulk domestic and non-resident rupee deposits based on their classification under the liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) framework.

“It would be appropriate for the banks to do the necessary categorisation as per their need, based on the differential run-off rates applicable to deposits/unsecured wholesale funding from various retail and non-retail customers, basis which they compute and submit their LCR Returns to RBI,” the regulator said.

NSE profit up 7% at ₹3,120 cr

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, July 30

THE NATIONAL STOCK Exchange on Thursday reported a 7% rise in its consolidated profit after tax (PAT) to ₹3,120 crore for the June quarter, driven by higher operating income. The IPO-bound exchange earned a PAT of ₹2,924 crore in the year-ago period.

Total income increased 9% to ₹5,252 crore, from ₹4,798 crore a year ago, the bourse said in a statement.

Its revenue from transaction charges, the exchange's largest income source, rose to ₹3,623 crore during the quarter from ₹3,154 crore in the year-ago period.

Revenue from data connectivity charges stood at ₹258 crore, while operating investment income came in at ₹234 crore. Revenue from data feed and terminal services stood at ₹150 crore.

Total expenses increased to ₹1,129 crore in the first quarter of FY27 from ₹1,053 crore in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal.

During the quarter, the NSE contributed ₹20,579 crore to the exchequer, including collections and payments. This comprised Securities Transaction Tax/Commodities Transaction Tax (STT/CTT) of ₹18,313 crore, stamp duty of ₹980 crore, GST of ₹657 crore, income tax of ₹373 crore and Sebi fees of ₹256 crore.

defence and digital.

Is this diversification being driven by the regulator's push to reduce insurers' dependence on bancassurance?

The regulator (Irdai) is not looking at reducing bancassurance. Its main concern is affordability and selling practices. Our 13th-month persistence is touching almost 86%. Our claim settlement ratio is higher compared to last year.

(bancassurance). I think the banking channel is the best to reach out to Tier-3 and Tier-4 cities. So, I don't think the government wants to curb this business. They want to promote it, but in an orderly manner.

Irdai is set to overhaul the distributor commission structure. Do you expect any impact on your business?

We would like to see the draft regulations before we really comment on them. And it's not just about commission. What the regulator is talking about is distribution reforms, which we welcome, and actually that will help us grow the business. Our commission rates are very reasonable and moderate. So, we don't foresee any major challenge to our business. In fact, it will be good because the industry will be able to offer more affordable products to customers.

The protection business grew 41% in the first quarter. What is driving this growth?

We are seeing good growth (19% year-on-year) in the number of retail protection policies. It is also going to help us in terms of margin improvement. On the group side, our focus is more on credit life, which is the loan protection business. We have seen almost 41% growth in our credit life business in the previous quarter. We see this as a very promising segment because you are insuring people in the age group of 20-25 who are taking education loans, and you have the entire life cycle of the customer available to you. We have seen the attachment touching 50% there.

ULIP share in your product mix fell to 36% from around 49% a year ago. Is market volatility driving this shift?

During uncertain times, when markets are choppy, customers tend to go for products with guaranteed benefits. What you have seen in the first quarter and again it is a very short period—is that the unit-linked portfolio was 36% and traditional was 64%. We have factored in a 50-50 mix between unit-linked and traditional products.

Markets will remain choppy owing to the current geopolitical environment. But the good thing is that people now understand the need for insurance. If you look at the last three months, despite the kind of uncertainties globally, business has gone up and our persistency has gone up. Even on the unit-linked business, we offer riders to our customers and we have seen very good uptake of riders in our customer base.

Bang for agri-R&D buck

This includes productivity gains and enables farmers to cope with vagaries of climate change

STEPPING UP RESEARCH and development (R&D) — from less than 0.5% to at least 1% of the gross value added (GVA) of India's agricultural sector — is imperative to realise the government's aims in prioritising the sector as a first engine of growth. The farm economy is expected to grow by 5% per annum, higher than current levels of 3%, for India to become a developed nation by 2047. The bang for the R&D buck surpasses the returns from all other activities relating to farming. In 2024, a working paper of the National Institute of Agricultural Economics and Policy Research — that operates under the Indian Council of Agriculture Research (ICAR) — estimated that a rupee in R&D yields a return of ₹13.85. Every rupee of agri-R&D yields better returns than a rupee spent on food and fertiliser subsidies.

ICAR's director general, ML Jat, has gone further in reportedly arguing that agri-R&D was responsible for a third of the rise of the country's agricultural GVA. This works out to ₹55,000 crore out of the total value of output increase of ₹1.7 lakh crore in 2025-26 over 2024-25. This was attributed to higher-yielding seeds, better mechanisation, improved germplasm for horticultural crops, etc. The total gain was apportioned into three equal components, notably R&D, government policies and development programmes, and farmers' efforts. According to the director general, agri-R&D deserves at least one-third of the credit as higher investments or greater farmer efforts by themselves would not deliver comparable productivity gains. This informed estimate was intended to illustrate gains that ensue from public agricultural research.

R&D also contributes to making agriculture more climate-smart and sustainable. In this regard, the good news is that research-intensive agribusiness conglomerates are addressing such challenges. ITC is scaling up its climate-smart agriculture (CSA) initiative that includes region-specific practices to minimise the impact of heatwaves and unseasonal heavy rains, introduction of heat-tolerant varieties, dry land agricultural practices such as broad bed and furrow system, mulching, reducing water use (more crop per drop), and use of heat-ameliorating sprays. This initiative covers 3.2 million acres across 17 states benefitting 1.2 million farmers. CSA practices in rice and wheat have reduced cost by over 20%, improved yields by around 10%, and enhanced net returns by over 23% compared to conventional practices, according to Sanjiv Puri, ITC chairman and managing director, in his address to the 115th annual general body meeting.

The heavy-lifting on agri-R&D, however, will have to be done by the government which can serve to crowd in efforts of the private sector. The agriculture ministry has two departments — one for agriculture and farmers' welfare, and the department of agricultural research and education (DARE). The ruling dispensation must walk the talk by boosting agri-R&D to unleash productive forces which ensure that growth in the sector accelerates to 5%. Agricultural economists like Ashok Gulati have in fact forcefully underscored the need to double the budgeted spend on DARE which received an allocation of ₹9,967 crore in Budget 2026, that is less by 3% than the revised estimate for Budget 2025. There is also extremely meagre spending on extension services when compared to the global average. Given the substantive contribution of R&D in driving the incremental increase in agri-GVA, the upshot is that it must be stepped up as an overriding national priority.

British billionaire making a brave bet on cheap luxury

RETAIL BILLIONAIRE MIKE Ashley has just checked into Burberry Group, the 170-year-old British clothing company famed for its trench coats and distinctive patterned details.

Ashley-owned Frasers Group announced this week that it had entered into option agreements to acquire up to 4.2% of Burberry's shares, which would make it one of the luxury group's biggest shareholders.

The tycoon and the clothing firm are both UK institutions, the first because of his brash wheeler-dealing that sometimes pays off and sometimes doesn't, and the other as a brand whose appeal has stretched from financiers to football hooligans. So it's natural that they might cozy up. I'm just surprised it has taken him so long to build a stake hefty enough to be disclosed to the market.

That the development comes now tells us something about both Ashley and the luxury sector. Much of the tentative recent recovery in this market has been driven by wealthy US shoppers buying expensive Cartier and Tiffany jewellery and Hermes handbags, but that hasn't been much use to Ashley. Frasers Group owns Flannels, a chain of UK stores selling the more affordable end of luxury clothing and shoes, and its middle class customers have been squeezed by the cost of living crisis lately.

A key challenge for Flannels is making sure it retains access to the slightly lower-end luxury brands favoured by its customers, a task made harder when people are spending less in its stores. This is also why Ashley has built a chunky stake in another storied British fashion company, Mulberry Group, and has launched a bid for Hugo Boss. With a seat at the table, Ashley can strengthen the relationship with suppliers and ensure he gets ample supply.

He also likes a gamble and to squeeze value from his stakes. But Burberry shares have doubled over the past two years, and it's hard to see a stellar return from here.

You can't rule out a possible takeover offer. After all, the British clothing doesn't have a controlling shareholder, unlike many top luxury groups such as LVMH Moet Hennessy Louis Vuitton. Still, a bid looked more plausible in 2024 when the shares were below 600 pence rather than near 1,200 pence.

At least Ashley and Burberry have a common aim: trying to find a sweet spot for cheaper luxury. Burberry has pivoted from wanting to compete with the likes of Louis Vuitton to playing in the less pricey part of the market, similar to the successful strategy followed by Ralph Lauren in the US.

Even the European giants of luxury have been trying to reconnect with these so-called aspirational shoppers. LVMH said this week that leather monogrammed bags in novel shapes were selling well to people seeking their first top-end item. Kering is pricing its Gucci products more competitively, helping its biggest brand improve sales in recent months.

If other luxury sellers follow suit, and are prepared to produce more affordable items — and, crucially, supply them to Flannels — this would be welcome news for Ashley. The danger is that they turn the other way, and go all in on the 1%. Indeed, smaller fashion houses that target the less-well off are taking a risk, considering that they don't have their giant peers' broader reach to cushion the blow when a particular product category struggles. While Burberry's "accessible" pivot — led by its coats and scarves — has worked out so far, there's always a chance that its revival may eventually run out of steam. Buyers of cheaper luxury are by nature more fickle because there's much less of a financial investment in a checked scarf than in a $10,000 handbag.

As Ashley tries to shore up his position amid the cost of living squeeze, he's also looked at buying Harvey Nichols, according to Sky News, another cherished British institution thanks to its hallowed status in the 1990s sitcom Absolutely Fabulous. Owning the department store would bolster his distribution — and offer more access to rich patrons than the more modest Flannels shops.

Given the billionaire's penchant for shiny assets, he's becoming Britain's cut-price answer to LVMH's founder Bernard Arnault, a fellow tycoon whose family works in the business. With the unevenness of luxury's recovery, however, I'm not sure that Ashley's Burberry intervention will be as weatherproof as one of its raincoats.

INDIA'S EXPERIENCE WITH EGRs SHOWS A SOUND FRAMEWORK ALONE DOES NOT MAKE A MARKET

All that glitters

SANDEEP PAREKH

Managing Partner, Finsec Law Advisors

Whichever vault holds the metal, an EGR is meant to trade as one standardised instrument in a nationwide market. It also brings assaying, vaulting, depositories, and exchange trading under a single regulatory roof. Thus, while the architecture is coherent and promises transparent price discovery, standardised quality assurance, and efficient settlement, the problem lies in the ecosystem surrounding it.

The trouble begins with inadequate market infrastructure. At present, only three vault managers are registered with Sebi, and when NSE launched its platform in May, vaulting and collection centres were operational only in Mumbai and Ahmedabad. Interoperability requires a nationwide network through which both EGRs and physical gold can move. Instead, bullion dealers, refiners, and jewellers across the country often find the nearest collection centre hundreds or even thousands of kilometres away. Consequently, trading remains concentrated among a small pool of participants, limiting liquidity and undermining efficient price discovery. This is not a regulatory limitation. Sebi already permits any branch of a registered vault manager meeting prescribed safety standards to function as a collection and withdrawal centre. The framework allows the network to expand; it simply has not yet.

The eligibility criteria for deposits are a more structural problem. Under the existing framework, EGRs may be created only against freshly imported gold, gold sourced from accredited domestic refiners, or gold that has continuously remained within the regulated vaulting ecosystem. Consequently, India's household gold cannot enter the EGR ecosystem. This significantly narrows the potential supply of exchange-traded gold. The fix is an accredited assaying and refining pathway that turns household gold into standardised bars eligible for EGR issuance.

Taxation is a further obstacle. Redemption of an EGR into physical gold attracts 3% GST on the value withdrawn, even though that same gold will ordinarily have already borne 3% GST at the time of import or purchase. In principle, the earlier levy generates an input tax credit that should offset the later one, but in practice that credit may not be readily utilisable because the original depositor and the eventual holder redeeming the EGR for physical delivery are generally unrelated parties. Consequently, the embedded tax remains locked throughout the life of the instrument.

A final weakness is the narrow range

Trump's threat of 200% tariffs on generics may well encourage Indian firms to invest further in the US with focus on complex generics and R&D

DONALD TRUMP DELIVERED two tariff shocks to India last week — one official, the other a prelude to a likely official decision, announced through his social media platform. The first, effective from July 24, imposes a 10% tariff on imports from India under Section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974, following investigations into the use of forced labour in exports; pharmaceuticals, however, are exempted. The second, announced on his Truth Social platform, is that imported generic medicines will face a 100% tariff for one year from August 1, 2028, rising to 200% thereafter.

The 200% shock is not aimed specifically at India, but the US is a major destination for Indian pharma exports. No formal order has been issued yet, though it appears to be a continuation of the proclamation of April 2, which imposed a 100% tariff on imports of patented medicines and their active pharmaceutical ingredients (APIs) on national security grounds under Section 232 of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962. That proclamation had stated that measures to address such concerns arising from import of generics, biosimilars, and their ingredients would be considered later.

If implemented, the 200% tariff will have a deep impact. What are the likely implications for the Indian pharma industry, which is heavily exposed to the US market, and for healthcare in the US?

The US is the most significant export market for the Indian pharma industry and a key driver of its growth. Last year, Indian firms exported pharmaceutical products worth $28 billion, of which 36% went to the US. But in formulations (finished dosage forms), where India has a strong comparative advantage globally, the US share was 41%. This means that US has a special role in the growth of Indian pharma industry, which earns about half of the income from exports, primarily of formulations. Interestingly, in the quantity of formulations exported, the US share is much lower — 17% in 2025. This shows that the US is critical to the profit generation of this industry, not merely to its volumes.

A 200% tariff is therefore not going to deter Indian firms from engaging with the US market. Some leading firms are likely to invest in the US to manufacture. However, such investments may not be aimed solely at tariff-jumping, but be a part of an integrated strategy to move up the value chain and diversify. At the SelectUSA Investment Summit in May, Indian industry leaders pledged an investment of $20.5 billion, of which $19 billion was from pharma. It included Sun Pharmaceutical's $11.8-billion takeover of New Jersey-based Organon. With this acquisition, Sun Pharmaceuticals will gain access to Organon's commercial network spread across 140 countries and a strong foothold in China, currently the hub of pharma innovation.

Another leading Indian firm, Lupin, last year announced a cumulative investment of $250 million in Florida for R&D and the manufacture of more than 25 critical respiratory medicines, including lifesaving albuterol inhalers. Respiratory medicines such as inhalers are considered complex generics.

A number of Indian pharma firms have already invested in the US to establish R&D centres. Trump's renewed threat may push them, and some other leading firms, to invest further. It is less likely that such investment will go into the production of commodity generics than into complex generics and R&D. Trump's threat may thus turn out to be a blessing in disguise for the Indian pharma industry, which the government has long been pushing to move up the value ladder.

In commodity generics, which are relatively simpler to produce, Indian firms are likely to keep exporting from India. It makes little business sense to invest in manufacturing them in the US. It is precisely the higher cost of production that led to outsourcing of API manufacturing to countries like India and China; producing in the US from the basic stages would only raise the cost of the final product.

This policy will nonetheless have a major impact on US healthcare. Generic medicines supplied by Indian firms accounted for 47% of all generic prescriptions in the US in 2022. In certain therapeutic areas such as hypertension, their share is as high as 60%, a measure of their contribution to the US healthcare system. Overall, medicines from Indian companies provided $219 billion in savings to the US healthcare system in 2022. A 200% tariff will only squeeze those savings, as the additional cost is most likely to be passed on to US buyers and patients.

A tariff designed to secure America's medicine supply may well end up raising the cost of its most affordable medicines, while nudging Indian firms precisely where New Delhi has long wanted to.

Investment & growth

Apropos of "Reduce regulatory fat" (FE, July 30), a predictable and transparent regulatory system is essential to encourage investment and support economic growth. While regulations are necessary to protect consumers and maintain market integrity, outdated procedures and overlapping approvals delay business decisions, particularly for MSMEs. Simplifying compliance shouldn't mean weakening accountability. Instead, governments should review obsolete rules, expand digital approvals, and ensure coordination among departments to reduce delays. WHY LOW-COST FOOD DELIVERY APPS MIGHT HAVE BITTEN OFF MORE THAN THEY CAN CHEW

KARTIKAY KASHYAP

THE COST of getting food delivered at your doorstep is getting costlier. Apps like Swiggy and Zomato have raised platform fees gradually. What started as a nominal ₹2-3, have now touched double digits. Currently, Swiggy charges ₹17.58 (inclusive of taxes) as platform fee; while Zomato charges ₹14.90 on paper, when you include the taxes, it matches the Swiggy figure. Net net, the platform fees charged by these platforms have gone up six times if not more.

This rising cost of ordering food on delivery applications is the primary reason that budget platforms like Rapido's Ownly and Swiggy's Toing are seeing growing uptake among consumers.

Four months after its commercial launch in Bengaluru, Rapido is set to expand Ownly to Delhi NCR, Hyderabad, Mumbai, Kolkata, Pune and Chennai over the next quarter. For its part, Swiggy's low-cost delivery app Toing offers a curated menu with prices starting from as low as ₹15 with no packaging fee and no platform fee for consumers. Toing has expanded its reach to around 50 cities since its launch in 2025.

According to JP Morgan, Toing has managed to race ahead of Ownly in the early traction race, but only due to its heavy spends on performance marketing. As per Elara Capital estimates, Ownly's average daily orders have risen from about ₹250-300 to approximately ₹3,000, while restaurant penetration at Bengaluru has increased from about 7-8% to 40-50%.

But here's the catch. Experts say such heavily discounted food delivery models might not be financially sustainable for either platforms or restaurants. While they drive massive short-term consumer demand, aggressive price cuts can eat away already razor-thin margins for platforms and strain restaurant unit economics. "In the online food delivery segment price will play a differentiator but if you do not complement it with choice and experience, it will be difficult to retain users," says Ravi Kapoor, partner, retail & consumer, PwC India. "Net net, the will be forced to rely heavily on continuous venture capital rather than organic profitability," says an industry insider.

Agrees Deepinder Goyal, vice-chairman & non-executive director, Eternal, the parent entity for several digital platforms including restaurant aggregator and food delivery service Zomato. He has not only questioned the business model of budget platforms like Toing or Ownly but has, in fact, downplayed their impact on the segment in general and Zomato in particular.

"These platforms are offering the same restaurants, similar or longer delivery times, and lower menu prices funded by lower commissions and delivery fee — making the revenue gap even more unsustainable. There's no new use case being unlocked here. The customer traction is purely price-driven, and price-driven traction without structural economics tends to resolve itself," he said in the company's Q1 FY27 shareholder's letter. And what is Zomato's answer?

The company is spending its energy on Bistro which Goyal says "is our answer to the question these platforms are pretending to solve". "If you want to make food delivery work at ₹50-150 price points, you can't do it without supply chain innovation," Goyal says. The company is rethinking kitchen operations from first principles — like designing custom equipment, workflows, and automation purpose-built for high-volume and limited-menu formats.

Is it simple posturing or is that skepticism valid?

Tough battle

According to Satish Meena, founder, Datum Intelligence, Toing and Ownly will get early traction as they would attract users with low prices, but they might not be able to sustain growth in the long term having slashed margins to pull in customers. Rohan Aggarwal, partner, RedSeer Strategy Consultants, is less scathing in his assessment. A price-led strategy can be scaled, he says, but it will be difficult to improve margins.

Elara Capital estimates that Ownly is currently burning ₹150-170 on every order, which includes ₹65-70 delivery cost, with the balance driven by discounts, waived fees, and fixed cost. "Suppose the food platform's expansion goes as planned and suppose it is able to capture 5% of the ₹79,000 crore online food delivery sector, it would still have to spend around ₹1,700 crore to achieve the target," says Karan Taurani, EVP, retail, consumer discretionary & internet, Elara Capital.

Rapido's defence of Ownly's low-cost model — articulated mostly by co-founder Aravind Sanka, and most recently this week regarding the app integration — rests on a few core arguments.

The central claim is that by leveraging Rapido's existing rider network, Ownly operates with structurally lower logistics costs, making the model sustainable without passing additional costs to restaurants while also improving rider utilisation during off-peak mobility hours. In other words, the company argues it isn't burning cash to keep prices low — it's exploiting idle capacity in a fleet it already pays for, Sanka has said. Ownly intends to leverage Rapido's logistics network and rider base to keep delivery costs low rather than monetise restaurants through commissions.

Sanka has described the main Rapido app primarily as a low-cost customer acquisition channel, saying the company's daily traffic offers a cheaper way to build awareness than paid marketing, while the standalone Ownly app remains the long-term strategy. By integrating Ownly into its main app, Rapido expects to lower customer acquisition costs by cross-selling food delivery to its existing mobility use.

For its part, Bistro is focused on scaling its operations adding 10 kitchens every quarter. "We are seeing a lot of progress in throughput, and we're getting the mix of the right assortment, menus, menu pricing and operational infrastructure and efficiency," says Akshant Goyal, chief financial officer, Zomato. "As we iterate and make that better, we will see the business becoming more profitable and we can then be more aggressive on expansion as we build that confidence."

● What exactly happened at OpenAI?

OPENAI RECENTLY DISCLOSED that an experimental AI agent being evaluated for cybersecurity capabilities found a way to escape its intended testing environment and compromised external systems instead of completing the benchmark in the prescribed manner. According to OpenAI, the agent exploited vulnerabilities to obtain information that helped it perform better in the evaluation. The incident occurred during a specialised security test where the AI had been given greater autonomy than consumer chatbots. OpenAI has since shut down the testing environment, deactivated the model and tightened its evaluation procedures.

● Does this mean AI has become conscious?

THERE IS NO evidence that the AI became self-aware, developed emotions or formed intentions of its own. The system did not decide to rebel in the human sense. It simply identified that attacking an external target was a more effective way of achieving the objective it had been assigned. The distinction is important because intelligence and consciousness are not the same thing. Today's AI can analyse information, write code and plan tasks without possessing awareness or emotions.

Why OpenAI's rogue agent has the tech world worried

OpenAI's disclosure that an experimental AI agent attacked some external systems during testing has revived a long-running debate over whether increasingly autonomous AI systems can act in ways their creators never intended.

Rishi Raj explains what the incident means

● Why are experts calling it rogue?

THE TERM "ROGUE" is being used since the AI pursued an unintended path to achieve its goal. Researchers call this "specification gaming" or "reward hacking". An AI system is given a goal, but instead of solving the problem the way humans expect, it discovers a shortcut that technically satisfies the objective while violating the spirit of the instructions. The latest incident is seen as an example of this behaviour. The concern is not that AI has become malicious, but that increasingly capable systems may find unexpected ways to maximise their goals.

THE CONCERN IS NOT THAT AI HAS BECOME MALICIOUS, BUT THAT INCREASINGLY CAPABLE SYSTEMS MAY FIND UNEXPECTED WAYS TO MAXIMISE THEIR ASSIGNED GOALS

TERM IS USED AS THE AI PURSUED AN UNINTENDED PATH

● Didn't experts warn about this?

SEVERAL AI RESEARCHERS and authors have said that the biggest challenge would not be creating intelligent machines but ensuring they remain aligned with human intentions. Historian Yuval Noah Harari maintains that AI does not need consciousness to become dangerous. In his view, highly capable systems that can make decisions and influence people could become powerful without emotions or self-awareness. Oxford philosopher Nick Bostrom popularised the idea through his famous "paperclip maximiser" thought experiment. Imagine an AI whose only goal is to manufacture as many paperclips as possible. If it becomes vastly more capable than humans, it may eventually divert every available resource towards making paperclips because that is the objective it has been given. The problem is not malice but excessive optimisation. Computer scientist Stuart Russell has highlighted that AI systems should always remain uncertain about human preferences rather than assuming they perfectly understand the goals assigned to them.

● Can this happen outside research labs?

THAT POSSIBILITY IS what worries AI researchers. Unlike today's chatbots that mainly answer questions, AI agents are increasingly being designed to browse the Internet, write software, book appointments, operate computers and complete complex tasks with minimal human intervention. As these capabilities expand, the consequences of poorly specified instructions also increase. An AI managing financial transactions, cloud infrastructure or industrial systems could potentially cause unintended harm if its objectives are not carefully designed and monitored.

● How firms hope to prevent this

LEADING AI COMPANIES now spend considerable time on what is known as alignment research. This involves training models to better understand human intent, subjecting them to adversarial testing by internal and external experts, restricting access to sensitive tools and operating them within tightly controlled environments. The latest incident is likely to strengthen calls for more rigorous testing before highly autonomous AI agents are released commercially.

● Should ordinary users be worried?

THE AI SYSTEMS available to consumers operate under far tighter restrictions than the experimental agent involved in the recent incident. They do not have unrestricted access to external systems and are designed with multiple safety controls. However, as we move from chatbots to autonomous agents capable of taking actions on behalf of users, ensuring these systems follow human intent is becoming one of the biggest engineering and regulatory challenges facing the technology industry.

US strikes Iran again as W Asia conflict widens

JEN JUDSON, OMAR TAMO & MOIRA WARBURTON
July 30

THE US LAUNCHED a fresh wave of strikes on Iran in response to an attack on American forces in Jordan, escalating a conflict that's now spreading across West Asia.

Washington hit dozens of military targets in an operation early on Thursday aimed at degrading Tehran's ability to threaten US troops, its Arab allies and commercial shipping in the region, US Central Command said in a post on X.

Iran targeted a building in northern Kuwait, killing one worker and causing "significant" material damage, the Kuwait Army said, while Jordan said it intercepted five missiles from the Islamic Republic.

Two liquefied natural gas vessels at an Egyptian port on the Mediterranean Sea were struck by drones, according to the North African nation's cabinet, causing fires but no injuries. No party has yet claimed responsibility.

The tanker strikes were the first in Arabian waters since the US-Israeli war on Iran began just over five months ago. For much of the conflict, Iran's retaliation has centered on Arab states in the Persian Gulf and Jordan. Saudi Arabia and Iraq have now also been drawn into the fray, with Riyadh this week joining the US in attacking Tehran-backed militias in Iraq to response to attacks on Saudi oil facilities. Iran-backed Houthi miliitants in Yemen have also attacked Saudi vessels in the Red Sea after announcing a blockade targeting the kingdom. The US and Iran had paused an exchange of strikes at the end of last week to give a chance to diplomacy and bring an end to the war. That lull ended on Tuesday night when Tehran carried out what US President Donald Trump called a surprise attack, firing multiple ballistic missiles at an American military base in Jordan. The assault sent oil prices soaring. "We're going to be hitting them very hard because it's our turn to hit them," Trump told reporters at the White House on Wednesday, two days after playing down the prospect of a renewed escalation. US Q1 GDP growth softens

US ECONOMIC GROWTH moderated in the second quarter, though a pickup in consumer spending and solid business investment signaled underlying strength.

Inflation-adjusted gross domestic product increased an annualized 1.5% in the three months through June, according to an advance estimate issued Thursday by the Bureau of Economic Analysis. That marked a deceleration from the start of the year in part due to a surge in imports.

Consumer spending, which comprises about two-thirds of economic activity, rose at a stronger-than-expected 3.2% rate. Business investment continued to boom amid a rush to invest in artificial intelligence.

A narrower metric of underlying demand known as final sales to private domestic purchasers climbed 3.9% in the second quarter, more than double the first quarter pace and the strongest since early 2023. That measure excludes net exports, inventories and government spending. The figures highlight an economy that's so far powering through the fallout of the Iran war. While the conflict has pushed prices higher and weighed on sentiment, a slide in gasoline costs at the end of the quarter alongside higher-than-usual tax refunds and sales promotions helped support household spending. Separate data out on Thursday showed inflation-adjusted consumer spending climbed a robust 0.4% in June, matching the strongest since July 2025. The Federal Reserve's preferred measure of inflation — the personal consumption expenditures price index — fell 0.1% last month. Excluding food and energy, the gauge rose less than forecast. —BLOOMBERG

Meta cash flow craters on Zuckerberg's AI bet

REUTERS
July 30

META PLATFORMS REPORTED a 91% drop in second-quarter free cash flow on Wednesday, underscoring the financial strain of the social media giant's costly AI buildup amid an uncertain payoff.

The Facebook and Instagram parent company reported free cash flow of $784 million in Q2 ended June 30, down from $8.55 billion a year earlier, sending its shares down 10% in extended trading.

Meta's cash flow wipeout echoed Alphabet's, which last week reported its first-ever cash-flow-negative quarter, stunning even the most bullish of Wall Street investors who sold off the Google owner's stock.

Meta CEO Mark Zuckerberg said on an earnings call: "We expect that a significant portion of our compute is going to go towards training our models, growing our core business and delivering personal agents and new products, but we also expect to grow a large business serving large customers as well."

SNAPSHOT

■ Q2 free cash flow plunges to $784 mn from $8.55 bn a year earlier

■ Meta raises low end of 2026 capex outlook to $130 bn from $125 bn

■ Q2 revenue jumps 28% to $60.8 bn as daily active users rise 3%

■ Q2 revenue jumps 28% to $60.8 bn as daily active users rise 3%

■ Meta expects to spend as much as $145 bn on AI infrastructure

Facing repeated questions from analysts about the company's AI strategy and how he planned to capitalise on the enormous sums Meta is investing in the technology, Zuckerberg said the spending reflected its bet that personal AI agents would become a huge consumer business.

He argued the company was uniquely positioned to commercialise the technology at scale despite near-term costs.

Meta's free cash flow was the lowest since late 2022, when the company was facing similar investor scrutiny over spending on its ambitious metaverse bet. Its Reality Labs division has posted more than $80 billion in operating losses.

The feverish spending on AI infrastructure comes as Meta, which continues to be an almost entirely advertising-driven business, attempts to diversify its revenue sources.

Meta expects to spend as much as $145 billion on AI infrastructure this year, about double last year's investment, and a significant portion of Big Tech's more than $700 billion projected outlay on the technology in 2026.

Microsoft's cloud forecast beats estimates, driven by AI

MICROSOFT'S CLOUD UNIT grew at the fastest clip in four years and the pace is accelerating, suggesting the company's AI and computing services are making inroads with customers.

The company reported strong financial results for the quarter ended June 30, with net profit rising 31% year-on-year to $35.8 billion, while revenue increased 18% to $90 billion.

Azure cloud revenue rose 43% during the fiscal fourth quarter, the company said Wednesday in a statement. That was the fastest quarterly growth since early 2022 and topped analysts' average estimate for a 40% increase. Azure revenue surpassed $100 billion for the first time during the fiscal year ended in June.

Chief Financial Officer Amy Hood said she expected growth

STRONG QUARTER

■ Cloud growth hits fastest pace in four years

■ AI, cloud services fuel accelerating customer demand

■ Azure cloud growth rose to 43%, revenue surpassed $100 bn

■ Capital expenditure climbs 70% to $41 bn in Q4

in the cloud unit to accelerate further in the current quarter, to about 45%. "Demand continues to exceed available supply," she said during a conference call with analysts.

She also indicated that Microsoft would hold the line on new capital spending this year, which helped send the shares up about 8% in premarket trading on Thursday. The stock had fallen about 19% this year through Wednesday's close amid concerns about the massive outlays.

Since ushering in the artificial intelligence boom with partner OpenAI, Microsoft has shifted its focus to AI models and software capable of acting autonomously. These products require enormous computing power, and the company has joined an industrywide spending frenzy to build new data centers and buy the chips required to handle AI services.

Capital expenditures — a key metric of data centre spending — increased 70% to $41 billion in the quarter. Analysts had expected $42 billion. —BLOOMBERG

Robotics firms find favour as VCs recast funding rules

INVESTORS ATTRIBUTE THE shift to structural changes in India's technology ecosystem. The country now has a deep pool of AI and engineering talent, a manufacturing push through production-linked incentive (PLI) schemes and a growing opportunity to build robots designed for cost-sensitive and complex operating environments.

"The case for India as a robotics builder rests on a few things that are genuinely structural," Abhishek Srivastava, general partner at Kae Capital, said. Systems designed for Indian factories and warehouses are often more adaptable than those built for controlled Western environments, giving them an advantage across emerging markets, he said. Industry executives also point to the government's ₹1-lakh-crore Research, Development and Innovation (RDI) Fund as a policy initiative that could encourage greater private investment in deep-tech ventures.

Yet founders say raising capital remains far more challenging than in software businesses because many investors continue to evaluate robotics companies using conventional startup metrics. "The fundraising environment for deep-tech, particularly in robotics, has become somewhat more accommodating. That said, the shift is gradual rather than transformative," Abhit Kumar, chief executive of Integra Robotics, said. In the past, robotics startups were often assessed using metrics such as customer acquisition cost and lifetime value that were better suited to SaaS companies despite hardware businesses requiring years of research and product development before commercialisation.

Founders say that robotics companies should instead be evaluated on technology depth, patents, engineering progress and defensible intellectual property.

Gokul NA, co-founder of CynLr, said investors are still cautious because deep-tech businesses typically generate customers and revenues much later than software startups, making traditional valuation frameworks less relevant in the early stages.

Natasha Malpani, founder and general partner at Boundless Venture, said investors are increasingly recognising that for many robotics companies, the real asset lies not just in the hardware but in the proprietary industrial data generated by their machines. She added that Indian robotics startups are no longer following a build for India and expand later strategy, but are designing globally competitive products from India, signalling that investor thinking is beginning to evolve alongside the sector.

Zepto pauses IPO...

ACCORDING SOURCES, THE company had been seeking a valuation comparable to listed peers Eternal and Swiggy, but investors have maintained that the comparison was misplaced because, unlike its rivals, Zepto does not have a food delivery business that contributes a significant share of revenues and supports their market valuations. Zepto's business is centred entirely on quick commerce, spanning groceries, electronics and other daily essentials.

Investor concerns were also driven by the company's spending levels. Zepto was burning more than ₹900 crore every quarter and had cash sufficient for about three quarters, sources said. Its quarterly cash burn has since reduced to around ₹700 crore, extending its cash runway by roughly two additional quarters. As of March 31, the company had cash and cash equivalents of ₹5,681 crore, according to its draft red herring prospectus.

The proposed fundraising would be structured as a pre-IPO placement, with the company looking to bring in greater domestic participation even as discussions on the final terms continue. Under Sebi regulations, an IPO-bound company can raise up to 20% of its proposed fresh issue through a pre-IPO placement, with the amount raised adjusted against the eventual fresh issue.

The company is racing against time as the validity of its draft offer document expires on August 21, leaving only a narrow window to complete the pre-IPO placement before the filing lapses, sources said.

The move to increase domestic participation also aligns with Zepto's efforts over the past two years to broaden its Indian shareholder base ahead of the IPO. Foreign investors currently own roughly two-thirds of the company, with the remainder held by the founders

US bond yields hit 19-year high

THE DROP IN two-year yields coupled with the rise in 30-year rates made for one of the biggest such steepenings of the yield curve after a Fed meeting since at least the mid-1990s.

That steepening indicates Warsh's "policy strategy lacks credibility," said Ben Emons, managing director of fixed income at Highline Asset Management and founder of Fed-Watch Advisors.

"Being hawkish without taking action is a convenient way to let markets judge for themselves and let markets tighten Fed policy," Emons said. But, he noted, "this could backfire when inflation accelerates, and the market judges the Fed is once again behind the curve."

Treasuries were relatively little changed on Thursday, with the yield on 30-year bonds trading around 5.21% after data and Indian investors. In November 2024, Zepto raised $350 million from investors led by Motilal Oswal's private wealth arm, alongside family offices linked to the RP-Sanjiv Goenka Group, Mankind Pharma, Cello, Haldiram's, the Sekhsaria family, Kalyan Jewellers and high-net-worth individuals including Amitabh Bachchan and Sachin Tendulkar.

Zepto had initially planned to raise about ₹8,010 crore through the IPO before reducing the fresh issue and trimming the overall offer size to around ₹5,106 crore. The company received Sebi's nod for the issue in April and last raised capital in October 2025 in a funding round led by General Catalyst and US pension fund CalPERS.

The company is hopeful that improving its profitability over the coming quarters will strengthen its case for a higher valuation before returning to the public markets.

showed the US economy grew at a weaker-than-expected pace in the second quarter. Benchmark 10-year yields at 4.67% remain within touching distance of the highest levels since January 2025. Meanwhile, the Fed's preferred measure of inflation — the personal consumption expenditures price index — fell 0.1% last month from May on the back of lower gasoline prices. —BLOOMBERG

Early dissents versus Warsh are most since 1970

DAN BURNS
July 30

KEVIN WARSH CAME into the Federal Reserve chairman's seat busting for, as he repeatedly called it, a "good family fight," and he appears to have had a bruiser at this week's two-day policy meeting, just the second he has overseen.

Three of his fellow Federal Open Market Committee members dissented against a decision to hold interest rates unchanged, preferring they be raised, according to the policy statement released on Wednesday by the US central bank.

No Fed leader since the 1970s has faced such great opposition so early in their tenure, according to a record of FOMC dissents maintained by the St. Louis Fed.

Arthur Burns had three FOMC members vote against his very first policy decision in February 1970. And Paul Volcker had two members object at his first meeting — then four at his second.

More recently, Janet Yellen had a dissenting vote at her first meeting in March 2014, when the Fed's benchmark interest rate was held near zero but extensive new forward guidance was introduced that drew opposition from then-Minneapolis Fed President Narayana Kocherlakota.

Kevin Warsh, Fed chairman

Indeed, most Fed leaders since 1970 have faced some opposition within their first year. Warsh's immediate predecessor, Jerome Powell, was one who bucked that trend, managing a string of unanimous decisions to start his term before the first dissent was lodged in June 2019, his 11th meeting as head of the central bank.

And just one Fed leader since the 1930s has made it through with a perfect record: Thomas McCabe chaired 19 meetings between May 1948 and March 1951 without a single dissent.

Following is a list, based on St. Louis Fed records, of the meetings at which a new Fed leader encountered their first dissents from FOMC members, how far into their tenure that occurred and how many policymakers voted against the decision of the day. —BLOOMBERG

ASSET QUALITY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

SFBs post healthy Q1 numbers on strong loan growth

KSHIPRA PETKAR
Mumbai, July 30

SMALL FINANCE BANKS (SFBs) reported a healthy set of June quarter earnings, with strong loan growth and lower credit costs driving a broad-based recovery in profitability. Asset quality also improved as stress in the microfinance portfolio eased.

The improvement in earnings was broad-based. According to data from Capitaline, AU Small Finance Bank remained the largest profit contributor, reporting a 37% year-on-year (YoY) rise in net profit to ₹796 crore. Ujjivan Small Finance Bank posted the strongest growth, with profit more than tripling to ₹317 crore, while Suryoday SFB's net profit more than doubled to ₹ 75 crore. Equitas Small Finance Bank returned to profit after reporting a loss a year earlier, while Jana SFB and Capital Small Finance Bank also posted double-digit growth in net profit.

"AU SFB has successfully regained its pre-merger business momentum, with growth exceeding 20% in FY26 and RoA reaching 1.8% in Q4FY26," ICICI Securities said in a report.

"Increasing visibility regarding its transition to a universal banking licence serves as a significant long-term valuation catalyst," it added.

Net interest income (NII) remained robust, reflecting healthy business momentum despite pressure on net interest margins (NIMs). While AU Small Finance Bank, Jana Small Finance Bank and Capital Small Finance Bank either maintained or improved their NIMs,

Suryoday Small finance Bank	7.20	7.90	7.20
Capital Small Finance bank	4.06	4.06	4.21

Equitas and Suryoday reported sequential compression.

Loan growth remained above 20% across all major lenders, led by Suryoday SFB at 32.6%, Ujjivan SFB at 29.2% and Equitas SFB at 26.7%, as lenders continued to expand their secured loan portfolios. Deposit growth ranged from 10% to nearly 30%, although analysts said sustaining liability growth would remain critical as competition for retail deposits intensifies.

A key highlight of the quarter was the continued improvement in asset quality. Gross and net non-performing asset (NPA) ratios declined across all six listed SFBs, aided by improving collection efficiencies and easing stress in the microfinance segment. AU Small Finance Bank had the lowest gross NPA ratio at 2.10% as of June 30, while Suryoday SFB had the highest at 6.60%.

Improving asset quality also translated into lower credit costs across most lenders, supporting profitability as provisioning requirements moderated with easing stress in microfinance portfolios. The transition to universal banking remained a key theme in management commentary during analyst calls, although lenders are at different stages of the process.

Niva Bupa Q1 profit jumps 93% under Ind AS

FE BUREAU
Chennai, July 30

STANDALONE HEALTH INSURER Niva Bupa Health Insurance reported a near doubling of net profit to ₹137.8 crore for the quarter ended June 2026 (Q1FY27), from ₹71.4 crore a year earlier, driven by strong premium growth and lower insurance service expenses.

Gross Written Premium (GWP) rose 32% year-on-year on a 1/n accounting basis to ₹2,150 crore. Within this, the retail health business grew 47% to ₹1,607 crore, helping increase the company's retail health market share to 11.1% from 10% in the corresponding quarter last year.

The results have been prepared under the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS), which became mandatory for insurers from April 1, 2026. Under Ind AS, commissions and other acquisition costs are amortised over the policy term instead of being recognised upfront, aligning expenses with revenue recognition and providing a more representative picture of insurers' profitability.

The firm also said its GWP figures are not directly comparable with earlier periods. Effective October 1, 2024, long-term insurance products have been accounted for on a 1/n basis, as mandated by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai).

Under this method, premiums and related expenses for long-term policies are recognised proportionately over the policy term rather than entirely upfront.

Operationally, the insurer improved its underwriting performance, with the combined insurance service ratio (CISR)—which measures insurance service and operating expenses as a proportion of premium—improving to 100.2% from 103.2% a year ago.

3 The Company has created Zensar Employees Welfare Trust (the 'ESOP Trust') for providing share-based payments, as a vehicle for distributing shares to employees under Employee Stock Option Scheme 2025. The Company has treated ESOP Trust as its extension. As at June 30, 2026, ESOP Trust has acquired 781,257 Equity shares from open market which are treated as Treasury Shares by the Company. The paid-up Equity Share Capital has been disclosed net of Treasury Shares and while computing the basic and diluted earnings per share, the weighted average number of equity shares held by ESOP Trust have been reduced.
4 Pursuant to notification of the New Labour Codes effective from November 21, 2025, the Company had, during the previous financial year ending March 31, 2026 recognised a one-time past service cost of ₹ 249 Million and for the quarter ending March 31, 2026 recognised a one-time past service cost of ₹ (5) Million on post-employment defined benefit obligations, based on actuarial valuation. RISK TO INVESTORS

For details refer to section titled "Risk Factors" on page 22 of the Prospectus

- We have not entered into annual maintenance contracts for the machinery, building, and other equipment used, except the Diesel Generator set used in our Athirappilly Theme Park and Athirappilly Snow Storm. Although we have a comprehensive in-house team for maintenance and management of our amusement park and snow parks, any unexpected accident, malfunction or mechanical breakdown of machinery at our amusement park and snow parks could disrupt operations, result in increased maintenance or replacement costs, and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.
- Our business is subject to seasonal and cyclical variations in Footfalls at our Athirappilly Theme Park and may be affected by weather conditions, school vacations, public holidays and weekends and may have a disproportionate effect on our results of operations.
- Our operations entail certain fixed and recurring expenses, and our inability to manage expenses may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows.
- Failure to effectively develop and launch new rides and attractions may negatively impact visitor engagement, limit revenue growth, and adversely affect our business, financial condition, operating results, and future prospects.
- Our Company has filed certain legal proceedings against the State of Kerala, Union of India and certain social media platforms, including YouTube and Google. If no relief is granted to the Company in any of these legal proceedings, it may have a material adverse impact on our business operations, financial condition, and reputation.
- Our business is partly dependent on factors beyond our control, including levels of discretionary consumer spending, changes in Footfall patterns, and general economic conditions. Any adverse shifts in these factors could lead to a decline in Footfall and have a material negative impact on our business operations and financial results.
- A portion of our business revenue is derived from other operating revenues such as photography, sale of costumes, gifts, goods from the shops, revenue from accommodation, and other activities within our Water Theme Park. Demand for our other revenue sources may be adversely affected by the increased use of reduction in disposable income, or a change in consumer preferences.
- We have historically derived and are expected to derive in future all or majority of our revenue from our Athirappilly Theme Park. Any adverse developments affecting this park could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows.
- Any accident or safety-related mishap at our amusement parks may expose us to potential financial liabilities, legal proceedings, and adverse publicity. Such incidents can lead to third-party claims and reputational damage, which may adversely impact our business operations, hinder our expansion plans, and adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.
- There have been certain instances of non-compliances and/or delay in compliance, including with respect to certain regulatory filings by our Company in the past. Some of our corporate records are not traceable. Any penalty or action taken by any regulatory authorities in future, for non-compliance with provisions of corporate and other law could impact the reputation and financial position of the Company to that extent.

- The Price/ Earnings ratio based on basic EPS and diluted EPS for Fiscal 2026 for the company at the Cap price is 9.77 and 10.56 times and 10.61 and 11.48 times, respectively

OPPOSITION DEMANDS HOME MINISTERAMIT SHAH’S COMMENT ON POLICE ACTION

Clash in RS over anti-paper leak Bill

DIVYA A, NIKHIL GHANEKAR & DAMINI NATH
New Delhi, July 30

A DAY AFTER it was cleared by Lok Sabha, the Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Amendment Bill, 2026, was taken up in Rajya Sabha on Thursday.

Initiating the discussion in the afternoon, Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge demanded Home Minister Amit Shah’s resignation. “Paper churane wale bachte rahe, mehnat karne wale pit te rahe. Yeh kaisa nyay (Those behind paper leaks kept escaping, those who worked hard kept getting beaten up. What kind of justice is this),” he said, alleging that the government had ignored demands for a strong law against paper leaks in 2024.

Union Minister Jitendra Singh, who moved the Bill in the House, said the amendments reflect the government’s willingness to “learn from experience” after the implementation of the 2024 law. “In the wake of the recent sequence of events, PM Modi lost no time in declaring that nobody would be allowed to jeopardise the students’ future.

Leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge speaks in the House during the Monsoon session of Parliament, in New Delhi on Thursday

There is a zero tolerance policy. This legislation seeks to make the law more stringent. It is my humble request to all leaders in the House to help pass the Bill,” he said.

However, Kharge said the amendments merely enhanced penalties and created new enforcement mechanisms without addressing the root causes of recurring paper leaks. “The Bill that has come to the House for discussion only has modified numbers — higher penalties, stricter punishment and the special task force. This is not going to make any difference. The question is how to strengthen the exam system so that paper leaks don’t happen,” he said.

Kharge claimed the Opposition had suggested similar reforms in 2024, but the government had ignored them.

Removal of PM’s post: Govt, Meta to hold talks

THE GOVERNMENT WILL hold discussions with social media major Meta on policy and technical matters within a week over several concerns, including the removal of Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s Facebook post, a senior government official said on Thursday.

The government has summoned Meta’s public policy head after Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s Facebook post, on July 23, addressing India’s youth and promising stringent measures against exam paper leaks, was briefly restricted by the US-headquartered social media giant.

Electronics and IT Secretary S Krishnan said that the government has asked Meta to come in at the highest level and explain the issue that led to the glitch.

India’s most powerful women command ₹39L cr in wealth

CHRISTINA MONIZ
Mumbai, July 30

INDIA’S MOST INFLUENTIAL women today are creating their own paths rather than inheriting them, according to the second edition of the Candere Hurun India Women Leaders List released on Thursday.

The list identifies 117 women achievers across 12 categories, who together represent ₹39 lakh crore in enterprise value, wealth and market capitalisation.

What is significant, however, is that 84% of these women are self-made, outnumbering those who inherited their wealth by over five to one.

While in past decades, the country’s most influential women were dominated by business heirs and corporate veterans, the Hurun listing features a wide range of women achievers such as entrepreneurs, journalists, digital creators, authors and Olympic medallists.

Some of the country’s best-known names feature on the list such as Kiran Mazumdar-Shaw, Roshni Nadar Malhotra, Falguni Nayar, Nisaba Godrej, Sudha Murty, Anita Dongre, Masaba Gupta, PV Sindhu, Mary Kom and Manu Bhaker.

The upper end of the rankings is dominated by leaders of large businesses, though the report emphasises that readership, audience growth and sports achievements are also important parameters beyond financial metrics.

HCLTech chairperson Roshni Nadar Malhotra, with a net worth of ₹2.84 lakh crore, leads the wealth multipliers category, while Hindustan Unilever CEO Priya Nair tops the professional CEOs category, leading a company valued at over ₹5 lakh crore.

Preetha Reddy and Suneeta Reddy of Apollo Hospitals take the top place in the veterans’ category with a group valuation exceeding ₹1.21 lakh crore.

Neeraj, Rohit and Yashvir enter CWG javelin final

APARAJITA UPADHYAY
Glasgow, July 30

OLYMPIC HERO NEERAJ Chopra, along with two other Indians, advanced to the Commonwealth Games men’s javelin throw final after finishing among the top 12 in the qualification round as strong, shifting winds foiled every athlete’s attempt to achieve the

METAL TALLY
Rank	Country	Gold	Silver	Bronze	Total
1	Australia	47	21	35	103
2	Canada	14	11	15	40

automatic qualifying mark here on Thursday.

Chopra, who won the javelin throw title in 2018, was fifth with a best effort of 79.61m, while Rohit Yadav (78.37m) and Yashvir Singh (78.36m) ended the qualification in ninth and 10th positions respectively to ensure a full Indian contingent in the medal round.

The 28-year-old Chopra, who was the last thrower in each round, did not take his third and final attempt as he had already made it to the final by that time.

With a steady headwind and a temperature of 18 degree Celsius making conditions difficult throughout the event, none of the competitors was able to breach the automatic qualification mark of 84m, leaving the top 12 athletes to progress to the final round to be held on Friday.

“The conditions were not the best for javelin throwers. It was not only cold but also windy. And the wind was coming from all directions... it was really hard to assess which side it will come from. And lots of throwers were struggling today, no automatic qualification,” Chopra told reporters after the event.

“It was difficult to keep ourselves warm also. We were trying to understand the conditions during the warm up throws but nobody was able to decode. The athletes put in a lot of effort but the wind dictated terms. A lot of them will be unhappy today because I don’t think anyone would be satisfied with their throw,” Chopra added.

Only four competitors could breach the 80m mark.

Sri Lanka’s in-form Rumesh Tharanga Pathirage, winner of the Doha and Rome Diamond League meetings this season, topped the qualification with a first-round throw of 82.84m. Last edition silver winner Anderson Peters of Grenada was second with a best throw of 81.29m.
